Eczema in Its Worst Form.

Back Covered With Blisters—Terrible Itching—No Sleep Possible—Dr. Chase's Ointment Simply Marvellous in Its Curative Powers.

Mr. John [illegible], 70 Trinity street, Toronto, in an interview, made the following verbatim statement:—

"I have been troubled with eczema in almost its worst form for the past three years. At times my back and shoulder blades were literally covered with patches like water blisters, and these, accompanied with terrible itching on my legs, put sleep out of the question. I tried various well-known ointments (names mentioned), and did everything possible to obtain relief, but with little success. I had frequently heard of Dr. Chase's Ointment, but meeting with so many disappointments, I had not tried it. Seeing the advertisement one day I concluded to get a box. Since using Dr. Chase's Ointment, I am like a new being. Its soothing and healing properties are simply marvellous, and I am honestly grateful to Dr. Chase's Ointment for the release from long suffering."

THIS IS NO BIRMINGHAM BLUFF.

Corruption is Running Wild Under Liberal Rule—Information Comes Out to Explain How a Liberal Government is Kept in Power by a Majority of One.

Much space has been given by a few Liberal newspapers recently to an attempt to make a political sensation out of the Birmingham bluff, but the straight stand taken by Sir Charles Tupper, who fearlessly refused to deal with or be held up by any man who threatened what he might do if demands were not met, not only took the fire out of the sensation, but caused the incident to add to the popularity and prestige of the veteran statesman who leads the Conservatives in the Dominion.

But while these Liberal newspapers—and our evening contemporary was one of them—published the great headings and column after column of matter that had nothing but imagination and speculation behind it, these same newspapers were quiet when the grave revelations were made and facts admitted of the most criminal corruption ever recorded in the history of Canadian politics. No attempt was made to give the exposures and the confessions sensational publicity or undue prominence. No, no, these purists were silent then because it was the rottenness and corruption of their own party that was being exposed. The fact that such a heap of corruption had been brought home to them was the cause of the hysterical endeavor to make a sensation out of the Birmingham bluff.

But now that the sensation has been punctured and the bottom fallen out of it, and the imaginations have taken a rest, weary with their wild wanderings upon which they had been, it is not an inopportune time to ask the respectable element in the Liberal ranks to consider the rapid descent of their party since it reached power, the amount of corruption that has been brought home to it and the methods followed by those at its head. Bribery at elections and deals in Parliament have had ballot switching, vote stealing, impersonation added to them. These crimes were not hinted at, but have been shown to have been committed by Liberal agents and officials, and in some cases have been confessed to by the guilty ones and admitted by a Liberal candidate himself.

And now some interesting information is being given regarding the latest developments in the corruption line, a case which involves the men highest in Liberal ranks at Ottawa and in Prince Edward Island. It was nothing short of a plot for the purchase or influencing of a member of a Legislature elected to oppose a Liberal Government—a deal in order to keep Liberals in power in the island province. The Toronto Star, which gave its imagination such wide range in dealing with the Birmingham bluff, or the Peterborough Examiner, which gave the Star's ghost stories such prominence, has not given this sensational piece of corruption any spread. Of course the Liberals are in the deal, and then facts are being given in this case and there is not the same room for working the imagination.

The Ottawa Citizen has secured information regarding the case of Mr. Pineau, who was elected as a Conservative to the Prince Edward Legislature and after the election made a couple of visits to Ottawa and then for some reason or reasons just now coming to hand became a Government supporter, thus saving the Government by a majority of one—his (Mr. Pineau's) vote. Here are the facts given by the Citizen, and those who are open to conviction should read, and decide whether in the face of all that has been exposed in Ontario they do not believe that the Liberal party has become so saturated with the idea of holding power by corruption that it is time that they were sent from power to be purified of the corrupt elements:—

"We have striven," says the Citizen, "to keep our readers posted upon the progress of events in the Prince Edward Island legislature, where the government is sustained by a majority of one, and that one elected to oppose it, but by some occult force, not quite so concealed as formerly, induced to transfer his political allegiance. On Wednesday afternoon last Mr. A. A. McLean, M.L.A., opposed the house going into committee of supply because the "sinking funds" set forth in the public accounts were wholly imaginary and the accounts all wrong, and because the member upon whose support the government's existence depended had been approached and corrupted, and induced to turn traitor to the trust imposed upon him by the electors. In support of this latter charge Mr. McLean read the following affidavits:—

"I, William Callaghan, of Ebbsfleet, Prince County, Province of Prince Edward Island, farmer, do solemnly declare that on or about the 9th February last, Henry J. Pineau, M.L.A., of Ebbsfleet, called on me and said that he wished to speak to me on an important matter and wanted my advice. He stated to me that he was approached by Dr. Wickham, of Tignish, and was offered that if he would accept, that he, Mr. Pineau, could get the appointment of commissioner to the Paris exposition with a pay of $5 per day and all expenses. He further stated that Dr. Wickham told him that he would have to go to Charlottetown to see Premier Farquharson, who would direct him to the deputy minister of public works, Ottawa, for further instructions. I told him he was adopting a [illegible] he was [illegible] to Tignish and see his friends, which he promised to do. He stated that it would be a great thing for him to see his own country, France. I afterwards saw Mr. Pineau. He told me that he had a letter in his pocket and his appointment was all right, to date from the 15th April to 1st December, 1900. And I make this solemn declaration conscientiously believing it to be true and knowing that it is of the same force and effect as if made under oath and by virtue of the Canada evidence act, 1893.

WILLIAM CALLAGHAN.

"Declared before me at Ebbsfleet, Prince County, Province of Prince Edward Island, this 28th day of May, A.D., 1900.

CHARLES DALTON,
J. P. for Prince County.

"I, Jerome Jerry, of Ebbsfleet, Prince County, Prince Edward Island, fisherman, do solemnly declare that on or about the ninth day of February last I went to the house of Henry J. Pineau, M.L.A., on business. When at his place, he, Pineau, told me that Dr. Wickham, of Tignish was to see him on the previous day and offered him that if he would accept, he, Wickham, was authorized to offer him the appointment of commissioner from this island to the Paris exposition, at a salary of $5 per day and all expenses paid. He asked me what I thought of this offer, as he said he had been to see Mr. Wm. Callaghan for his advice and would like to have my opinion also. I told him I did not approve of it, as he was elected by us to go to the house of assembly and oppose the government and not to sell our rights by taking offers of this kind. He said nothing further, and I went to my house. And I make this solemn declaration conscientiously, believing it to be true and effect as if made under oath and by virtue of the Canada evidence act, 1893.

EDWARD HACKETT,
J. P. for Prince County.

"I, Jas. W. Shea, of Waterford, lot 1, Prince County, Prince Edward Island, farmer and lobster-packer, do hereby solemnly declare that on or about the 13th May, inst., I was in conversation with Henry J. Pineau, M.P.P., and he stated to me that he expected to get from the Liberal party in Charlottetown, for his support, the sum of $2,000. He also said that he had asked of them that amount before leaving Charlottetown on the previous Friday and they told him they were to meet Monday, and they would let him know on his return back to Charlottetown. I have not heard since from Mr. Pineau, and cannot now say how the matter has been arranged, and I make this solemn declaration, conscientiously believing it to be true and knowing that it is of the same force and effect as if made under oath and by virtue of the Canada evidence act, 1893.

JAMES W. SHEA.

Declared before me at Waterford, in Prince County, Province of Prince Edward Island, the 25th day of May, A.D., 1900.

CHARLES DALTON,
J. P. for Prince County.

Mr. McLean was proceeding to read a letter written by Mr. Pineau from the Brunswick hotel, Ottawa, March 3, in which he asserts he had been "well served by the government." At that stage a member of the government interposed and the speaker, after heated discussion, was induced to rule out Mr. Pineau's letter, on the ground that a member of the house could not be allowed to reflect upon the character of another member. This decision can give Mr. Pineau little comfort, nor, we add, will it prove pleasant to the federal government that served that writer well. We are, however, not left in uncertainty respecting the contents of the letter and the existence of a deal which it proclaims, for we have secured a copy of it, and submit it herewith for the benefit of our readers:—

The Brunswick, John Huckell, Prop., Ottawa, March 3, 1900.

Mr. James W. Shea:—

Dear Sir,—I now take the pleasure of writing you a few lines to let you know that I am in Ottawa at present. I must also tell you that it is a fine place. I have seen a good deal already. I must also tell you that I have been well served by the government here, and am waiting for orders to go on. I think it will be to-morrow or next day. I was all over and seen the house of parliament, the house of commons and the Senate chamber. It is a fine place to see. It is no wonder that they are so keen to get here. You keep my C.M.B.A. dues paid up and I will send you money in a few days; the 10th time I got from you. You can get it back; you can also get your men boarded at our place, if you want to, and see that they get what they want. You give them what is right for boarding them. I know you will do that. You can tell them at home when you see them that you got a letter from me. I suppose some people are very mad at me for doing what I have done. I could not help myself. It is what every man is doing, looking out for himself. No more at present. I remain, yours truly.

P.S.—I will write you in a few days and will give more in full. (Signed) Henry J. Pineau.

"An examination of the register of the Brunswick hotel reveals the fact that Mr. Pineau registered there on March 1. At the date of writing he had, therefore, had five days' experience with the government, and was qualified to speak by the book when he wrote: "I have been well served by the government."

"Mr. Louis Davies has since [illegible] he once met Mr. Pineau, and, [illegible], that he had any knowledge of any plan to corrupt him. The foregoing affidavits and correspondence leave no room to doubt the existence of a plot to seduce Mr. Pineau from his party allegiance and induce him to vote for a government whose very existence depended upon the success of the wicked scheme, and that the principals in this corrupt transaction had the confidence of members of both the provincial and federal governments. It might have been expected that Mr. Pineau, who was in the house when the affidavits were read, would have risen and denied them. No, he sat in his place and permitted the facts to go on record undisputed. And when the government sought to shield the federal government by preventing the reading of Mr. Pineau's letter, on the ground that it reflected upon him, he had not the manhood to rise and demand that the letter be read, as nothing he could have written of himself would reflect discredit upon him.

"This is a sad, dark chapter in Canadian politics, and suggests the extent to which corruption has permeated the once great Liberal party. It should make every lover of his country hang his head with shame. A government that can consent to hold power by such treachery is utterly wanting in moral sense and unworthy of public confidence. It is the knowledge of the fact that his administration has forfeited the respect of the majority of the electors of Prince Edward Island that makes Premier Farquharson hesitate to appeal to the people and end the disgraceful condition, and he is not willing to take any chances till Laurier shall have appealed to the country, and enjoyed the aid of Sir Louis and the corrupt gang of Liberals now running riot in that province to secure another term of office. But we warn the minister of marine and fisheries that an incensed electorate will judge him by the company he keeps, and measure out to him a swift and condign punishment, at the first moment they are permitted to mark their ballots."

A CRISIS IN SIGHT IN CHINA

75 marines. The Chinese Government is affected by these events so far as to send high officials to parley with the Boxers, but it does not show any intention of summarily suppressing them. Probably it still has power to do so; but the throne is still strongly influenced by sympathy with the movement, and the spirit of the troops is doubtful. All is well up to the present."

More American Marines to Go.

Washington, June 12.—The Navy Department has received the following cablegram from Admiral Kempff: "Tong Ku, June 11.—Secretary Navy, Washington:

"Tong Ku, June 11.

"Secretary Navy, Washington:

"In case all communication with Pekin be cut not able go alone; if other nations go will join to relieve Americans pending instructions. Situation serious. Battalion of marines from Manila has been urgently requested. Answer. (Signed)

"Kempff."

Upon receipt of the above, Secretary Long sent the following cablegram to Admiral Remey at Manila:

"Navy Department, June 11, 1900.

"Remey, Manila:

"Send by Solace immediately all despatch to Kempff one hundred marines, arranging if practicable that after landing Solace shall continue homeward voyage as previously ordered. (Signed) Long."

Dowager Flees to Russian Legation.

London, June 12. — A special despatch from Tien Tsin says it is reported the Dowager-Empress has fled to the Russian Legation at Pekin.

Foreigners Landed.

Washington, June 12.—The following undated despatch has been received at the Navy Department:

"Forces landed by different nations, Opening communications with Pekin. [illegible] joined. (Signed) Kempff."

Admiral Kempff also reports the arrival of the Monocacy at Taku.

Telegraph Lines Cut.

Toronto, June 13.—(1.30 a.m.) — The Great Northwestern Telegraph Company has just been advised that all telegraph lines between Tien Tsin and Pekin are interrupted.

The Pekin Club Burned.

London, June 12.—A despatch from Pekin, dated Saturday evening, June 9, says: "A body of 40 Boxers, armed with knives, have looted and burned the Pekin Club, race track and grand stand buildings. Another edict issued this morning orders the Military Governor to police the streets with cavalry and infantry. United States Minister Conger has sent 20 marines and British Minister Macdonald 12 marines to guard the Methodist mission compound. Business is practically at a standstill."

A Reform Manifesto.

London, June 12. — The Shanghai correspondent of The Daily Express, telegraphing yesterday, says: "Wend Tung Ho, Emperor Kwang Hsu's tutor and confident, who was dismissed by the Dowager-Empress, after the coup d'etat in 1898, sends with the special sanction of the Emperor and his party, including three viceroys, a message to the people of the West. It is proposed by His Majesty and his advisers that the foreign powers shall declare a joint protectorate, and undertake the task of governing the country through His Majesty.

FIVE PERSONS NOW DEAD.

Some Aftermath of the McArthur Tragedy in Assiniboia.

Winnipeg, June 12.—A Moosomin despatch yesterday afternoon says Henry McArthur has died since the despatch of Saturday. The dead now are: Mr. McArthur and wife, and the three sons. Two other children are not expected to live. The eldest girl, aged 15, was left by the fiend, but why, only he knows. The five dead were buried yesterday in Moosomin. The murderer has a severe wound in his left side. He evidently intended to shoot for the heart. He is doing well, and is likely to recover. His motive for the deed is not known, although the police are in possession of certain facts which may show that the villain is a veritable brute. The community feel the shock keenly. The people are grief-stricken that such a respected family should be so foully dealt with.

Relatives in Ontario.

Toronto, June 12.—When the news of the terrible murder of A. McArthur, his wife and two children, and the wounding of four other members of the same family at Welwyn, a small place 12 miles from Moosomin, Assa., on Saturday, was received here it brought grief and anguish into more than one household. At 240 Victoria street, where Mrs. R. K. Lankin, a sister of Mr. McArthur, lives, the intelligence came as a great shock. Mrs. McArthur, his wife, was a Miss Colville, of Chesley, Ont., and her sister is Mrs. J. H. Elliott of the same town.

Who would think there was insanity behind a drop of water? But there is. It was a favorite torture in the old days to fasten the victim where water should slowly drip on his forehead. In a little while he was a howling maniac.

Women do not, as a rule, realize how the steady drains which sometimes afflict them must at last re-act on the mind. Sometimes, it is only fretfulness, irritability or peevishness. At other times the condition passes beyond unreasonableness to irrationality.

With the relief of the body, from disease, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription gives also a cheerful mind and contented spirit. When the drains and pains are stopped the mind soars up like a balloon from which dead weight has been cast out. Mothers who never knew a happy moment when the birth hour confronted them, and younger women doomed each month to a period of mental depression as well as physical suffering, have found a perfect cure by the use of "Favorite Prescription." It contains no alcohol, neither opium cocaine or other form of narcotic.

"I suffered with female weakness about eight years—[illegible] Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription," writes Mrs. John Green, of Danville, [illegible] Co., Ky. [illegible]

Poor Quality of Blood

A Frequent Cause of Consumption, Heart Failure and Other Constitutional Diseases—Dr. Chase's Nerve Food as a Blood Builder.

The heart, the lungs, the stomach, the liver, the kidneys, and bowels cannot perform their functions and repair wasted tissues when supplied with blood that is deficient in nutritive qualities, and sooner or later the weakest organ succumbs to the attacks of disease.

The indications of thin, watery blood are paleness of the lips, gums, and eyelids, shortness of breath, weakness of heart action, and languid, despondent feelings. These symptoms are usually accompanied by nervousness, sleeplessness and general weakness of the body.

It is positively useless to doctor the symptoms, and injurious to use opiates or stimulants. Cure can be brought about gradually and certainly by the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, which contains in condensed pill form all the elements required for strengthening and revitalizing the blood. As a blood builder and nerve restorative, Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is of inestimable value. In pill form, 50 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

Freedom from Dyspepsia and Nervous Headache Assured

By the Use of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets, the Only Postive, Rational Cure for Dyspepsia, Indigestion, and Similar Stomach Diseases.

Why should the merchant go to his store, in the morning, suffering the torments of a severe Nervous Headache?

There is no more need for him to do so than there is for him to walk through the drifted snow, instead of on the bare sidewalk.

No man need suffer from Nervous Headache now-a-days, unless he prefers to do so. For there is a means of cure, absolute, positive, and permanent, within the reach of every man, woman, and child, on the North American Continent.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets will positively cure the worst case of Nervous Headache that can torture poor humanity.

Nervous headache is in nine hundred and ninety-nine of every thousand cases the result of starving the nerves.

The nerves starve because the supply of rich blood is not sufficient to nourish them.

The supply of rich blood is insufficient because all the food eaten is not digested, and converted into blood.

The food is not all digested because the stomach is weak, and unable to supply the juices needed to carry out the process of digestion.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets digest all the food eaten. This is converted into rich and nourishing blood, which strengthens, and gives vitality to the nerves. When the nerves are healthy and strong, you can never have Nervous Headache.

This then is why no person need suffer from the agonizing complaint. Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets cure it, and keep it cured.

Barriefield Ranges Closed.

Kingston, June 12.—The Government has closed the Barriefield rifle ranges, constructed four years ago at a cost of $4,000. As far as report goes, the only complainant is Sir Richard Cartwright, whose summer residence they overlook. The volunteers are protesting against the closing.

In Self Defence.

Toronto, June 12. — The coroner's jury has returned a verdict to the effect that George C. Hill raised his umbrella in self-defence in the row on April 17 when W. H. Litchford was struck in the eye by its point, and that death was caused by an abscess of the brain through the eye having been so pierced.

Deaths From Heat.

London, June 12. — There were several deaths from heat in the United Kingdom yesterday, and a number of prostrations. Two deaths occurred at the Aldershot manoeuvres.

Watch the Skin and Eyes!

They are Unfailing Thermometers of Health.

The skin and eyes are two unfailing thermometers of health. If the skin has spots, eruptions, an unhealthy pallor or a yellow appearance, and the eyes a glazed look, with yellowish whites, it is high time to purify and cleanse the blood and regulate the liver and kidneys. Paine's Celery Compound makes pure, bright, red blood and relieves the liver and kidneys of the strain that is brought upon them whenever impure blood is pouring through their substance.

It has been fully proved by eminent medical men that Paine's Celery Compound supplies that needed and appropriate food that overworked nerves are too feeble to extract from ordinary food taken into the stomach. Paine's Celery Compound increases the appetite and puts the digestive organs into shape to pass the food over to the blood in such a perfectly prepared condition that the change into nerve, brain and tissue substance is easily and fully brought about without waste of nervous energy or wear upon the liver, kidneys or stomach.

In a word, Paine's Celery Compound builds up the weak, wasting and diseased body; it gives all the conditions of health that guarantee a long and happy life. No other remedy in the world has ever done such a true and noble work for suffering humanity.

Make trial of one bottle, dear reader; it will convince you that you have found what you most need to make you well and strong.

OFFICERS ELECTED.

At a meeting of the new Board of Directors, Mr. E. M. Elliott was re-elected president, R. Q. Dench, vice-president, and Wm. Collins, secretary-treasurer.

THE MEETINGS.

It was decided to hold two days of the regular meetings next winter, the first in Peterborough and North Monaghan, the second in Lakefield, and three days' supplementary meetings as follows:—Lakehurst and Buckhorn one day, Ennismore one day, and Union Hall, river road, Stewart settlement the third day, a joint meeting with East Peterborough.

AN ADDRESS.

Mr. J. E. Gould, of Uxbridge, gave a very practical address after the business meeting on "Ensilage—how to grow corn—how to fill the silo so as to have good ensilage." He gave the details in a minute and practical manner, having a small model silo with him.

Corn properly handled, Mr. Gould pointed out, is the best food for the cheap feeding of stock. Practically 1 ton of timothy has the same value as 3 tons of ensilage and only 1 1-2 tons of timothy can be grown to the acre, whereas corn yields 12 to 16 tons per acre. The cost of placing corn in silo is [illegible] per ton. Ensilage is a succulent food. It approaches June grass more nearly than any other food.

Corn should be planted as early as possible. With good ground the corn outgrows the effect of any spring frost there might be. It should be planted in rows 3 feet apart and at least 16 inches apart in the row, or in squares i.e. equal distance both ways. Compton's Early has been proved to be the richest in feeding value among the varieties of corn. Sow corn far enough apart in rows to admit the light to the ground. Constant cultivation of the corn is very necessary; more so than rain. There is lots of water in the ground if it is only brought out by cultivation. Shallow cultivation is more effective than deep.

A good method is to mix ensilage and straw in equal proportions, about 40 pounds of ensilage per day. Ensilage must be kept as nearly air tight as possible. A round silo is the cheapest and gives the best results. Ensilage frozen was not injured if thawed out before being fed.

The proper time to cut corn is when in the glazed state. Any riper or more advanced or that touched with fall frosts requires wetting when being put in silo, about two pails of water to the waggon load, allowing it to drip on in same manner while cutting or before cutting.

At the conclusion, Rev. Father McColl, of Ennismore, made a few very appropriate remarks.

H. LeBrun & Co. Buying Bargains

It looks as if people who expected two dollars' worth for every dollar they spend on clothing, are not going to be disappointed. There is likely to be a sudden deep dip in prices in a few days at H. LeBrun & Co's. that ought to make the City Clothing Store a bargain centre for the rest of the summer. To-day Mr. H. LeBrun has been negotiating with two of Messrs. H. Shorey & Co's representatives, of Montreal, for a big slice of their high class summer clothing, which they are sacrificing to close the season. There's great goodness in Shorey's make, and the news that H. LeBrun & Co. have made a special purchase at special prices will be good news for good goods well bought. Watch for particulars.

JUNE SITTING OF COUNTY COURT

OPENS AT THE COURT HOUSE BEFORE JUDGE WELLER

M. O'Brien, Carter, Sues Lavendure, of Corry and Lavendure, for $200 for Injuries Received in an Accident—The Grand Jury Sworn in.

The June sittings of the County Court opened to-day before His Honor Judge Weller. The following cases composed the docket:—O'Brien vs. Laverdure, Dennistoun, Peck & Stevenson, for plaintiff, W. H. Moore, for defendant; Campbell vs. Bothwell, Stratton & Hall, for plaintiff, E. B. Edwards, for defendant; Sapery vs. Beck, D. O'Connell, for plaintiff, W. H. Hewson, for defendant; Carton vs. Turner et al, D. O'Connell, for plaintiff, Dennistoun, Peck & Stevenson, and Kerr & Kerr, for defendants; Rundle vs. Waller, D. O'Connell, for plaintiff, E. B. Stone, for defendant.

The Grand Jury was empanelled as follows:—Wm. Barry, Douro; Thos. Galvin, Ennismore; Albert V. Hill, Lakefield; Robt. Hunter, Smith; Chas. Leitch, Otonabee; David Miller, Smith; Wm. Moore, Otonabee; John McNaughton, Asphodel; Robt. McWhinnie, Peterborough, foreman; C. B. Routley, Peterborough; Samuel Ray, Peterborough; W. J. Wiseman, Havelock.

Judge Weller addressed the Grand Jury briefly. He referred with satisfaction to the fact that there were no criminal cases to be heard, pointing out that as the law now stands most of the criminal cases are heard by himself or by the Magistrates without a jury. He also referred with pleasure to the prospects for a bountiful harvest.

The first case taken up was that of O'Brien vs. Laverdure. Mr. O'Brien, carter, sues Mr. Laverdure, of Corry & Laverdure, contractors, for $200 damages for injuries received in an accident which happened in October last. O'Brien was driving to Ashburnham with two men named Williams and Spence on his truck when a horse and buggy driven by Mr. Laverdure struck them from behind. O'Brien's cart was upset and the wheels passed over his leg and he was laid up for five weeks. He, therefore, sues for the amount named. The accident happened just at the Peterborough end of the Hunter-st bridge. It is pointed out for the defence that Laverdure's horse was frightened by a car on the Dickson spur.

DIED AT BLOEMFONTEIN

Fred Vanorman, of the First Contingent, Formerly of Peterborough Dies of Fever.

A despatch received to-day, and published on the first page, chronicles the death of Lance Corporal A. F. Vanorman, of the first Canadian contingent, which occurred at Bloemfontein on Friday last, enteric fever being the cause. Mr. Fred Vanorman was well known in town, having resided here about three years ago, being clerk at the Huffman House, and later occupying a similar position at the Grand Central. He was popular with many friends and his death will be much regretted. He was a native of Belleville. His father, Mr. A. H. Vanorman, traveller for J. C. Wilson & Co., Montreal, manufacturers of paper bags, etc., was in town yesterday, but had not heard at that time of his son's illness.

WEDDING BELLS

A Pretty Wedding Quietly Celebrated at St. John's Church.

In the peaceful quiet and solemn stillness of St. John's church a pretty wedding was celebrated this morning, when Miss Amelia Blanche Foote, second daughter of the late Frederick Foote, was married to Mr. Edwin T. Lush. The wedding was a quiet one, owing to a recent bereavement in in the family of the groom, and none but the immediate relatives of the contracting parties were present to witness the ceremony, which was solemnized at 7.30 o'clock by the Rector, Rev. J. C. Davidson. The bride, who wore a becoming costume of white organdie, trimmed with lace and insertion and touches of cream satin, was given away by her brother, Mr. Harry F. Foote. She wore the conventional veil and orange blossoms, and carried a beautiful bouquet of white roses.

The bridesmaid was Miss Lillie Foote, sister of the bride, and she was charmingly attired in a dress of white organdie, trimmed with lace, with a girdle of net. She wore a large picture hat and carried a bouquet of pink roses.

The groom was attended by his brother, Mr. Herbert Lush.

At the conclusion of the ceremony Rev. Mr. Davidson expressed his congratulations to the happy couple, speaking of them as two devoted members of the Church, the bride also being one of the teachers in the Sunday school. He said the best wishes of the congregation would accompany them.

As the wedding party left the church the bell in the ivy covered tower rang out in a joyous wedding peal.

Many handsome presents attested the good wishes of friends. The groom's present to the bride was an elegant pearl crescent, and to the bridesmaid a pearl and opal pin. The bride's going away gown was an iron grey, and she wore a rose colored turban.

The happy couple left on the 2.15 train on the Grand Trunk for a wedding tour to Napanee and eastern points. On their return they will reside on Bethune-st.

LITERARY EVENING

An Enjoyable and Profitable Time at the George-St League.

A very interesting and enjoyable programme was listened to last evening at the regular meeting of the George-st. Epworth League. Two excellent papers on "Macbeth" and "Lady Macbeth" were read by Miss Fitzgerald and Miss Erskine, while Miss Vina Bellegham and Miss Pascoe contributed very pleasing vocal solos. The programme concluded with a contest, the object being to discover the person naming most correctly the poems from which a number of Shakespearean quotations were taken, in which Miss Throop was successful in winning the prize, a pretty potted plant.

CAPT. GREENWOOD RETURNS THANKS

TO THE PETERBOROUGH LADIES FOR THEIR USEFUL GIFTS

The Peterborough Boys Appreciated Them—He Tells Something of the Movements of the Mounted Rifles.

Mrs. A. P. Poussette has received the following letter from Capt. H. S. Greenwood and it explains itself:—

20 miles North of Bloemfontein,
May 2nd, 1900.

My Dear Mrs. Poussette,—Will you kindly convey the thanks of the Peterborough contingent of the S. A. Field Force, to the ladies of Peterborough for the lovely presents sent us. They are most useful and we all appreciate them very much. They are just what we required, even the chewing gum. F. Scullie and Boyle have not got their's yet, but the parcels were left at Bloemfontein for them to get when they come up from De Aar with their Battery. When the parcels arrived B Squadron (my squadron) was south-east of Bloemfontein on a week's expedition driving the Boers out of that district. The (our) whole force was over 5,000 strong. We were under fire twice, but only lost horses, no men wounded. The casualties amongst other forces amounted to about 30 killed and wounded. Sunday is no day of rest here as we have marched every Sunday since landing and last Sunday week we received our baptism of fire, both artillery and rifle. We returned to Bloemfontein Monday noon, and Tuesday marched out here. The Mounted Infantry and Cavalry on in advance, then come Artillery and Infantry. I had no time to open parcel until I arrived here, which is only 5 miles from the Boers. We got two prisoners yesterday on the march here. Our brigade is under General Hutton and expect we will have a busy time. Thanking you and the ladies again, dear Mrs. Poussette, I remain,

Yours sincerely,
H. S. GREENWOOD.

BAY OF QUINTE CONFERENCE

REV. DR. WORKMAN ADDRESSES THE MINISTERS

Candidates for the Ministry Ordained—Rev. Dr. Henderson's Sermon—Sunday School Service.

Port Hope June 10.—On Saturday morning Rev. J. H. Locke, of Toronto, was formally welcomed back to the Conference. He will be stationed in Brockville this year. Rev. W. H. Moore, of the United States, brother of Rev. J. E. Moore, of Peterborough, was also presented to and briefly addressed the body of ministers.

As Dr. Workman found it necessary to return home, he was accorded an opportunity of speaking. He warmly thanked the Conference for its efforts to have him placed in his proper position before the public. For the fact that he was not allowed to teach in Victoria University the brethren of this Conference were not responsible. He had been very busy for the whole year, and would be for three months longer. After visiting Chatauqua College for a month he would be available for work all over the Dominion.

Chancellor Burwash and Dr. W. J. Crothers were elected delegates to the Ecumenical Conference in London in 1901.

A long discussion anent the enforcement of the payment of the General Conference Fund collections led the whole matter back to where the discipline had placed it, and the Financial Secretaries were asked to collect from delinquent circuits forthwith. This fund is about met throughout this Conference. Regret was expressed that Rev. Newton Hill, going to Toronto, was about to leave the Conference. He leaves with the esteem of all.

The newly superannuated ministers are Revs. J. C. Wilmott, M. A. B. Roberts and H. G. Kenney. For forty years these men have preached. Genuine regret at their retirement was freely expressed. The esteem for them in Conference was most evident, and eased that painful transition from the stated activity of the fullest Conference relation to that of a most honorable retirement. Their well-earned rest, the Conference was assured, would be broken when calls came for help "from the far flung battle line." Dr. O. R. Lambly was superannuated for one year. The Conference learned with affectionate sorrow of the sickness of this prominent minister, and hoped for his return to the active ranks within the year.

The Sunday service began with a love feast, led by Rev. S. J. Shorey. This was followed by the historic ordination service, at which Rev. Dr. James Henderson preached from Mark iii., 21. In the course of his words he said no man in any sphere can be a success until he is conscientiously possessed of God. The best God does he does through man. Every life may be the outlet of some specific form of Divine energy. As to the pulpit, it needed not only a higher education but a holier enthusiasm. He then reminded the candidates for the ministry of the exalted honor about to be laid upon them. Were River Driver in Trouble.

Yesterday morning a river-driver named Kincaid, who was arrested in Bobcaygeon on Saturday, appeared before County Magistrate Deacon, at Lindsay, charged with having committed an unnatural offence. The complainant was Mr. Harvey Thompson, proprietor of the Rockland House. The accused elected to be tried summarily by the County Magistrate, but on the application of his counsel, Mr. Hugh O'Leary, Q.C., the case was enlarged till Thursday next, at 2 p.m., in Lindsay.

Do you read what people say about Hood's Sarsaparilla? It is curing all forms of disease caused or promoted by impure blood.

THE WEST RIDING FARMERS' INSTITUTE

ANNUAL MEETING HELD AND OFFICERS ELECTED

The Secretary's Annual Report—The Financial Statement — An Able Address on the Silo and Ensilage.

The annual meeting of the West Peterborough Farmers' Institute was held on Saturday afternoon with a fair attendance. The president, Mr. E. M. Elliott, occupied the chair and opened the meeting with a short address, after which he called upon the secretary, Mr. Wm. Collins, to read his annual report.

SECRETARY'S REPORT.

The report and financial statement were as follows:—

To the members of the West Peterborough Farmers' Institute:

Gentlemen,—On behalf of the Board of Directors and Executive committee, I beg leave to submit for your approval the annual report of the Institute for the past year.

Our regular winter meetings were held as usual, the first, on December 4th, at Peterborough County Council Chamber, when J. S. Woodward, of Lockport, N.Y., addressed a rather small, but very attentive audience on "Animals, Simply Machines—What For, and How to Run." In the evening a meeting was held in the town hall, North Monaghan, when Mr. Woodward took as his subject "Summer Fallowing vs. Fall Fallowing." T. M. Hunter, Esq., Reeve, gave a short address, and Mr. R. H. Leary a recitation. Mr. Woodward for a short time spoke on "Corn and the Silo." On the following day two meetings were held in Lakefield—afternoon and evening—with an attendance of 52 and 400, respectively. The President gave a very interesting opening address, followed by Mr. Woodward on "Warm Stabling, Close Housing, etc." Mr. T. Blezard took for his subject, "New Ontario." H. Hawthorne, Esq., Warden of the County, "Business Methods of Farming." Capt. R. E. Birdsall gave a paper entitled "Intensive Farming," followed by Mr. G. J. Galvin in a short address along general lines.

In the evening the chair was occupied by John Hull, Esq., Reeve of the village, who gave the farmers a hearty welcome to the village. Mr. Woodward gave as his subject, "A Lay Sermon." Mr. Blezard again appeared and dealt with the question of "Master and Servant." An excellent programme of vocal and instrumental music was rendered by the Glee Club and others.

The supplementary meetings were held on January 25th at Hall's Bridge, and owing to the inclement weather the audience was very small, in the afternoon only 15. After the opening by the president, Mr. J. B. Orr, of Fruitland, spoke on the care of fruit trees, and Mr. G. N. Somerville on "What the Farmer of to-day has to do to secure more profit in dairying." In the evening we had a better turn out. Mr. Somerville gave the "Influence of Farm Life," while Mr. Orr spoke on "Spraying Fruit Trees." Mr. H. C. Garbutt and Mr. R. Q. Dench gave short addresses. The local talent gave a very nicely rendered programme to enliven the meeting. On the following day we for the first time held a meeting in Ennismore, which we hope will not be the last, as the people of this township turned out en masse to greet the speakers, and to listen to what they had to say. At the afternoon meeting the attendance was 36. Mr. Orr spoke on "The Care of Fruit Trees," Mr. Somerville on "The Milk Producer's Responsibility." Rev. Father W. T. McColl gave a short but stirring practical address. The evening meeting was a still greater success. It was really a splendid turn out in so small a township to have 25 present. Mr. Somerville's subject was "Paying for Milk According to Quality." Mr. Orr gave an address, illustrated by charts, on "The Typical Bacon Hog," also a few words on "The Common Insects Attacking Fruit Trees." Rev. Father McColl again told of the pleasure it gave him to welcome the speakers, and also to see there was so good a turn out. He advised all those who were in attendance to put into practice the splendid ideas that had been laid before them by the speakers in such a lucid manner. He also promised on behalf of Ennismore a still larger attendance at the next meeting. We would not be doing justice to the parties concerned to omit mention of the splendid orchestra, and some vocalists who assisted in rendering so good a programme.

Your Executive have made arrangements jointly with East Peterborough and East Durham Farmers' Institutes, and the Peterborough Poultry Association to run an excursion by Canadian Pacific Railway to Guelph, starting from Havelock on Thursday, June 14th. We hope to have a grand turn out of members and the public to visit the Ontario Agricultural College. This, in our opinion, is one of the best ways to get an object lesson in our different lines. We would suggest that only our very best and most active workers be appointed on the Board of Directors, there being no room for drones in the Farmers' Hive, who will represent the different municipalities in which meetings are to be held, as on them to a large extent depends the success or failure of the meetings. It is also expected that every director will try and increase the membership in his locality, and make the Institute, as it should be, a genuine Farmers' Club.

In conclusion I might say that we have had a very successful Institute year, our membership having increased 25 per cent since the last annual meeting, but it should be at least multiplied by four.

All of which is respectfully submitted,

E. M. ELLIOTT, President.
WM. COLLINS, Secretary.

Fashionable Hours in Russia.

The Russian woman of fashion rises late and does not appear before 2 or 3 o'clock. If it be sunny and not too cold, she will drive for an hour, returning to find her salon lighted, and there she will receive visitors, whom she regales with tea. If going to the opera, she dines early and returns about 10 o'clock, when she rests until it is time to appear at the ball at midnight, whence she does not return until 3 or 4 in the morning. Suppers at St. Petersburg are very fashionable and continue until nearly dawn.

TOOK HIS FATHER'S ADVICE.

It is not at all surprising that many sufferers from rheumatism have very little faith in patent medicines. The public have been gulled for years by unscrupulous manufacturers who care little who they kill or cure. It is quite different with the proprietors of Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure. They have a reputation at stake, worth a great deal more than a little money to be made from a temporary fake; temporary because all medicines that do not do as advertised are soon found out and discarded. Manufacturers of proprietary medicines have an intelligent people to deal with in the present age, and deception is sure to be discovered in short order. The reliable testimonials being daily received by the Dr. Hall Medicine Company are the best proofs that any firm can wish to show. John Clark, a young farmer of Pittsburg township, saved himself a lot of suffering by accepting the advice of his father, who told him he would be cured if he gave Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure a trial. One bottle cured him completely. He suffered with terrible pains in his legs and hips. The numerous other remedies he tried had no effect whatever. Mr. Clark now adds his recommendation to the many others continually coming in.

Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure is put up in 50 cent bottles, containing ten days' treatment. For sale by all druggists and dealers in medicine. The Dr. Hall Medicine Co., Kingston, Ont.

HE WON THE CASE.

A Story of Lincoln's Wonderful Mental and Physical Ability.

Professor Stevens was once working up a mining case for the government in a western state where Mr. Lincoln was practicing law. Mr. Lincoln at the time was comparatively unknown in law and politics. When the professor engaged his room in the crowded country hotel, he found that a Mr. Lincoln was to occupy one bed in the room, as there was no other place where he could be accommodated. After arranging his books the professor settled down in an easy chair to prepare his brief.

Mr. Lincoln soon came in and made himself known. He said he also had to spend the evening making up an argument upon a mining case, and he knew less about mines than about anything else. In an hour the professor finished his work and retired, but before he did so he granted his roommate the privilege of using all his books, maps and papers upon mines and mining. Then he went to sleep, and when he awoke at 7 the next morning he found Mr. Lincoln just where he had left him poring over his books and papers. The lamp was still burning, although it was daylight.

As Professor Stevens' case did not come up the next day he attended the court to hear Mr. Lincoln present his arguments. He reached the scene in time for the opening speech by his roommate, and he staid all through the session.

Although Mr. Lincoln spoke for over an hour on the technicalities of mines and mining, he did not make a single mistake. He cross examined some half dozen surveyors and engineers and in every case puzzled and embarrassed them with his knowledge of the subject. Of course he won the case. But Professor Stevens said that everybody in the court believed he had been graduated in mining engineering and had devoted years to the study of the science.

SHE ORDERS HIS CLOTHES

And Takes Great Pains to Have Her Husband Properly Dressed.

The wife of a man who served with distinction as a cabinet officer during a recent administration entered a tailor shop near Fifth avenue a week ago and said to the proprietor:

"I am Mrs. So-and-so, and I don't suppose that women come into your shop very often."

"A good many women help their husbands to select their clothes," said the proprietor.

"Well, I am glad to hear that," said the woman. "I have bought my husband's clothes for him ever since we were married, and if I did not look out for them he would not have any clothes. He never thinks of them. Didn't even when he was in Washington, though he was always properly dressed. Now I want some spring clothes for my husband. I will select the samples for three suits, and I will tell you just how to make them. When my husband comes to get measured, don't pay any attention to his orders about the clothes if he gives any. If he ordered his own clothes, he would not be suited anyway."

The proprietor found that this woman knew as much as the average man about men's clothes, and he accepted her directions. On the following day, when her husband came in, the proprietor recognized him from his pictures and said:

"Mr. So-and-so, your wife selected goods for three suits of clothes for you yesterday, and if you will step back I will show you the patterns."

"Young man," said the ex-cabinet officer, "I would not dare to interfere with my wife's selections. Just take my measure as quickly as you can and make the clothes as directed."

After the measurements had been made the ex-cabinet minister hurried out without asking what style of suits had been ordered for him.—New York Sun.

You Make A Mistake

If you have Pale, Greenish, or Sallow Complexion, Cold Hands and Feet, Loss of Appetite, Dyspepsia, Lack of Energy or Stomach Troubles,

You Make A Mistake

When you do not use Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills to counteract these conditions. Why? Because they contain all the natural elements necessary to build up the human system. The way to a cure lies along the road from the stomach to the blood and nerves. All food is acted on by the stomach and prepared for absorption into the system.

Dr. Ward's Pills give just the proper help to a tired system, and diffuse a glow of health through the whole human frame.

Compliment With a Sting.

Talk about delightfully put compliments! I heard a girl at supper deliver herself of a perfect jewel the other night. She leaned across the table—the table next to me—to say it, and she meant well.

"Oh, Miss Dumdum," she said cordially, "I've got a trade at last for you!"

"A swap?" asked Miss Dumdum, beaming with anticipatory delight.

"Uhhuh!" answered the other. "Lieutenant Bulbul said it."

"Oh, do tell it!" pleaded Miss Dumdum eagerly.

"It was an awfully nice one," said the first girl, "and Lieutenant Bulbul meant it too. He said you waltzed divinely. He said he was awfully surprised, too, to find it out, so I know he meant it. He said he wouldn't have thought from seeing you walk that you could dance at all."

THE DRESS MODEL.

Durable twilled silks of various kinds are being revived. They are used for waists, linings, underskirts, sash draperies and gowns entire.

The fancy still continues for mousseline de soie and chiffon yokes and guimpes on all sorts of bodices to wear under tailor made jackets and waists.

Tiny gold buttons are again used by French ateliers on gowns of ceremony formed of white cloth, drap d'ete, lace, net, chiffon, crepe de chine and veiling.

Fine sheer nainsook embroideries, with medallions of lace introduced here and there, add effective variety to the season's handsome dress trimmings for thin summer gowns.

Pink and white or violet and pale green pond lilies trim some of the large round hats otherwise decorated with choux and loops of chiffon or mousseline de soie and black velvet ribbon of generous width.

In attempting to originate something novel in the shape of evening bodices the old time corselet models have been revived. Some of the gored skirt tops are finished in this form instead of ending at the belt. They are very little decorated.

One of the most satisfactory skirt models for making up light sheer wools for summer wear is cut in circular shape, with plain panel front, medium wide side plaits and a shapely box plait at the back. The plaits flare gracefully around the bottom of the skirt, which is cut with a slight dip.

At their first introduction there were many doubts and conjectures concerning the fate of plaited skirts, but the matter is settled for the summer season at least, for among the models in many other styles are prominently set forth the plaited waists and skirts arranged in every possible variety.

Among new French jacket and basque bodice models are those made with front dart and side seams at the back that extend to the shoulders. These gracefully curved lines impart a look of slenderness and extra length to the form and are therefore particularly desirable for women of full figure.

GLEANINGS.

CHIPS FROM CHINA.

Our trade with China increased more than two and one-half fold in seven years, and all this increase came to us without either fighting anybody or making an open door bargain with anybody. —Chicago Chronicle.

The United States probably occupies a stronger position in China today than any other nation in the world, and this condition has been brought about because the United States has exhibited none of the spirit of greed that has characterized European nations.—St. Joseph Herald.

Americans have yet to learn that the Chinese are very shrewd and worldly wise, that they are a nation of traders, with successful merchants, large exporting houses, etc., and that they know how to look after their own interests as well as any people on earth.—Indianapolis Journal.

CARNIVAL OF BLOOD.

THE FEARFUL RITES THAT USED TO OBTAIN IN AFRICA.

Human Sacrifices Were of Common Occurrence—The Execution Bowl and the Infliction of the Death Penalty on the Victims.

Ashanti, in western Africa, embraces about 70,000 English square miles in area, and its population has been variously estimated from 1,000,000 to 3,000,000. The country proper is one continuous forest, and this is traversed by narrow, winding paths which are broad enough for pedestrians and chair and burden carriers, but not for vehicles. Despite the dense woods there is a remarkable absence of animal life, and men who have penetrated into the deepest parts of the woods have wondered at the absence of bird and beast. When the land has been cultivated, it has been found extremely fertile and productive of large crops of grain, vegetables, yams and fruits. Gold is also found in large quantities, and the principal exports are gold dust and palm oil. For many years it was one of the greatest slave shipping points. Twenty-five forts were built upon the coast in the course of as many years, and in these the European merchants carried on their slave trade.

In this barbaric country polygamy ran riot to the extent that a king's regular allowance of wives was 3,333, and the custom of human sacrifice was so well established that a ruler could have his subjects or prisoners killed for no reason further than that he wished it done. The system of human sacrifice was founded to some extent on the idea of piety toward parents and superiors. It is the popular belief that one's standing in the next world depends on the number of attendants sent after him. Several times every year the king visited the places where his predecessors were kept. These were not buried, but they sat in state, their bones held together by links of precious metal. There the prisoners of war were brought before the king and executed in ways to suit his fancy.

In a sketch written by Colonel George Baden-Powell in 1896, when he was a major of the Thirteenth hussars, that officer had this to say of the practice of human sacrifice: "'Kumassi' means the death place. One town possessed no less than three places of execution. One, for private execution, was at the palace; a second, for public decapitations, was on the parade ground; a third, for fetich sacrifices, was in the sacred village of Bantama."

In speaking of the execution bowl, he said: "It is a large basin of brass, some five feet in diameter, ornamented with four small lions and a number of round knobs all around its rim, except at one part, where there is a space for the victim's neck to rest on the edge. The blood of the victims was allowed to putrefy in the bowl, and, leaves and certain herbs being added, it was considered a very valuable fetich medicine.

"Any great function was seized upon as an excuse for human sacrifices. The king went every quarter to pay his devotions to the shades of his ancestors at Bantama, and this demanded the death of 20 men over the great bowl. On the death of any great personage two of the household slaves were at once killed on the threshold of the door in order to attend their master immediately in his new life, and his grave was afterward lined with the bodies of more slaves, who were to form his retinue in the spirit world. It was thought all the better if, during the burial, one of the attendant mourners could be stunned with a club and dropped, still breathing, into the grave before it was filled in. In the case of a great lady dying slave girls were the victims."

Then there was a death penalty for the infraction of laws. For instance, anybody who found a nugget of gold and who did not send it at once to the king was liable to decapitation; so also was any one who picked up anything of value lying on the parade ground, or who sat down in the shade of the fetich tree. It is said that the king of Bantama, one of the provinces, preferred a richer color in the red stucco on the walls of his palace and that for this purpose the blood of 400 virgins was used.

When once a man had been selected and seized for execution, there were only two ways by which he could evade it. One was to repeat the "king's oath," a certain formula of words, before they could gag him. The other was to break loose from his captors and run as far as the Bantama-Kumassi crossroads. If he could reach this point before being overtaken, he was allowed to go free. In order to guard against their prisoners getting off by either of these methods the executioners used to spring on the intended victim from behind, and while one bound his hands behind his back another drove a knife through both his cheeks, which effectually prevented him from opening his mouth to speak, and in this horrible condition he had to await his turn for execution. When the time came, the executioners, mad with blood, would make a rush for him and force him upon the bowl. Then one of them, using a large kind of a butcher's knife, would cut into the spine and so carve the head off. At great executions torture was resorted to in order to please the spectators. It certainly seems that the people had by frequent indulgence become imbued with a kind of blood lust and that to them an execution was as attractive an entertainment as is a bullfight to a Spaniard or a football match to an Englishman.

The contract made between the king and the English government in 1874 contained a clause which provided for the abolition of the custom, but sacrifices were made until the expedition of 1896 was undertaken. The objects of this expedition were besides putting an end to human sacrifices to wipe out slave trading and raiding, to insure peace and security for the neighboring tribes and to settle the country and protect the [illegible] of trade. The expedition ended in the downfall of the Ashanti king.

It need not be supposed that all the property found in the palace was of great value. There were piles of the tawdriest and commonest stuff mixed indiscriminately with quaint, old and valuable articles.

The celebrated dinner service of Dutch silver, the king's golden hat, his golden chair of state and, above all, the royal stool, the emblem of the king of Ashanti, had been removed before the victorious English troops took possession of the "palace," which was nothing more than a collection of straw and mud covered huts. These were destroyed by the English troops, and some of the sacrificial paraphernalia was blown up with dynamite.

THE ELECTION FRAUD INQUIRY

"The Scope of the Commission is Wide Enough Already."

So Premier Laurier Reported to the House as the Opinion of His Minister of Justice—Sir Charles Tupper Says the Failure of the Government to Accept His Suggestions Will Prevent a Thorough Investigation.

Ottawa, June 12. — Some days ago Sir Charles Tupper suggested that Sir Wilfrid Laurier should amend the issue of the Royal Commission to investigate election charges in several particulars. The suggestions were referred to the Hon. David Mills, whose reply Sir Wilfrid read in the House yesterday afternoon.

Hon. David Mills' Opinion.

The Minister of Justice thinks the scope of the commission is wide enough, because by statute the commissioners are given the power to inquire into any matter concerning good Government in Canada, to summon witnesses and to require witnesses to give evidence. The sentence of the Minister's reply read: "It is expressly provided that no witness examined shall be excused from answering any question on the ground that the answer thereto may incriminate or tend to incriminate him; but evidence so taken shall be admissible against such witness in any criminal proceedings except in the case of a witness charged with giving false evidence at such inquiry, or having procured, or attempted or conspired to procure the giving of such evidence."

Sir Charles Tupper had suggested that the scope should be enlarged by adding the words: "And any fraudulent practices, persons and means connected therewith." These words, the Minister thought, were unnecessary; because they were incorporated in the following words of the Order-in-Council: "to inquire into and investigate any alleged fraudulent alteration, defacing, making, spoiling, substitution or tampering in respect of election ballots or by reason of any fraudulent conduct in respect of the poll books, ballot boxes, or the lawful contents or what should have been the lawful contents of the ballot boxes, whether by way of fraudulent alteration, addition, withdrawal or otherwise, during and until the close of the election and until the return to the Clerk of the Crown in Chancery; that the said commissioners have power to hold such inquiry and investigation in every case in which they consider reasonable grounds have in their opinion been shown to them for holding the same."

No attempt should be made by legislation to compel a witness to give evidence as to how he voted. The commissioners could decide whether he should give such evidence or not.

In Mr. Mills' opinion, "If the witness were to give false testimony in this regard he would do so without the slightest fear of detection, and without its being possible, except by the ballot, to establish that his evidence was wrong." Again, "the commissioners who are all judges of ability may be safely left to interpret the law for themselves." As to the admission of the evidence already taken re West Huron, the Minister thinks it would be extremely improper: "As the importance that the commissioners may attach to the evidence of a party and the impression made upon their minds may depend upon his demeanor in giving his evidence, it is most important that the parties should appear before the commission and testify in the ordinary way." As to the Clerk of the Crown in Chancery, he would have produced all rolls and would be subject to the summons of the commissioners just as any other witness. This was the case for the Government.

Sir Charles Was Amazed.

Sir Charles Tupper looked blank after this announcement. He was afraid the failure of the Government to accept his suggestions would prevent the accomplishment of a thorough investigation, such as Sir Wilfred had promised. He referred to Imperial statutes bearing on commissions of inquiry into elections, and pointed out that the powers given to commissioners were wider than those given in the present instance. Complete immunity from all penal actions was given to witnesses. This was what was needed here. Surely the Imperial statutes were good precedent for the Government. Again, as to the payment of witnesses, Mr. Mills had been silent. The commission should be given power to pay the witnesses. It should not be left with the Government.

Sir Charles asked: "Will Brockville and West Huron be investigated first?"

Sir Wilfrid replied that he would not advise the commissioners.

Sir Charles Tupper then declared that Sir Wilfrid seemed to misunderstand that the object of this commission was to get at the ballot manipulators in West Huron and Brockville. Had these cases not come up, there would have been no commission asked for. "Let me say this," declared Sir Charles; "if the Government adheres to this position of staving off the West Huron and Brockville cases till after an appeal to the country, then the Prime Minister might as well plead 'guilty' before the people, and say that the reason for his change of opinion was to prevent the electors from knowing who had been behind the ballot manipulators."

In conclusion, Sir Charles said: "If there is a man in the Liberal-Conservative party to whom can be brought home such terrible rascality and scoundrelism as was prevalent in West Huron, we want to see him exposed and punished." (Opposition applause.)

The subject was further discussed by Hon. Mr. Blair, Sir Hibbert Tupper, and Messrs. Sproule, Davin and McNeill, and then dropped.

Sir Hibbert Tupper asked for an investigation into the charge that, in leasing the waterfront in Dawson, F. C. Wade, crown prosecutor, registrar of lands, etc., received as his share of the spoils $10,000. He discussed the matter at some length, as did Messrs. Sproule, Borden and Sutherland.

Sir Wilfred Laurier summed up the matter by saying the charge rested on one fact alone, namely, Wade rented the waterfront to Morrison and Macdonald, but the transaction was an honorable one, and the interests of the Government never suffered; therefore there was nothing to investigate. Mr. Ogilvie had investigated these charges, and had exonerated Wade. To continue the matter was to persecute Wade. So far as the Government was concerned, the matter was closed.

Sir Hibbert's motion asking for an inquiry was put and lost by a vote of 25 to 51.

Then the House went into Supply, taking up the supplementary estimates for the current year.

Killed in British Columbia.

Toronto, June 12.—Inspector Stark is in receipt of a letter from J. W. Stewart of Phoenix, B.C., telling of the death at Okanogan Falls, a place 80 miles from Phoenix, of Walter S. Raynor. Raynor was killed by the premature explosion of a blast. Mr. Stewart is anxious to communicate with Raynor's relatives, who are said to reside here.

SITUATION IS QUEER.

The B.C. State As It Now Stands—Mr. Martin Says He Will Meet the House July 5.

Vancouver, June 12.—There is very little jubilation over the defeat of the Martin Government. People seem to feel that the province is in for a long, stormy period, as everybody knows the whole effect of the defeat has been lost in Martin's own election to the House. He will never allow any party there to carry on business quietly or comfortably, and there is lots of sympathy in advance for the next Premier, whoever he may be.

House to Meet on July 5.

Mr. Martin said yesterday he would certainly meet the House on July 5. He expected by that time to have something very interesting for the people. He said the rumor that he had sent in his resignation was absurd.

"What should I do that for?" he asked. "The fight is not lost yet, by long odds." He laughed grimly when the comments of the eastern press on the probability of the Lieut. Governor's dismissal was mentioned.

"They don't know a thing about it, and I always notice they have most to say when that is the case."

The State as it Now Shows.

The state of affairs now is:

Government supporters elected	8
Turnerites	[illegible]
Straight party line Conservatives	6
Independents	4
Conservatives	3
Cottonites (or Provincial party)	2
Labor	1

Eight seats yet to hear from.

Grossest Corruption.

It is stated that in several constituencies the election of Opposition candidates was secured through the grossest corruption. Alleged facts about the corporations spending money to defeat Martin are coming out, and the sums expended to defeat him were simply fabulous. $300,000 is named as the contribution of one corporation to defeat Martin.

Nobody knows what to think of the situation, which is certainly the queerest in recent political annals.

Speculation in Victoria.

Victoria, B.C., June 12. — The fate of Premier Martin is almost lost sight of here in the general speculation as to what effect his defeat will have on the occupant of Government House. Rightly or wrongly the remarks of Mr. White and Sir Wilfrid Laurier in the Dominion House at the time Mr. Martin was called on to form a Government, have been accepted throughout the province as indicating a determination in Ottawa to make the voice of the people of this province at the polls decide the attitude of the Federal Administration towards His Honor. The opinion is universally held that he will resign or be dismissed, and it is the opinion of many that Lewis Bostock will be his successor.

Mr. Semlin has arrived here, but says his visit is not political. Winchester, Brown and Martin arrived last night, and a caucus is being held. The Opposition will meet Monday in Vancouver.

ROODEVAL RAID A DISASTER

600 British Were Either Killed Wounded or Captured.

Fourth Battalion of the Derbyshire Regiment Rendered Non-Effective—Roberts Has Liberated 3,500 of the British Prisoners, Rank and File, So It Is Reported at Cape Town—General War News.

London, June 12.—(3.30 a. m.)—The loss of the Derbyshires is estimated at from 600 to 700 men.

A Reuter despatch, from Mazern, dated June 11, says: "Fifteen hundred Boers surrendered to Gen. Brabant to-day in the Ficksburg district."

Machadorp has been officially proclaimed the capital of the Transvaal. A Lorenzo Marquez despatch says that the village has swollen into a small city, the majority of the inhabitants living in tents.

An official Boer telegram asserts that the British have been defeated with considerable loss at Donkerspoort, in the southern extremity of the Free State, 10 miles from Norvalspont. It was thought that this district had been cleared of Boers and rebels long ago.

Prisoners Liberated.

Lord Roberts has wired Cape Town that prior to Wednesday he liberated 151 officers and 3,500 of the rank and file. The Boers, consequently, only took off 900.

Mr. Schreiner May Resign.

Mr. Schreiner, the Cape Premier, had eight supporters out of 40 at a caucus called to consider the Ministerial program. Mr. J. X. Merriman, Treasurer, and Mr. J. W. Sauer, Commissioner of Public Works, have resigned from the Cabinet, and Mr. Schreiner's own resignation is believed to be imminent, although he may reconstruct the Ministry with the aid of the Opposition the British members. The Cabinet situation is so interesting that Sir Alfred Milner will postpone his trip north.

A Boer deserter who arrived at Mazru yesterday asserts that 7,000 Boers participated in the Roodekrantz engagement, that Gen. Oliver was killed and Gen. De Villiers mortally wounded.

OFFICIAL REPORT.

Lieut.-Gen. Sir Frederick Forestier-Walker Tells of a British Disaster at Roodeval on June 7.

London, June 12.—Lieut.-Gen. Sir Frederick Forestier-Walker, in command of the lines of communication in South Africa, reports as follows:

"Cape Town, June 10, Sunday. — The following telegram has been received from Charles Knox:

"'Kroonstad — The following casualties reported from Roodeval, June 7.—Received from Stonham, commanding the Imperial Yeomanry Hospital, dated Rhenoster River, June 8, received here by flag of truce, June 10: The 4th Battalion of the Derbyshire Regiment (the Sherwood Foresters)—Killed, Lieutenant-Colonel Baird-Douglas and Lieutenant Hawley and fifteen of the rank and file. Wounded, Colonel Wilkinson, Captain Bailey, Lieutenants Hall, Lawder and Blanchard, and fifty-nine of the rank and file. The Shropshire Light Infantry, one. Cape Pioneer Railway Regiment, seven. Ammunition Park, Royal Marines and Imperial Telegraphs, one each. Postoffice Corps, 1. Stonham reports that many were severely wounded and the remaining of the 4th Derbyshire and details of prisoners, except six of the rank and file, are in his camp. All the wounded are in his camp, lately occupied by the 4th Derbyshires. Enquiries are being made as to the names.'"

Methuen Fighting.

Another despatch from General Forestier-Walker says:

"Cape Town, June 10.—Sunday.—Kelly-Kenny reports from Bloemfontein this morning that Methuen, with the greater part of his division, was fighting early in the morning of June 8, ten miles south of Heilbron, where Colville was reported to be with the Highland Brigade. Methuen left Lindley June 5, with ample supplies for himself and Colville, leaving Paget to hold Lindley, with a sufficient force and supplies. Kelly-Kenny has ordered Knox to press in the enemy's outposts, believing the enemy's strength to be exaggerated. All is quiet, and there is no anxiety as regards the district to the south. Communications north of Kroonstad have been cut since June 6."

GEN. BULLER'S PROGRESS.

Force Concentrated on the Klip River at Gansvlei Junction.

London, June 12.—The following report from Gen. Buller has been issued by the War Office:

"Headquarters in Natal, June 11.—The force concentrated on the Klip River at its junction with the Gansvlei last night. We anticipated at that defile a force of the enemy 2,000 strong, who had, I think, intended to occupy it and who retired as soon as our heavy guns opened, which were very smartly brought into action by Major May, of the Royal Artillery and Captain Jones of the Royal Navy. The South African Light Horse and the Second Cavalry Brigade were smartly engaged while covering our left front. Our casualties are about six killed and seven wounded."

LIEUT. BLANCHARD.

The Canadian Reported Wounded at Roodeval, June 7.

Toronto, June 12.—Lieut. Blanchard, one of the wounded at Roodeval, reported in to-day's despatches, went out to South Africa with the first contingent. He was a captain of the 5th Artillery, headquarters at Victoria, B. C., but became a lieutenant in the first Canadian Infantry. He had been a resident of British Columbia before enlisting. For some weeks past he had been on special service on the line of communications, and was attached to the Fourth Derbyshires.

Kruger's Bodyguard.

London, June 12.—The Lorenzo Marques correspondent of The Times says: "At Machadorp President Kruger has a bodyguard of 1,000 burghers. Stores are being moved as quickly as possible from that point to Lydenburg. The Portuguese authorities sent a further body of troops to the border to-day."

an angel to enter and tell each of them that he had been sent to confer upon them the creative faculty, so that each had but to speak and each spoken word would become a shining world—what an honor—but you are called to something even higher than that. God's greatest act was not to sculpture the mountain or scoop out the valley, round an orb, kindle a sun or poise words upon etherial nothing. There is more in Gethsemane than in the material globe. No constellation in the midnight heavens flings out in burning ray the awful mystery and meaning of the cross. When Jesus went a brokenhearted man over Jerusalem, each tear He shed englobed a world of love which eclipsed the light of sun and star. When He washed the feet of His disciples He performed a greater act than when He broke the silence of eternity with the command:—"Let it be!" and he who in any way tries to save the lost and bring back the wandering one will share in the highest glory that enhallows the brow of God. "They that be wise shall shine as the brightest of the firmament, and they that turn many to righteousness as the stars forever and forever." Eight of the young men received on Friday night were publicly ordained.

In the afternoon the largest Sunday school service ever known in connection with this Conference was held. The audience was about as good as that which filled the church in the morning. Messrs. Armstrong and R. W. Clark and Rev. Nathaniel Harris addressed the school, the latter illustrating his words with great pictures, the production of his own skill.

At night Rev. J. P. Wilson, B. A., preached a most able and eloquent sermon from "The angels desired to look into these things."

The [illegible] temperance meeting in the opera house emphasized the unwillingness of many good men to leave party for principle. Rev. W. G. Clarke, B.A., and Messrs. J. C. Bell and R. [illegible] spoke. In addition to music from the choir, solos were sung during the day by Mrs. [illegible], Messrs. [illegible] and Rev. J. W. Wilkinson.

Rev. D. S. Houck preached ably to a large congregation in the Baptist church from the Old Testament [illegible] Barnes.

CLOSING SESSIONS.

Port Hope, June 11.—Dr. James Henderson took the platform in answer to a resolution of thanks for his Sunday sermon, and addressed the Conference on matters concerning his department. He stated that the missionary work of the church was progressing steadily in Montreal. No harm had as yet been done by the Boxers to the Methodist missionaries in China. The remarkable thing was that there the missionaries were enjoying a public status higher than that of any other foreign missionaries in the world. The prerogatives of civil Magistrates and of perfects of the empire have been granted them. In Japan tremendous disabilities surround, for the nonce, the schools in which religious instruction is given. The scholars are shut out of the Imperial University, are liable to conscription and prevented by law from obtaining any of the many Government positions. This is the result of a rationalistic movement to destroy Christianity in Japan and has caused great anxiety. Dr. Henderson said that at the present moment a change back to former conditions seemed near. In the meantime the evangelical churches in Japan had said "no surrender," and intended to maintain their religious teaching. The Conference endorsed the action of the General Board of Missions in this matter.

The Committee on Prominent National Events made a deliverance through his Honor Judge Dean. It traced the amazing contrast between what was a century ago and what is in the Dominion. Here we see the fruition, the crown, the glory of all the ages past. Here to the end of time will be the hope and home of freedom. The time has come when he who would flout England must reckon with these young giants of which Canada is one. Methodism extends to the noble subjects of this and other colonies of the empire, who have volunteered in this struggle, our meed of admiration and applause, and to the relatives of those who have fallen our deepest sympathy. For the illustrious lady who has so long and so graciously presided over the destinies of the empire we offer prayers that she may be spared to enjoy still longer the dignities and perform the duties of her exalted station. Its closing words were:—"May it be our ambition to serve God and our country in the coming century with a zeal and devotion as self-consuming as that which burned in the hearts of our fathers."

The Secretary of the Conference was authorized to co-operate with the Secretaries of the other Conferences to secure such action from the railway committee as will give to all the Conferences the privilege of a round trip at single fare.

The Statistical Secretary, Rev. C. H. Coon, made the report of his department. There are over 40,000 members and nearly 10,000 Sunday school scholars in this Conference. There has been a slight decrease in membership. The missionary givings increased over $1,500.

The Sabbath School Committee's report presented by Rev. J. G. Lewis, B. A., deplored a lack of attendance on the part of the larger boys, and it hoped that the attendance at the Sabbath school would not be made a substitute for church-going.

Four ministers, representing the local English, Presbyterian and Baptist churches, were introduced to Conference and delivered fraternal addresses. Following this Mrs. Copeland, Mrs. Jewell and Mrs. W. R. Young were presented as representatives of the Women's Missionary Society. The first read a full and able paper, reviewing the Conference Missionary work of the year. A motion of highest appreciation of the work was unanimously carried.

The Conference next year will meet in Cobourg. It accepted the invitation from the Cobourg church to-day.

The evangelistic side of the twentieth century movement was strongly emphasized. The recommendation from the General Conference was endorsed. It asked that the "special spiritual movement" connected with the "special financial effort" of 1898 be regarded as of first importance in the business of the year; that an organized effort be made at the August district meetings; that the Sabbath of October 14, 1900, be set apart as the twentieth century revival Sabbath; that the first Sabbath of the first four months of next year be made special spiritual anniversary days; that all the church papers be made specially evangelistic; that Methodist means and methods be used.

Rev. R. Duke addressed a meeting called to consider systematic beneficence.

The latter part of the evening was spent in an evangelistic service, with the twentieth century movement as the centre. A male quartette furnished welcome selections during the evening. Rev. J. C. Wilson presided and directed both services.

A Record in Blood.

The record of Hood's Sarsaparilla is literally written in the blood of millions of people to whom it has given good health. It is all the time curing diseases of the stomach, nerves, kidneys and blood, and it is doing good every day to thousands who are taking it for poor appetite, tired feeling and general debility. It is the best medicine money can buy.

Hood's Pills are non-irritating. Price 25 cents.

SUIT DISMISSED

Town Loses its Action to Compel the G. T. R. to Build a Bridge.

At Osgoode Hall Trial Court, before Street, J.—Town of Peterborough vs. G. T. R. Co.—Judgment in action tried without a jury at Peterborough. Action for a declaration that the defendants are liable to rebuild or repair a certain bridge in the town upon Smith-st., where a small stream (as diverted by the Midland railway company, to whose liabilities the defendants have succeeded) cross the street, and for a mandamus to compel the defendants to rebuild it and to make good and restore the highway to its former state. Held, that the railway company had acted within their rights in diverting the stream, and if the municipality had sustained damage by reason of the exercise of those rights, they must proceed under the Railway Act to obtain compensation. Should the defendants refuse to proceed, the plaintiffs would have their remedy by mandamus upon motion. Such a mandamus should not be granted in the present action, a motion being the proper course. Action dismissed with costs. Edwards, Q.C., for plaintiffs. W. Nesbitt, Q.C., for defendants.

The Latest War News.

The Review's Special Afternoon Despatches Giving the Latest Developments of the British-Boer Hostilities.

THE BOERS SCATTERED AND CAMP CAPTURED

By Generals Methuen and Kitchener and the Line of Communication with Roberts was Practically Restored.

Roberts Reports the News and says he met Gen. Botha in Battle and Gained Ground —He also Says There Need be no Apprehension Felt, the Recent Little Reverses Will be Remedied.

COMMUNICATION PRACTICALLY RESTORED

London, June 13—Lord Roberts' line of communication has been practically restored by a complete victory gained by Generals Methuen and Kitchener over Gen. DeWet yesterday. The Boer camp was captured and the burghers, it is added, were scattered in all directions.

ROBERTS MET BOTHA IN BATTLE

London, June 13—Lord Roberts has fought a battle with Gen. Botha at the end of which, though the British gained considerable ground, the Boers were not beaten. All is quiet at Pretoria and Johannesburg.

ROBERTS TELLS OF THE VICTORY AND SAYS ALL IS WELL

London, June 13—After a week's silence, Lord Roberts has been heard from, his line of communication having been practically restored by means of a complete victory gained by Generals Methuen and Kitchener over Gen. DeWet at the Rhenoster River Tuesday, June 12. The Boer camp was captured and the burghers were scattered in all directions. Lord Roberts, on being notified of the cutting of his line of communications, sent Gen. Kitchener in all haste to join Gen. Methuen. On June 11, Lord Roberts attacked Gen. Botha who was in strong force 15 miles southwest of Pretoria. After strenuous opposition the British forces gained considerable ground, but Gen. Botha, when Lord Roberts left the field, was still undefeated. All is quiet at Pretoria and Johannesburg, and Lord Roberts says that government need have no apprehension about the security of the army in South Africa, as it will not take long to remedy the reverses and repair the railroad.

REVERSES WILL BE REMEDIED VERY SHORTLY

London, June 13—Gen. Knox sends the War Office a despatch from Lord Roberts dated Pretoria, June 12, which says: The enemy gained a slight success, which was unfortunate, but which will be remedied very shortly, and it will not take long to repair the damage done to the railway. As these diversions are all in existence, I am now able to hold the line between this and Rhenoster in strength. Methuen will arrange to guard it inward as he advances. Hunter should be at Potchefstroom to-day. He will then move on Johannesburg. We have communicated with Buller, who will, no doubt, soon make the presence of his force in the field felt. Our losses yesterday were not I trust, serious, but I deplore the death of that gallant soldier, the Earl of Airlie. The only other casualties reported as yet are in the 17th Lancers, Major The Hon. Lionel Fortescue and Lieut. The Hon. C. Cavendish, both killed. Gen. Knox adds that Kroonstad is quite safe.

"Hunger is the Best Sauce."

Yet some people are never hungry. Whatever they eat has to be "forced down." There is, of course, something wrong with these people. By taking Hood's Sarsaparilla a short time they are given an appetite and then they enjoy eating and food nourishes them. If you find your appetite failing, just try a bottle of Hood's. It is a true stomach tonic and every dose does good.

The best family cathartic is Hood's Pills.

Do You Fear Heart Failure?

No death comes so suddenly and unexpectedly as that caused by heart failure, but the trouble had its beginning months or perhaps years before when the blood became thin and watery and the nerves exhausted. Gradually the waste has become more rapid than the process of repair, the tissues of the heart have become diseased and finally some over exertion or nervous shock has caused the beating to cease and life to depart. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food prevents heart failure and all similar diseases by creating new, rich blood and nerve force, and building up the system.

TERRIBLE HAVOC BY DISEASE

Canada's First Contingent Was Very Severely Stricken.

Forty Men Sent to the Hospital One Day and 70 the Next—Canadians Were in the Heaviest Fighting Given to Lord Roberts' Brigade—Captain Harrison and Pte. Van Norman Dead—Sick and Wounded Soldiers.

Ottawa, June 13. — Several letters have been received here from Canadian soldiers in South Africa. The fearful reduction in the numbers of the contingents is the most important feature noted. Here are samples:

Capt. Maynard Rogers of Ottawa, writing from Wynberg, May 5, states that great havoc is being caused by disease in the ranks of Canadians. On the day of writing 40 men had been sent to the hospitals in charge of Lieut. Gordon Stewart, and 70 more were to go the following day. The men were suffering from fever, chiefly enteric. The Royal Canadian Regiment had been so reduced that the roll only showed 374 men out of 1,085 who left Canada.. Some of the companies had but one officer. The draft of men sent out to replace the Canadians who had been invalided, etc., had arrived, and he obtained 10 men for his company.

Doubling up Companies.

Bugler A. B. Cawdron of the first contingent, writing to friends in Ottawa, says that the shell which killed Pte. Harry Cotton lifted Bugler Morrison of the G.G.F.G. off his feet and smothered him in dust. He escaped injury, however. The regiment, he says, is now not 300 strong, so many having gone back with sore feet, etc., and D Company has only 40 men out of the 126 who left Quebec. They are going to put two companies in one.

Canadians in Heaviest Fights.

Another private letter, received by the Militia Department from an officer in the first Canadian Regiment tells of the praises which have been bestowed upon the Canadian troops. He says the Canadian warmly appreciated the comforts sent from Canada and Great Britain. The work of the Royal Canadian Regiment, the writer further states, has been commended by Lord Roberts and the leading officers of the army. He says the 19th Brigade, in which the Canadians were placed, had the heaviest fighting which fell to Lord Roberts' army.

CAPTAIN HARRISON DEAD.

New Brunswick Man Who Went Out as Transport Officer, Taken Off.

London, June 13.—Capt. Harrison of the Canadian Mounted Rifles died at Cape Town from enteric fever.

Captain C. F. Harrison belonged to the Hussars of Sussex, N. B., and went out as transport officer to Canadian Mounted Rifles.

The Sick and Wounded.

Ottawa, June 13.—The following cables have been received from Sir Alfred Milner by Lord Minto:

11th June—Regret to report that 538, Gunner John Neild, Carberry, Royal Canadian Field Artillery, severely wounded by accident by Colt gun at Campbell, Griqualand West, 4th June. (Signed Milner.)

11th June—Regret to report dangerous illness of Ptes. (7380) A. Robson, Hamilton; (207) W. Glover of Dover Centre, Ont., Royal Canadian Regiment, of enteric fever, at Springfontein; (3676) P. E. Mullens, First Canadian Mounted Rifles, enteric fever, at Kroonstad. (Signed Milner.)

Private Van Norman Dead.

Sir Alfred Milner also cables that Lance Corporal A. F. Van Norman of the first Canadian Contingent died of enteric fever in the hospital at Bloemfontein on Friday last. He was a member of the Royal Canadian Regiment before joining the force for South Africa."

A Native of Belleville.

Belleville, June 13.—A. F. Van Norman of the first Canadian contingent was a son of Mr. Anson N. Van Norman of this city. He was born in Belleville 22 years ago, and was a very popular young man.

LETTER FROM LT.-COL. OTTER.

He Wrote From the Hospital at Bloemfontein, After Being Wounded.

Ottawa, June 13. — Lieut.-Col. Otter, in a letter to the Department of Militia, under date of May 11, explains that a slight wound received in action on 25th ultimo at Thabanchu necessitated his returning to the hospital at Bloemfontein. He goes on to state that he has a good deal of correspondence to attend to in connection with letters from relatives of deceased, sick and wounded men, both in England and Canada, while the receipts of money and comforts sent for the non-commissioned officers and men of the battalion are almost without number, and, of course, have to be acknowledged and duly distributed.

Three Bank Accounts.

"I have," writes Col. Otter, "three bank accounts in my name and a house full of comforts, with more constantly arriving, awaiting distribution to the battalion when opportunity arrives, while a great deal had already been given them before we left here, the last time, on 21st ultimo. The Canadian ladies of England have forwarded thro our own High Commissioner no less than 110 cases at different times, many of which have already arrived, to be given to the three Canadian contingents, and all these came to [illegible] and have to be looked after and distributed. At least a dozen other ladies in England have collected from their friends similar parcels and sent us for the gallant Canadians—these all from to-

LIFE..

A question of great interest for intending insurers is which Canadian Life Company is in highest favor with the insuring Canadian public? The following table is a good indicator:

Name of Company.	Commenced Business.	Canadian Business Written in 1899
North American	1881	$4,834,566
Sun Life	1871	3,996,865
Ontario Mutual	1870	3,965,509
Confederation	1871	3,839,469
Canada Life	1847	3,800,917

The above are the five leading Canadian Companies and although the North American is much the youngest in years, she is outstripping all her rivals in the Canadian field.

The Boy With the Spade.

No weight of ages bows him down,
That barefoot boy with fingers brown;
There's nothing empty in his face;
No burdens of the human race
Are on his back, nor is he dead
To joy or sorrow, hope or dread,
For he can grieve, and he can hope,
Can shrink with all his soul from soap.
No brother to the ox is he;
He's second cousin to the bee.
He loosens and lets down his jaw—
And brings it up—his gum to "chaw."
There's naught but sweat upon his brow,
'Tis slanted somewhat forward now.
His eyes are bright with eager light;
He's working with an appetite.
Ah, no! The boy is not afraid
To wield with all his strength his spade,
Nor has he any spite at fate—
He's digging angleworms for bait.

OUR SPECIAL OTTAWA LETTER

A RACY LETTER TELLING OF THE STORMY SITTINGS.

Mr. Bourassa and the Address—How to buy Emergency Rations—Happy Relationships—The Price of an Investigation.

Special Correspondence of the Review.

Ottawa, June 9.

Twice during the past week has the order of business been been varied by a scene of wild tumult. Both events were connected with the subject of the most intense interest to Canadians—the war in Africa.

On Thursday the House of Commons adopted a loyal address to the Queen, congratulating Her Majesty on the recent success of British arms in Africa, and on the prospects of an honorable peace. The Premier proposed the motion in a suitable speech to the occasion, and Sir Charles was equally happy and eloquent in seconding the motion. It remained for Mr. Bourassa, the member for Labelle, the individual chosen by the Premier to act as secretary to the International Commission, to sound the note of discord. It will be remembered that Mr. Bourassa condemned the offer of a Canadian contingent for Africa, resigned his seat, and appealed to the electors of his constituency in Quebec province to join him in the condemnation. When he appeared on the hustings condemning the participation of Canada in the wars of the Empire, he had another Liberal member from that province to speak with him at his meetings. The Premier and the other Ministers did not say a word in opposition to the course of their supporter, and when he was again elected, his return on the anti-British platform was heralded in the Government press everywhere as a Liberal victory. He appeared in triumph at the House of Commons. Mr. Tarte introduced him as a Government supporter, and he took his seat behind Sir Wilfrid. From that position he raised his voice in protest against the loyal address to the Queen, and voted against it.

SPEAKING UNDER DIFFICULTIES.

The uproar began when Mr. Bourassa accused the British Government of making an unjust war on the African republics, and declared that the war was the work of ambitious Tory jingoes in alliance with capitalists who wanted to increase their dividends. The shouts of dissent, derision and anger grew louder when Mr. Bourassa declared that the war reflected no credit on British military power, since the whole force of the Empire, with 200,000 of the best troops in Britain and the colonies had been successfully opposed for eight months by a handful of peasants drawn from a population of 250,000 men, women and children. The member for Labelle declared that England would not gain an ounce of glory from that achievement. His voice at this stage was drowned by shouts of "shame," "traitor," and cries of dissent. Finance Minister Fielding vainly protested that Mr. Bourassa had a right as it was a free Parliament. The Finance Minister found that it was not only a free Parliament for Mr. Bourassa to talk to his constituents against the British cause, but equally free for other men to say what they thought of Mr. Bourassa. The latter seemed to be quite pleased with the disturbance he was making, and went on to charge that Britain was depriving the Boers of their liberties, and would be obliged to keep 100,000 men in Africa to hold the oppressed people in subjection.

A SCENE.

When he had finished Dr. Montague was on his feet. The member for Haldimand did not condescend to answer Mr. Bourassa. "I think the best answer to the speech is to give three cheers for the Queen." That was all he said. One hundred and fifty men were on their feet in an instant. Scores of hats were in the air, and such cheers were given as are not often heard in any country. The excited members, with utter disregard of parliamentary usage, struck up the National Anthem and sang it through with all their might.

THERE WERE OTHERS.

Mr. Bourassa did not cheer, nor sing nor rise. Neither did Mr. Fielding. Nor yet did Mr. Fisher. The Solicitor General sat still, and about a dozen Government supporters did likewise. The Premier was seen to half rise, but did not join in the applause, and almost immediately resumed his seat and sat silent during the singing of "God Save the Queen." This singular refusal to join in the applause could not be due to a desire to keep to the traditions of the House. Three or four times since 1896 has the House of Commons stopped proceedings to sing "God Save the Queen." Once this was done when Mr. Fielding concluded his budget speech and when he falsely claimed to have given a tariff preference to Britain. Another time was when the House adopted Dr. Russell's motion commending the Fielding tariff. The Anthem was then started on the Government side to make political capital for Mr. Fielding. The [illegible] had no objection to it then. But when the cheer and the song are started in honor of the success of British arms abroad, it is another story. The Ministers keep their seats.

Mr. Charlton rebuked Mr. Bourassa, and at the end of the debate Sir Wilfrid commended free speech, but expressed the opinion that Mr. Bourassa's words were not opportune. That may mean that in the opinion of the Premier the language of his supporter, [illegible] better suited for a canvass in Labelle and other places where it can be used to make capital against the Tory fanatics and Imperialists, but it is a fact that Mr. Bourassa spoke in the House exactly as he had spoken at Liberal meetings in Quebec province, and almost exactly as Mr. Tarte spoke at St. Vincent de Paul and elsewhere. He has spoken just as he promised to speak when his candidature had the approval, and his victory called out the congratulations of the Government. The trouble with Mr. Bourassa is that he is vain and ambitious, and instead of reserving his anti-British speeches for the places where Sir Wilfrid thinks they may do the most good, he persists in speaking them where they will make the greatest sensation. But it need not be supposed that there is any serious quarrel between Mr. Bourassa and his leaders. There is great campaign work ahead for the member for Labelle. Mr. Bourassa remarked that while he seemed to be alone in the House there were others who would speak as he did if they spoke their minds.

PROTEINE VS. VITALINE.

The other noisy episode occurred on Wednesday and grew out of representations made by Mr. Monk, the member for Jacques Cartier. Mr. Monk's story is this. When the second contingent went to South Africa, Dr. Devlin, of Montreal, offered to sell the government a concentrated emergency food. A year before Dr. Devlin had come to the Minister as agent for the Hatch Proto Company, and brought to the attention of the department an emergency food called proteine, which was highly condensed and therefore suitable for a force cut off from other food supply. At that time the government permitted Dr. Devlin to make a practical test of food on five members on the permanent force at Kingston. These men agreed to live for thirty days on this proteine, and they came out so well at the end of the test that the substance was accepted as a suitable emergency ration. After the test of Hatch's food had established its merit, some difficulty occurred between the proprietors of the preparation and Dr. Devlin. The doctor transferred his services to another dealer and to another food called Vitalene. When the second contingent was mustered, Dr. Devlin appeared at Ottawa, asking for an order for the emergency rations. What he had now to offer was not the Proteine patented, made by Hatch, and tested at Kingston on the soldiers, but the Vitalene which had not been tested at all. The Hatch food was still available, and had been tried at Kingston. But the other was bought by the minister, without a test, without analysis, and on the same day on which the goods were offered to the Government. Dr. Borden seems to have had no evidence that the ration he bought was of the same character, or as good as the one tested. The only testimony before purchase appears to have been that offered by the contractor himself, who having transferred his own interest from one food to the other, was also able to transfer the interests of the Government as well.

THE PROTEINE DEBATE.

The Military Gazette was the first paper to expose this transaction, and Mr. Monk then obtained further knowledge. A package of the vitalene was bought from the dealer who said it was the same as that sent to Africa. It was submitted for examination to Professor Harvey, who reported that it contained less than one-third the nutriment that was found in the same bulk of food tested in Kingston. Mr. Monk stated in the House that the food bought was an ordinary domestic preparation such as may be bought at 15 to 20 cents per pound. The Government paid $2 per pound for 2,300 pounds. It is fair to say that Dr. Borden claims to have obtained an article equal to that tasted. Monk is so well satisfied to the contrary that he asks for an investigation. He has a half promise that the inquiry will be allowed him, though he must first take the responsibility of making a formal charge. The Solicitor-General, who lost his temper in the discussion, dared Mr. Monk to make a charge that the food bought was not the same as that which had been proved by the Government. Mr. Monk said that this was just what he proposed to do, and he intended to go further and charge the Minister himself with culpable negligence. Of course it was pointed out that there could not be a greater offense than that of providing inadequate or comparatively useless food to be used by the soldier in times of great extremity. The strongest language was used in denouncing such a crime. Whether that crime has been committed remains to be tested on inquiry.

A SMALL ROW.

A disorder in the House occurred over the temporary refusal of the Minister of Militia and the Solicitor-General to bring down the contract for the vitalene. The ministers had read from the papers, and by a well known parliamentary rule they were bound to lay them on the table when asked to do so. The speaker was called upon to compel the production of the papers, and after a stormy scene, he ruled that the documents should be handed over. Before the rule was obeyed there was a long and hot debate, three or four members being on their feet at once for a considerable period. The minister made several attempts to explain his position in a second speech but the Opposition refused to hear him until he had sent his papers to the clerk's table. This he eventually did, and white-winged peace [illegible] once more over the Chamber.

THE SOLDIERS MAY VOTE.

On another occasion this week the opposition rose to their feet to cheer a remark of Solicitor-General Fitzpatrick. He and his colleagues did not appear to more than half appreciate the compliment. The occasion was the announcement by the Solicitor-General that the government [illegible] to strike out of the [illegible] which deprived Canadian soldiers and Mounted Police of the right to vote at elections. This feature of the bill was strongly opposed at the [illegible] reading by the Conservatives, but the government defended the disfranchisement of the soldiers as perfectly proper legislation. Since then the patriotic protest of the people of Canada has compelled the coon to come down once more. By a happy accident, Mr. Fitzpatrick announced the surrender of the government on the same day that the word came of the Boer surrender of Pretoria.

AGAINST THE MACHINE.

Three weeks have passed since the rejection of Mr. Borden's motion about the Huron and Brockville election frauds. The Royal Commission which was to be appointed at once, has at last been selected. Judges Boyd, Falconbridge and McTavish will form a court from which a fair enquiry may be expected—if the government does not interfere. When Sir Wilfrid read the terms of the Commission, Sir Charles offered further suggestions to make the enquiry thorough and complete.

IN SUPPLY.

The House has been voting supply at a good rate of speed, though not so fast as the Premier would have liked. It seems necessary to make enquiry into certain items of expenditure. But in the absence of the Minister of the Interior and the Minister of Public Works who have large spending departments, it is impossible to learn much about some of them.

FRIENDLY RELATIONS.

Meanwhile some interesting correspondence has come to light, showing how contracts are let. There is no work can be better tendered for than the work of dredging. But when Mr. Tarte made up his mind to dredge at Coteau and at Berthier, he did not invite in dredging contractors to put in figures. He was instructed to write to one Gauthier and offer him the Coteau work. Mr. Gauthier had no dredge, and knew nothing of dredging. But he knew that he could get dredges to work for him. The Coteau job is estimated to cost $21,000, Mr. Gauthier gets the work done, so it is said, for four to five dollars per hour. Mr. Tarte offered him eight dollars per hour. He is a real estate agent and goes on with his business and gathers in the odd three dollars per hour for doing nothing. The government loses the $3,000 rake off that is taken out of this job, for the man with the dredge would doubtless have done the work as cheap for the government as for Mr. Gauthier. The Berthier dredging did not cost quite $36,000. The contractor in this case is Mr. Robillard, a carpet dealer, who had not thought of dredging until he got an invitation to take the job at $7 per hour. He closed with the offer at once, farmed out the job to a man with a dredge and pocketed two or three dollars per hour. Only two things remain to be said:—

Mr. Gauthier's daughter married Mr. Tarte's son.

Mr. Robillard married Mr. Tarte's daughter.

INVESTIGATE THE INVESTIGATOR.

The Government has at last completed the alleged inquiry made by three commissioners into the affairs of certain penitentiaries. What is wanted now is a commission to investigate the investigators. Whatever scandals the St. Vincent de Paul commissioners may have discovered they could hardly find anything worse than the expenditure of $18,000 in the investigation of one penitentiary by the three commissioners. There was only one commissioner in the inquiry into the conduct of the warden of Dorchester Penitentiary. But he managed to work in 140 days at $15 per day besides living expenses. It is evident that the commissioners were chiefly engaged in cultivating grass under their feet.

Aged Man Attempts Suicide.

Hamilton, June 13.—William Headley, an aged man from Guelph, who was allowed to go at the Police Court on Saturday, after pleading guilty to a charge of attempting to take his life, made another attempt at suicide last evening. He walked into shallow water at the bay, and opened the wound in his wrist, which he made two weeks ago with a razor at the James Street Incline Railway. He was rescued by some men, and taken to the General Hospital. He will recover.

Headley, it is said, has been wandering aimlessly about the city since he was [illegible]. He has a [illegible] in Guelph [illegible] says he has had family troubles.

ROUTED BY BRITISH MARINES

Sixteen British Blue Jackets Chase 2,000 of the Bandits.

The Advance Party Killed Twenty or More of Them—The International Force Numbers 2,045, of Whom 915 Are British—A High Japanese Official Murdered in Cold Blood While Going About His Duty.

London, June 13.—Sixteen British marines, reconnoitering in advance of the international column marching to Pekin, fought and chased 2,000 Boxers Monday, killing 20 or 30. A correspondent, accompanying the column, in a despatch dated Tien Tsin, June 12, via Shanghai, June 13, 6.15 a. m., says:

"While the working parties, accompanied by a patrol of 16 British marines, commanded by Major Johnson, were repairing the line Monday afternoon, eight miles beyond Lofa, they encountered small parties of Boxers, who were destroying the line. The Boxers moved away from the advanced marines and apparently dispersed into the country, leaving the rails moved and the sleepers burning.

A Stream of Boxers.

"The marines, when two miles in advance of the first train, near Lang Fang, suddenly perceived Boxers streaming from a village on their left. It was estimated that they numbered 2000, some of them being mounted, and they were trying to get between the marines and the train. Most of them were armed with spears and swords. A few had fire arms, which they handled awkwardly.

"The marines retreated, keeping up a running fire for over a mile, and killing between 20 and 30.

"The Boxers pursued the British for some distance. Then, seeing more marines coming from the trains to their assistance, Major Johnson's 16 halted, and poured a heavy, continuous fire into the crowd, driving them across the front of the reinforcing blue jackets, who punished the Boxers severely with Maxims.

The Boxers Fled.

"The Boxers fled, and the Europeans, following up their success, cleared out two villages. The total loss of the Boxers is estimated at 40 killed and wounded. Seven of their wounded were attended by British surgeons. The British loss was nothing.

"Unless their loss causes the Boxers to lose heart, the international column will have much trouble before it reaches Pekin. The railway is so much damaged that the column only covered 24 miles Sunday and Monday, and there is reason to fear that the road beyond is more badly damaged.

Headless Bodies Found.

"Evidences of Gen. Nieh's operations are found in headless bodies. The whole country presents a desolate aspect, entire villages having been deserted.

"The expedition numbers 2044, as follows: British, 915; German, 250; Russian, [illegible] French, 158; American 104; Japanese, [illegible]; Italian, 40, and Austrian 25."

Japanese Official Murdered.

The Times, in an extra edition, publishes the following despatch from Pekin, dated June 12, 2 p.m.:

"The Chancellor of the Japanese legation, Sugiyama Akira, while proceeding alone and unprotected on official duty, was brutally murdered by soldiers of Tung Fuh Siang, the favorite body guard of the Empress at Manigate Railroad station yesterday."

Japan Must Mean Business.

London, June 13.—A telegram from Yokohama, dated Tuesday evening, says that the Japanese Government has ordered four more warships to proceed to Taku, and 4,000 men of all arms are under orders to be in immediate readiness for embarkation.

Golden Medical Discovery

Is a genuine specific for diseases of the stomach and organs of digestion and nutrition. No other medicine has had so remarkable a success in curing diseases affecting the heart, liver and lungs, whenever these diseases, as is commonly the case, were caused by "weak stomach" and impure blood. Food imperfectly digested cannot be perfectly assimilated. "Golden Medical Discovery" restores the organs of digestion to perfect working order. Pure blood must result in a fresh body. The "Discovery" purifies the blood and increases the activity of the blood-making glands, so increasing the quantity and quality of the blood supply. It has been used by over half-a-million people. It has cured ninety-eight out of every hundred who have tried it.

TORONTO LIVE STOCK.

Toronto, June 13.—The run of live stock at the stockyards yesterday was large, 100 carloads all told, composed of 1,604 cattle, 1,816 hogs, 434 sheep and lambs, 100 calves and three horses. Considering the large number of fat cattle offered the quality was very good. Trade was brisk in nearly all the different classes of stock. Prices for shipping cattle were firm at Friday's quotations, while those for butcher cattle were about 10c per cwt. higher than on that day. Stockers, feeders and spring lambs were firmer.

WHOLESOME ADVICE

For People Whose Stomachs are Weak and Digestion Poor.

Dr. Harlandson, whose opinion in diseases is worthy of attention, says when a man or woman comes to me complaining of indigestion, loss of appetite, sour stomach, belching, sour watery rising, headaches, sleeplessness, lack of ambition and a general run down nervous condition, I advise them to take after each meal one or two of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, allowing the tablet to dissolve in the mouth, and thus mingle with the food eaten. The result is that the food is speedily digested before it has time to sour and ferment. These tablets will digest the food anyway whether the stomach wants to or not, because they contain harmless digestive principles, vegetable essences, pepsin and Golden Seal, which supply just what the weak stomach lacks.

I have advised the tablets with great success, both in curing indigestion and to build up the tissues, increasing flesh in thin, nervous patients, whose real trouble was dyspepsia, and as soon as the stomach was put to rights, they did not know what sickness was.

A fifty cent package of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets can be bought at any drug store, and as they are not a secret patent medicine, they can be used as often as desired with full assurance that they contain nothing harmful in the slightest degree; on the contrary, any one whose stomach is at all deranged will find great benefit from the use of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. They will cure any form of stomach weakness or disease except cancer of the stomach.

TERRIBLE HAVOC BY DISEASE

tal dangers—while in Canada, from Victoria to Halifax, have come bales and boxes galore.

The Disappointment of it.

"The disappointment of it all is that owing to the constant movement of the battalion these comforts, which the battalion needs very much, cannot be distributed, as they cannot be transported with it, or cannot be got to it."

Battalion Had Heavy Fighting.

"You will have gathered from official reports," Col. Otter also states, "that the battalion has seen no small share of active service, and, from the public press, that so far it has acquitted itself in a creditable manner, all of which I am sure will be of satisfaction to you and the public of Canada generally. When I say that it has no small share of active service I am well within the mark, as it is fully conceded here that, of Lord Roberts' own immediate command, the 19th Brigade has had the hardest work and the most fighting, and in that brigade the Royal Canadian Regiment has done its full share and held its own in every way throughout.

Specially Complimented.

"The day I was wounded both Gen. Ian Hamilton and Major-General Smith-Dorrien came to me specially and complimented us very strongly on the day's work, and referred in the same terms to the battalion's previous record. The natural result of this service is, of course, much diminished ranks, and the the draft recently sent us has arrived, and is now in the field, I doubt if we have now fit for service those 600 officers and men, and these I know are pretty well tired out, or were when I left them two weeks ago."

TRIBUTES TO RYERSON.

Work of the Canadian Red Cross Society [illegible] Lord Roberts [illegible]

Ottawa, June 13.—The following correspondence has been forwarded to the Militia Department from the Colonial Office:

Colonial Office, Downing-street,
May 24, 1900.

My Lord,—I have the honor to transmit to you for communication to your Ministers copy of a despatch which the Secretary of State for War has received from the Field Marshal, the Commander-in-Chief in South Africa, respecting the good work done by the Canadian Red Cross Society at Kimberley.

I observe with great pleasure the high terms in which Lord Roberts and Lord Methuen have reported on the work of the society. I have, etc.,

(Sgd.) J. Chamberlain.

Army Headquarters, South Africa,
Government House, Bloemfontein,
March 28, 1900.

My Lord,—I have the honor to forward a copy of a letter from Lieut.-Gen. Lord Methuen bearing testimony to the excellent work done by the Canadian Red Cross Society at Kimberley.

Praise From Lord Roberts.

The Royal Army Medical Corps were working at Kimberley at very high pressure, owing to the fact that our own wounded from Paardeberg and a very large number of Boers' wounded in the laager and in the various skirmishes around Paardeberg were sent in to that place. Had it not been for the exertions of the Mayor of Kimberley in providing accommodation, the kindness of the sisters at the Nazareth Home and the Roman Catholic community, and the energy and zeal of Lieut.-Col. Ryerson, M.D., and the Canadian Red Cross Society, the condition of the sick and wounded would have been different from what I found it on my visit there last month.

(Sgd.) Roberts, Field Marshal.

Lord Methuen Joins in.

Chief of Staff,—I wish to bring before the Commander-in-Chief the fine and unostentatious work performed by the Canadian Red Cross Society here, under the guidance of Lieut.-Col. Ryerson, M.D. The sick and wounded came from Paardeberg in too large numbers and at too great a pace for me to meet the medical requirements. The Kimberley people found halls and schools and as many beds as they could. But 300 trestle beds and extra blankets appeared, so far as I could make out, from the skies. Only yesterday I found out Lieut.-Col. Ryerson had seen our wants, and had got De Beers' men to make the beds, had bought the blankets and hospital requirements, and placed these things in the hospital, without saying a word to anyone. Here, at any rate, is money spent in a practical manner, the agent a medical man, who ascertains the place where aid is required, and who uses his own judgment as to what is required. Lieut.-Col. Ryerson leaves to-day, and has left me a cheque to spend as I think best for the sick.

Four Canadian nurses came here to-day. The Canadian Red Cross Society have taken so much interest in the work that I should be glad if this testimony of good done by the society, thru Lieut.-Col. Ryerson, might be known to the president of the society.

Methuen,
Lieut.-Gen. Commanding First Division.

Ex-Teller Wilson's Trial.

Toronto, June 13.—The trial of George McClive Wilson, the ex-paying teller of the Merchants' Bank, on the specific charge of stealing the $10,000 package which disappeared on April 18 from the bank, was continued yesterday afternoon, before Deputy Magistrate Kingsford, and, after several witnesses had been examined, the case was enlarged till Friday afternoon, in order that two bank clerks named Denny and Mercer may be placed on the stand again. Wilson went on the stand and denied any knowledge of where the missing package went to.

Chaotic State of Affairs.

Vancouver, B.C., June 13. — A meeting of the Opposition candidates elected is called for next Monday at Vancouver, to select a leader, and take measures regarding the present crisis.

The following have taken the trouble to announce themselves as Independents: W. C. Wells, Northeast Kootenay; A. W. Neill, Alberni; R. F. Green, Slocan; John Houston, Nelson; Dennis Murphy, West Yale; J. D. Prentice, East Lillooet.

Speculation is now rife as to how many of these Joe Martin will have converted before the House meets, July 5.

Prohibition in Manitoba.

Winnipeg, June 13. — Premier Macdonald's prohibition bill will pass the Legislature with practically the unanimous consent of both parties. In a speech on the bill the Premier said that he felt that the bill was as nearly perfect for the object intended as it was possible to make it at the present time. A point here and there as to minor details for the bill's improvement would be accepted from any member, but no attempt at changing the intention of the act would be considered.

Toronto University Banquet.

Toronto, June 13. — The first banquet of the Alumni Association of Toronto University last night was on a large scale, 400 graduates of both sexes being present. Great addresses were delivered by the Chancellor, Sir William Ralph Meredith, Vice-Chancellor Mr. Justice Moss, Sir Charles Tupper, Hon. Mr. Harcourt, President Mills, O.A.C., and others.

A Kingston Boy Missing.

Kingston, Ont., June 13. — The 8-year-old son of Ernest Watts, Queen street, disappeared on Monday afternoon and no trace can be found of him. He was playing on the Haymarket at 5.30 p.m. It is feared that he has been drowned, as he was only a short distance from the water when last seen.

Had Piles For 9 Years

Dominion Inspector of Steamboats Cured by Dr. Chase's Ointment.

False modesty and fear of the surgeon's knife prevent most people from appealing to their physicians for a cure for piles.

Many people suffer on year after year, robbed of their rest and sleep by the terrible itching, when they could be entirely cured by a single box of Dr. Chase's Ointment.

Mr. O. P. St. John, Dominion inspector of steamboats, living at 265 Shaw Street, Toronto, states:—"I suffered for nine years from itching piles, at times being unable to rest on account of the annoyance caused by them. After trying almost all remedies in vain I began the use of Dr. Chase's Ointment, which entirely cured me. I cannot speak too highly of it. I have recommended it to several friends, all of whom have been cured by its use."

Dr. Chase's Ointment is recognized by physicians, druggists and the public generally as the only absolute cure for piles. 60 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates and Co., Toronto.

CURED OF THE BLUES.

He Made an Awful Bluff and Then Proved a Quitter.

Ability to meet the demands of a great emergency is not confined to the stronger sex. This is a true relation of what occurred in Detroit not 60 days ago. The husband has morbid spells and such gloomy imaginings as picture life not worth the living.

On the day in question he had an acute attack of the blues, and it is worth mentioning in the same connection that he had eaten liberally the night before of broiled lobster, using generous libations of wine as an aid to digestion. He was up at the usual hour, but the courage that faces existence had oozed out, and he went back to bed after calling his wife.

"I must tell you," he began with lengthening face and melancholy tones, "that I'm beaten. What's the sense of eternally getting the worse of it? There's nothing to do but throw up the sponge, and I want to do it without creating any scandal. I'm not going to jump in the river, take poison or chloroform myself, but I'm just going to clean my revolver. There will be the oil, the rags and the steel rod, showing just how I was at work, and all that can be said is that I overlooked a loaded chamber."

She acted as rapidly as she thought, and inside of a minute she was at the bedside again with that same revolver.

"Dick," with impressive solemnity, "I'm going to save you all that trouble. As we are one I have the same right to do the deed as you have. It will be an accident; I will get loads of sympathy and"—

"Heavens, Kit! Point that thing the other way. Look out. It's self acting and has a hair trigger. I thought you had some sense."

"But you said, dear"—

"Said nothing. What in the deuce do you mean by taking a sick man at his word? Thunderation!" as she gave the weapon a careless twirl. Out he flopped on the other side and under the bed, and she pretended that she was going to shoot under the bed, too, till he admitted that he wanted to live to be 100 and begged for a show.—Detroit Free Press.

Criticism Is Easy.

"We have come," they said to the great war critic, "to offer you the command of the army."

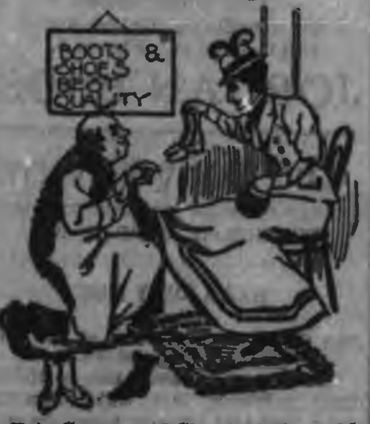
"Why, really," he expostulated, "I have not had the experience to exactly qualify me for so great a responsibility. I"—

"For months," they urged, "you have been explaining just what the various generals ought to do and pointing out the errors they have made."

"Yes, yes, of course," he admitted, "but that's different, you know."

Of course they knew, but the astonishing feature was that he should admit it.—Chicago Post.

Hurt Her Feelings.



Fair Customer—I like the look of this pair. Try them on.

Shopman—I wouldn't like to undertake that responsibility, m'm, but if you'll wait till the guv'nor comes in we'll endeavor to get them on.

The Possible Millionaire.

Mossley—What would you do if you had a million dollars a year?

Mudge—The assessor, of course.

From the foregoing the casual reader may learn that in America, where even the lowest has a chance to rise, the great middle class is fully alive to and able to assume the plain duties inherent in the possession of wealth. — Indianapolis Press.

Those Ventilated Sprinkling Carts.

"That new sprinkling cart driver has quit."

"What was the matter?"

"He's a little nearsighted, and he says that five minutes after he got the cart empty he couldn't tell for the life of him which streets he had sprinkled."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Knew Something About Women.

"My dear sir," said the old gentleman in his open hearted way, "I shall welcome you as a son-in-law."

"Alas," returned the young man dejectedly, "my last hope is gone! If I had your opposition, I might hope to win her, but without it there is no chance."—Chicago Post.

When the Little Birdies Sing.

We again have reached the season
When the chap who has to work
Feels the promise of temptation
To give up and play the shirk.
Every spell of balmy weather
Seems to weaken and confound
And suggests still more excuses
To get out and loaf around.

It's a weary, dreary feeling
That goes stealing through his frame,
And although his work's no harder
He can't get it done the same.
There is weakness in the muscles
That were formerly so strong,
And his thinker's out of order,
For his thoughts somehow go wrong.

Every time he sees the sunlight
There's a [illegible] fervent wish
For a week of vacation
At some place where he could fish.
[illegible]
Speeding by upon a bike
He is manifesting symptoms
Of a strong desire to strike.

Every time he hears the laughter
Of a lounger on the street
He can feel that languor spreading
From his head down to his feet,
And there's just one thing that's lacking
To break resolutions down,
For he'd throw up his position
If a circus came to town.

It's a mighty trying season
On the man who has to work,
And it's not a cause for wonder
That he feels desire to shirk.
It is not exactly sickness
That we're called upon to blame,
But is what men call spring fever,
And it gets there just the same.
—Pittsburg C[illegible] Telegraph.

PRESERVING THE PEACE.

The Policeman Was Called Just In the Nick of Time.

The woman rushed up to the policeman enjoying his otium cum dignitate on the street corner.

"Say," she exclaimed impulsively, as women sometimes do, "I want you to come around to our house quick!"

"What's the matter?" inquired the policeman, with provoking imperturbability.

"It's my husband."

"What is he doing?"

"He's drunk again."

"Well, what is he doing? Smashing the furniture?"

She looked at the guardian of the peace scornfully.

"No, he ain't," she said.

"Has he swung an ax?"

"Of course not."

"Nor pulled a gun?"

"No."

"Is he chewing the rag?"

"No, he isn't."

The woman was getting more nervous every minute.

"Is he creating a disturbance?" asked the policeman.

"No; he's just sitting there in the kitchen."

"Is he doing any harm?"

"He dasn't."

"Then what do you want me to go there for?"

"To arrest him."

"What for?"

"To preserve the peace."

"But you say he isn't disturbing it."

"He ain't," she snapped, with a thrust of her jaw forward, "but if he sets around that kitchen much longer in my way I'll be disturbing it, and when I get through with him, Mr. Policeman, you'll have to come after him with an ambulance. Do you understand?"—Washington Star.

How He Rose.

The old man was reminiscent.

"I recall that as boys there was always an intense rivalry between White and Brown," he said. "White had all the advantage of being a rich man's son, but Brown made a solemn vow that he would rise to a greater height in the world than White ever could."

"And did he keep his vow?" they asked curiously.

"Did he!" exclaimed the old man. "Did he! Well, I should rather think he did. Why, he became a professional aeronaut."—Chicago Post.

HAD A JOLLY TIME

The Cook's Parade Corps of the 24th Again Cuts a Shine.

There was a pleasant time at McCallum's restaurant last night, when the noble band that appeared before the public in the cook's parade in the celebration on May 24th were treated to a supper by the celebration committee. It was composed of the bugle and drum band and parts of Nos. 2 and 4 companies, about 25 or 30 genial spirits in all. Host McCallum laid down an elegant spread and it was disposed of with military promptness and despatch, the slaughter being the heaviest of the war.

After the abundance of good things had been demolished, a space was devoted to speeches, songs, etc., Quartermaster-Sergt. Layfield presiding with grace and aplomb, and Col.-Sergt. Edwards adorning the vice chair. A toast list was run off in soft drinks, the first part loyal in character, the second division being more of a mutual admiration and self-appreciation order. The Queen was enthusiastically honored, then the Governor General and the Army and Navy. All these were proposed with lofty sentiments and drew forth eloquent responses. Other toasts were the 57th Regiment, the Non-Coms. and Our Host, and suitable orations were also delivered over these. The chief soloist of the evening was Pte. Kemp and many of those present entertained their fellows with anecdotes and storiettes.

SENT TO PENITENTIARY

Indian Horse Thief Sentenced to Three Years at Kingston.

The half breed Indian who stole a horse belonging to Mr. Hugh Fife, of Otonabee, was on Monday sentenced by County Magistrate Edmison to three years in Kingston penitentiary. The man gave his name as Isaac Lothbridge. He has a large stock of names on hand and furnishes the police with a different one every time he is questioned. He was also charged with stealing a horse near Lorneville and with stealing clothes. He pleaded guilty to all and was sentenced to three years each for the first two charges and six months for the third, the sentences to run concurrently.

CANADIAN MOUNTED RIFLES

Corp Percy Price Standing the Campaign Well and Hopes to See it All.

The following is an extract of a letter received by Mrs. S. R. Price from her son in South Africa:—

Bebelogen Siding, May 8, 1900.

Dear Mother,—We have at last gotten under fire, having had four small engagements, but have not had any one killed but about thirty wounded altogether. It is all very exciting but does not bother me much and I have been in it all as I have been mounted orderly for the commanding officer. We are faring very well but have had some very hard marches and as we have to do all our own cooking and have to rustle most of our own grub. Our troop is getting very small as a lot of the boys have gone sick but I hope to see it all as I am as well as ever, so good-bye for the present, with love to all, I remain,

Your affectionate son,
PERCY R. PRICE.

P.S.—I do not expect we will get any more letters for a long time now. Yesterday we ran up against a lot of Boers at the Zand River and had to retire and wait for heavy artillery.

AN ENJOYABLE EVENT

Garden Party of St. Andrew's Mission Band at Mr. Lundy's.

The lawn social held under the auspices of St. Andrew's mission band last evening on the beautiful grounds of Mr. J. J. Lundy's residence, "Verulam," Ashburnham, afforded an evening of most thorough enjoyment, which was taken advantage of by a large crowd. The evening was a delightful one and in the bright moonlight the view of the grounds and over the sparkling lake was charming and all the favorable conditions seemed to lend additional sweetness to the music of the 57th regimental band. The refreshment booths did a good business and all present found the evening a most pleasant one.

REGIMENTAL NOTES

Parade of the Battalion Last Evening—Shooting at the Ranges.

The regular parade of the 57th Regiment was held last evening. The attack was practiced on Nicholls park.

The rifle ranges will be open on Friday afternoon about four o'clock and will also be open Saturday. The regiment is showing great interest in the shooting this year. Last Saturday there was a very large number at the ranges. Good shooting is being done, some of the recruits making excellent scores.

The following orders were issued:—

Headquarters, Peterborough.
June 12th, 1900.

Orders by Major Edwards, commanding the 57th Regiment of Infantry, P.R:—

No. 1.—Detail of duty for week ending June 16th: Captain for the week, Captain Hayes; next for duty, Captain Stevenson; subaltern for the week, Lieut. McPherson; next for duty, Lieut. Ames.

No. 2.—Lieut. Eastwood having returned after leave of absence, will resume his duties as acting Quartermaster.

No. 3.—Leave of absence from parade has been granted to Capt. Morrow.

No. 4.—The commanding officer has been pleased to make the following promotions:—E Co—To be acting sergeant, Corporal W. Batten until return of Sergt. Trusler, on active service. To be corpl. (provisionally) Pte. Lundy. Stretcher Bearer section—To be corporal, Pte. G. H. Tovey. To be corporal (provisionally) Pte. R. Turner.

By Order,
CAPT. H. A. MORROW,

THE COUNTY COURT

M. O'Brien Got a Verdict for $151 Against Mr. Laverdure.

The case of O'Brien vs. Laverdure, which was the first on the list at the County Court, was concluded last evening. As already stated this was an action in which Michael O'Brien, carter, sought to recover $200 damages and costs from Mr. E. G. Laverdure, of the firm of Corry & Laverdure, for injuries received in an accident which happened in October last. O'Brien was driving to Ashburnham, with two men named Williams and Spence on his truck when a horse and buggy driven by Mr. Laverdure struck them from behind. O'Brien's cart was upset and the wheels passed over his leg and he was laid up for five weeks. He, therefore, sued for the amount named. The accident happened just at the Peterborough end of the Hunter-st bridge. The jury gave a verdict for the plaintiff for $151. Dennistoun, Peck & Stevenson, for plaintiffs; W. H. Moore, for defendants.

The jury case of the Syracuse Smelting Works vs. the C. Beck Mfg. Co., occupied the attention of the court all morning and was still in progress after the noon adjournment.

GRAND JURY'S PRESENTMENT

His Honor Replies and Makes Reference to the War.

At the County Court sittings this morning the Grand Jury brought in its presentment, which read as follows:—

To His Honor Judge Weller, presiding at the June Sittings of the County Court of the County of Peterborough:

We, your Grand Jurors, in making presentment at this sittings of the County Court of the County of Peterborough, desire to thank your honor for the remarks addressed to us for our guidance and our information.

We rejoice with you in the absence from the calender at this sittings of any criminal business, indicating the law-abiding and peaceable character of the people of this county.

We also recognize with you the prospects that are present in this fair Dominion of ours for a bountiful harvest, for which will ascend the gratitude of the Canadian people to the Giver of all Good Gifts.

Our duties, in consequence of the absence of criminal cases, have been light, but we have, in accordance with your desire, visited the gaol and thoroughly inspected the same. We are pleased to be able to report that we found everything there clean and orderly, the prisoners apparently well looked after and the entire supervision of the premises and the inmates capably and faithfully done. We did not occupy time in visiting the hospitals or other public institutions as these had been inspected by other Grand Jurors so recently.

In concluding we must express gratification at the success which has attended the arms of the Empire in the War in South Africa, and bear our testimony to the brave and courageous services which have been rendered to Queen and Country by the soldiers in the field, in the forefront of whom are to be found our gallant sons of Canada. We are grateful that the end of the war seems to be near, and rejoice that peace with honor will soon be the portion of our noble Empire.

(Signed) ROBT. McWHINNIE,
Foreman

His Honor thanked the jurors for the attention they had given their duties, and expressed a hope that the bountiful harvest now in prospect would be fully realized. His Honor spoke at some length in regard to the war in South Africa, referring to the lives that had been laid down in the Empire's cause on the battlefield and through disease. He spoke of the unusual interest taken in the war in Canada by reason of the part Canadian soldiers had taken for the first time. The presence of Canadians on the fighting line, he believed, would result in the drawing closer of the ties which bind this country to the Motherland.

CHARGED WITH THEFT

Henry Hughes, of, Dummer, Accused of Selling Another Man's Goods.

Last evening High County Constable Cochrane brought into town under arrest a man named Henry Hughes from the head of Stony lake, Dummer township. He is charged with stealing old iron and will receive his trial on Monday. It is alleged that Hughes gave instructions to two scrap dealers, of Norwood, to enter a house and take away what they found. The house belonged to a man named Lloyd and they had to break in the door to get at the stuff. Among the goods carried off were a couple of stoves, a quantity of chain, etc. The junk dealers throw all the blame on Hughes.

Some Factories Hold Out for 10 Cents—Bidding Brisk—An English Visitor Present

The Peterborough Cheese Board met this morning, President Drummond in the chair and a fair attendance present. Buyers present were Messrs. Bailey, Wrighton, Cook, Whitton, Fitzgerald, Kerr, Moore, Squires, Rollins and Jones.

The greater part of the cheese went at 9 15-16 cents, and the farmers were greatly pleased thereat. First selections, however, went at 9 7-8 cents, Mr. Rollins getting in the bid. The competition among the buyers was keen.

It was decided to board up to June 2nd. The factories boarded as follows:—

Keene	100
Warminster	100
Shearer	80
Central Smith	100
North Smith	120
Villiers	80
Warsaw	70
Westwood	140
Oakdale	100
Missing Link	45
Melrose Abbey	80
Lakefield	100
Pine Grove	100
Peterborough	62
Otonabee Union	40
Maple Leaf	60
Myrtle	60
Ormonde	140
Young's Point	103
Lang	80
Fraserville	90
North Dummer	48
Indian River	75
Trewern	71
Benefort	110
Cedardale	45
Stony Lake	31
Cavanville	100
Mount Pleasant	65
Daisy D.	50
Fleetwood	140
Hope	30
Ballyduff	35
East Emily	50
Crown	65
Oak Leaf	32
Brickley	25

THE BIDDING.

Mr. Fitzgerald opened the bidding at 9 1-4 cents, it quickly ran up to 9 1-2, Mr. Fitzgerald bid 9 5-8, Mr. Whitton 9 3-4, Mr. Bailey 9 13-16, and Mr. Rollins 9 7-8. This was the highest at the time.

Mr. Rollins took Warminster, Central Smith, North Smith, Warsaw, Oakdale, Lakefield, Pine Grove, Maple Leaf, North Dummer, Trewern, Cedardale, Stony Lake and Daisy D. Mr. Whitton called out 9 7-8. Other buyers protested that Mr. Rollins had not given notice that he had quit and that he had given his neighbor the nudge to get in his bid. Mr. Cluxton, however, raised Mr. Whitton's bid to 9 15-16, and got Keene, Shearer, Peterborough, Otonabee Union, Young's Point, Lang and Indian River. Ormonde, Westwood and Villiers refused the 9 15-16. Mr. Kerr next bid 9 15-16c, and got Fraserville, Cavanville, East Emily, Benefort, Missing Link and Mount Pleasant. Mr. Wrighton bid 9 15-16, and took Fleetwood and Mr. Whitton took Melrose Abbey at the same figure. Mr. Cluxton offered 9 7-8 cents for the balance of the Board, and Myrtle, Ballyduff, Crown and Oak Leaf sold.

Ormonde, Villiers and Westwood stood out for 10 cents, but did not get it. In reply to questions they stated that it was for sale.

Mr. Crawford, of London, England, was present and, on request, briefly addressed the Board. He had great pleasure to visit us. It was his first visit and he was much pleased with all he had seen. Britishers are pleased with Canadian cheese. It agrees with them. He was surprised at the richness of the pastures. The country at this time of year bore much resemblance to the Old Country.

THE GOLD COAST TROUBLE.

Relief Force on the Way to Coomassie Has to Wade Waist Deep in Water.

London, June 12.—The Daily Express has the following despatch dated Saturday, from Prahsu:

The British relief force is now half way to Coomassie. The road is partly under water, the water being waist high at some points. Many of the carriers have deserted, and before advancing further the relief column must await carriers from Sierra Leone with stores.

Some Interesting Details.

The commandant of the base cables to Colonial Office as follows:

Cape Coast, June 9. — The following is the purport of a despatch received from Capt. Hall:

"Esumeja, May 24.—Collected the forces at Esumeja, Ejinassi and Bekwai, May 22. Considered it necessary to find out the strength of rebel forces to the front and flank before advancing on Coomassie. The plan of the rebel forces was to hold out front at Tjumum and outflank us from Kokofu. A garrison was left behind at Ejinassi. The remainder of the forces were concentrated at Esumeja, where we left 50 men and a Maxim. Told King at Bekwai to advance to Abadon as soon as he heard rifle fire or encountered serious opposition.

"Within half an hour met resistance in a Kokofu village; repulsed the natives and burned the village in their sight. The Kokofu main villages were then attacked. There were 8000 natives. Held them for half an hour. Was unable to advance, but successfully withdrew.

"Lieut. Edwards and six men were wounded. The enemy's loss was considerable. Decided to hold Esumeja, and to keep communications open for news of main body."

A Junction of Forces.

London, June 12.—Col. Willcocks, in command of the Ashantee relief expedition, cables from Prashu, under date of June 9, as follows:

"Have just received a message from Col. Carter, from Kwisa, reporting that he advanced June 6, effecting a junction with Capt. Hall at Bekwai. He found the rebel forces strongly fortified at Dompoassi. The fight continued for a long time, and the enemy were dislodged, but, on account of the loss of seven European officers wounded and 90 other casualties, he was unable to advance, and returned to Kwisa.

"There is no news from Coomassie. Hall is at Esumeja and Bekai, which is friendly.

"Kokofu and Adansi are in a state of rebellion.

THE SERGEANT'S GOLD.

It Never Reached the "Ould Folks at Home."

Surgeon General Sternberg told a good story once of an experience he had in the civil war. He said that when he was going into the battle of Bull Run the Irish sergeant major of his regiment came to him with a big bag of gold coin weighing three or four pounds and said:

"Doctor, I know that I'm to be kilt entirely, an I want you to take care of this money an see that it gets to the ould folks at home."

There was no time to remonstrate or to make any other arrangement, and, dropping the bag into the surgeon's lap, the Irishman hurried away to his place at the head of the column. All through two bloody days Dr. Sternberg carried that bag of gold with his surgical instruments, and it was a burden and an embarrassment to him. He tried to get rid of it, but couldn't find any one willing to accept or even to share the responsibility, and he couldn't throw it away for the sake of the "ould folks at home."

Toward the close of the second day the surgeon was taken prisoner. He lost his surgical instruments and his medicine case, but clung to the gold, and, making a belt of his necktie and handkerchief, tied it around his waist next to his skin to prevent its confiscation by his captors. During the long, hot and weary march that followed the goldpieces chafed his flesh, and his waist became so sore and blistered as to cause him intense suffering, but he was bound that the "ould folks at home" should have the benefit of that money and by the exercise of great caution and patience managed to keep it until he was exchanged with other prisoners and got back to Washington. There he found his regiment in camp, and one of the first men to welcome him was the Irish sergeant major, who was so delighted to learn that the doctor had saved his money that he got drunk and gambled it all away the first night.

IN RIP VAN WINKLE'S LAND.

The Portuguese Colonies In Africa In a Backward State.

The Portuguese colonies in Africa are the Rip Van Winkle's land of reality. After three centuries of white dominion they remain pretty much in the condition in which Da Gama and his bold successors left them.

Here is a picture of what trade means in the favored region of Cabinda bay, where there is a single white trader who occupies a house of three rooms, with a "shop" 20 feet by 8 attached. The place is stocked with puncheons of some vile stuff called "rum" which are exchanged for palm kernels.

Knots of natives from the interior villages with loads of kernels begin to present themselves at the shop by 6 a. m., and when the trader at last makes his appearance there is a noisy crowd of kernel sellers and thirsty hangers on.

The exchange of rum for kernels is quickly effected, and by 9 o'clock in the morning the entire population may be seen lying under the shelter of the cocoanut palms either stupidly drunk or noisily quarreling.

The mingled uproar and snoring lasts till about noon, when there is a sudden return to sobriety, and the crowd clears away to the village to collect the means for another carousal.

On a "good" day the trader at Cabinda bay gets rid of about 190 gallons of rum, and he avers that the scene described is repeated every day in the year.

Next to rum and "civilization" the greatest curses of West Africa are smallpox and the sleeping sickness. From this last no case of recovery has ever been known, and so contagious is it that in the native Christian community every communicant has a separate cup from which to partake of the sacramental wine.—London Leader.

Cheap Cats.

General Sir Herbert Chermside was formerly a consul in Asia Minor. Once, in a weak moment, he sent a couple of beautiful Angora cats as a present to a lady in Constantinople. The lady was so pleased that she asked him to send some more. Sir Herbert gave his native servant some money and told him to go and buy two or three. Then came a demand for more cats from the consul's friends, and he gave his servant more money with which to buy cats.

This went on for two or three months, and the native servant waxed exceeding fat. One morning, however, the general, on coming out of the consulate, was surrounded by a host of infuriated veiled women, who besought Mohammed to curse him because he had stolen all their cats. It appears that the native servant had pocketed the money for himself and gone round with a sack and confiscated every cat in the place.

The Old Shinplasters.

Probably the greatest profit ever enjoyed by the government as a result of the destruction of money was in connection with the fractional currency or shinplasters issued during the civil war.

The total amount issued was $368,724,079, of which $6,880,558 has never been presented for redemption.

A large amount has been preserved as curios by collectors, and occasionally even now it is offered for redemption.

MATRON AND MAID.

Dr. Alice H. Luce of Wellesley college has accepted election as dean of Oberlin university.

Harriet P. Dame, war nurse from New Hampshire, known by name to thousands of Union and Confederate soldiers, died in Concord, N. H., a few days ago.

Dr. Maud Speer of the Tamaqna board of health and Dr. Ida V. Reel, who for seven years has been secretary of the Coatesville health board, are said to be the only women in Pennsylvania to sustain such honors.

Mrs. Alexander Sullivan is the first American woman journalist to be recognized in an official capacity in France. At the opening of the exposition she was given the chair fourth from that of the president of France.

Mrs. Phœbe A. Hearst has presented to the University of California a complete equipment for the department of pathology, which will make this department equal to if not greater than that of any university in America.

The people of St. Paul and Minneapolis are raising a fund to pay off a mortgage on the home of Mrs. M. C. Wilkinson, whose husband, Major Wilkinson, was killed in the Indian outbreak at Leech Lake, Minn., in October, 1898.

Mrs. Jerry O'Neill, who recently died at Rockland, Mich., was known to have had money, but she refused to make known its hiding place before she died. The neighbors were called in, and a digging bee was held, resulting in the unearthing of $3,400 in the garden back of the house.

Miss Janet Russell Perkins of Chicago, who recently took the degree of doctor of philosophy at Heidelberg university, has been made a member of several leading German scientific societies. She has passed all her examinations with the highest possible mark that has been given man or woman in these societies.

Mrs. Leland Stanford has given the old Stanford home in Sacramento to Bishop Mora of the Catholic church, together with a $75,000 endowment with which to maintain it as an orphanage. This is the house where Senator Stanford lived for 20 years and where his son, in whose memory the Stanford university was founded, was born.

Mrs. Charles Ewing Green has established an alcove in the Chancellor Green library, Princeton, N. J., to the memory of her husband. It will consist of books on general, ancient and classical philology. This alcove will help to carry out the late Mr. Green's wish of making this library "the best 30,000 volumes for a university reference library in the world."

THE BEEKEEPER.

Frames should be added as the size of the colony increases.

See that each colony has a good laying queen and plenty of food.

Use the best combs for the brood nest, the roughest for storage.

Do not shift the location of the bees from one place to another.

When the season opens, give the bees abundance of room for storing honey.

Nucleus as applied to bee culture signifies a small swarm of bees of from one-fourth to one-tenth of a full colony.

Black bees may easily be changed to Italians by simply removing the black queen and introducing an Italian in her place. This may be done in any hive.

In breeding queens artificially it is very important at first to get good cells from brood that is of the right age for transformation. It is safest to use fully developed cells.

CUTTING ICE.

Cakes Pass Through Many Hands Before They Are Delivered.

The cutting of the ice on a pond is an interesting process, and the equipment is peculiar and varied. All the fall and winter, until the harvest is closed, men and horses after every snowstorm scrape the ice to the glare with snow scrapers. When the cutting begins, a horse draws a marker across that portion of the pond immediately to be cut, leaving a light straight incision along the surface. This is repeated until the surface is all marked off one way, each line being 24 inches apart. Then the groover goes over the same course, making the incision deeper and broader.

The process is repeated, except that this time the mark goes at right angles to the lines drawn first, and at a distance of 36 inches apart. Then the course is gone over by the plows, until the lines each way are cut to a depth of nine inches. The ice gone over for the last time is ready for the "canal."

After the last passage of the plow which makes the narrow groove a few quick, well directed blows from an ice chisel in the hands of a skilled cutter, and a large "float" containing 100 or more of the ordinary 24 by 36 cakes is broken from the field. Ready men with pikes on the end of long poles push it through the open water to the vicinity of the elevator. The "canal" of course is longer the farther away from the elevator the men are cutting. The course must be kept open, and should it freeze during the night the new ice must be broken.

The first men who receive the float at the elevator break it with their chisels lengthwise, and the smaller piece is sent under the plank bridge, where the cross sections are broken off. Each cake is then at hand ready for its upward journey. The "feeder" drives it with his pike to the proper position, when it is caught by a section of the endless chain, and up, up, up, it glides. The feeder must be careful and quick of eye to see that every piece of the 40 each minute that passes through his hands is whole, of the right size and gets its correct position upon the chain. A cake askew might wreck the whole elevator.

As an additional precaution way up at the top of the tower is stationed the "clutch," who watches the cakes not only before they arrive at the planer, but after they have started down the galleries, to see that no obstruction is encountered. Should a hitch occur electric bells with buttons at convenient distances give him and the other men the alarm. Of all he is the one to stop the danger. In his place of duty there is a clutch with which he can throw off the belt, and without stopping the engine the motion of the chain stops at once.

But the cake has almost completed its journey up the elevator. Before being stored away the thin snow on its surface which has escaped the planer when still in the lake must be got rid of. Every cake before it goes into the storeroom has between two and three inches planed from its surface. A machine also grooves the planed surface with inch deep creases backward and forward to prevent freezing together when finally packed away in the rooms.

The "planer man" has his hands full and after leaving him a break in the elevator run sends it flying along the house galleries to the room where it is to be stored away. Practiced men with pikes hurry it on its way, each room has its turn, and tier after tier is piled up until the ice can be more conveniently handled should the ice enter the room at a higher point.

The break in the runway closed, it only remains to open another on a level with the next gallery to fill the room from that point, where the cakes remain until wanted.

AUTOBIOGRAPHY OF AN OYSTER.

"Blue Points" Gives the Public a Few Facts Regarding Himself.

An enterprising oyster house on Fulton street had printed on blotter paper the following:

"I am born without jaws or teeth, but I've got fine muscles, liver and a heart. In each year of my life I produce 1,200,000 eggs. Each of my children is one one-hundred-and-twentieth of an inch in length, so 2,000,000 little ones can be crowded into a space of one cubic inch. I am ready for the table in from one to five years after birth. You will never find me in cold parts of the world. I dislike cold. In Ceylon I sometimes grow to a foot in length. One of me there makes a stew, when I am half a foot broad. I am not of much account in England, unless I am imported from America. It makes me very sad to think of fetching up on the Strand—I, who was discussed by Tiberius and Julius. I have been the cause of much bloodshed. Men fight fierce battles for me all along the American coast, the Italian and the coast of Kent and Essex.

"If you eat me raw, you are not at all likely to regret it, for I am, in a raw state, very nutritious and easily digested. As a fry, I am inclined to be uninteresting and heavy, so few know how to fry me. I am about the only animate thing that can be eaten with impunity in a raw state. Parasites cannot exist in me as they can in chops and steaks and fruits. I am a pretty good friend to man. And as to woman. Look at the pearls I've given her. Thackeray has compared me in a raw state to a new baby. Yet I never kept him awake nights.

"I'm not half bad in a stew, but as a roast in the shell all the poetry in me comes out. Then I sizzle with emotion in butter, red pepper and a little sauce. The clam is like the driver of a hansom cab then—not in it with me. The clam! That commonplace fellow! I avoid him as much as possible. I am not a snob, nor yet a cad, but I really must not be expected to fraternize with the clam, nor can I discuss him. The line must be drawn. He's not in the Four Hundred. Well, I am.—Blue Points."—New York Mail and Express.

A Fortune For a Single Flower.

The purchasing power of money in the seventeenth century is shown by an article in The Ladies' Home Journal on the tulip craze in Holland, which reached its height about 1634. At a sale of bulbs about that date a single one of the Viceroy variety was purchased by delivering to the seller 200 bushels of wheat, 400 bushels of rye, 4 fat pigs, 8 fat oxen, 12 fat sheep, 2 hogsheads of wine, 2 barrels of beer, 500 pounds of butter, a bedstead with pillows, mattresses, blankets, etc., 1,000 pounds of cheese, a suit of clothes and a silver goblet. The money value of the bulb was $1,000, but as the purchaser did not have the cash the seller was willing to accept its equivalent in the form just recited notwithstanding that it was somewhat bulky and diversified.

A RAILROAD ACCIDENT BET.

Why the Drummer Stood to Win, but Not to Lose.

"Speaking of railroad accidents," said a veteran commercial traveler, "I am reminded of a curious experience and incidentally of the most incorrigible gambler I ever met in my life. I was going west over the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe some years ago, and one of my fellow passengers in the Pullman was a racehorse man from Louisville. He was an interesting fellow and a good story teller, but his conversation was marred by his habit of leading everything up to a proposition to make a wager. Every statement he made was clinched by an offer to back it with money, and finally the thing became rather tiresome, and I made some excuse for avoiding his society.

"Our sections in the sleeper happened to be directly opposite, and that night we were sitting on the edge of our respective lower berths preparing to retire, when all of a sudden the whole car was shaken by a series of swift and heavy concussions. We both realized instantly what had happened. The train had jumped the track and was at that moment bumping its way over the ties preliminary to heaven only knew what kind of a plunge. We were at that time in a part of Kansas that is full of ravines and gullies, and short bridges are of frequent occurrence. That disquieting fact flashed into our minds simultaneously.

"'Bet y' a hundred we're on a trestle!' yelled the Louisville man, above the pounding of the wheels.

"'Take y'!' I yelled back, and with that the coach gave a sickening lurch and rolled completely over. When I extricated myself from a broken window, I found we had stopped on level ground, and while everybody was more or less cut and bruised, no one was killed. I encountered my Kentucky friend wandering about the wreck, and he promptly handed me a $100 bill.

"'What made you take me up so quick?' he asked.

"'Because if we had been on a trestle we would all have been killed,' I replied, 'and you couldn't have collected the bet. I stood to win, but not to lose.'

"'That's so,' he said regretfully. 'Next time this happens I'll take the other end.'"

A Roaring Mountain.

The Shewbird mountain, four miles south of town, is to us the strangest thing in this whole mountain country. The mountain is full of large, rough cliffs and by its peculiar shape and position serves as a weather signal to the people for miles around, because, as the general saying is, "when old Shewbird begins to roar, you may prepare for rough weather." It generally commences about dark and continues to roar until the rain or snow comes, which may be five hours or it may be ten. At dark the air may be perfectly still and not a cloud in sight, yet the mountain may begin to roar, and you may know that by the next morning the bad weather will be on hand.

Though the mountain is four miles away, the roaring sounds like that made by a loaded freight train half a mile distant, and it is a continuous sound, too, with no intermission. The strangest part of it all is that the wind can be blowing at such a terrific rate on that particular mountain and not be blowing anywhere else in the country, not even on the tops of other mountains around, even those that are much higher than the Shewbird.—Haynesville (N. C.) Courier.

ARE TO BE CROWN COLONIES

British Government Has Plan to Deal With the Boer Republics.

Scheme for the Civil Settlement of South Africa Decided Upon—Sir Alfred Milner to Be Retained as High Commissioner—News From the Field of War Is More Reassuring—Gen. Buller Master of Laing's Nek.

London, June 13. — It is learned by the Associated Press that the Government have at last decided upon a plan for the final settlement of South Africa. The details are kept most secret, but it can safely be said that the Orange River Colony and the Transvaal will become Crown colonies, the latter probably being renamed the Transvaal Colony. Sir Alfred Milner, it is declared, is to be High Commissioner of South Africa, in spite of the opposition he has incurred.

While the civil settlement will be drawn up so as to be eventually independent of military enforcement, it is realized that the initial work must be effected with the co-operation of the troops. Sir Alfred Milner appears to believe that civil reorganization and military pacification can proceed simultaneously, and that a possible scattered rising will not seriously retard the progress or reorganization, once it is begun.

Must Maintain Big Garrisons.

The Colonial Office is said to be of the opinion, however, that the maintenance of good-sized garrisons at such centres as Bloemfontein, Kroonstad, Johannesburg and Pretoria will be necessary for a long time after the Crown colony system gets in working order. For this reason, and others put forward by Sir Alfred Milner, the idea of granting an automonious form of government has been abandoned.

The final steps in this decision have been taken during the last few days. Mr. Chamberlain sent for Mr. J. P. Fitzpatrick, author of "The Transvaal from Within," who is well known in connection with South African affairs, and spent a whole day in consultation with him. Mr. Fitzpatrick will sail for Cape Town June 16, to join the Advisory Committee, which Sir Alfred Milner is forming.

WAR OFFICE BULLETINS.

Buller Forces Almond's Nek, and the Question Is Asked: "Where Is Gen. Lord Methuen?"

London, June 13. — The War Office has posted the following despatch from Gen. Buller:

"Headquarters in Natal, June 11.—We forced Almond's Nek to-day. It is not marked on the map, but is the last defile to Charleston Flats. The enemy were in considerable force with several guns in position. The brunt of the fighting fell upon the Second Dorsets, who carried the position at the point of the bayonet, and the Third Cavalry Brigade, who were heavily attacked on our right from very broken country round Iketini Mountain.

"I hope our casualties are less than 100, which, considering the extreme length of the position, is much less than I expected. The whole attack was directed by Hildyard, whose dispositions were extremely good. The artillery, Tenth Brigade and Third Cavalry Brigade did the most of the work."

Where Is Lord Methuen?

London, June 13.—The following despatch has been received at the War Office from Gen. Forestier-Walker, in command of the lines of communication in South Africa:

"Cape Town, June 12. — The following is from Kelly-Kenny: June 11—No communication from Methuen since June 7. He was fighting on June 6, to the north of Vetchkop. Steyn is near Reitz. The British prisoners sent to Vrede are well treated."

The Boers Were Defeated.

London, June 13.—The War Office has received the following despatch from Gen. Kelly-Kenny:

"Bloemfontein, June 12.—Our troops from the north are at Honingspruit (south of Roodeval, where the Boers cut the British line of communication), having defeated the enemy. They will be at America Siding to-morrow at 8 a. m. Gen. Knox moves out from Kroonstad to interrupt the enemy. Fuller particulars later."

Hunter Was in Command.

London, June 13. — From the subjoined telegram it would appear that Gen. Hunter was in command of the troops referred to by Gen. Kelly-Kenny in his despatch from Bloemfontein:

"Bloemfontein, June 13. — Gen. Hunter is coming up rapidly from the northwest, having severely defeated a large commando of Boers, who had destroyed two miles of railway north of Kroonstad."

The railway is in possession of the British again, and telegraphic communication with Lord Roberts is expected to be restored to-day. Gen. Hunter's force is apparently the one from the north referred to by Gen. Kelly-Kenny in his official message. Gen. Hunter must have crossed the Vaal from the north, in the direction of Potchefstroom, by a really brilliant march.

A Queer Story.

London, June 13.—According to a despatch to the Daily Express from Machadodorp, dated June 10, via Lorenzo Marques, those around President Kruger say that Louis Botha and Delarey have been offered indirectly £10,000 a year to lay down their arms, and President Kruger expects the same offer to be made to himself, President Steyn and Dewet. President Kruger believes that the British make these offers to close the war on the principle that it would cost less than to fight it out.

The Men Are All Ready.

London, June 12.—The Colonial Office has received a telegram from Sir Alfred Milner, dated June 8, saying that the Chamber of Mines at Cape Town has agreed upon 580 representatives of 131 leading mining and other companies, who will proceed to Johannesburg as soon as Lord Roberts decides that it is practicable to receive them. Sir Alfred Milner asserts that he is doing all that is possible to reopen business, but is discouraging the return of the Uitlanders, until the question of transportation and food supply are more settled.

EMERGENCY RATIONS.

Government Will Grant a Committee of Investigation—Mr. Davin's Motion About Mr. Sifton Voted Down.

Ottawa, June 13.—Yesterday afternoon in pursuance of an order of the House, Dr. Borden laid on the table of the House certain papers relating to emergency food.

In speaking of them the Minister of Militia said that they were not yet complete. He expected in a day or so a certified copy of the affidavits made by the soldiers who were experimented on with protos at Kingston. Besides certain analysis of the food, made before and after the recent debate, were not yet complete.

Mr. Davin said that Dr. Borden's making an analysis of the food after the row raised last week, showed that he believed there had been a case made out, and so had practically gone into an enquiry himself.

Sir Wilfred Laurier said that if any member had doubts regarding the transaction after reading the papers handed down, he could have an enquiry.

Mr. Monk, the originator of the charge, asked: "Would Dr. Borden produce some packages of the food sent to S. A.?"

The Minister agreed to do so.

Mr. Monk—"Will he bring down the order that was given from his department or elsewhere, permitting the free entry into Canada from the United States of the stuff that was sent to South Africa?"

Sir Wilfred Laurier said the matter would be looked up.

Mr. Monk—"Would he give the name of the analyst who analyzed the stuff called vitaline that was sent to South Africa?"

Dr. Borden said that he would lay all papers on the table.

The Prime Minister said that as soon as Mr. Monk made his charge of fraud a committee would be given.

Mr. Monk said he was preparing a charge, and would lay it before the House in a few hours.

Col. Prior wanted to know if Dr. Borden had cabled to South Africa concerning the emergency food.

Dr. Borden said he had communicated with two officers in South Africa, but it was not desirable to disclose the nature of the communication.

"Was there any analysis of the food before it was sent to South Africa?" asked Mr. McNeill.

"I cannot say for sure," replied the Minister.

Mr. Wallace asked: "Where was the food delivered and who received it?"

The Minister: "Halifax" and "Dr. Jones."

Mr. Wallace deprecated the custom of bringing down papers in dribs. The House demanded more papers on this topic.

After Dr. Sproule had been told that the Minister did not know whether the foods were paid for before being delivered or not, and after Dr. Borden promised to bring down a paper showing that the ration boxes sent to South Africa were opened before being shipped, the incident closed.

Mr. Davin Charges Nepotism.

Mr. Davin moved for an immediate investigation into Mr. Sifton's partiality in giving timber limits to Theodore A. Burrows, his brother-in-law. An order-in-council passed in July. 1898, stated that certain timber permits might be given only to saw mill owners, with mills in operation, who needed material to keep their mills going. Such permits could be given only to saw mill owners manufacturing timber. But Burrows got a permit for 50 miles square, though he had no mill within 40 miles of his limit. Besides he did not get his license till after the order-in-council was rescinded. Further, he cut timber on a section not located till after the order had been rescinded. Further he violated the order because he did not manufacture a single foot of timber.

Mr. Sutherland said there was no irregularity in the transaction, and declared that Mr. Davin had no basis for his charge.

A vote on Mr. Davin's motion was taken at 10.30. It was lost by 37 to 72.

The House then went into Committee of Supply on the estimates of the Indian Department.

Mills Sees It Is a Dead Issue.

Ottawa, June 13.—In the Senate yesterday afternoon Senator Landry asked many questions re the Manitoba school question. Hon. D. Mills refused to answer because the question was a dead issue.

Senator Landry thought otherwise, and declared that the refusal of Manitoba to obey the remedial order laid the burden on the Government. They should see that the judgment of the Privy Council was carried out. The voice of the minority was still crying for justice.

The supplemental supply bill for $225,000 was received from the Commons and railroaded.

Double Drowning at Sundridge.

Sundridge, Ont., June 13. — A sad drowning accident occurred here yesterday. William Lang, Robert Jones and James Lang were crossing Stoney Lake in a boat, and the water being very rough, the boat capsized. William Lang and Robert Jones were drowned. James Lang, being caught in a rope attached to the boat, was rescued. The bodies have not yet been recovered.

AWFUL WELWYN TRAGEDY.

The Murderer's Motive Proved to Be That of a Fiend.

Moosomin, N.W.T., June 13.—A despatch says further developments prove that the murderer's motive for the crime was that, after committing the terrible deed, he attempted to outrage the eldest girl. The prisoner, in his desire to destroy himself, attempted to discharge both barrels of the gun simultaneously, and, had he succeeded, he would have torn the heart out of his body. He failed to discharge the inner barrel, and thus simply tore the side of his body, near the heart, exposing some of the ribs. His previous intention was to use a revolver, but, not acting on it, he resorted to the gun for his destruction.

The little 2-weeks-old baby is dead. The other two are not expected to live.

A SERIOUS REVERSE.

The Ashanti War—British Relief Column on the Way to Coomassie Defeated —Coast Towns Anxious.

Accra, Gold Coast, June 13. — Details have been received here of another serious reverse to the relief column under Col. Carter and Major Wilkinson, a day's march north of Prahsu. There were heavy casualties. The latest rumors report a further disaster to a detachment on the north bank of the Prahsu, which is now flooded, and where the Ashantees were found strongly entrenched.

Captain Wilcock's advance has been delayed by rains, which have destroyed the bridges on the Prahsu road.

The continued absence of news from Coomassie tends to confirm the pessimistic views as to the safety of the Governor and his staff. The coast towns are apprehensive of their own safety.

The British gunboat Magpie, stationed at Accra, is the sole protection for the coast.

Owing to the difficulty encountered in procuring carriers, the enforcement of a labor ordinance is threatened, but such a step is considered unavailable, in view of the present temper of the inhabitants and the unprotected condition of the colony. The general opinion is that the present force is inadequate to cope with the situation, and the local Government apparently fails to recognize its gravity.

The Bisley Date Is June 22.

Ottawa, June 13. — By a militia order issued last night the date of the departure of the Bisley team is fixed for June 22.

Owing to the prevalence of smallpox, the 42nd Lanark and Renfrew Regiment will not drill this year. The same applies to three Quebec regiments.

Drowned While Bathing.

St. Catharines, Ont., June 13.—John V. Durham, a prominent fruit grower of Grantham Township, received word from Derby, Pa., yesterday that his eldest son, Hilliard, had been drowned there while in bathing. He left this city last January and accepted a position in a railway office in Derby.

Princess Aribert in Toronto.

Toronto, June 13.—Her Royal Highness Princess Aribert, granddaughter of Her Most Gracious Majesty Queen Victoria, and daughter of the Princess Christian, was met at the Chicora's wharf by Commander Law, R.N., A.D.C. to His Honor, the Lieut.-Governor Sir Oliver Mowat, and Capt. Melville, R.N.R., yesterday. The party was driven to Her Royal Highness' private car, the "Montreal." After a short stay at the car Her Royal Highness was escorted to Government House and was received by His Honor the Lieut.-Governor. A little over an hour was spent at Government House. To-night she will leave for Montreal.

ANGLICAN SYNOD MEETS

The Bishop Delivers his Annual Address—A Large Attendance of Members.

The proceedings of the forty-eighth annual Synod of the clerical and lay members of the Anglican Church in the Diocese of Toronto commenced yesterday with the celebration of the Holy Communion in St. James' cathedral by the Bishop, assisted by Ven. Archdeacon Allan, the Revs. Canon Welch and Cayley and Rev. John Langtry. At 11.30 the Synod meeting, in large numbers, was called to order in St. James' school house, and after some formal business the Bishop delivered his address. He first paid a tribute to the memory of the Revs. H. B. Owen, Vincent Clementi, B.A., Philip Torque, M.A., and D. A. Madill, who had all died since the last meeting of the Synod. After noting changes in the clerical staff of the diocese, amounting in number to 16, including the Revs. Canon Mockridge and Wilson McCann, who had left Canada, His Lordship stated that he had held during the year two ordinations, admitting 15 candidates to the ministry; held 72 confirmations, when 523 males and 750 females were confirmed. The Bishop added that he had consecrated three churches, had preached 186 times, and administered the Holy Communion 45 times. Speaking of the population of the diocese, and of the number of church members, the Bishop said that on the whole there appeared to be a small increase, but in the country districts there was a continual falling off. The Bishop then dealt with the state of the various educational establishments in connection with the Anglican Church in Toronto Diocese, noting the changes which had taken place in the Church School, of Toronto, and at Trinity College School, Port Hope, and with a general review of the work done since the preceding Synod, the address concluded.

A Wedding in Dummer.

On Wednesday, June 6th, a very pleasant event occurred at the residence of the bride's father, Mr. Thos. Doughty, Dummer, when his eldest daughter, Miss Mary M., and Mr. A. Mitchell, of Hastings, were united in marriage. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Fraser, of Warsaw. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Rose Doughty, while the groom was supported by his brother, Mr. H. Mitchell. After the ceremony and the usual congratulations and good wishes, over fifty sat down and partook of the good things provided. The presents which the bride was the recipient of were beautiful, good and well chosen. Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell have taken up their residence in Hastings.

THE ARIZONA KICKER.

Some Interesting Items From a Lively Center of Civilization.

A bullet fired by Mr. John Scott at a dog two weeks ago struck a knot in a fence and rebounded and raked the shooter across the scalp. He yesterday informed us that since the accident he had not been troubled with dandruff in the slightest. He thinks the discovery worthy of public notice. We have heard that hitting a man over the head with a gun produces the same genial effect.

On Monday last the editor of the Lone Jack Recorder was taken by the nose and led out of his office and kicked into the brush by a man only five feet high. We have no comment to make. This is a country of surprises.

Last Sunday Coroner Filkins spent two hours holding an inquest on the skull of a bear which had been picked up about five miles from town, and it took the testimony of a dozen old hunters to convince him that he hadn't got hold of a great murder mystery. The emptiness of the skull probably excited a fraternal feeling in the breast of the official.

The attempt of ex-Judge Singletree to introduce the game of golf to our people last Thursday was not a success from his standpoint. After one or two efforts most of the players threw away their sticks and began shooting the balls from hole to hole, and when the judge had protested in vain he gave the matter up in despair. We are one of those who can't see why you should whack a ball with a club when you can drive it with a bullet.

This town could get a water supply of 500 gallons per day from Beaver creek by expending the sum of $700, but at the public meeting held Tuesday evening the project was sat down on with a smash. We fathered the project, but we are not greatly disappointed. We own a duck pond 60 by 100 feet in dimensions, and we can paddle about in it without reference to the public supply. M. QUAD.

Dobbin, a new man from Peterborough, was out, and he will probably play in goal, and Davis will be moved out to point, strengthening the defence greatly. Soules, Kelly, Wilkinson and Lennox, on the home, will keep the Orangeville defence hustling. Jack McDonald, who is showing up in fine form, will take Greatrix place at inside home.

Hands Cracked With Salt Rheum.

Mr. James McIsaacs, 25 Elgin-st., Ottawa, Ont., writes:—"I suffered with salt rheum for upwards of ten years, the skin on my hands cracking and breaking so as to make them useless. THE FULL JUDGMEAT

Mr. Justice Street's Judgement in the Town vs G. T. R.

Yesterday reference was made to the judgment given in the case of the Town vs. G.T.R., an action brought to make the Grand Trunk rebuild or repair and maintain the bridge on Smith-st, near Jackson Park, which had been placed there by the company when it diverted the course of the creek in constructing the Midland railway. The full text of the judgment will be interesting, showing clearly the ground the judge took in reaching his decision:—

Judgment by Street, J.—Plaintiffs allege that state of highway was altered by the diversion of the stream and the change in the position of the bridge made in 1882 upon an agreement between the officers of the Midland Railway and the Council of the Municipality in which the highway was then included, but no evidence of any such agreement was given. The only evidence offered was to the effect that the new bridge built in 1882 by the Railway Company over the diverted stream was not as substantial a structure as that over the stream in its original bed, that the substituted bridge has been for some years in bad repair and that the defendants' local officers have at times spent small sums in repairing it. On the other hand it was shown that the bridge had for 16 or 17 years been travelled and used by the public and apparently accepted as sufficient by the Municipalities having charge of the highway. In the absence of proof of an agreement, the plaintiffs' only possible claim is based upon the duties cast upon the Railway Company by the Railway Act. Plaintiffs have given evidence that the bridge is not so substantial as the former one and that span is 10 feet longer. The Railway Company seem to have acted within their rights in diverting the stream and, if the Municipality has sustained damage by reason of the exercise of those rights, they just proceed under the Railway Act to obtain compensation. They have not asked the defendants to proceed under the Railway Act. If defendants refuse to do so they will have remedy by mandamus on motion. Under the circumstances I do not think I can adopt the suggestion of Counsel that I shall grant a mandamus in the present action, a motion being the proper course. (Reg. vs. Vestry of St. George, 67 L.T.N.S., 412, Smith vs. Chorley, District Council, (1897), 1 Q. B., 532, Kingston vs. Kingston, 28 Ont). The case referred to by Mr. Edwards of Vanallen vs. G.T.R., 20 U.C.R., 436, is no authority for the proposition that a Railway Company without any agreement may be declared liable to keep in repair in perpetuity a bridge crossing a highway at a distance from their line of railway. There was no evidence given of any want of repair to the culvert—it is under the defendants' line of railway and has always been kept in repair by them and their liability to keep it in repair has not been disputed. I think the action cannot be maintained and that it must be dismissed with costs.

The Latest War News.

The Review's Special Afternoon Despatches Giving the Latest Developments of the British-Boer Hostilitites.

BOERS EVACUATED STRONG POSITIONS

Roberts Fought all Day but when Ian Hamilton's Brigade Carried a Hill the Boers Moved and then Evacuated the Position in the Night.

Gen. Buller Reports that British Troops Have Marched Through Laing's Nek, and that Wakkerstroom Town and District Have Formally Submitted.

HAMILTON'S DIVISION CARRIED THE POSITION

London, June 14.—Lord Roberts reports to the War Office under date of Pretoria, June 3, 9.55 a.m., as follows: "Methune advanced to Honinspruit and found all quiet. Kroonstadt is strongly held. Methune returned to-day to Rhenoster River, where the railway is being repaired. We were engaged all yesterday with Botha's army. The enemy fought with considerable determination and held our cavalry on both flanks, but Ian Hamilton, assisted by the Guards Brigade of Pole-Carew's Division, pushing forward, took the hill in his front, which caused the enemy to fall back on their second position to the eastward. This they are still holding. It is slightly higher than the one we have captured. The great extent of country which has to be covered under modern conditions of warfare render my progress very slow. Details of the casualties have not reached me, but I understand they are moderate in numbers. The only further casnalties reported to date are two officers wounded."

BOERS EVACUATED THEIR STRONG POSITION

London, June 24—The War Office issues the following report from Lord Roberts under date of Pretoria, June 13 (Afternoon)—"The enemy evacuated their strong position during the night, and have retired to the eastward. Buller's force and mine have afforded each other mutual assistance. Our occupation of Pretoria caused numbers of Boers to withdraw from Laing's Nek, and Buller's advance to Volksrust made them feel their rear would shortly be endangered."

WAKKERSTROOM FORMALLY SUBMITS

London, June 14—Gen. Buller reports to the War Office as follows: "Headquarters at Laing's Nek, June 14 (Morning)—Gen. Lyttleton yesterday received the formal submission of the town and district of Wakkerstroom, which the enemy is believed to have completely evacuated."

MARCHED THROUGH LAING'S NEK

London, June 14—Another despatch from Gen. Buller says Gen. Clery encountered no opposition in his march from Ingogo to Laing's Nek which he now occupies. Gen. Dartnell marched through Laing's Nek, June 13, on his way to Charlestown. The press despatches say Charlestown was partially destroyed previous to its evacuation by the Boers but that no damage was done at Volkrust.

In Sympathy.

"Did you say that you love to watch the buds of spring unfolding on the trees and to hear the merry birds chirping as they hop from bough to bough?" asked the man with a cold cast of countenance.

"Yes," said the enthusiast. "That's what I said. I suppose you have no sympathy in such matters."

"Yes, I have lots of it. I was just about to show my sympathy by telling you one of the best remedies for coughs, colds, sore throat and hoarseness that the drug store can produce."—Washington Star.

His Inspiration.

"What furnishes your inspiration?" they asked of the author.

"My wife," was the reply.

"How lovely!" they cried. "How perfectly idealistic!"

"Yes," he went on, "if the muse ever halts and I feel like loafing on my job her demand for a new gown or some additional money for household expenses stirs me to renewed effort and puts Pegasus in a gallop."—Chicago Post.

ENTRENCHING AROUND PEKIN

Chinese Determine to Oppose the Foreign Column.

Guns Trained on the British Legation and the American Mission—U.S. Minister Conger Asks for 2,000 American Troops—Reformers Pray Powers to Preserve the Empire—Rioting on in Pekin—Foreign Legations Attacked.

London, June 14.—(4.20 a. m.)—The Chinese are entrenching outside of Pekin to oppose the advance of the international column.

A despatch from Tien Tsin, dated Tuesday, June 12, says: "I learn that the Chinese have guns trained on the American mission and the British legation.

"Two thousand Russian cavalry and infantry, with artillery have landed at Taku."

The Shanghai correspondents report that United States Minister Conger, asks for 2,000 United States troops. The question of provisioning the relief force is already difficult; and it is predicted at Shanghai that it will become acute.

The leading members of the reform party, representing 15 out of 18 provinces, are at Shanghai. A despatch to The Daily Mail, dated yesterday, says they are sending a petition to the United States, Great Britain and Japan, praying those powers to take joint action against any attempt on the part of other powers to partition the empire; and they implore the powers thus addressed to rescue the Emperor.

RIOTING IS ON IN PEKIN.

Foreign Legations Attacked—British Property Burned East of Pekin.

Washington, June 14.—Official despatches received in diplomatic quarters in Washington show that the rioting in Pekin has reached an acute stage, with the rioters directing a number of the assaults against members of the different foreign legations there. One of these despatches states that the secretary of the Belgian legation was attacked twice on Monday and escaped, being maltreated by the mob. On the same day two officials of the British legation serving as student interpreters, were attacked by a large crowd of roughs. The young Englishmen held the attacking party back for a time, but when the mob threatened to close in on them they drew revolvers and by a show of force made their retreat without bodily injury. About the same time the British summer quarters, 14 miles from Pekin, were burned down. These quarters were quite extensive, and had just been completed. They belonged to the British Government, and not to Sir Claude MacDonald, the British Minister at Pekin, which gives added significance to the depredation.

Extraordinary Rumor of Settlement.

Shanghai, June 14. — Extraordinary rumors are current here to the effect that the powers have settled the Chinese question by agreeing to forgive the Dowager-Empress and her Manchu advisers, provided they promise to amend their future conduct.

Japan Is With Other Powers.

London, June 14. — In regard to the reports that Japan is about to declare war on China, the Japanese Embassy yesterday said that the attitude of Japan in the Chinese crisis is to co-operate loyally with the European powers. In the existing situation Japan would not be willing to see any single power take the lead.

Still Another Murder.

New York, June 14. — News has been received in this city of the murder of Dr. Edna G. Terry, in charge of the station of the Methodist Episcopal Woman's Foreign Missionary Society at Tsung Hua, China. The tidings came in the shape of the following message to Dr. Terry's brother-in-law: "Dr. Terry murdered. Break news gently." This was the first indication of trouble at Tsung Hua.

GUILTY OF WILFUL MURDER.

Jury's Verdict at Moosomin in the Case of Hired Man Morrison.

Moosomin, Assa., June 14.—Morrison, the murderer, has made a confession to Rev. Mr. Scott, Presbyterian minister at Fleming. In substance he said he knew he was going to die; that he did the deed and was sorry for it. When asked if he had an accomplice, he replied: "No, I did it, and no one else."

He asked how many of his victims were dead, and when the reply was given he wept bitterly.

The coroner's jury found that five of the McArthur family, over whom the inquest was held, came to their death as a result of injuries inflicted by an axe at the hands of one John Morrison, whom they found guilty of wilful murder.

THURSDAY, JUNE 14, 1900.

CANADA AT PARIS EXHIBITION.

A discussion in the House of Commons the other day gave a hint as to what the Paris Exhibition will cost Canada. Hon. Mr. Tarte is not in Paris and dazzling the eyes of the people of the gay capital without the splendor and the splash costing something handsome. But there are over a score of Government pets in Paris as officials in connection with the Canadian exhibit, and the total cost to the country will be three hundred thousand dollars at least. And what has Canada got for the money? To be sure Mr. Tarte has made many speeches and did much talking and has sprung from less than an ordinary citizen of the Dominion into the great magnate whose magnificence never shone so brilliantly as when he was in "my France," misrepresenting Canada and the Canadians. That he has misrepresented Canada—and Mr. Bourassa would have misrepresented it in the same way—London newspapers are pointing out. But, besides the opportunity the exhibition has given Mr. Tarte and the score of Government officials who have been sent over, Canada will not get returns for the vast expenditure which will be made. Here is what a Canadian writing in last week's Orillia Packet says of the Canadian building:—

"Please mark letters very large, "via New York," as really, the Canadian mail service is too awful for anything. I got back late last night from Paris, and am waiting over a train to give you some particulars of the Canadian exhibit there, as I think they ought to be known. I went with two other Canadians, and they thoroughly agreed in my opinion of the pitiful nature of our "show,'" and this, too, at a time when Canada is attracting so much attention. It is not that many of the articles are bad—far from it, but the way in which they are displayed (as far as they are displayed, for it will be a week yet before the carpenter's work on the interior is finished). The building is at the Trocadero, quite close to the building of the Transvaal and Orange Free State. Its architecture reminded me of a skating rink, crossed with a Salvation Army barracks. It was, in fact, quite like that large frame church that used to stand west of Main street, not far from the C.P.R. station at Winnipeg, erected during the boom. Inside, as far as finished, the same cheap, untasteful style prevails. The show cases, carpets, etc., etc., put one in mind of a 99 cent store, while the Union Jacks and Dominion flags used for "decoration" (save the mark) are apparently such as one buys at Willie Hanna's store at Port Carling for a quarter each, to decorate the verandah of a summer camp. Compared with Servia, Norway, or other small states, we are almost nowhere, while Japan leaves us out of sight in taste and quality of fittings. Then the building is enriched by a large series of pictures, mainly by three individuals, as far as I could see. They were "awful." A Parisienne said to me, "It is impossible your artists can be so bad as to lead anyone to think such things worth exhibiting!" There was, as far as I could find, nothing by O'Brien, nor Harris, nor Homer Watson. Some of the drawing combined I think every bad point that a graphic work could possess. Canada has one artist in the first rank—J. J. Shannon, A.R.A. If a picture was required, why not get him to lend one. The Americans took care to get a work from Abbey, R.A., though he lives in England. The "pictures"—"horrors" would be a better term—are in no case representative—they are bad imitations of third-class French art, and the idea of sending such stuff to Paris, of all places, shows that the parties controlling our exhibit must be supremely ignorant. There is a group of buffaloes used as a mural decoration, signed Dube (most of the pictures are French-Canadian in origin, I think), that is what a young Orillian I know would call a "holy terror." I wonder if anything was paid for it. Again the whole show is top French-Canadian. It is not representative in its "misrepresentative." I have lived long in Canada, and I never yet possessed a fur coat nor wanted one. Neither, I imagine, varied as are the accomplishments of the editors of the Packet, do they habitually wear snowshoes. Then why on earth should Canada always stick up such things, and Indian bead work, in the forefront on all occasions? It causes people to ask—as was one of our party by a lady—"Have they glass in the windows of the houses in Canada?" The grains, school desks, stuffs, etc., etc., are good—most of the exhibits are good, very good; but they are, as far as completed, displayed so as to conceal their merits, if I may use the term. I don't know who is responsible for the matter on this side—it looks as if no one was—but if there be any one, I judge he was brought up (till now) in a small general store in Three Rivers, or Murray Bay, or Les Eboulements, or some similar place. There's a store in Murray Bay that is awfully like our exhibit. If Canada is paying more than the merest trifle for the present fiasco, I hope the accounts and vouchers will be well audited. One of the Canadians with me said, on coming out of the building:—"Well, that looks about on a par with Bracebridge fall show," and I felt that Bracebridge had been insulted. What makes it more annoying is, that just behind our building Ceylon, a small British colony, has a beautiful little structure most tastefully arranged within, and filled with purely representative articles—and the whole quite finished and ready for inspection. Generally, the effect of our Canadian exhibit is sordid, mean, tasteless, and would cause ordinary spectators knowing nothing of Canada to regard us as crude and semi-barbarians—about on a par with Finland or Alaska; and this is nearly all due to the manner in which the (often undoubtedly good) exhibits are arranged and displayed. The above remarks do not apply to Canadian exhibits in the general building, that is, classed with other exhibits, French or foreign. The Peterborough and Lakefield canoes, especially, show very well.'"

There will be room for another investigation when this exhibition expenditure is up for review. But is it not in keeping with everything of any magnitude which this Government has had to handle? Lavish expenditure, the great portion of which usually found its way into the pockets of the relatives and hangers on.

WHAT A RECORD!

Day after day the deals and grafting which have characterized the short term of power which the Liberals have enjoyed at Ottawa are brought to light, and the manner in which charges are met by the Ministers is not reassuring to the people. Dredging contracts, timber privileges, fat commissions, etc., have been dealt out to relatives and friends, and the Ministers when faced with the charges made sorry attempts to explain and excuse. The people who watch proceedings closely at Ottawa these days, must be convinced that the Liberals have started out during their first term in office at a pace which, while it may be profitable to their relatives, must be destructive and expensive to the country if continued for a second term. Judging from Messrs. Tarte and Sifton one would imagine that they felt that the present term was to be the limit of their power, and hay was to be made while the sun shines. No Government in Canada ever made such a record in such a short time of corruption in elections, of dishonest attempts to hold power, of deals to satisfy relatives and friends as have the present rulers at Ottawa. And this is aside from the unstatesmanlike record of casting policies and principles to one side, and by their present day arguments and actions branding their promises and their conduct of four years ago as dishonest and insincere. The people will do well to watch the record to the end of the session.

SIR WILFRID LAURIER WINCED

Premier a Rule-Stickler to Delay an Investigation.

Mr. Monk, Therefore, Gave Notice of Motion of His Charges in the Matter of the Emergency Ration—"Substitution" Is Charged—Who Gave Authority to Admit, Duty Free, Trunkfuls of Stuff From the States? A Hot Enquiry

Ottawa, June 14.—The "emergency ration" formed the bill of fare of the House for an hour yesterday afternoon.

Monk Makes His Charges.

Mr. Monk, in giving his notice of motion, made his charges and they numbered 19. Some of them have already been published, others are new and throw new light on the case. The old charges recount the fact that in October, 1898, Col. Neilson of the Militia Department wrote to Henri Hatch of Montreal, registered owner of "Hatch Protos," for samples of his Protos. Samples containing 80 per cent. and 50 per cent. proteid strength were sent by Hatch to Dr. Borden. In February, 1899, Dr. Borden promised H. Hatch a first trial order of his food for the Mounted Police in the Yukon, and Hatch had written the Minister he had all the necessary machinery in his laboratory to keep ready half a ton to one ton of Protos and would do so, in order to avoid delay in delivery in view of the difficulties of communication. In March, 1899, Hatch employed Dr. Devlin of Montreal to solicit permission from the Militia Department to make a military test of Hatch's Protos. The test was made at Kingston and Dr. Borden reported to Mr. Hatch himself that "Hatch's Protos" was "an eminently suitable food to serve as an emergency ration."

Wanted to Sell "Protos."

When the first contingent of Canadian troops were preparing to depart for South Africa, Mr. Hatch asked Dr. Borden to buy a supply of the emergency ration tested at Kingston. But Dr. Borden had replied that all supplies were to be furnished by the War Office of England.

The Newer Charges.

Then follows the newer charges:

6. That the Minister of Militia had several interviews, principally at Montreal, but also elsewhere, with the said Henri Hatch, whom he knew to be sole manufacturer of the food tested at Kingston.

7. That nevertheless by a tender made on the 4th day of Jan. last and accepted on the same day, an agreement was arrived at between the Minister of Militia and the said Dr. Devlin at Ottawa, by which the latter undertook to supply the Department of Militia and Defence with 2322 lbs. of vegetable proteid powder in 7000 tins for the sum of $4680.

Dr. Borden Warned.

8. That, upon information received by him that the agreement was being executed under circumstances calculated to excite grave suspicions, Henri Hatch, on Jan. 25, 1900, wrote the Minister of Militia a letter, which was by him duly registered in the following terms: "Your Excellency: I just happen to hear of a large purchase of 'proteid food from Messrs. Devlin & Lyons of this city for the Canadian contingent. If such is the case, I consider it to be my right and my duty to inform you that such a supply can only rest upon a poor and fraudulent adulteration of my "protos," as it is done without my knowledge, and has nothing in common with the product tested in Kingston last spring. This will be easily detected by analysis of the food supplied, to which end I intend to take the necessary steps in order to protect my interests. A sample of mine could of course have easily been obtained from any druggist, but the articles, if already supplied, are not mine and cannot be identical with those used at the military test. This I thought it advisable to bring to Your Excellency's knowledge, for any emergency. Your humble servant, H. Hatch."

Borden Did Not Acknowledge It.

9. That the Minister of Militia and Defence failed to acknowledge receipt of this letter; and did not promptly communicate with the troops of the Canadian contingent, or take any steps to verify the truth of the information conveyed to him by the letter above referred to of Jan. 25, 1900, received from the person whose food he had caused to be tested at Kingston.

Was Not Identical With Protos.

10. That, as a matter of fact, the food or emergency ration supplied to the Canadian troops was not identical with the food tested at Kingston, known as "Hatch's protos," but was a totally different article of very inferior quality, containing scarcely 17 per cent. of nutriment, whereas the food tested contained over 60 per cent. of nutritive substance.

Made in New York.

11. The said food so supplied under said agreement was never made in Canada at all, but was brought on from New York or some place in the United States of America, by the parties interested, packed in a certain number of large saratoga trunks, containing each two large rough bags filled with a substance closely resembling broken biscuits; it was then ground in Montreal by ordinary milling process to a fine powder and placed hurriedly in small tins, neither sterilized nor hermetically sealed and must have deteriorated even if it had been suitable food, which it was not.

A Serious Charge This.

12. That the said tins bore a label indicating that the emergency ration contained in them was the product of the Vitalin Company, corner Craig and Bleury-streets, Montreal, said company having no legal existence and being irresponsible and having neither manufactory nor known office in the said city of Montreal.

13. That the value of the said food so brought on from the United States does not exceed $500.

What Analysis Shows.

14. That a sample of the said food so packed in the tins aforesaid was obtained from the drug store where it had been packed, and was subsequently tested by Milton L. Hersey, M.A.Sc. (McGill) of Montreal, and found to contain only 17 per cent. of nutritive substance, and said analysis was confirmed elsewhere.

Which Was a Lie.

15. Said tins were shipped to Halifax in large wooden cases, bearing a large label, stating that upon the food contained in them Canadian soldiers had lived 30 days in perfect health.

Usual Precautions Not Taken.

16. The usual precautions as to inspection were not adopted by the Militia Department in regard to this shipment of emergency rations.

Came in Free of Duty by Order.

17. The substance brought in from the United States, as above stated, in saratoga trunks, was detained by the customs officers for duty thereon, but under direction of the Government it was allowed to pass without payment of customs dues.

Got the Money Before.

18. The amount due under the agreement of the 4th of January, 1900, that is $4680, was paid to the contractor before the goods were actually delivered.

Charges Against Borden.

19. That under all the circumstances above set forth the Minister of Militia and Defence, the said Hon. Frederick William Borden, was guilty of gross and culpable negligence

(a) In making with undue haste the agreement herein above referred to of the 4th of January, 1900, for the supply of emergency rations to the Canadian troops in South Africa, with irresponsible parties.

(b) In not having the preparation of said rations controlled by competent men and the supply furnished to the troops, carefully and rigidly inspected and tested.

(c) In neglecting, after he had received said letter of the 25th January last, to take steps commanded by the ordinary rules of prudence to ensure the protection of the troops.

(d) In paying the amount of the said contract, $4680, in a case where he must have known that any recovery of the same was impossible, and without any investigation.

Laurier Delays It.

In conclusion Mr. Monk asked that the above statements be referred to a select committee of the House to enquire fully into the allegations and to report the result of the enquiry.

Sir Wilfred's reply was "The motion cannot be put; it stands till tomorrow."

After Mr. Patterson had said that so far his officials had failed to give the free entry permit, the incident dropped for the day.

In answer to Mr. Puttee, Sir Wilfrid Laurier said that he would in-

Love is the corner-stone of a woman's life. She builds all her hopes upon and around those tender affections which she cherishes toward the ones who are dear to her, and which she looks to receive from them in return.

This is woman's nature; it is the God-given instinct that makes her a fond and tender sweetheart; a comforting, helpful wife; an ever-loving, solicitous, care-taking mother.

When a woman feels that the responsibilities and duties of wifehood and motherhood have become irksome to her—a burden and trouble rather than a source of uplifting and inspiration—it shows that there is some deficiency in her physical make-up; some abnormal and unhealthy condition of the delicate and important special structure of womanhood.

Many thousands of women annually write to Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., the eminent specialist in women's diseases requesting professional advice—which he is always glad to send without charge—also telling him of the marvelous benefits they have received from his wonderful "Favorite Prescription" in building up their special health and physical energy.

"I would like to express my gratitude to you for the benefit I have received from your wonderful 'Favorite Prescription,'" writes Mrs. M. C. Anderson, of South Britain, New Haven Co., Conn. "During the first month of pregnancy I could not keep anything on my stomach. I was so sick that I had to go to bed and stay for weeks.

"I tried different doctors, but with little benefit. I read about many being helped by using your medicine so I thought I would give it a trial. I began to take 'Favorite Prescription' in November and I had a nice little baby girl in February following. My baby weighed over eight pounds. I was only in hard labor about one hour and got along nicely during confinement; was up and dressed on the eighth day.

"The 'Favorite Prescription' helped me wonderfully. It kept me from having a miscarriage. This makes my second child; with the first one I did not take 'Favorite Prescription' and I had 2 miscarriages. This last baby is as plump and healthy as any mother could wish."

Trouble in The Stomach

Which Doctors Failed to Remove, Cured by Less Than Two Boxes of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

The experience of Mr. Blackwell is similar to that of many sufferers with chronic indigestion. Stomach medicines will seldom really cure indigestion. The kidneys and liver must be set right, and the bowels made regular and active.

Mr. Joseph Blackwell, Holmesville, Ont., says:—"I derived more benefit from the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills than from any other medicine I ever took, and can highly recommend them for stomach troubles. I was in a terrible state and could hardly work at my trade. I tried most every kind of medicine and doctors, until I was tired doctoring, and before I used one box of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills I could see that they were helping me, and after taking a box and a half, found that I was cured."

Nearly every family on the continent has used Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills or heard of the remarkable cures they have effected. One pill a dose, 25c a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates and Co., Toronto.

Hands Cracked With Salt Rheum.

Mr. James McIsaacs, 25 Elgin-st., Ottawa, Ont., writes:—"I suffered with salt rheum for upwards of ten years, the skin on my hands cracking and breaking so as to make them useless. After trying all sorts of remedies in vain, I became discouraged and thought my sufferings would never end. Last spring I used Dr. Chase's Ointment and in a short time was perfectly cured." Dr. Chase's Ointment is of unparalleled merit as a cure for all itching skin diseases. All druggists.

ABOUT A HALF CROP.

Gloomy Wheat and Hay Reports From Every Section of Manitoba—Mr. Davidson Speaks.

Winnipeg, June 14.—The Government crop report for May will be made public to-day. The reports sent in are from every section of the province and have been prepared with great care and accuracy. They show that the hay crop in almost every township is a total failure, owing to lack of rain, and if the present dry weather continues, the wheat crop will be very indifferent. At best not more than half a crop is anticipated, as the damage done already has been incalculable.

Hon. Mr. Davidson gave it as his opinion yesterday that there would not be over half a crop, even with most favorable conditions. During next month, and if the rain did not soon come in liberal quantities the prospects were exceedingly gloomy. While he did not wish to advertise the fact, or appear as an alarmist, there was, nevertheless, nothing to be gained by being blind to the gravity of the situation in the country or the extent of damage done. This view is taken by every one of the rural members who have been spoken to on the matter. All unite in saying that the crop cannot be over half its normal quantity, even under the best possible conditions for the future. Over 1,800,000 acres of wheat are in crop.

F. W. Thompson, general manager of the Ogilvie Milling Company, in an interview regarding the crop prospects, stated that, according to reports from the company's agents, the conditions as a whole were not satisfactory. The whole country required rain badly. From Sydney west on the main line to Moosomin, the frost last Thursday night appeared to have cut down a considerable portion of the wheat. As to the extent of any permanent injury, it was very difficult to determine, as the experience of frost at this time of year was new to the country. In any case a moderate yield only could be looked for this season.

Dr. Pollok is Moderator.

Halifax, June 14. — The twenty-sixth General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church of Canada met in St. Matthew's Church here last evening. The opening sermon was delivered by Rev. Dr. Campbell of Perth, tht . the retiring Moderator. The election of the new Moderator then proceeded. Rev. Kenneth McLennan of Point Levis placed the name of Rev. Dr. Allan Pollok, principal of Pine College, Halifax, in nomination. The nomination was seconded by Rev. Dr. Lyle of Hamilton, and Dr. Pollok was unanimously elected Moderator.

Death of seven Men.

Williamsport, Pa., June 14. — Six men were killed and another fatally injured on a logging railroad at Camual, about 36 miles from this place, yesterday afternoon. A train jumped the track in some unaccountable manner, and plunged down a 500-foot embankment. Both fireman and engineer were instantly killed, as also were four Italian laborers.

B.C. Election Tangle.

Col. Prior, having stated that according to the returns Martin and his Government were defeated, asked if Sir Wilfrid Laurier had sent instructions to Lt.-Gov. McInnes as to how he should proceed.

Sir Wilfrid replied that the Government did not propose to issue any instructions. The answer to the British Columbia problem was in the hands of the people in British Columbia.

Mr. Wallace asked if the Government was assuming the responsibility of Lt.-Gov. McInnes' action; if so, did the Government intend to recall the Lieutenant-Governor?

Sir Wilfrid thought the question was too grave to be treated with levity, as he assumed it had been treated. As it was at present impossible to know what the election returns really were, and as the Government did not propose to act on newspaper comment, there would have to be something official before it would act.

The Election Law.

For four or five hours the amendments to the Elections Act occupied the attention of the House. Considerable progress was made, and several of Mr. Casgrain's amendments were taken into consideration. The topic of pairing off of election protests was commented on.

Dr. Sproule said pairing off was a most demoralizing feature of the elections, and was really a piece of blackmail. It operated to prevent frauds coming out.

Mr. Fielding strongly denounced pairing off, and hoped the time would come that for three months after elections the court should be opened to inquire into elections without charges even being laid. Mr. Fielding also favored Mr. Casgrain's amendments, and thought Mr. Fitzpatrick should accept them.

The oft-repeated question, "When does an election begin?" was asked. An election begins when the writ is issued, not when the candidate is nominated, as many think.

Mr. Henderson (Halton) declared pairing off was the only possible way in which a man could hold his seat in the Province of Ontario. He objected to the old clause of agency, declaring that any man who visited a committee, though unknown to the candidate, still was considered an agent, and his wrongful act would unseat the candidate. This was too stringent, and should be repealed. The House thought differently.

By 1.30 all the clauses of the bill, except a dozen, were passed, and the committee got leave to sit again. The House then adjourned.

The Senate Ax is Working.

Ottawa, June 14.—The Senate yesterday threw out the bill of the Gaspe Short Line Railway. The bill had come up from the Commons after a hard fight. Its aim was to take over the existing lines, but did not specify sufficient indemnity to laborers, whose wages were still owed by the existing roads.

The Featherstonhaugh Divorce bill was read a third time and passed.

The Senators agreed upon having the amendments to the Criminal Code go into effect on Sept. 1, not on June 1.

The amendment exempting trades unions from the combine clauses of the bill was struck out by 13 yeas to 9 nays.

THE PARIS EXPOSITION A FAKE.

Dominion of Canada Charged $115,000 for Space and Buildings.

Ottawa, June 14.—There is a feeling in the Government that perhaps after all the Paris Exposition is, in the language of one Roosevelt, "A Fake." This feeling has arisen from the fact that Canada will have to put up $115,000 for space and buildings, although it is usual in world expositions to make no charge for space. When the Government accepted the invitation to exhibit, this fact was not known. Before the whole affair is over Canada will have to pay about $500,000 for its share in the show.

Mr. Fisher says he hopes to get off with $300,000, but with such liberal men as Tarte and Perault handling the money, no one can limit the spending.

THE COUNTY COURT

Several Cases Disposed of—Campbell vs Bothwell Settled Out of Court.

At the County Court yesterday the case of the Syracuse Smelting Works vs. the C. Beck Mfg. Co., was concluded. It was a case in which the plaintiffs sought $150 damages for alleged breach of contract, the defendants, it was claimed, failing to deliver a car load of scrap iron according to agreement. The defendants denied the existence of any agreement. Verdict was given by jury for $57.50 for plaintiff. D. O'Connell for plaintiffs; Stratton & Hall for defendants.

Campbell vs. Bothwell, an action brought by Geo. Campbell, of North Monaghan, against Robert and William Bothwell, of Cavan, for alleged breach of contract, regarding the lease of plaintiff's farm in Monaghan, was settled out of court, the defendant paying the plaintiff $325 in settlement. Stratton & Hall for plaintiff; E. B. Edwards for defendant.

A PLEASANT SURPRISE

Shakespeare Class of Rev. Father F. J. O'Sullivan Show Appreciation.

Wednesday evening the young people who so successfully presented the scenes from "The Merchant of Venice" last spring, assembled at St. Peter's Cathedral Presbytery in order to bid farewell to their teacher, Rev. Father F. J. O'Sullivan, who is obliged to give up active duties and seek rest, and also to show their deep appreciation of the interest he took in them during the many practices.

After a few minutes spent in conversation, Miss Nellie McCabe stepped forward and read the following address:—

Rev. F. J. O'Sullivan:—

Rev. Father,—We are taking this opportunity to express our heartfelt gratitude for the kind interest you manifested in us during the past season, and, although we have been rather dilatory in expressing our sincere appreciation of your work, we beg of you to remember that we never have, for one moment, lost sight of our duty towards you, and shall always cherish in our memories the many favors you have shown us.

We entreat you to accept the accompanying trifle, as a slight souvenir of our Reading Circle, and as a very meagre mark of our great appreciation of your many kind efforts for our advancement.

Signed on behalf of the Shakespearian Class, Miss Nellie McCabe, Miss Kate McGrath, Mr. J. T. O'Connell, Mr. J. Dennard, Mr. V. McFadden, Mr. Jas. Doris, Mr. J. P. Dillon, Mr. M. Fitzsimmons, Mr. T. J. Begley.

Peterborough, June 13, 1900.

The presentation was made by Mr. Victor McFadden, and consisted of a colored group of "The Merchant of Venice" class in a frame, the work of Mr. R. M. Roy.

Rev. Father F. J. O'Sullivan in replying stated that he was entirely unprepared for such a scene as this, as he certainly did not expect anything of this nature. He felt that he did not deserve the praise bestowed on him for he knew that the successful manner in which the Merchant of Venice was presented was due more to natural talent than to his teaching, as the teaching of Shakesperean dramas was something that was not in his line. His object in taking up this work was to cultivate amongst the young people a taste for literature. He would always look back on the evenings spent at practice with considerable pleasure, and he assured them that if God spared him to return to town he would during the fall and winter months take up the study and presentation of several plays. He closed by thanking them for their beautiful present.

The engrossing of the address was the work of Mr. Pringle of the Business College and was most creditably executed.

If you don't feel quite well, try a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla. It is a wonderful tonic and invigorator. It will help you.

NOMINATION OF OFFICERS

St. Peter's Total Abstinence Society—Rev. Father F. J. O'Sullivan's Departure.

At the last regular meeting of St. Peter's Total Abstinence Society the nominations for officers for the coming six months too place. The President, Vice-President and Recording-Secretary expressed a desire to be not named as candidates for office. A large number of candidates were nominated for every office in the gift of the Society and a large attendance is looked for at the next meeting, when the elections will be held.

During the meeting the Spiritual Advisor, Rev. Father F. J. O'Sullivan, announced that he had been advised by his physician to seek rest, as his health was not of the best. This necessitated his leaving town for a time, and he was therefore obliged to resign his position as Spiritual Advisor. His place, he stated, would be taken by Rev. Dr. O'Brien, a staunch advocate of the cause of temperance. In referring to the work of the Society since organization, Rev. Father O'Sullivan felt the members had cause for congratulating themselves, as the Society was exercising a wonderful influence for good. He also congratulated the officers on the manner in which they performed their duties.

Rev. Dr. O'Brien also addressed the meeting, and assured those present that he would do all in his power as Spiritual Advisor to assist the Society.

Mr. J. B. Oke is in Toronto to-day attending the fruit sales.

Rev. Father F. J. O'Sullivan left this morning for Muskoka, where he will spend some time for the benefit of his health.

Miss Maggie Young, of Young's Point, left to-day for a visit to Rochester.

Mr. R. J. Conroy has passed his final examination in medicine at McGill University to the dignity of M.D. after his name. He took honors in surgery.

Rev. W. H. Moore, of Bangor, Mich., is in town, the guest of his brother, Rev. J. E. Moore, Ph.B. He will preach the sermon to the Woodmen of the World on Sunday evening at Mark-st. church.

The Review has received a copy of the Otago Daily Times, of Dunedin, New Zealand, of April 27th, in which is a lengthy report of the anniversary conversazione which marked the twenty-fifth anniversary of the induction of the Rev. Dr. Rutherford Waddell as minister of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church, at Dunedin. Rev. Dr. Waddell is a brother of Mrs. Hugh Waddell, of town, and will be remembered by many in this district as he visited his sister a few years ago when she resided at Centreville. The anniversary celebration was more than a congregational event, as clergymen and members of all denominations were present and participated in it. The report shows that the arrangements were elaborate and beautiful, but the speeches which marked the occasion were particularly able, polished and appropriate. They were one and all decidedly congratulatory and eulogestic of the work of Rev. Dr. Waddell, not only as a preacher and teacher of the Gospel but as a literary worker and instructor. His gifts in the latter respect had made his work broader and wider than congregational lines, and had placed the entire community under obligation to him. As a slight mark of their appreciation the congregation presented Rev. Dr. Waddell with the sum of £50 and a silver salver, and increased his stipend by £50 a year. Rev. Jas. Gibb also presented Dr. Waddell with a case containing the Encyclopedia Britannica from a number of admirers and friends in the Synod, who especially appreciated his work as editor of the Christian Outlook, a publication "not surpassed by any religious paper in the colony." Dr. Waddell was also presented with a purse of sovereigns to be spent in the purchase of books. This came from the St. Andrew's Literary Institute as a small appreciation of his valued work and good influence in literary circles. The entire anniversary, judging by the report, was a most graceful and happy occasion, and Rev. Dr. Waddell's friends in this district will unite with his people and friends in New Zealand and extend congratulations and wish him many more years of life and health in which to exercise the great talents with which he has been endowed.

BAND CONCERTS IN CENTRAL PARK

A PROPOSITION TO HAVE THE NEW BAND STAND ERECTED THERE

Citizens Point Out the Unsuitabilty of Victoria Park for Concerts or for Large Congregations of Any Kind—An Ornamental Park and a Utility Park.

Members of the Horticultural Society and other citizens have brought before the Review arguments in favor of having the band concerts held in the Central park instead of in Victoria park. The Council has decided upon the erection of a new band stand, and it is pointed out that the most advisable step that could have been taken, and one that would give eminently satisfactory results, would be to have the new stand put up in Central park and have it made the place for the open air concerts.

In advancing the proposition it is pointed out that Victoria park is properly an ornamental park and not a place for the gathering of multitudes. The people desire it to look well, to be a beauty spot, and this cannot be done when every week it is subject to damage from being tramped over. At every concert many people stand down in the lower part of the park, on the lawn grass, which is injured thereby, and when "God Save the Queen" strikes up there is a rush of a couple of thousand people, in which no attention is paid to walks, grass, bed or urns. The edges of the walks are cut in and the sod is cut and destroyed with heel marks. Frequently the urns and pots are broken, and after every band night it takes the superintendent and his men a day to put things to rights.

It is also pointed out that Victoria park is unsuited to musical concerts owing to the various levels. At no point except on the small level at the stand can the music be heard satisfactorily.

Owing to Victoria park being so closed in by trees and Central park so much opener, citizens in their homes could hear the music in a far greater radius if the concerts were given in the latter park. At present few people at their homes derive any pleasure from the band concerts.

Central Park is well adapted both for seats and promenades. The whole park is level and could accommodate a large crowd much better than can Victoria park. The music could be better heard and more people could enjoy it comfortably. Of course seats would have to be put in and more walks laid out.

To erect the band stand in Central park might be the beginning of permanent improvements there. At present its picturesqueness does not arise altogether from its beauty, and the best way to improve it would be to make it the popular resort for concerts, and people would soon become interested in it so that other improvements would follow.

If the stand were erected in Central park it could be used for orations, etc., at all kinds of public gatherings and demonstrations.

These are a few of the arguments advanced why the stand might be best erected in Central park. It is claimed that it would be a benefit to both parks. It is a matter to which the Council and public might devote some attention.

CRUELTY TO A HORSE

Three Men Charged but Only one Answers the Summons.

Thomas Greenan, Walter Harron and Wm. Moncrief were expected to appear in police court this morning to answer a charge of having cruelly overdriven a horse on Friday night last, but Moncrief was the only one who made himself visible. Greenan is a Port Hope man. He and Harron thought it wise to keep out of the way. Moncrief pleaded not guilty and testified that he had nothing to do with the driving and had simply rode in the buggy when invited.

The three drove up to Lakefield last Friday night with one of Mosley's horses. Two of them were drunk. They drove the horse so hard that a telephone message was sent down from Lakefield to watch for them on their return. They alarmed all the village with their galloping and whooping. When they drove the horse into the livery barn it was sweating so hard that in the time it took the men to unhitch it the floor under it was as wet as if a pail of water had been thrown down. Its shoes were twisted and bent.

The Magistrate found Moncrief guilty and fined him $3 and $9.30 costs, to be paid in three days, imprisonment for a month in default.

TWENTY DOLLARS EACH

Penalty for Drinking in an Unlicensed House at Lakefield.

Yesterday afternoon County Magistrate Edmison held a court at which three Lakefield men were charged with purchasing liquor in an unlicensed house a few weeks ago. Two of them pleaded guilty and were fined $20 each. The third pleaded not guilty. Evidence was taken and judgment reserved.

ACCUSED OF HORSE STEALING

Thos. Coursey Alleged to Have Lifted an Animal Last Evening.

Thomas Coursey is in trouble, having a charge of theft against him. He is charged with stealing a horse belonging to R. H. Leary, liveryman. He was to have had his preliminary hearing this morning but he waived that and agreed to let the case go before the next court of competent jurisdiction. It is alleged against him that last night he went to a man who had a horse belonging to Leary at the Oxford House and claimed that Leary had sent him after it. The man said that he would telephone up to see if this was true and while he was doing so Coursey went off with the horse.

He was also charged with being drunk and disorderly on Saturday last and was fined $2 and $3.75 costs, to be paid in 10 days.

Brevities

—At the police court this morning Wm. Jordan was fined $2 and $2.60 costs for being drunk on Saturday night.

—The Wm. English Canoe Co. are shipping a number of canoes to the Ontario Government for the survey parties.

—A memorial sermon for the late Mrs. Walter Pakenham will be preached in Mark-st. Methodist church on Sunday morning.

—Superintendent Hay with commendable forethought last evening had all the gratings and gully traps removed so that all the water passed off without any damage to the cellars of the merchants.

—The excursion of the Catholic Foresters of Hastings to Muskoka took place this morning. It was fairly well attended, a number joining here.

—Yesterday afternoon a passenger stepped off the 4.45 C.P.R. express before the train stopped. His next act was an involuntary somersault on the platform, but he luckily escaped rolling under the moving wheels.

—Owing to the rain of last evening the illuminated canoe parade could not be held and was postponed till next Tuesday or Wednesday evening. Further announcement will be made on Monday.

JOE MATTHEWS WRITES AGAIN

INTERESTING DESCRIPTION OF WARM WORK NEAR THABA NCHU

Superiority of the Boer Guns Poor Cotton Killed Almost Alongside of Pte Matthews—The Boers Driven Back—The First Canadian Contingent Able to Muster Only 300 Fit Men—Marching Orders for Kroonstadt.

The following letter from Pte. Joe Matthews is exceedingly interesting:—

Winburgh, May 6, 1900

Dear Mother,—Last time I wrote you from Thaba Nchu; since then we have been very busy, and now are part of one of the main columns advancing northward. We left Thaba Nchu on Monday, April 30th. Our little column only consisted of about fifteen hundred men, two batteries of artillery, and our "ownest own" 19th Brigade. We reached Tobah Mountain, about ten miles out, at about 9.30. Here two thousand Boers had taken up a position with three long range guns. The mountain was a very large hill, like one hill on top of another; it looked exceedingly formidable. After a

HALF HOUR'S SHELLING

by our guns the Shropshires and Gordons went at it; we stayed as supports. While we were lying waiting our turn the Boers' long range guns shelled the ammuniton column just beside us, and for a while made things decidedly interesting for us, as we were crowded right in among the waggons. It was our first experience with shell fire and we did not enjoy it at first, but when the artillery waggons got out of the way we were comparatively safe.

Early in the forenoon we advanced to support the Gordons and Shrops, who had taken the first ridge of the hill; in the meantime the Boers had placed a gun to command the approach to the hill. Our artillery, strange to say, had scarcely done anything to prevent them from doing this, and as each line advanced to the hill it received a good hot fire from this gun. Our line was shelled six times; the first went a little wide, but the third and fourth burst right in our line—one shell just under Morrison, a former employee of our Lower Town shop in Ottawa. I saw it burst and thought it had killed the whole section, but much to my surprise they all jumped up and ran ahead with the rest of the line. Morrison was simply covered with dust; it was a most miraculous escape. The next shell he was just the fourth man from me, and the pieces of shell went all throughout our section, but no one was hit except Cotton. The other two shells burst behind us, and by that time we had doubled to shelter. Then we had to climb the hill, and it was a hard one, I can tell you. The Boer gun was so placed that it could shell the first ridge, where our men were, but with all their firing they only wounded three or four men. By the time we got to near the top it was dusk and the firing ceased on both sides. The Boers still held the hill above us, so we put in the night facing each other.

At dawn the firing commenced again, and our regiment was moved around to the end of the hill, but did not get into the firing line except "B" Company, who were right up in the front and did good work. About noon the Boers began to "trek," and soon the whole position was ours. They didn't get out any too soon, as we had two other columns marching parallel to us, and they would have been soon surrounded. They all right. Our guns simply couldn't touch those of the Boers, which had a range of about six miles—that is why our guns couldn't prevent them placing and firing their big fellows where and when they liked.

About three in the afternoon Sergt. Chitty, three other men and myself, went out to bury Cotton's body. We found him where he fell, terribly mangled, and sent two men for a pick and shovel to dig a grave, but while they were away Capt. Rogers came hurrying along to tell us that the regiment was moving and we wouldn't have time to wait for the tools. So we went to work with our bayonets and dug a shallow grave, in which we placed the body and covered it with a couple of ant hills, which were broken up. He was a splendid fellow and comrade, and we all felt his death keenly.

That evening we marched about four miles and rested the next day. We got hold of some sweet potatoes and onions and I spent all afternoon cooking. We had onions stewed, fried and roasted, and then we started over again and ate onions "till further orders," as the Tommies say. On Thursday we our column being by this time considerably augmented in all branches. We expected the Boers to make a good stand here, but they only put up a bit of rear-guard fight on Friday to delay our column while they got their transports and guns away. We entered Winburgh yesterday morning. It is a nice little place, about five thousand inhabitants; it is on a branch railway, about twenty-four miles from the main line. We expected a rest here, but last night our officers told us that we were to go right on to Kroonstadt, about eighty miles north, where it is expected a big fight will take place. To-day, however, we are still here, and enjoying a day's rest. Our regiment now musters about three hundred fit men. Our Company, once a hundred and twenty strong, now has forty-four, including cooks. Our draft has not reached us yet, but we are expecting it to catch up every day.

I am in the very best of health and spirits, and am glad that the main advance has begun at last. I don't think the Boers can last much longer. If they only make a stand the war will be ended at one blow. Give my love to all—haven't time to write to any one else.

Yours affectionately,

JOE.

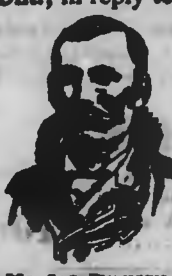
SPENT A FORTUNE.

"Yes, I am completely cured," said Mr. Jas. Davison, of Oconto, Ont., in reply to a question, "and I have to thank Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure for my relief. I suffered from sciatica in the joint of my left hip for ten years. For six years of that time I was a helpless invalid, unable to move about. I was reduced in flesh, and unable to partake of food. I spent every dollar I had in seeking relief, but without obtaining it. I passed through the hands of three Kingston doctors, and each pronounced my case incurable. I took everything people recommended, but without experiencing any benefit. Before I had used half a bottle of Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure I obtained relief, the first in ten years. In all I took the contents of six bottles, and I am as well and sound to-day as ever I was, except for my short leg which the rheumatism caused.



MR. JAS. DAVISON.

"Previously I could scarcely walk half a dozen steps, and arose and sat down only with great difficulty and pain. When I first began to take the medicine I weighed only 145 pounds. Now I weigh 167 pounds, and am daily gaining weight. I cannot say too much for the medicine, but I ask God's blessing for the maker on account of the good it has done me."

Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure is put up in 50 cent bottles, containing [illegible]. For sale by all druggists and dealers in medicine. The Dr. Hall Medicine Co., Kingston, Ont.

SLEIGHT OF HAND TRICK.

A Performance in Legerdemain Which Ended Unexpectedly.

In a restaurant where patrons who wish to dine quietly away from the rush and bustle on the lower floor go up stairs two gentlemen were lunching a few days ago.

Both were talking very animatedly and were apparently oblivious to their surroundings, especially to the colored waiter. If they knew that that individual was on earth, much less in their immediate presence, their attention to his whereabouts gave no clew to their knowledge.

One of the diners was a young man of powerful build. He was evidently the host. When the waiter laid the check down on the white tablecloth and stepped back and watched them carefully, as is the custom of waiters who scent a tip, he carelessly reached in his vest pocket and, without appearing to look at the servitor, placed both check and a new bank note side by side without a break in the argument.

In a few moments the waiter re-entered, carrying a silver salver, in the center of which lay a 10 cent piece. Then he stepped back again, his glance alternating between the salver and the man who paid the bill.

The argument came to an abrupt termination. The young man's eyes swept the immovable face of the waiter with a curiously searching glance not unmixed with amazement. Then he whispered a word to his friend whose eyes also scanned the face that impassively returned their glances. There was an eloquent silence. The young man beckoned the waiter to his side.

"You are a slick one," he said quietly, but there was a ring in his tone that did not augur well for one of the party. "Just hand it over, please."

"Hand over what, sir?" asked the waiter, innocently and with a pronounced rising inflection.

"The change."

"There it is, sir," indicating with a sweep of the hand toward the 10 cent piece.

"Part of it. I want the rest."

"'Deed, that's all that is coming to you, sir. You gave me a $1 bill, and your check was 90 cents."

The young man's features broke into a smile that made the lines of his mouth mold in a manner in which determination and amusement struggled for mastery.

"That was a $20 bill I gave you," he said. "Because it was rolled tightly and we appeared to be so absorbed in our conversation you thought I did not notice you reduce it after securing the change to a one. I will give you ten seconds to deliver up the balance or I will choke the life out of you and have you arrested for theft. Come, I will count one, two, three, four"—

"'Deed, boss, you is mistaken. That was a one spot"—

"Five, six, seven, eight, nine, ten!"

"You is certainly mistaken, boss, that"—

The young man was on his feet as he counted out the waiter. He seized the latter by the throat and with a quick movement forced the man to the floor.

"Here it is, boss!" cried the waiter in terrified accents. "For the Lawd-a-mussy sakes, boss, don't pinch so hard!"

He extracted from his coat pocket $19 in bills, which he eagerly pressed in the left hand of the young man who stood above him. The latter released his hold and, counting the bills, passed out of the room with his companion with not so much as a second look at the amateur prestidigitator kneeling on the floor ruefully rubbing his neck.

The young man is a member of the United States secret service, and he knows the appearance of government currency better than most bank tellers rolled or unrolled.

The Quaker and the Duke.

In 1790 the Duke of Clarence, afterward William IV, was a sublieutenant in the English navy, and the ship on which he served touched at Queenstown, then known as Cove. While there, his royal highness staid for some days with a family named Penrose, the head of which was an esteemed gentleman and Quaker. He did his best to entertain the duke in a manner befitting his rank and station, and among other assiduities the old Quaker always sat up to receive him on his return home from the convivial parties which the neighboring squires were only too glad to offer him.

The Duke of Clarence, as was the fashion at that time, had a liking for old port and was not squeamish at the quantity consumed. As a result he several times returned to his host's house in a state which bordered on elation. It is recorded that his host used the gentlest reproof toward him in these words:

"Friend William, thou art late again tonight, and I fear me thou art not too sober. If thou dost not amend I shall have to write to thy father, friend George, at Windsor."

A Smooth Swindle.

A swindler worked a jewelry house in Portland, Or., to the amount of $300. He selected a $300 diamond and gave a check on a local bank for the amount. He left, stating that he would return after the firm had ascertained if the check were good. The firm indorsed the check and put it through the bank, with the result that it was returned. The swindler came for the ring at the appointed time and when told his check was not good discovered that he had drawn on the wrong bank. He then produced $300 in gold, took the ring and his check. At the hotel he represented that he was a jewelry salesman and showed the check with the jeweler's indorsement. The hotel thereupon cashed the check.

Subsequently the jewelry firm received notice from the bank that the worthless check bearing their indorsement had been paid.

Elopements Are Rare In France.

Runaway marriages are not contrived easily in France. No one in that country ever reaches an age when the law permits him to do away with the consent of parents and guardians. If orphans desire to marry, they must show the death certificates of their parents and have the written consent of their grandparents. If there should be no grandparents living, their death certificates must be produced, and so on among the various relatives of the intending bride and bridegroom, the consent of the conseil de famille (family council) beings absolutely necessary in all cases.

Plenty Like Her.

Mrs. Spankers—I wish to get a house in a quiet neighborhood.

Agent—Yes, madam; we can accommodate you. I have a vacant house in a street which is as quiet as a Sabbath morn all the year round. No barking dogs, no children, no nuisance of any kind.

Mrs. Spanker—That's exactly what I want. How lucky I happened to come to you! How many rooms has it?

Agent—Ten.

Mrs. Spanker—That's just right. We need a good deal of room. We have nine children. I hope there's space at the back for a doghouse. We have three.—New York Weekly.

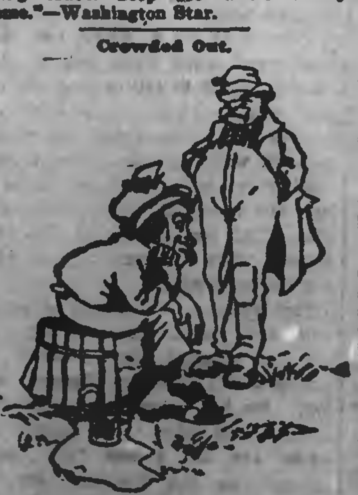
A Time of Suspense.

"I never tell my boy that I won't take him to the circus if he isn't good," remarked the candid man.

"Why not?"

"I don't care to take any chances. I'm tired of worrying for fear he'll do something that'll keep the whole family home."—Washington Star.

Crowded Out.



"Wat's de matter, Weary?"

"It's de blues, Dusty. I'm worryin myself half sick over de idee dat long afore I've been dead ten years dat New York Hall of Fame may be chock full!"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

MATRON AND MAID.

The firm of Curran & Davies, shoe dealers, of New York city is composed entirely of women.

Nancy Washington, a colored woman, has just celebrated her one hundred and fifth birthday in Boston. She has been married six times and is now a widow.

Miss Edith Rhodes, sister of the South African "diamond king," is an expert landscape gardener and is laying out a flower garden for the Yeomanry hospital at DeAar.

Liliuokalani, the former queen of Hawaii, is said to be grieving and brooding over her fate and is about to return to her native land, having already prepared her burial robes.

A granddaughter of Wolfe Tone, the famous leader of the Irish rebellion of 1798, has just died in Brooklyn in her seventy-third year. She was Mrs. Grace Georgiana Tone Maxwell.

Lady Curzon accompanies the viceroy on his tour through India for the relief of the plague stricken districts. The personal devotion and self sacrifice of the vicereine are winning the hearts of all classes.

Mrs. Rosine Ryan and Mrs. Bettie Bryan were prominent delegates at the transmississippi commercial congress recently held at Houston. These ladies conduct a prosperous real estate business in the city named.

Sarah Bernhardt has returned the copy of Gabriel d'Annunzio's novel "Fire," presented to her by its author, for the alleged reason that the heroine of the story is Eleonora Duse, who is depicted as the greatest actress of her day.

It is worth noting that one of the supporters of Olive Schreiner's husband when he at last succeeded, after several attempts frustrated by mobs, in presenting the Boer side of the South African dispute to a London audience was Mrs. Despard, a sister of General French, General Roberts' well known cavalry leader.

Miss M. R. Cheston was elected a church warden at a meeting of the southwest convocation of Episcopal clergymen, held recently at Holy Trinity parish house, Philadelphia, the presiding officer being the Rev. G. Wolsey Hodge of the Church of the Ascension. This is a most unusual thing and created considerable comment.

Miss Effie Duggan of Norristown, Pa., has received a letter from General Lord Kitchener. After the outbreak of hostilities the little girl sent General Kitchener a sprig of laurel plucked from the hills of Valley Forge. With it she inclosed a few lines extending her best wishes. Lord Kitchener promptly wrote acknowledging the favor.

THE PLAYERS' VACATION.

Viola Allen will go to a Long Island farm.

Mr. and Mrs. James K. Hackett will camp out in the Adirondacks.

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Sothern will be among the European travelers.

Modjeska has already sought her California ranch home near San Diego.

Miss Nethersole will take a much needed rest at her beautiful home in England.

Ada Rehan will spend a portion of the summer at her English country residence.

Alice Nielsen will go to her ranch on the Pacific slope and later may take a trip to Honolulu.

Maude Adams will go abroad for a few weeks, but later will take a month's rest on her Long Island farm.

May Irwin will divide her time between Irwin island, in the Thousand Isles, and Paris, going first to the exposition city.

Mr. and Mrs. N. C. Goodwin will recuperate under English skies, spending the entire summer at Jackwood, the residence they have owned for two years. Miss Gertrude Elliott will be with them.

THE SICK MAN.

Turkey wants, it is said, to "settle the matter quietly." The quiet way is to pay the bill and say no more about it.—Buffalo News.

Perhaps the sultan has a curiosity to see if the American brand of ultimatum differs materially from the European brand.—Kansas City Journal.

If it is true that our charge d'affaires at Constantinople has handed the porte a peremptory note, the next thing we shall probably hear is that the sultan has had the note discounted.—Newark Advertiser.

THE ROYAL BOX.

The literary proclivities of King Oscar of Norway and Sweden moved him while in London the other day to leave his card on Swinburne and Henry James.

Count Elemer Lonyay will be unable to take his bride, the Crown Princess Stephanie, to his home after the honeymoon, as his castle at Bodwag Olaszi has just been burned down.

The health of the young king of Spain will necessitate his leaving Spain earlier than usual this year. Accompanied by the queen regent, he will in a few days go to Covadonga, in Asturia.

Abdurrahman Kahn, the ameer of Afghanistan, who is now trying to get more money by playing the Russians off against the English, is already receiving from the latter people $1,600,000 a year.

THE WRITERS.

Mme. Sarah Grand has finished her new novel. It is to be called "Babs, the Impossible."

Rudyard Kipling, according to London announcements, is to visit the United States next autumn. The author says he does not lay his former illness against the American climate.

Since Mark Twain announced his candidacy for the presidency other humorists are falling into line, and among the most promising is M. Quad, who promises, if elected, to put a tax on all dialect stories.

Le Gallienne, the poet, was the other day exploring a dangerous cave in a cliff near Hyeres. Swung by a long rope, he was caught in the rocks. It took his companions nearly an hour to disengage him.

An Unpleasant Reminder.

He—I always take pains to deny the statement that women can't throw straight.

She—That is noble of you, my dear.

He—Yes; I have to remember with what accurate and effective aim you threw yourself at me.—Chicago Record.

DEWET GETS HIS FORCE AWAY

Kitchener and Methuen Did Not Report Taking Prisoners.

Lord Roberts' Consecutive Story of Recent Events—Laing's Nek Tunnel Not Damaged—8,000 Boers Retreated Before Buller—Kruger Keeps Steam Up—Premier Schreiner Resigns and Milner Accepts the Resignation.

London, June 14. — (3.50 a.m.)—The despatch from Lord Roberts clearing up the situation at Pretoria and along the communication stands alone. Military observers, noting that no mention is made of prisoners, assume that Gen. Dewet got away with his forces, practically intact.

Gen. Buller entered Volksrust Wednesday, passed through Charleston and encamped near Laing's Nek. The tunnel was not damaged. Both ends were blown up, but the engineers think that repairs can be effected in about four days. The advance troops of Gen. Buller saw the Boer rear guard four miles distant yesterday.

8,000 Boers Withdrew.

It was estimated that 8,000 Boers were withdrawing. The townspeople at Ermelo counted 15 guns. Three hundred Free Staters released from guarding Van Reenan's Pass, have gone to join President Steyn's commando in the eastern part of Orange River Colony.

Gen. Rundle has sent notice to the Free Staters that unless they surrender by June 15, their farms and other possessions will be confiscated.

Kruger Keeps Steam Up.

President Krug'er, according to a despatch from Lorenzo Marquez, keeps a locomotive with steam up attached to the car in which he concentrates the executive offices of the Government and he intends to leave Machadodorp soon and to establish the Transvaal capital at Nelspruit, in the mountains, a fine defensive region.

Premier Schreiner Resigns.

Mr. Schreiner, the Cape Premier, and his colleagues, resigned last evening. Sir Alfred Milner accepting their resignations.

Gen. Buller's casualties on June 10 have been issued by the War Office. They were 26 killed, 126 wounded and two missing.

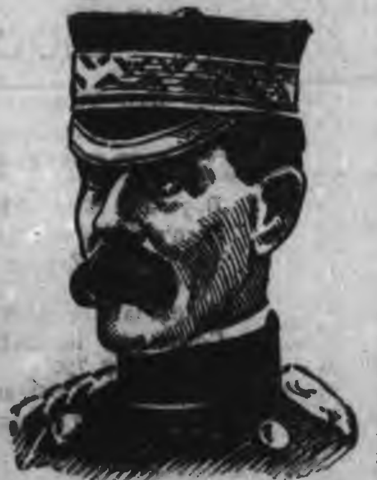
LORD ROBERTS' STORY.

The Field Marshal's Report to the War Office on the Fighting With the Boers at Rhenoster River.

London, June 14. — A lengthy despatch forwarded to the War Office by Major-General Knox from Kroonstad, presumably sent there by messenger, reads as follows:

"Kroonstad, June 12. — We have been requested to forward you from Lord Roberts the following despatch from the Pretoria Residency, at 8.08 a.m. to-day:

" 'Pretoria, June 12. — Pretoria and Johannesburg are perfectly quiet, and several of the inhabitants have expressed gratitude for the peace and order which prevails.



GEN. LORD METHUEN.

" 'After surrendering the city, Botha retired to a place about fifteen miles east on the Middleburg road. He had a small force at first, but during the last few days his numbers increased, and his being so near the town kept up the excitement in the country, prevented the burghers from laying down their arms, and interfered with the collection of supplies. It therefore became necessary to attack him. This I did yesterday. He held a very strong position, practically unassailable in front, which enabled him to place the main portion of his troops on his flanks, which he knew from former experience were his vulnerable parts.

The Canadians in It.

" 'I sent French with Porter's and Dixon's cavalry brigades, and Hutton's mounted infantry, including the Canadians, round by our left, and Ian Hamilton, with Broadwood and Gordon's cavalry brigades, Ridley's mounted infantry, and Bruce Hamilton's infantry brigade, round by our right. Both columns met with great opposition.

A Key of the Enemy's Defence.

" 'At about three in the afternoon I saw two of Hamilton's infantry battalions advancing to what appeared to be the key of the enemy's defence on their left flank. This was almost gained before dark, and I ordered the force to bivouac on the ground they had won.

" 'Pole-Carew, with his division, occupied our centre. As I have explained, he could not attack, but he gradually advanced so as to support Ian Hamilton, and when I left the field he was on the line held by the enemy's outposts in the morning.

Kitchener Hurridly Sent.

" 'I hurried back to get news of Methuen's movements. On hearing that the Free Staters had taken advantage of our crossing the Vaal to interrupt our line of communication, I sent Kitchener, with such troops as I could then spare, to Ver (Vredefort (?) with orders to push south and communicate with Methuen, who I knew had a very compact force in the vicinity of Heilbron. I also despatched a special messenger to Methuen, instructing him to push on at all speed to the main line of railway. These two officers met at Vredefort road station, in the evening of June 10th.

" 'They marched yesterday to Rhenoster river, where Methuen gained a complete victory over De Wet, and took possession of his camp, and scattered his troops in all directions. He and Kitchener marched to-day towards Kroonstad.

Army Is All Right, Says "Bobs."

" 'Her Majesty's Government need have no apprehension as to the security of the army in South Africa. The enemy gained a slight success, which was unfortunate, but which will be remedied very shortly, and it will not take long to repair the damage done to the railway. As these diversions are all in existance, I am now able to hold the line between this and Rhenoster in strength. Methuen will arrange to guard it onward as he advances.

Hunter and Buller.

" 'Hunter should be at Potchefstroom to-day. He will then move on Johannesburg.

" 'We have communicated with Buller, who will no doubt soon make the presence of his force in the field felt.

Earl of Airlie Killed.

" 'Our losses yesterday were not, I trust, serious, but I deplore the death of that gallant soldier, the Earl of Airlie. The only other casualties reported as yet are: Seventeenth Lancers—Major the Hon. Lionel Fortescue and Lieutenant the Hon. C. Cavendish, both killed.' "

Gen. Knox adds that Kroonstad is quite safe.

36 Killed, 104 Wounded.

London, June 14. — The following despatch has been received at the War Office from Lord Roberts:

"Katsbosch, June 12.—In yesterday's engagement Methuen had one killed and 19 wounded. Among the latter is Lieutenant Cearle, of the 12th Battalion of Yeomanry. On June 7 the Derbyshire militia lost 36 killed and 104 wounded, all of whom were in the Yeomanry hospital, which was captured by the Boers and retaken by Methuen."

A MESSAGE FROM SIR ALFRED.

Trooper Hiam Is Convalescing—Private Brunton Proceeded to England.

Ottawa, June 14. — Lord Minto received a cable from Sir Alfred Milner yesterday afternoon, as follows:

Cape Town, June 12, 1900. — Referring to my telegram of yesterday, No. 156, Trooper Hiam, 1st Canadian Mounted Rifles, is progressing satisfactorily towards convalescence from enteric fever at Maaupoort.

No. 7,821, Pte. Brunton, 2nd Batt. R.C.R., proceeded to England June 8. (Signed) Milner.

Trooper Mullen Dead.

London, June 14. — Trooper Mullen of the Canadian Mounted Rifles, whose illness was announced Tuesday, has since died from enteric fever.

The dead trooper is probably Trooper William James Mullen, who enlisted at Edmonton. His father is W. J. Mullen of Barrie, Ont. The name Mullins does not appear in the official list.

Was in Toronto at Christmas.

Halifax, N. S., June 14.—Major Fortescue, 17th Lancers, reported by Roberts as killed near Pretoria, was secretary to Lord William Seymour, and left here about Christmas to join his regiment for the front. He leaves a widow who accompanied him to England. He was at the Falls and in Toronto just before his departure.

COOMASSIE STILL INVESTED.

Col. Willcocks Has Had Word From Lieut.-Governor Hodgson.

London, June 14.—The following despatch has been received at the Colonial Office from Col. Willcocks, in command of the Ashantee relief expedition:

"Prahsu, June 12.—A letter has just been received from the Governor of the Gold Coast, Sir F. M. Hodgson, dated Coomassie, June 4. It is as brief as possible. The following is its substance: 'On several occasions unsuccessful attempts have been made to get off letters.' He informs me that he inclosed a copy of another, of May 4, which I have not received.

"The state of the health of Coomassie is good, but 3,000 persons of the native community are in a state of destitution. Immediate assistance is required.

Col. Willcocks was at Prahsu June 12.

River Gunboats to Go.

Five river gun boats have been ordered to go to the West African coast to assist the operations of the Ashantee relief expedition.

Horse Killed, Man Stunned.

Toronto Junction, June 14.—James Bannon, market gardener of Lambton Mills, was working in his garden last evening when the thunderstorm came up. His horse was killed and Mr. Bannon was for a long time unconscious. However, he recovered after a time and was able to crawl to a neighbor's house, where two doctors attended him, and it is thought he will recover.

Stinson Found Not Guilty.

St. Catharines, Ont., June 14.—Before Judge Carman and a jury in the County Court and General Sessions yesterday the Dominion Express Co. v. Stinson occupied most of the day. Stinson was charged with the theft of two money packages while in the employ of the Company as messenger last December. The jury, after being out about 45 minutes, brought a verdict of "not guilty."

H. LeBrun & Co. Buying Bargains

It looks as if people who expected two dollars' worth for every dollar they spend on clothing, are not going to be disappointed. There is likely to be a sudden deep dip in prices in a few days at H. LeBrun & Co's. that ought to make the City Clothing Store a bargain centre for the rest of the summer. To-day Mr. H. LeBrun has been negotiating with two of Messrs. H. Shorey & Co's representatives, of Montreal, for a big slice of their high class summer clothing, which they are sacrificing to close the season. There's great goodness in Shorey's make, and the news that H. LeBrun & Co. have made a special purchase at special prices will be good news for good goods well bought. Watch for particulars.

AN UNEXPECTED BONANZA

AT GOUGH BROTHERS

Startling Story of the Most Daring Deal in Fine Clothing Ever Consummated by This Wide-awake Firm.

Never before has the boldness of our buying or the magnitude of our selling impressed business circles with such electrifying effects. Always on the alert, our mercantile moves are marked and momentous events to clothing dealers. Our great capacity and capability for handling gigantic stocks gives us a great command in the markets. But the climax never was so nearly reached as now.

Purchase of Overwhelming 4,500 FINE SUITS All High Grade Garments

being the whole of the manufactured stock on hand of the McKENNA-THOMPSON CO'Y of Montreal, who have earned a first-class Canadian reputation for Up-to-Date Clothing.

This is the most fortunate scoope which has ever come our way during our business history—an unexpected streak of good luck to us, and another boon to the men of Peterborough in need of Fine Summer Clothing. MOST ASTONISHING OF ALL, IS THE FACT THAT—

PRICES ARE ACTUALLY LESS THAN THE COST OF MAKING

This is no guess work—It is positively certain—the following startling figures being a fair and square sample.

You won't have to pay for little more than cloth and linings. Prices go to pieces, but quality remains firm. Values that cannot be duplicated or even approached. The greatest Summer Suit Sale on record is now on. We mean business. Money never bought such values before! Every Suit positively worth double the Price, in many cases less than the cost of the bare cloth.

Men's Good Blue Serge Suits, Serviceable, Seasonable, Stylish, STARTING AT $2.50

Men's Fine Canadian Tweed Suits, very Special, New Patterns, for Business, etc. STARTING AT $1.90

Men's Worsted Suits, Sack or Morning Coats, Beautifully Trimmed and Finished STARTING AT $4.50

To add fuel to the fire of this Great Sale, we will offer at proportionately sensational prices the whole of our enormous Stock of Youths', Boys' and Children's Suits. Also, a regular Record-Breaking Reduction Sale of Boots and Shoes, Hats, Caps and Furnishings, while this greatest event of the season is on. Every Department greets you with Right Goods at Tumbling Prices.

INTFRESTING REPORTS PRESENTED AT THE CLOSING SESSIONS

Temperance Committee's Recommendations—Changes in the Stationing Committee's Report.

Port Hope, June 12.—At the Bay of Quinte Conference to-day Rev. W. J. Jolliffe, B.C.L., was appointed representative on Alma College Board; T. J. Edmison, M.A., and W. R. Young, D. D., on the Albert College Board. The Board of Examiners was elected by the whole Conference. It consists of the following nine ministers:—W. R. Young, D.D., W. J. Young, D.D., W. J. Jolliffe, B.C.L., T. Manning, B.A., T. J. Edmison, B.D., J. P. Wilson, B.A., J. A. McCamus, W. Johnston, J. Thom, B.A.

The full list of delegates to the Ecumenical Conference of 1901 is:—Principal, Rev. Chancellor Burwash, Dr. Crothers and Mr. Wm. Johnson. Alternates in order of their election:—Revs. W. R. Young, D.D., T. M. Campbell, S. J. Shorey, C. Parker, W. J. Jolliffe, B.C.L., T. W. Jolliffe, and Messrs. E. D. O'Flynn, R. W. Clarke and R. Moment.

The Examining Board will meet for the examination of candidates in Charlotte-st Methodist church, Peterborough, the third Tuesday of April, 1901. The committee appointed to direct the twentieth century movement in this Conference consists of Revs. Dr. Young, Dr. Burwash, S. J. Shorey, C. W. Watch and Messrs. S. P. Ford, M.D., E. D. O'Flynn and Wm. Johnson.

The report of the Temperance Committee presented by Rev. W. B. Tucker, B.D., created much discussion. It expressed at first a want of confidence in the Government and Parliament because of their recent action in temperance matters. The words "want of confidence" were finally expunged. A layman said:—"We want a Lord Roberts to develop the strength of the temperance party." Another delegate had strong words in favor of the electerate. Some present thought the time had come for the Methodist church to teach the Governments that it could put them out or put them in. Still others maintained the Government never had the confidence of this or any other church, especially on this question. One minister thought to be asked to vote for a man because he said he was a prohibitionist, who had never been tried in any way, calls for rather too much. The report as amended recommended that the Conference endorsed the First resolutions, which are to be presented to Parliament; that the goal is national prohibition, that hearty sympathy is expressed for all temperance organizations.

Revs. T. M. Campbell and Henry Thomas, and Messrs. F. Rogers, of Enniskillen, and J. B. Aylesworth, Newburgh, are delegates to the Dominion Alliance Convention of July next. Rev. Jas. Macfarlane read the report of the Memorial Committee. Its main feature was the endorsation of a resolution by a joint committee of the Presbyterian and Anglican Churches anent religious instruction in Public schools. The Laymen's Association met several times during the sessions. The officers are:—President, Wm. Johnson; First Vice-President, J. R. Fraser; Second Vice-President, E. D. Flynn; Secretary-Treasurer, R. W. Clarke.

The report on Sabbath observance, read by M. W. Leigh, B.A., asked that the sanctity of Sunday be observed, and that the law against Sabbath desecration be enforced where possible. Rev. Dr. Courtice, in the absence of the speakers announced, addressed the audience. He said that a league, defensive and offensive, should join in a war against the national method on a gigantic scale of thrusting temptation in the face of the young, a traffic whose finished fruit is its severest condemnation. Generals White, Kitchener and Lord Roberts are against liquor in the army. The canteens of our country, thanks, perhaps, to The Guardian agitation, are now governed strictly according to law.

Rev. W. H. Adams presented the report on the state of the work.

Rev. E. Roberts, on retiring to the superannuated list, addressed the Conference, referring to his 42 years of active ministry.

Rev. Dr. Young was elected Ministerial Representative to the General Board of Missions. Mr. T. Wickett was elected as the lay member representing the Conference on the same committee.

The following are the changes from the first list of stations:—Rev. R. Allin, to Adolphustown; R. T. Curtice, to Demorestville; R. Duke, to Colborne; J. C. Moran, to Centreton; J. S. McMullen, to Tyrone; S. Crookshanks, to Enniskillen; T. W. Jolliffe, to Cannington; H. W. Foley, to Roslin; George Brown, to Omemee; J. M. White, to Minden; J. P. Berry, B.A., to Apsley; W. J. Sanders, to Seymour; W. Smart, to Fort Stewart; C. H. Sheppard, to Maynooth; W. H. Clark, to Plevna, and A. W. Coone, to Vennachar.

The only new chairman elected is Rev. T. H. Edmison, B.D. The heartiest thanks were tendered to hosts and hostesses and choir, and the Conference closed at midnight.

The Conference Special Committee:—F. B. Stratton, Caleb Parker, C. W. Watch, W. J. Jolliffe, B. Greatrix and the Chairman of the district.

BOERS ATTACKED A RE-CONSTRUCTION TRAIN

But Were Driven off--Cronge's Son Surrendered the Town of Klerksdorp, Which is an Important Strategetic Point.

Ptes. E. Mullin and J. Hampton, Canadians, Reported Dead of Fever and Ptes. Devlin and Perry are Missing.

BOERS ATTACKED BUT WERE DRIVEN OFF

London, June 15.—The War Office has received the following message from Lord Roberts, dated Pretoria, June 14.—"Klerksdorp surrendered on June 9th to an armed force sent by Gen. Hunter to receive the submission of the place. Kitchener reports that the Boers attacked a reconstruction train north of Rhenoster but were driven off before they could do any damage to the train." Klerksdorp is a town in the southern Transvaal near the Vaal river.

CANADIANS DEAD AND MISSING

Ottawa, Ont., June 15.—Sir Alfred Milner cabled to Lord Minto to-day from Cape Town reporting that Pte. E. Mullins, of the 1st Battalion Mounted Rifles, died of enteric fever at Kroonstadt on June 11, and that Pte. J. F. Davlin and T. F. Perry, 2nd Battalion Mounted Rifles, have been missing since June 5. Another cable from Sir Alfred reports that Pte. J Hampton died of enteric fever at Naaupoort on June 12.

KLERKSDORP A STRAGETIC POINT

London, June 15.—By the peaceful occupation of Klerksdorp, announced by Lord Roberts, the British have gained a stragetic position of some importance as the town is not only the terminus of another railroad to Johannesburg but it is within reach of the Kroonstadt-Vierfontein railroad. The Cronje who surrended the place is a son of the famous Gen. Cronje, now prisoner at St. Helena. The former was prominent during the seize of Mafeking. Apart from the fact that Lord Roberts' despatch comes direct from Pretoria showing the telegraph line is reopened, the only other point of interest in the despatch that the Boers whom Gen. Methune was reported to have utterly routed, have sufficiently recuperated to attack a reconstruction train.

AGED NINETY-SIX YEARS

Death of Jas Brickley, one of the Peter Robinson Immigrants.

There died in the Peterborough Protestant Home on Wednesday one of Peterborough's oldest residents, in the person of James Brickley, who for the past 16 years has been an inmate of that institution. He was 96 years of age. He came out to Canada with the Robinson emigration party and has lived ever since in and around Peterborough. His occupation was principally that of a farm laborer, although he was an employee of the first axe factory that was established in Peterborough. Many and interesting were the reminiscences he could relate concerning happenings, particularly in Otonabee, where he was often engaged. He was a staunch and life-long Orangeman and was a member of the old L. O. L. No. 446, Peterborough, now defunct. He was also a member of the volunteer force which quelled the Fenian raid of '66. Deceased was twice married, his last wife having predeceased him about 20 years. He has, it is understood, a son living in New York, and another in Manitoba and a daughter living in Chandos, but has no relations here. The funeral took place yesterday morning to Little Lake cemetery.

BASEBALL.

Toronto Telegram:—The average boy of nowadays is never quite sure whether he'd rather be a brand new George Washington, Lord Roberts, or a professional ball player. Even some of the older boys watch the smiling player doff his ca to the applauding thousands with a touch of envy concealed about their persons. But just read one of the contracts these players have to sign, and then hunt up an old history and see when slavery is supposed to have been abolished. The player must sign this contract if he wants to play anywhere for the baseball trust is the most monopolistic of them all. It controls all leagues that pay salaries. And what does it call for? Absolute obedience of the manager in all things. This manager is judge, jury and officer of the court in all things, with power to punish and reward. He can suspend a man without pay for looking cross-eyed; he can fine him all his salary, and fire him for almost any old thing. In fact, the player's present and future would appear to be absolutely and hopelessly in the hands of one man, against whose judgement there is no appeal, and against whose prejudice there is no guarantee. Yes, ball players may be a happy lot, though there is no evidence to that effect, but it would appear that there are some things in their lives they would like to have omitted.

CHINESE CRISIS DISCUSSED

Agreement of the Foreign Powers to Restore Peace.

Mr. William St. John Broderick, Parliamentary Secretary of the Foreign Office, Made a Statement Covering Recent Events in the Disturbed Capital and Other Cities—Situation Acutely Critical—Pekin Menaced.

London, June 15.—The House of Commons reassembled yesterday afternoon. Nothing of interest occurred until the subject of the crisis in China was raised. The Parliamentary Secretary of the Foreign Office, William St. John Broderick, made a statement in regard to the position of affairs in the Chinese Empire. "Her Majesty's Minister at Pekin," said he, "has been in constant communication with the Chinese Government since the attack by Boxers on peaceable converts, and the destruction of three vCillages about 90 miles from Pekin on May 12.

Warned the Tsung Li Yamen.

"On May 18 Sir Claude Macdonald reminded the Tsung Li Yamen (Chinese Foreign Office) of his unceasing warning during the last six months of the danger of not taking adequate measures to suppress the Boxers, and an Imperial decree was subsequently issued. On May 20 a meeting of the diplomatic corps was held, at which a resolution was unanimously adopted, calling on the Tsung L Yamen to take more stringent measures. It was not then considered necessary to bring the International guards to Pekin, but the British marine guard at Tien Tsin, which had been under orders to leave, was detained there, and two British ships were sent to Taku.

Summoning of the Guards.

"As no specific measures were taken by the Tsung Li Yamen the diplomatic corps met again, May 26, and decided, failing the receipt of a satisfactory reply from the Tsung Li Yamen, to summon guards. This course was adopted May 28, and a British detachment of 78 men, with a machine gun, was forthwith sent to Pekin, and 104 men were sent to Tien Tsin, while four more British ships were brought to Taku.

Murder of the Missionaries.

"News was then received of the murder of Mr. Robinson and the capture of Mr. Norman, who was subsequently murdered.

"Sir Claude Macdonald continued until June 5 to urgently impress the Tsung Li Yamen with the necessity for taking instant and effective steps to punish the murderers and restore order, informing them that Her Majesty's Government held the Chinese Government responsible for the criminal apathy which had brought about the disgraceful state of affairs. There remonstrances having no effect, and the situation, both at Pekin and in its neighborhood, becoming more threatening, Her Majesty's Government, June 6, telegraphed instructions to Sir Claude Macdonald and to Admiral Seymour to take, in concert with the other powers, any steps in their discretion, which was left unfettered, that they might consider advisable, for the protection of the foreign Legations at Pekin and British subjects at Tien Tsin or in the neighborhood.

British and Russian in Concert.

"Sir Claude Macdonald, after a conference with the Russian representatives at Pekin, was empowered to support any Chinese authority capable of maintaining law and order, or any measures to this end, the Russian Minister being similarly authorized.

"In consequence of further depredations of the Boxers, Admiral Seymour called up three more ships, and on June 9, after consultation with the foreign commanders, decided to land a force and march on Pekin.

Marines of Seven Powers.

"On June 10 he marched, with 1,078 men, of which 650 were British. This force has been increased to 2,300 men, containing detachments from the ships of seven powers. The admiral had advanced 30 miles, June 11, when he encountered the Boxers, and killed 35 of them.

"The railway was much broken up, and three miles were covered in the next 24 hours. About 950 troops are being embarked at Hong Kong, and the Terrible is going to Taku. The Russians are landing an additional detachment of 1,700 men.

Disorders at Pekin.

"Sir Claude Macdonald reported on June 11 that disorders were occurring at Pekin.

"Nine British and 25 foreign ships are now at Taku, and complete accord prevails among the powers in regard to action taken by Admiral Seymour."

Mr. Broderick concluded with denying he had the least intention of implying that Great Britain had any closer agreement with Russia than with any of the other powers.

A Victim of Piles

For 20 Years—A Constant Sufferer From Bleeding and Protruding Piles—Cured by Dr. Chase's Ointment.

In vain did Mrs. Jas. Brown, of Hintonburgh, near Ottawa, search for a cure for piles. In Europe and America she tried every remedy available, but it remained for Dr. Chase's Ointment to effect a cure.

Mrs. Brown writes:—"I have been a constant sufferer from nearly every form of piles for the last twenty years, and during that time both here and in the Old Country have tried most every remedy.

"I am only doing justice to Dr. Chase's Ointment when I say that I believe it to be the best remedy obtainable for bleeding and protruding piles. I strongly recommend Dr. Chase's Ointment to mothers, or indeed to any person suffering from that dread torment—piles."

Physicians and druggists recommend Dr. Chase's Ointment as the one preparation that will never fail to cure piles. It is guaranteed to positively cure piles, whether itching, bleeding, or protruding. 60 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates and Co., Toronto.

The Daily Review.

FRIDAY, JUNE 15, 1900.

THIS TAKES THE CAKE.

Some newspapers have gone to nonsensical extremes in the talk of loyalty in connection with matters political, but the following from the Ottawa Free Press is given as taking first place for low-down, pure, unadulterated rot:—

But while its party (the Ottawa Citizens' party) has been talking of "loyalty" the Liberals have been giving a practical demonstration of the same. The Citizen and the Tories generally would give their ears, every inch of them, if they could print such a list as the following. It indicates the difference between theoretical and practical loyalty. Here is the showing of the Liberals, whose "sons to the war have gone":—

LIBERALS.

Hon. Richard Cartwright, 2 sons.
Hon. Sir Henri Joly de Lotbbiniere, 2 sons.
Hon. Dr. Borden, 1 son.
Hon. R. R. Dobell, 1 son.
Hon. Sir A. Pelletier, 1 son.
Thomas Mackie, M.P., 1 son.
Dr. Johnston, M.P., 1 son.
Hon. Senator Fiset, 1 son.
Hon. Senator J. P. B. Casgrain, 1 brother.
Total—11.

CONSERVATIVES.

Lt.-Col. Hughes.
Hon. N. Clarke Wallace, 1 son.
Total—2.

No flapdoodle here, but plain self-sacrifice, and no mere talk, but action.

Suppose that such a comparison was in good taste, it is manifestly unfair, for the Free Press, as the Government organ, knows that the friends of the Government were given the preference in the selection of officers, and "pull" counted in getting appointments on the contingents that went to the war. This being the case, it was not to be expected that the Opposition would secure as many appointments as the Government members, but how silly the thing is even if there was any fairness in the comparison.

ONLY ONE COURSE.

Mr. Monk has now placed his charges regarding the emergency food supply which the Government sent to South Africa with the Canadian soldiers in direct and specific form, and has demanded an enquiry. Sir Wilfrid Laurier had given the House to understand that if direct charges were made in this matter an enquiry would be ordered, but when Mr. Monk in accordance with the demand presented his arraignment a delay was made. If what is alleged is true in whole or in the important fact, the fraud is one of the most scandalous that has been brought to light for some time. Not only was it a matter of getting money fraudulently but it was placing the lives of the Canadian soldiers at stake in case emergency arose and they were called upon to fall back upon their emergency rations.

There should not be a moment's hesitation in regard to having the charges thoroughly investigated, no matter who may be concerned, and Sir Wilfrid's course is hard to understand. Canada cannot play with jobbery of this kind if it has been committed. Mr. Monk has made the charges believing them to be true and they must be probed to the bottom.

Fighting Blood is Up.

New York Tribune.

Great Britain means to take advantage of this war for the militarizing, so to speak, of the whole nation. Every man who enlists for South Africa now becomes a soldier, and adds to the effective and expert force Great Britain will henceforth have at call in case of other need. The great fighting race of the world is getting its fighting blood up and putting itself in fighting trim.

A Canadians' Tribute to Bobs.

Detroit Tribune.

John Norwood, a Windsor soldier in South Africa, writing to his parents, makes this reference to Lord Roberts:—"Dear old 'Bobs,' the prince of generals, is a very small man. He looks like a boy when astride his pony. He wears no decorations on the field, but on his right arm is a simple badge of sorrow, a band of crape for his lost son. When we see the way he has put aside his own sorrow, wiped away his tears and once more offered his life in his country's service, we cannot help loving him.

"After the surrender of Cronje 'Bobs' made us a little speech. In his own quiet and simple way he commended us for our conduct throughout the engagement, and thanked us in the name of the country. When he was through every one of us felt proud of himself. Then and there 'Bobs' took us all prisoners, and we would follow that little, quiet, unassuming man through all the Boers in South Africa.

The Growing Time.

It is now announced that Mr. James Somerville, M.P., for Wentworth, and North Brant, has decided to abandon politics.

The list of the retreating Ministerialists is growing.

It now stands thus:—

Thos. Bain, South Wentworth.
James Somerville, North Wentworth.
James Livingston, South Waterloo.
D. K. Erb, South Perth.
William Paterson, North Grey.
Archie Campbell, Kent.
J. G. Snetsinger, Cornwall.
B. M. Britton, Kingston.

Mr. Paterson is looking for a new resting place, probably James Somerville's seat; but the others are no doubt to become colonels under Dr. Borden's new plan for the distribution of military titles among deserving civilians.

What a Standard Authority Says of Kendall's Spavin Cure.

The offer that the Southern Trade Record makes of free investigation to reliable report on any subject that its readers may have occasion to write about has lately brought letters from horse dealers, livery men, and other owners of horses, asking our candid opinion as to who manufactures the best horse liniment.

After a careful and exhaustive investigation of all the leading horse liniments, the result of our investigation was unanimously in favor of Kendall's Spavin Cure, made by The Dr. B. J. Kendall Company, of Enosburg Falls, Vermont.—Southern Trade Record, Cincinnati, O.

To clean gilded frames gently wipe them with a fine cotton cloth dipped in sweet oil.

In blowing out a candle hold it aloft and then blow upward. This will prevent scattering of the grease.

Clean mirrors with warm soapsuds and rinse with warm water and ammonia; then rub them over with whiting tied in a piece of muslin and polish with a chamois skin.

Should Call Tarte Home.

London, June 15.—The St. James' Gazette yesterday under "Notes of the Empire" says that after ex-Premier Schreiner of Cape Colony, the figure of the week in colonial circles has been Hon. J. I. Tarte, the Canadian Minister of Public Works, now sojourning at Paris in connection with the Dominion's contribution to the great Exposition, and adds: "It is really difficult to know what to make of this gentleman, but we are sure Sir Wilfrid Laurier would be well advised if he were to call his errant colleague to Ottawa, where his speeches would give less offence and give rise to fewer misconceptions than they do in Paris."

WHOLESOME ADVICE

For People Whose Stomachs are Weak and Digestion Poor.

Dr. Harlandson, whose opinion in diseases is worthy of attention, says when a man or woman comes to me complaining of indigestion, loss of appetite, sour stomach, belching, sour watery rising, headaches, sleeplessness, lack of ambition and a general run down nervous condition, I advise them to take after each meal one or two of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, allowing the tablet to dissolve in the mouth, and thus mingle with the food eaten. The result is that the food is speedily digested before it has time to sour and ferment. These tablets will digest the food anyway whether the stomach wants to or not, because they contain harmless digestive principles, vegetable essences, pepsin and Golden Seal, which supply just what the weak stomach lacks.

I have advised the tablets with great success, both in curing indigestion and to build up the tissues, increasing flesh in thin, nervous patients, whose real trouble was dyspepsia, and as soon as the stomach was put to rights they did not know what sickness was.

A fifty cent package of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets can be bought at any drug store, and as they are not a secret patent medicine, they can be used as often as desired with full assurance that they contain nothing harmful in the slightest degree; on the contrary, any one whose stomach is at all deranged will find great benefit from the use of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. They will cure any form of stomach weakness or disease except cancer of the stomach.

A SERIOUS RUMOR.

Foreign Legation Burned and Minister Killed at Tien Tsin.

London, June 15.—A special despatch from Shanghai says an unconfirmed report has reached there from Tien Tsin to the effect that a foreign legation has been burned, and a Minister has been killed. The names, it is added, are withheld, pending a confirmation of the report.

It is further rumored here that the international relief parties are experiencing great difficulties in regard to provisions and water.

Will Give a Sharp Lesson.

London, June 15.—It has been learned in official quarters that, although it is expected the Government at Pekin will show no further resistance as soon as it shall perceive the powers are determined, the commander of the international forces has been instructed to inflict a sharp lesson in the event of any resistance, and not to brook any delay in reopening the gates of Pekin, if he finds them closed.

Infor[illegible] Admiral Kempff.

Washington, June 15.—The following cablegram has been received from Admiral Kempff:

"Tong Ku, June 13.—Secretary Navy, Washington—Twenty-five hundred men are on the road to Pekin for the relief of the legations; 100 are Americans; English and Russians in large majority, all nations are represented. The Viceroy at Tien Tsin gave permission to go there, railroad being repaired as force advances. Russians now sending soldiers from Port Arthur with artillery. (Signed Kempff.")

Railroads Have Been Cut.

Tien Tsin, June 15.—Railroad communication between this place and Admiral Seymour's international force, has been cut three miles beyond Yang Taun. Two bridges have been destroyed.

It was rumored here last night that the Boxers are determined to burn Tien Tsin station to-night.

Riot at Yun Na Fu.

Shanghai, June 15.—A despatch from Chung King announces that a riot has taken place at Yun Na Fu. The buildings of the China Inland Mission were partially destroyed and those of the Roman Catholic and Bible Christian Missions were utterly demolished. All the missionaries are safe.

Troops From Hong Kong.

Hong Kong, June 15. — Four companies of the Hong Kong Regiment, a mountain battery and a field battery of Asiatic Artillery with a battery of 2.5, inch guns, started for Tien Tsin last night.

Cannot Arrive Before Sunday.

Tien Tsin, June 15. — Owing to the extensive damage done to the railroad line, it is feared the international troops cannot reach Pekin before Sunday.

The Japanese cruiser Suma has arrived at Taku.

The international force under Admiral Seymour includes the following: British 915, German 250, Russian 300, French 128, American 104, Japanese 52, Italian 49 and Austrian 25. It left Tien Tsin June 10.

Japan Sending a Regiment.

Yokohama, June 15. — Japan is about to send a mixed regiment to China. The Government press declare that Japan alone could suppress the revolt, but that she must first win the confidence of the powers and avoid acts likely to awaken suspicion.

THERE HAS BEEN A FIGHT.

The International Troops Have Had a Battle With Mohammedan Troops Near the City of Pekin.

London, June 15.—The Times publishes the following despatch from Tien Tsin, via Shanghai: "A serious engagement has occurred between the International column and the Mohammedan troops of Gen. Tung Fu Sing near Pekin. Mr. Byron Brennan, British Consul at Shanghai, who is now in London, says that these Mohammedan troops are armed with machine guns and repeating rifles.

Russians' Landed Guns.

Tien Tsin, June 15. — The Russians have landed 4 eight-centimeter guns. These with the 1,700 men will start on the march for Pekin to-day.

Ten thousand foreign drilled troops are still at Shanghai.

DEATH OF MR. CHRISTIE.

The Great Toronto Biscuit Manufacturer Passes Away.

Toronto, June 15. — Mr. William M. Christie, president of the Christie, Brown & Co., biscuit manufacturers, died yesterday afternoon at his late residence, 29 Queen's Park. The cause of death was sarcoma, from which Mr. Christie had suffered for some time back and which had gradually developed in his system. All the members of the family were present when death occurred.

Mr. Christie's Career.

William M. Christie, president of the Christie, Brown & Co., was born in Huntley, Aberdeenshire, Scotland, in the year 1829, and it was there that he received his early education. While but a lad he started to work, and after spending several years in various sorts of employment he apprenticed himself to a baker and thoroughly mastered his trade. In 1849 he arrived in Toronto, and immediately started to work as a journeyman baker. Three years later he entered into partnership with Mr. Brown, and from that day the firm prospered until its premises had been extended to over three times the original size. Mr. Christie was prominent in business circles, and was admired and respected by an exceedingly large number of acquaintances. He was a member of the British Association for the Advancement of Science. He was a prominent member of the Board of Trade and for many years a director of the Industrial Exhibition Association. He belonged to the Ontario Jockey Club, and was greatly interested in horse breeding. He was also a member of the Toronto Club, the National Club and the Toronto Lacrosse Club. He was a Mason, being connected with Zetland Lodge. In 1857 he married Miss J. Mullin of York County, and had a family of three daughters and one son, all of whom survive him. The son, Robert J. Christie, now manages the old firm. The daughters all reside in Toronto, being Mrs. J. J. Palmer, Mrs. D. S. Barclay and Mrs. T. J. Clark.

To Promote Rifle Clubs.

Ottawa, June 15.—It is understood that the Government intends to encourage the formation of rifle clubs, distinct from the military. In doing so the English procedent will be followed. Not only will the rifle club be given ammunition free from the department, but it is believed one rifle will be given to every ten members of the club.

College Day at the Assembly.

Halifax, June 15. — The Presbyterian General Assembly yesterday afternoon received reports from colleges, and the general tone was that of prosperity.

The Coming Tumult.

She—Never mind; just wait until your Hall of Fame committee gets in session.—Indianapolis Journal.

Measure of Success.

"What is your idea of success in life?" said the inquisitive man.

"Oh, I dunno," answered Senator Sorghum reflectively. "I should say anything over $500,000."—Washington Star.

"Blood tells." But we rarely recognize the fact except in times of stress and strain. A horse which looks like a "scrub" may beat another horse which seems the ideal of a racer, just by that one quality of good blood. Similarly men, who seem in the pink of condition drop down under the racing strain of business. Why? Blood tells. Men reckoned perfectly healthy start out for business, they make a run for the train, and collapse. "Heart failure" they call it. Blood failure would be often the better name.

Take care of the blood and the body will take care of itself. It is the blood which builds the body. The blood indeed is the body. A sound body must be based on sound blood.

It is one of the peculiar properties of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery that it eliminates from the blood the effete and poisonous matter which is antagonistic to health. It also gives to the blood those elements which are necessary to its strength and vitality. Thus by the use of "Golden Medical Discovery" purity of blood and power of body have been attained by thousands of sickly and scrofulous men and women.

No other medicine purifies the blood and builds the body as does the "Discovery." Accept no substitute.

"It gives me much pleasure to testify to the merits of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery," writes Miss Annie Wells, of Fergusson's Wharf, Isle of Wight Co., Va. "I can say honestly and candidly that it is the grandest medicine ever compounded for purifying the blood. I suffered terribly with rheumatism, and pimples on the skin and swelling in my knees and feet so that I could not walk. I spent about twenty dollars paying doctors' bills but received no benefit. A year or two ago I was reading one of your Memorandum Books and I decided to try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and 'Favorite Prescription,' and am entirely cured."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are graduated to the requirements of women's delicate system. They regulate the stomach, liver and bowels.

THE MARKET REPORTS.

Peterborough Markets

The first week of June has been an exceptionally slow one on the market. Very little produce of any kind has come in and there has been a slow sale for hay and potatoes. Generally, however, prices have remained firm and the prospects are for much better markets.

Wheat—A large number of loads were offered and prices were a little firmer. The ruling price was 60 cents, but as high as 62 cents was paid.

Oats—There is a good demand for oats, and quite a few loads came in. Prices were a cent better than last week, 27 and 28 cents.

Peas—A number of loads came in and sold readily at last week's prices, 60 cents.

There were no offerings in other grains, and none of the buyers were asking for them.

Hay—There was a slow demand all week for hay owing to the large quantity marketed last week. The market ought to be much better this coming week. Prices $7 to $7.50.

Straw—There is a good demand for straw at the usual price per load, $2.50 to $3.

Eggs and Butter—There has been a very large supply of butter on the market and prices have been firm for butter of good quality. Eggs are in good demand, but the farmers' wives want to be particular to bring in good fresh eggs, as there have been great complaints about bad eggs.

The market clerk will be pleased to hear any complaints that the ladies have regarding the conduct of the market or any suggestions as to improvements.

LIVE STOCK.

There has been a good run of live stock all week owing to the market generally taking a rise of about 10 cents per cwt. Good fat export bulls are in demand as are good heavy steers. The only market that seems a little off is the stockers. There is a decided firmness regarding the market for good export sheep, while spring lambs and good calves find ready sold at good prices.

The hog market shows a decided improvement and while the price on the Toronto market has not advanced there is a decided firmness. It was expected that the $7.00 mark would have been reached but the market remained at $6.87 1-2. It is possible that the large dealers will drop the price but it will only be from one market to another in order to bring the hogs out.

The price on the local market was $6.50 with a little better in some instances.

The run this morning was a very large one over 200 hogs being sold, the majority of which were bought by Mr. W. A. Stabler & Sons. They continue to buy regularly and dispose of their hogs to the best market.

Mr. Robt. Stewart was also on the market and bought a few.

Mr. H. P. Kennedy bought some very fine steers from different sections of the country this week. Some were for shipment to the old country and others for home consumption.

There is a good demand locally for all kinds of sheep and lambs. Some sheep are worth $3.00 to $3.50, and lambs $3.25 to $4.00 per cwt.

Mr. H. P. Kennedy bought Mr. Stabler's hogs on the market to-day at a good market price.

Dizzy Spells and Headache

Weak, Nervous, and Run Down, would Shake with Nervousness—A Terrible Case—A Remarkable Cure.

Mrs. Chas. H. Jones, Pierceton, Que., writes:—"For years I have been a great sufferer with my heart and nerves. I would take shaking spells and a dizzy, swimming feeling would come over me. Night after night I would never close my eyes, and my head would ache as though it would burst. At last I had to keep to my bed, and though my doctor attended me from fall until spring, his medicine did not help me.

"I have now taken five boxes of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and it has done me more good than I ever believed a medicine could do. Words fail to express my gratitude for the wonderful cure brought about by this treatment."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food makes pale, weak, nervous men, women, and children strong, healthy and happy. In pill form, 50 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

The new scales for the market will be installed next week.

MARTIN RESIGNED.

James Dunsmuir Called Upon by the Lieutenant-Governor to Form a Cabinet for B. C.

Victoria, B.C., June 15. — Last evening Premier Martin tendered his resignation to the Lieutenant-Governor and recommended as his successor James Dunsmuir, M.P.P. for South Nanaimo. Mr. Dunsmuir accepted the task of forming a Government, and will be sworn in to-day at 3 o'clock. The good choice is considered a good one by the local politicians, and a strong Government will undoubtedly be formed.

MATRON AND MAID.

Mrs. James Carter of Pana, Ills., recently bought a lot at a tax sale, and in digging on the premises for a garden discovered a box containing about $300 in gold.

Mlle. Lucie Faure, daughter of the late president of the French republic, has made her debut as an author with a series of articles on "Cardinal Newman; His Life and Works."

Mrs. A. W. Sawyer of Nashua, N. H., has presented to the Williams college infirmary the sum of $500 as a fund in memory of her son, William M. Sawyer, '95, who died some years ago.

Mrs. George Gould's past winter in New York has been one long season of social triumph. She is expected to follow this with a similar campaign at Newport next summer after a short trip to Europe.

Mrs. Robert Louis Stevenson states that she has no intention of allowing her husband's grave in Samoa to be disturbed, as he lies among those who loved him no less than the people of the Scottish moors.

There is a great demand for the weather maps of Feb. 9, because the dark space covering the storm area makes a distinct profile of Miss Susan B. Anthony. Oddly enough, when the map was made, the Women's Suffrage association was in session in Washington.

Mrs. Moon, aged 90 years, whose photograph has been accepted by Queen Victoria, had a military bringing up. She was born at Gibraltar, christened at Malta and was present, as a child in the baggage train, at the battle of Waterloo, where her father, a color sergeant of the Rifle brigade, was wounded.

Ex-Queen Liliuokalani has just completed a new volume and has applied to the copyright clerk in the library of congress for a copyright certificate, giving the name of the book as "The Hawaiian Tradition of the Creation." The ex-queen has had only a few copies printed and states that it is intended for private circulation only.

Mlle. Chauvin, who has just won her battle for admission to the French bar, relates that when her first application was denied the judge said: "You are a doctor of laws, you say, and of philosophy and a bachelor of literature. Well, you must be an encyclopedia in miniature, and we are all so afraid of you that we would be afraid to admit you to our ranks."

Mrs. Susan Simmons Winans, the oldest living person born on the site of Chicago and one of the survivors of the Fort Dearborn massacre of 1812, is ill at Santa Ana, Cal. For a long time it was supposed that the last survivor of the massacre had died years ago, but Mrs. Winans proved to the satisfaction of the Chicago Historical society that she was an infant 6 months old at the time of the Indian attack and with her mother was taken captive.

By Way of Precaution.

Being a wise man, he desired to take no chances.

"Of course you understand," he said by way of preface, "that I have plenty of female relatives."

"Certainly," she answered, somewhat nonplused.

"I have four sisters already," he went on, "and any number of cousins."

"I realize all that," she returned, "but I fail to see how it interests me."

"Oh, only indirectly!" he said. "Before saying what I have to say I merely desire to have it understood that I have my full quota of relatives of that description. Do I make myself clear?"

"I think I grasp your meaning," she answered.

"In that case," he announced, "I will ask you to be my wife."—Chicago Post.

Unfathomable Is Woman.

With much intensity the woman repeated these lines:

> "The boast of heraldry, the pomp of power,
> And all that beauty, all that wealth, e'er gave,
> Await alike the inevitable hour!
> The paths of glory lead but to the grave!"

Then, with tears in her eyes, she turned to her entourage and said:

"Do you know, I would rather be the author of that verse than to get up an absolutely new filling for the sandwiches I shall serve at my 5 o'clock tomorrow!"

This seemed incredible, and yet she spoke as from the heart.—Detroit Journal.

Hands Cracked With Salt Rheum.

Mr. James McIsaacs, 25 Elgin-st., Ottawa, Ont., writes:—"I suffered with salt rheum for upwards of ten years, the skin on my hands cracking and breaking so as to make them useless. After trying all sorts of remedies in vain, I became discouraged and thought my sufferings would never end. Last spring I used Dr. Chase's Ointment and in a short time was perfectly cured." Dr. Chase's Ointment is of unparalleled merit as a cure for all itching skin diseases. All druggists.

BOTHA FOUGHT FOR TWO DAYS

Then He Retired With His Guns and His Force Intact.

This Is Taken to Mean That He Has a Commando With Which Lord Roberts Must Reckon as as Formidable—Pacification of the Transvaal Will Take Months Instead of Weeks—Buller Will Have to Wait.

London, June 15.—(3.30 a. m.)—That Commandant Louis Botha should have been able to stand for two days against Lord Roberts and then to retreat without losing any guns or having any of his men captured, is taken to mean that he has a force which the British must still reckon as formidable when acting defensively. The pacification of the whole Transvaal, especially the wide spaces far from the railways, is looked upon as a business requiring months rather than weeks. Meanwhile everything goes well for the British arms.

Buller Must Wait for Supplies.

Gen. Buller will be unable to advance further until he gets supplies. He will probably wait until the tunnel has been cleared. Nearly every farm house his troops passed flew a white flag. The British took nothing without paying for it.

Rundle Had a Sharp Skirmish.

Gen. Rundle had a sharp skirmish at Ficksburg on June 12. The Boers had been aggressive along the whole of Ficksburg Senekal line and menaced Ficksburg in force. The British outposts retired to the village. Gen. Rundle held the attention of the Boers in front with two guns, while Yeomanry were sent around to their rear and drove them off with a loss to the British of three wounded. Patrols had also three wounded. President Steyn is at Uitkop. His presence there is supposed to account for the Boer activity.

OFFICIAL BULLETINS.

War News From the Pens of Lord Roberts and General Sir Redvers Buller.

London, June 15. — Lord Roberts reports to the War Office, under date of Pretoria, June 13, 9.55 a.m., as follows:

"Methuen advanced to Honing Spruit yesterday and found all quiet. Kroonstad is strongly held. Methuen returned to-day to Rhenoster River, where the railway is being repaired. We were engaged all yesterday with Botha's army. The enemy fought with considerable determination and held our cavalry on both flanks, but Ian Hamilton, assisted by the Guards Brigade of Pole-Carews' division, pushing forward, took the hill in his front, which caused the enemy to fall back on their second position to the eastward. This they are still holding. It is slightly higher than the one we have captured. The great extent of country which has to be covered, under modern conditions of warfare, renders progress very slow. Details of the casualties have not reached me, but I understand they are moderate in numbers. The only further casualties reported to date are two officers wounded."

Botha Runs Away.

London, June 15. — The War Office issues the following report from Lord Roberts, under date of Pretoria, June 13, afternoon:

"The enemy evacuated their strong position during the night and have retired to the eastward. Buller's force and mine have afforded each other mutual assistance. Our occupation of Pretoria caused numbers of Boers to withdraw from Laing's Nek, and Buller's advance to Volksrust made them feel their rear would shortly be endangered."

Wakkerstroom Surrenders.

London, June 15.—Gen. Buller reports to the War Office as follows:

"Headquarters at Laing's Nek, June 14, morning.—General Lyttleton yesterday received the formal submission of the town and district of Wakkerstroom which the enemy is believed to have completely evacuated."

Dorsets' Did Great Work.

London, June 15.—The War Office has made public a despatch from Gen. Buller accepting the congratulations of the Secretary of State for War, Lord Lansdowne, in which he says:

"The Dorsets, who have been unlucky, had a chance at Almond's Nek and showed themselves to be as good as any others.

"About 150 yards at each end of Laing's Nek tunnel are blown in, and it will require several days to move the debris. The line, otherwise, is uninjured and open to the reversing stations and also to Sandspruit."

Capt. Barker Back on Duty.

London, June 15.—Captain Barker of the Toronto Company, who has in the hospital in South Africa, has returned to duty.

According to The Standard's correspondent, the Canadians figured prominently in forcing Botha to evacuate his position near Pretoria.

MRS. GLADSTONE IS DEAD.

Passed Away at the Family Seat, Aged 88 Years.

London, June 15.—Mrs. Gladstone, widow of the late William E. Gladstone, the English statesman, died at 5.40 p. m. yesterday.

Mrs. William Ewart Gladstone was 88 years old, and had been slowly sinking for some time past at Hawarden Castle, the family seat. She was the eldest daughter of the late Sir Richard Glynne, Bart., of Howarden Castle, and was married to Mr. Gladstone in 1839. He died May 19, 1898. She was a woman loved and admired by the vast circle of those who came in contact with her busy and varied life, and had great influence over her husband's actions.

A DUTIFUL DAUGHTER.

She Followed Instructions, With a Very Surprising Result.

"That daughter of mine will be the death of me some day," declared the portly party with a chuckle. "There has been a young man hanging around the house for the past six months, and I was growing tired of it, for I didn't consider that he was good enough for my girl. So yesterday I summoned my daughter and said:

"'Daughter, will that young man be here again tonight?'

"'I suppose so,' she answered, looking at me out of the corners of her eyes.

"'Well, when he comes I want you to sit down on him.'

"'Very well, papa,' she answered demurely.

"I went down town congratulating myself, for I really expected a scene, as my girl has a will of her own and is not at all backward about expressing it. But when she promises to do a thing it is as good as settled, and I chuckled to myself when I thought of the reception that that young man would meet with when he called in the evening.

"Well, that night the young man made his usual evening call, and I cleared out to give my daughter a chance to carry out her promise. I waited an hour, and then as the young man showed no signs of leaving I entered the drawing room where they were. The gas was turned down, but it was light enough for me to discover that the young man was holding my daughter on his lap.

"'What is the meaning of this?' I demanded with the little breath I had left.

"'I am only following your instructions, papa,' she answered without even looking up.

"'You're what?' I gasped.

"'Following your instructions. Don't be silly! Didn't you tell me to sit down on Mr. Blank when he called? Don't I hear mamma calling you?'

"I took the hint and fled. Cards will be out in a few days."—Detroit Free Press.

Showing His Gratitude.

After the editor of the Hawville Clarion had been banged up against the wall a few times and dragged around in the dust he succeeded in breaking away from his assailant long enough to say, "Sir, I thank you."

"You thank me!" exclaimed the irate visitor in astonishment.

"Certainly," replied the editor. "You have done me an inestimable favor."

"In what way?" demanded the visitor.

"I said in my paper that you were a lawless brute, didn't I?" inquired the editor.

"That's what you said."

"Well," returned the editor, "it occurred to me afterward that possibly I might have been mistaken, but you have now proved the case for me, and I am naturally grateful. You have relieved my conscience of a great load. I feared I had done you an injustice."—Chicago Post.

Character In Handwriting.

"Do you believe there is anything in the claim that men's characters are shown in their handwriting?"

"Yes. A man who always writes his name so that it can be read at a glance has not yet arrived at the point where he thinks the world can better afford to waste time working over puzzles than that he should put forth an extra effort, no matter how small."—Chicago Times-Herald.

His Deficient Ear.

"I give it up," said Mr. Cumrox as he put on his hat. "I'm not going to stay here to be harrowed by false alarms any longer."

"What's the matter?"

"I can't tell whether Dolly is practicing an aria from a grand opera or whether she has seen a mouse and is scared."—Washington Star.

Modern Poetry.

Ardent Young Woman—From what hidden sources, Mr. Bardde, do you seek your inspiration?

Poet—My dear girl, I'm too much rushed with my writing ever to waste time chasing around after inspiration.—Chicago Record.

A BLOUSE EVENT

THE SAVINGS THEY EFFECT.

We were going to head this "Blouse Bargains", but how sadly abused the word "Bargain" is of late. Here is a condition of blouse affairs that dignifies the word bargain—a condition which arose from an opportunity to buy the "so to speak" remnants of a well chosen lot of Woven and Printed Fabrics and Dainty Muslins—manufactured into the most taking styles of this season at about one-half regular price. They are yours at about Half Price.

It's a manufacturer's choice patterns that sell first. That's why we can get these dainty and character lending patterns so early in the season—and what beauty these prices will talk. See if they don't.

THEY DO NOT AGREE

Charge of Perjury Laid Against Driver Macfarlane by Driver Montgomery.

The quarrel between the drivers at the fire hall, Montgomery and Macfarlane, does not abate. It will be remembered that last Monday, Macfarlane was charged by Montgomery with using abusive language to him on Saturday morning. Macfarlane on oath denied using the words alleged by Montgomery. Montgomery says he can now prove by witnesses the use of the language and has laid an information against Macfarlane charging him with perjury. The case was enlarged till next Wednesday.

Yesterday afternoon Montgomery's bed at the fire hall was taken from the room and put into an old room at the hall, at which he is very indignant. Mr. English had it brought back and put in its proper place.

BOARD OF HEALTH

Again Discusses the Matter of an Unsanitary Corner.

A meeting of the Board of Health was held yesterday afternoon in the Town Clerk's office. The lane in the rear of George-st between Brock and Hunter, a nuisance of ancient date, was the subject of discussion. The owners of the property affected were present at the meeting. Town Engineer Hay submitted plans for the draining of the lane by means of a catchbasin and connection with the sewer and these were discussed at some length. The estimated cost was $100. The Board adjourned for a week without any action being taken.

COUNTY COURT SESSIONS

Jurymen Cannot Agree in the Case of Carton vs Turner et al.

The session of the County Court was occupied all day yesterday with the suit of Carton vs. Turner et al. This is a suit arising out of an accident last spring, in which Wm. Fredenburg, an employee of J. J. Turner & Sons, while putting up an awning for Mr. Geo. Carton, fell or the ladder on which he was standing fell, and two plate glass windows were broken. The windows were not insured and Mr. Carton sued for $82 and costs. The case was commenced on Wednesday evening and yesterday the evidence, of which there was a great deal, was concluded and the case was given to the jury. They retired about 4.30, but at eight o'clock last night had not agreed and were dismissed till this morning, when they again went into session without being able to arrive at any finding. About eleven o'clock they stated their position to Judge Weller and he dismissed them. The case thus goes over to the court in December next. D. O'Connell for plaintiff; Dennistoun, Peck & Stevenson for defendant Turner; Kerr & Kerr for defendant Fredenburg.

To-day's session of the court was occupied with the suit of Rundle vs. Waller, an action for alleged wrongful seizure of goods.

LT.-COL. EDWARDS OF THE 57TH

HIS PROMOTION TO THE COMMAND OFFICIALLY ANNOUNCED

Something of the New O. C.'s Military Record—The Efficiency of the Regiment Will be Maintained—A Battery Appointment.

Militia orders published to-day contain the following:—

57th Regiment, "Peterborough Rangers."—Lieut.-Col. R. W. Bell, on completion of his period of service in command of this regiment, is placed upon the retired list; to be lieutenant-colonel and to command the regiment, Major E. B. Edwards, vice Lieut.-Col. Bell, retired.

This official announcement of Major Edwards' promotion to be Lieut.-Col. and to the command of the 57th does not come as startling news, for it was known that Lt.-Col. Bell's retirement would be followed by the promotion which has now been gazetted officially. In fact Major Edwards has been in active command of the regiment this season, in the absence of Lt.-Col. Bell. However, the official announcement was the cause of many hearty congratulations being extended to Lt.-Col. Edwards and good wishes being expressed for the new commanding officer and his corps.

Lt.-Col. Edwards has been connected with the militia since he was a very young man. He enlisted first in the University Company of the Queen's Own, and served in this corps during the four years he was at university from 1866 to 1870. The military zeal which caused him to enlist as a student did not die out, and in 1879 he was appointed Captain of No. 1 Co., of the 57th, when that regiment was re-organized as a city battalion under Lt.-Col. J. Z. Rogers. This command he held for ten years, until 1889, when he was promoted to be junior Major. He continued as such until Lt.-Col. Bell, who was his senior in the Majority, was promoted to the command of the regiment, when he became senior Major which was his rank when promoted to the command. Lt.-Col. Edwards has shown since he has been in charge of the 57th that the interests of the regiment will be safe under his command. Thoroughly capable and efficient as an officer, he is zealous in his devotion to and interest in the corps, and the officers, non-commissioned officers and men, one and all, feel that in him they have a commanding officer who will lead them with honor and credit, and one who has the respect and confidence of all ranks. Under Lt.-Col. Edwards it is safe to predict that the 57th will be maintained at the top-notch of efficiency, and that the enthusiasm and interest already aroused and inspired this season will not be allowed to lag.

A compliment has been paid to the ability of the new colonel of the 57th and also to the regiment, by the appointment of Lt.-Col. Edwards to be Brigade Major at the brigade camp at Kingston. This is the first time a brigade appointment has come to an officer of the 57th. Lt.-Col. Edwards will go to Kingston camp on Monday.

THE DURHAM FIELD BATTERY.

To-day's militia orders also contain the following regarding the Durham Field Battery:—

14th Field Battery.—To be captain, Lieut. R. Cairns, vice C. J. Snyder, retired; to be second lieutenant provisionally, W. C. Ackerman, vice R. Cairns, promoted.

DIED WHILE ON ACTIVE SERVICE

ONE OF THE CANADIANS REPORTED DEAD WAS FROM PETERBOROUGH COUNTY

Pte. W. J. Hampton Was Last Heard of as Being Ill With Fever, and Now Pte. J. Hampton is Reported Dead.

It is feared that the "Pte. J. Hampton" whose death while on active service in South Africa is reported in this afternoon's despatches by Sir Alfred Milner is Trooper W. J. Hampton, who went from here with the Mounted Rifles, and who was one of the Norwood contingent who received recognition from the county. The last news from Trooper Hampton stated that he was ill with fever, and hence, although the initials are not complete, it is feared that he has succumbed, a victim to the fever. Trooper Hampton was formerly a clerk in Dr. Moffat's drug store in Norwood, and was a son of Mr. Wallace Hampton, now resident in Manitoba.

He was a young man of fine physique, a good soldier and popular among his acquaintances. Further news regarding this report will be awaited with keenest anxiety by his friends in this district.

THE SAD NEWS CONFIRMED.

In reply to telegraphic enquiries the Review received a message about four o'clock this afternoon stating that the Private Hampton reported dead was "Private W. J. Hampton who enlisted from the Third Prince of Wales Dragoons." This confirms what was feared, and the deepest sorrow will be felt at the sad news that one of Peterborough's brave boys who faced the hardships and dangers of the campaign has succumbed to the deadly fever in far-distant Africa. His sorrowing relatives will have the sincerest sympathy in the bereavement which comes to them in such a sad way.

—Orillia Packet:—Mr. G. E. Whiten has sold his pretty residence on Tecumseth-st. to Mr. Wm. Tudhope. At the same time he has bought a very desirable corner lot in Peterborough and will build there. Mr. Whiten's business, the Packett hears, is exceedingly prosperous, and he and his family are feeling more and more at home in Peterborough.

Mr. S. J. Sharp, of Toronto, western manager of the Elder, Dempster & Co. steamship lines, is in town to-day.

Mrs. W. H. Conway and children have left for Conway, Frontenac county, to visit her mother.

Mr. R. R. Miller, who has been in town in the interest of the International correspondence Schools, left for Rochester to-day.

Capt. Johnston, who is attached as Captain to the R. C. School staff at Toronto, was in town to-day, having come down to leave for camp with his squadron of the Prince of Wales Dragoons, for which purpose he has been allowed leave from his duties at Toronto.

In the Montreal Star is noticed the list of successful medical students in the third year exams. Among those who took honors in all subjects is a Peterborough boy, Mr. H. B. Rogers, son of Lt.-Col. H. C. Rogers. Mr. Rogers is to be most heartily congratulated on his success, for not only does he appear in the list of those who took honors in all subjects, but he stands first on the honor list in several subjects.

Brevities

—Men were at work to-day cutting down Park-st between Hunter and Simcoe-sts.

—A deputation of the Port Hope Council was in town to-day to inspect the fire system and appliances and while here reviewed the town generally. Alderman Ois acted as escort.

—About a year ago or a little over a clothes line in the western part of the town was robbed. Some of the clothing has just come into the possession of the Chief of Police, and the owner is requested to communicate with him.

—Lightning Wednesday night entered the power house of the Fenelon Falls electric light plant, owned by Brandon, McDougall & Austin, and ruined the large dynamo. The firm's loss will be considerable.

—Last evening a successful and pleasant social was held under the auspices of the Dorcas Society of the Park-st. Baptist church, at the residence of Mr. C. B. Robertson, Stewart-st. It was well attended. A large tent erected on the grounds added much to the comfort of those present. The Sons of England band furnished music.

—One of the excursionists who went to Muskoka lakes yesterday said to-day that he did not think Muskoka compared with Stony Lake. The latter was away ahead in his opinion as a summer resort for beauty, outing purposes, etc. The Muskoka steamers, he said, were fine, giving excellent accommodation and serving splendid meals.

—One gentleman remarked to-day that he thought there might be something in the argument against the use of Victoria Park for band concerts on account of the damage done, but it was such a beautiful place in the evening and allowed the crowd such a grand place to rest on the grassy slopes while they listened to the music that he hated to think of the band leaving Victoria to go to Central park.

—A mass meeting is to be held in the Y.M.C.A. hall, on Tuesday, June 19, at 8 p.m., to be addressed by Rev. J. G. Shearer, B.A., Field Secretary for Canada of the Lord's Day Alliance. The theme for discussion will be "Our Imperilled Sabbath, and how it may be Saved."

BIRTH OF THE ENGINEERING CLUB

THE ORGANIZATION MEETING WAS LARGELY ATTENDED AND A SUCCESS

The Object of the Association is to Encourage Interest in Technical and Practical Subjects—Officers Chosen.

In response to a circular of invitation sent out by Mr. Chas. A. Barton, General Superintendent of the Canadian General Electric Company's works, a very well attended meeting was held in one of the large rooms at the Y.M.C.A. last evening. The circular had briefly stated the object in view, that of organizing an Engineer's Club, and it was assumed that very material benefit would be derived from the discussion and conference upon papers and from the transactions of the club in general, to those engaged in engineering and technical work. Among those present were many of the gentlemen connected with and of the staff of the C.G.E. Co., and those of the engineering profession connected with the direction of our largest local industries.

Mr. Barton was requested to take the chair, and Mr. W. H. Collier was named as secretary. Mr. Barton addressed the meeting and outlined the proposition to form the club. It was proposed to hold meetings once each month at which papers of a technical character would be presented and discussed, and also meetings every two weeks at which subjects of practical importance would be treated. In their own works there were over one hundred young men taking courses in the Correspondence Schools, and these men were ambitiously seeking to improve. He felt assured that very many in the local industries would be glad of the opportunity to share in the instruction, and that the benefits to the members of the professions would be large, from a practical and scientific point of view.

Some discussion followed as to the plan of organization. It was decided to elect a board of officers and also an executive committee, and the duties expected from each were briefly stated. Messrs. T. A. Hay, C. Fessenden, A. C. McCallum, Thos. Fortye, R. B. Rodgers, John E. Belcher, and H. Ritchie were named a committee to nominate the officers and executive committee. The gentlemen retired to another room and presently returned and submitted a slate. Then other nominations were made from the meeting in general, on the ground that the executive committee should include representatives from all the local industries. This sort of thing went on until it was seen that an executive committee, if so constituted, would be too large and unwieldly. Then it was decided to form all the nominees into one general committee and from this select the first thirteen names as the executive. Following is the list of officers elected and the general committee:—

President—Chas. A. Barton.

Vice-President—C. Fessenden.

Sec.-Treasurer—W. H. Collier.

General Committee—(Of the following representing local industries, etc:—)

Street Railway, Electric Light and Gas—H. O. Fisk.

Waterworks—W. Henderson.

Electrical Industries—H. Ritchie, C. A. Barton.

Steam Railways—W. B. Bamford.

Canals—R. B. Rodgers.

Water Power—John Carnegie.

Hydraulic and Mining Machinery—A. C. McCallum.

Agricultural Machinery—Milne Hamilton.

Municipal Engineering—T. A. S. Hay.

Civil Engineering and Architecture—John Belcher.

Sanitary Engineering—Dr. Bingham.

Printing—F. H. Dobbin.

Piano Manufacturing—Chas. Stanley.

Locks and Hardware—Thos. Fortye.

Scientific Education—C. Fessenden and J. A. Fife.

Textile Industries—C. Theulis.

Cold Storage—T. F. Matthews.

Forestry and Lumber—J. B. McWilliams.

Milling Industries—C. B. McAllister.

From the General committee the executive will be selected, and the names announced. It is proposed to have the opening meeting of the club the first week in September, the executive committee, in the meantime allotting the subjects to be taken up and papers to be prepared and a general programme for the fall and winter.

There is no doubt that the formation of this society is a step in the right direction. Everything that may increase the attention being given to scientific and mechanical subjects should be encouraged. Peterborough is pushing forward as a manufacturing centre, and the development of the industries we now have will largely depend on the intelligence and skill brought to bear directing their progress. In forming this Club Mr. Barton and those working with him are to be heartily commended.

Aroused at Last

To the terrible ravages of consumption in Ontario, the Government is petitioned to establish hospitals for consumptives. As a preventative to consumption there is no treatment to be compared to Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine, which promptly and effectually cures every cough and cold. Sabbath Observance.

"Our Imperilled Sabbath and how to Preserve It," is the unique title of what assuredly promises to be a most interesting address, by the Rev. J. G. Shearer, B.A., Field Secretary of the Lord's Day Alliance, on Tuesday, June 19th. The public meeting will be held in the evening, when all interested are strongly urged to attend and bring others whether [illegible] or not. In the afternoon at four o'clock an important conference will be held, and all are cordially invited to meet Mr. Shearer at [illegible].

JEWELRY JOTTINGS.

New and striking in earrings is a pair of flattened, button shaped pearls intended to fit close to the ear and invisibly mounted.

A magnificent line of pendants is devoted entirely to pearls of irregular conformation. These are mounted in platinum and in some instances are combined with diamonds.

Long silver chains divided into segments by groups of three turquoises, oval cut and arranged in single file, are exceedingly pretty and should strike a popular note among the summer girls, for they will be just the thing with wash gowns.

Apropos of rings, an unusual and attractive design is the use of five emeralds in a straight row for the center of a marquise ring, these being surrounded with diamonds. In another striking marquise the middle gem alone is a fine emerald with diamonds as the accompanying stones.—Jewelers' Circular.

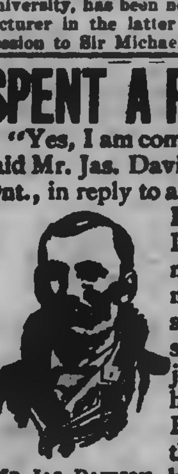
SPENT A FORTUNE.

"Yes, I am completely cured," said Mr. Jas. Davison, of Oconto, Ont., in reply to a question, "and I have to thank Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure for my relief. I suffered from sciatica in the joint of my left hip for ten years. For six years of that time I was a helpless invalid, unable to move about. I was reduced in flesh, and unable to partake of food. I spent every dollar I had in seeking relief, but without obtaining it. I passed through the hands of three Kingston doctors, and each pronounced my case incurable. I took everything people recommended, but without experiencing any benefit. Before I had used half a bottle of Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure I obtained relief, the first in ten years. In all I took the contents of six bottles, and I am as well and sound to-day as ever I was, except for my short leg which the rheumatism caused.



MR. JAS. DAVISON.

"Previously I could scarcely walk half a dozen steps, and arose and sat down only with great difficulty and pain. When I first began to take the medicine I weighed only 145 pounds. Now I weigh 167 pounds, and am daily gaining weight. I cannot say too much for the medicine, but I ask God's blessing for the maker on account of the good it has done me."

Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure is put up in 50 cent bottles, containing ten days' treatment. For sale by all druggists and dealers in medicine. The Dr. Hall Medicine Co., Kingston, Ont.

A REMARKABLE RING.

It Contains a Tiny Music Box and Has a Pathetic History.

The most charming little ring and interesting little curio in the world is the property of Mr. Temple of London. This gentleman is a nephew of the celebrated Sir Richard Temple, and the ring in question is a highly prized old family heirloom. Its history is pathetic and romantic in the extreme.

Inside of this tiny circle of gold are the works of a perfect little music box. You touch a spring and hold the ring quite close to your ear. Then you hear the sweetest, weirdest, tiniest little tune, which seems like a voice from spirit land.

This ring was once in the possession of one of Mr. Temple's ancestors, who lived in France. He was a stanch royalist, and in the days of the revolution he valiantly espoused the cause of the unfortunate Louis and his lovely, doomed queen, Marie Antoinette. He was arrested and thrown into jail, where he lingered for days and weeks.

One of his few pleasures in the gloomy solitude of his dreary dungeon was to listen to the voice or tune of the little musical ring, which he always wore on the third finger of his left hand. He had inherited it from his grandfather, who had it manufactured in Genoa at great cost.

One day sullen faced men heavily armed came to his dark dungeon and told him he must follow them. He knew that this meant the guillotine. He stepped bravely out to meet his fate, determined to die like an English gentleman and a brave man. And he did.

A strange fancy took possession of him just before they led him to the block. He touched the spring of his little ring and lovingly held it to his ear. It sang its little tune merrily and briskly.

Then the signal came. He laid his head on the guillotine which a few hours before had known the lifeblood of a queen.

In the course of time the little ring found its way back to the Temple family, but it was silent. Its present owner took it to a London jeweler, who found in the musical mechanism a clot of blood that for years had lain there and impeded the working of the machinery.

This was removed, and the little ring sings again the same little tune that beguiled the many sad hours of its former owner.

THE PANTHER SLAYER.

An Encounter In Which Bombonnel Was Almost Torn to Shreds.

Bombonnel, the panther slayer, was a name at one time known all over France. Later the mighty huntsman's fame in the chase was overshadowed by that which he acquired in the Franco-Prussian war as a leader of sharpshooters. Miss Betham-Edwards, who knew him well, gives in her "Anglo-French Reminiscences" many entertaining glimpses of this remarkable man.

Bombonnel's panther hunting took place in Algeria. He had slain more than 50 of these beasts. One nearly slew him, for he met it in a hand to claw encounter and emerged from the conflict victorious, but frightfully mangled.

He had received five wounds on the left hand, eight in the left arm, four in the head, ten in the face, four in the mouth, and besides these his nose was broken, he had lost several teeth, and one cheek was clawed to shreds. It was at first supposed that he would die, then that he would be disfigured to monstrosity. But fortunately, although in a remote place, without anæsthetics or proper nursing available, Dr. Bodichon, a famous surgeon, was at hand to patch him up.

"I can in great measure restore your physiognomy. At any rate I can give you features that will be human," said the physician after examining his hurts. "But I warn you beforehand the suffering will be horrible."

"Doctor," was the reply, "do your best. I can answer for myself. My heart is sound."

So was his courage. He endured like an Indian and emerged from the ordeal a battered and ugly man, it is true, but of a countenance not monstrous nor repulsive. Such disfigurement as did not disgust his friends did not trouble him at all.

He was walking one day with M. B., a man of unfortunately harsh features, when the pair were startled to hear a street boy sing out:

"There go Bombonnel and M. B., the two ugliest men in Dijon!"

"Not so loud, my little friend. Let folks find it out for themselves," said the amiable M. B., while Bombonnel burst out laughing and was always delighted afterward to relate the incident.

DISAGREED WITH KIPLING

The Actuality Conflicted Strangely With the Writer's Statements.

"I witnessed a curious little incident yesterday," said an observant citizen. "You know we have quite a colony of East Indians here who wear black skullcaps and long tailed frock coats and prowl about town peddling rugs and such like. I must confess there has always been something strangely fascinating to me in the appearance of these fellows. They look so preternaturally solemn and have such an air of oriental mysticism in spite of their absurd costumes that I can't help believing they are as wise as Solomon and are laughing in their sleeves at us poor barbarians while incidentally they are loading us up with their ridiculous rugs. However, to come to the point:

"Yesterday afternoon I was walking down a side street when whom should I see wabbling along on a bicycle but one of these same Hindoo peddlers. He was a lean, bronzed gentleman with a scraggy coal black beard and piercing eyes, and, although he was humped over like a camel and making desperate efforts to keep his balance, he still preserved a certain indescribable dignity. Still, there was something monstrously incongruous in the idea of a Hindoo on a bike. I would as soon think of seeing a bishop on a trapeze, and I stood transfixed with amazement while he very nearly ran me down.

"But instead of saying, 'Make way, O sahib, for thy servant to pass,' as he should have done, he called me an old fool in very good English and asked me whether I wanted to be killed.

"I was too surprised to get mad, and the words were hardly out of his mouth when he struck a loose cobblestone and took a header over the front wheel. As he sailed through the air, with his arms and legs spread out like a frog and his long black coattails waving in the breeze, he presented one of the most remarkable spectacles I have ever witnessed.

"He struck all over himself and must have been badly jarred, but according to the books he ought to have accepted the misadventure with oriental stoicism. On the contrary, he scrambled up and proceeded to kick the stuffing out of both tires. When I got home, I threw my Kipling under the wardrobe. These eastern writers are very misleading."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

"And this brings me," he proceeded, "to the consideration of the main point at issue."

THE LIMEKILN CLUB.

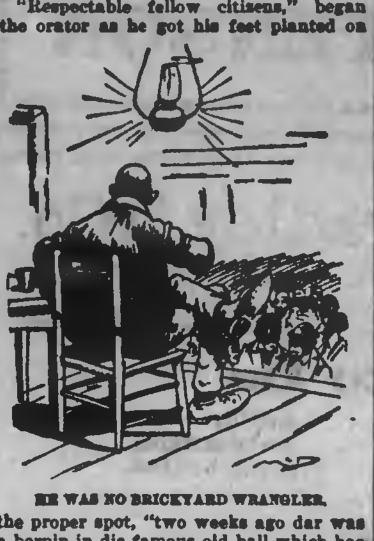
HON. CRABTREE JONES DELIVERS A STRIKING ADDRESS.

By His Masterly Eloquence on the Themes Most Dear to the Hearts of the Possum Party He Succeeds In Arousing Great Enthusiasm.

[Copyright, 1900, by C. B. Lewis.]

There was a mighty gathering at Paradise hall, and, acting on the suggestion of Brother Gardner, about 50 members had brought their wives with them. It had been announced on the bulletin board that the Hon. Crabtree Jones of Alabama would deliver a political speech, and the audience was ready to give him an enthusiastic greeting. He appeared promptly at the hour named and was introduced by the president amid vociferous applause. Under the glare of three kerosene lamps with tin reflectors behind them he sized up as a short and chunky man with one short leg and a bald head. He didn't look a bit like the pictures of Cicero or Demosthenes, but no one was disappointed on that account. He had scarcely made his bow when a good judge of character would have offered odds of five to one that he was no brickyard wrangler.

"Respectable fellow citizens," began the orator as he got his feet planted on the proper spot, "two weeks ago dar was a bornin in dis famous old hall which has made talk fur 80 millyon people. It was de bornin of a new political party whose words an deeds am gwine to go rumblin up an down an round No'th America till de populashun will sit up nights lookin fur an airthquake [Violent outburst of applause.] In my cabin home in de southland I read of de bornin of de Possum party, an I went out on de doahstep an cheered fur liberty an sung de song of 'De Star Spangled Banner.' [Ferocious cheers.] I saw de sun risin to light de way of de cull'd man, an I realized dat our weary waitin was to be rewarded at last. [Blood curdling whoops.]



HE WAS NO BRICKYARD WRANGLER.

"My fr'en's, I had bin waitin 80 y'ars fur de dawn of freedom. I hev bin waitin 60 y'ars fur de birth of de Possum party. [Surges of emotion.] De position of de cull'd man since de wah has bin dat of a possum cotched by a sliver as he climbs a rail fence. He can't go ahead nor draw back, an de longer he sots still de mo' it hurts him. [Explosions of enthusiasm.] De fact am he's bin wabblin dis way an dat way as he walked 'long de road, but he wabbled kase he didn't hev no straight line to foller. He was dependin on de white man to show him de way an gib him a fa'r show. We's bin a sheep which has growed wool fur one man an mutton fur another, an dey has taken de wool an de meat an left us only de hoofs an bones. [Thunderous outburst.] Wheneber dar has bin a feast of roast turkey, de white man has sot down an eaten eberything up an left de black man to lick de oven doah to satisfy his appetite. [Volcanic disturbances.] De y'ars hev gone on on an on, an we've kept lickin de oven doah an held our peace an waited an hoped. All de white men's parties wanted our votes, but all de white men also wanted all de offices. Dey has kept us climbin de tree to shake down de coon, but dey has eaten de meat an sold de pelt when de coon fell. [Agitation verging on the cyclonic.]

"Ebery man in dese United Staits owes a duty to his kentry. It's to help lift her up when de bad times come, shove her 'long when de good times abound an fight fur her an die fur her when her life am at stake. [Gigantic and long continued applause.] De cull'd man has done his duty in dis respect as well as de white. ["He has!"] He's bin boostin her up an pushin her 'long an dyin fur her till de pages of history hev giben him chapter arter chapter fur fucher ginerations to read. [Tornado of enthusiasm.] He's airned his name, his place an his rights, an he's gwine to stick right to his job an keep doin. But a change am gwine to take place—a change dat am gwine to rattle de shingles on de roof an skeer de cat out from under de bed. [Shouts of "Glory, glory!"] De black man am gwine to keep right on bein an American an a patriot an a good citizen, an he am also gwine to keep right on payin 'tenshun to politics. Whar de change am gwine to come in will be in his votin. Heretofo' he has bin led up to de polls to vote hisself. [Vociferous and soul stirring shouts, yells and cheers, ending in the whole crowd singing "My Country!" in seven different keys and upsetting the pail of hard cider provided for the orator.]

"Freemen of a free land, patriots who ar' takin yo'r fust breath of liberty, I'm lookin at dat stuft possum which we hev adopted as our sacred emblem an arter which we hev taken our name. [Typhoonic yells.] Dar has eber bin a bond of sympathy between de cull'd man an de possum. Dey hev both had to lay low an bide deir time. Dey haven't had a show wid de big game. Dey has had to keep still till folks look upon em as dead. [Sighs and groans and repressed agitation.] However, it's gwine to astonish a hull continent—de way dat possum will let go an drap down into de row an demand an fight fur his sheer of de spiles. [Whirlwinds of applause, during which the stove fell over unheeded.] Up to dis date nobody has eber axed de black man what he wanted in payment fur bein a soldier, a citizen an an elector. It was calkerlated dat what was left ober was good 'nuff fur him, an de white man has taken mighty good keer dat nuffin was left ober which it was gwine to bodder anybody to keery off in his coattail pocket. [Groans of assent.] But we ain't waintin to be axed. We am standin up in Paradise hall tonight to say we want thus an so, am gwine to hev it or kick ober de beehive. [Unearthly whoops and yells from all parts of the hall.] We ain't skulkin up to candydates an convenshuns an beggin fur crumbs, but we am walkin up to de bakery shoulder to shoulder an demandin a fa'r count of de loaves. [Rising temperature, followed by explosions.]

"Yo' jest git out yo'r pencils an figger a minit. Dere's ober 3,000,000 black men in dis kentry who am entitled to walk up to de polls on 'lection day an cast a vote. If dey but hang together, yo' can't count 'em out nor keep 'em back. Dem 3,000,000 votes am gwine to be cast fur principle, but doan' yo' make no mistake 'bout principle. We used to think dat it meant votin on sartin lines an dat George Washington, Abraham Lincoln, de constitushun of de United Staits and seberal other things was mixed up wid it, an we walked up an put in our votes as if each an ebery one was gwine to save de kentry. But we's l'arned a thing or two. We hevn't l'arned it from each other, but from de white man. [Cries of "Yo' bet we hev!"] We has l'arned dat he sots out on a political campaign wid a cartload of principles to gib away free gratis an punctuate his speeches, but when de ballots am counted up he lays down his principles to pick up his office. [Bewildering outburst of warwhoops.] We am gwine to take a fly leaf from de white man's book. We'll stick to principles, but we'll look out fur de spiles as well. [Unparalleled demonstration.] We am sayin right now an right yere to all parties an candydates—no office no vote. No wagon kin run on three wheels. De Possum party am de fo'th wheel, an let it drap off an down goes de vehicle. [Unprecedented enthusiasm and emotion, during which three women began singing camp meeting songs.]

"My fr'en's, daylight has cum at last fur us. We's got our bundles packed an hev started on de road. We's got headed right, an we's only to keep on to find de bee tree an be on hand when de honey am divided up. [Yells for honey.] Keep yo'r eye on de possum an yo'r brains in yo'r heads, an yo'll win a victory dat Bunker Hill couldn't hold a candle to. [General hoarseness, but prodigious applause.] I want a word mo' befo' I close. Dis am to be a plain, airnest campaign on our part. We ain't gwine to say much, but what we do say will hit de barn door like a load of buckshot. Doan' git de idea dat big words am gwine to help yo' win what belongs to yo'. Befo' dis meetin opened tonight I heard Waydown Bebee obsarve dat de malignant innuendo of de torrid affiliashun would enhance de ginerality of de pomposity. He probably meant well, an mebbe his observashun has helped us to git started, but I hope he won't do it ag'in. Doan' nobody do it. Dis am no dictionary campaign. ["No, no!"] It will be plain puddin an milk at home an plain English when yo' am walkin up an down wid a possum badge on yo'r breast an a flag of liberty in yo'r hand. Nuffin counts quicker nor harder dan to call a man a liar, an de languidge am so simple dat a child kin understand it. I will now return yo' my thanks, gird on yo'r armor of battle an bow my gratitude fur de welcome handed out to me."

The orator sat down amid applause that broke windows and put out lights, and it was continued until the police came up the alley stairs and dropped three women and four men down upon the sand pile below. The Possum party may be said to have got hold of its nursing bottle with a good grip.

BORDEN PREPARING DEFENCE

Consequently Emergency Ration Discussion Was Delayed.

Mr. Borden, However, Opened the Debate With a Very Witty and Telling Speech—Government Will Not Give the Commission Regarding Election Frauds Any Further Scope—There Will Be No Tax on the Japs.

Ottawa, June 15. — Again the insidious hand-spike of technical objection has been inserted into Mr. Monk's charges, and the discussion of his motion is again put off for a day. The wielder of the hand-spike was yesterday, as usual, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, who was careful to let no word drop that might suggest that he favored an inquiry. In fact, the whole affair looks as if Canada's Micawber were looking for something to turn up.

Mr. Monk Had the Floor.

The House had no sooner opened this afternoon than Mr. Monk arose and claimed leave to point out a few particular objects of his statement made yesterday. He reminded the House that the kernel of the whole charge was that the food tested at Kingston was not the food sent to South Africa. He drew particular attention to the fact that Dr. Borden claimed he had no acquaintance with Henri Hatch. That claim was due, doubtless, to a lapse of memory, for Dr. Borden had seen Henri Hatch an many occasions, on business in connection with the rations transaction.

How Suspicion Arose.

Suspicion that something was wrong emanated from the fact that the stuff sent to South Africa was not manufactured in Canada. Protos the food tested at Kingston, was manufactured solely at No. 10 Richmond-street, Montreal, and nowhere else on the continent.

Trunks Were Suspicious.

The saratoga trunks were suspicious in themselves, and in what they contained. A peculiar feature of the emergency rations is that they lose their qualities the moment they are exposed to the air for any time.

An Object Lesson.

With this as a preface, Mr. Monk gave an object lesson to the House. He held a can of the stuff shipped to South Africa in his hand, and declared that it was not hermetically sealed nor sterilised. A person could open it easily by squeezing. The very tin he had was now but partially full, because the air had got in and destroyed its qualities. The contents rattled like a half-filled pepper box. This in itself was a visible evidence of carelessness.

"The Vitaline Company."

Mr. Monk introduced a bit of wit into his remarks. The can contained the address of the company manufacturing the food. The company was the Vitaline Company. The address was merely corner of Craig and Bleury-streets, Montreal. Now there were four corners, and on the southeast was a stove shop, on the southwest was The Montreal Witness office, on the northeast was a haberdasher's store, and on the northwest was a chemist's shop. Was the food made at the stove shop? Did The Witness make it? Or had it been manufactured in the store where shirts were sold? The conclusion was that it must have been made at the chemist's shop. But regarding this, a doubt had been created, because the chemist had written to Mr. Monk stating that there was no office of the Vitaline in his shop, and that the allegations regarding it were false, because he had never made such food for the Government, or had any transactions with Dr. Devlin.

No Known Address in Montreal.

"Three corners said not a word, but one corner denied," remarked the member learned in the law. So the House was forced to believe that the vitaline had no known address in Montreal and no office except one that was got to by a man-hole or a trap-door. Did this not furnish strong grounds for suspicion? Was payment made before the goods were delivered? On reliable information, he said "yes." This fact, connected with others, was suspicious. Dr. Borden said the last delivery of food was on Jan. 25. If payment was made after delivery it was made after Jan. 25. But on Jan. 25 Dr. Borden was informed that the food sent to South Africa was not the food tested at Kingston. Hence, the payment was made after the morning or before the delivery of the goods. The Government could take either hour.

Gravity of the Charges.

In conclusion, Mr. Monk referred to the gravity of the charges and to the discourteous treatment meted out to him by the Minister when he brought certain facts to their notice. He declared he had been treated like a tortured victim of a band of savages. He claimed an investigation.

Must Stand Till Friday.

Sir Wilfrid then loosened his hand-spike and said that Dr. Borden had not had time to prepare his statement of defence, so the matter would have to stand over till Friday.

Col. Prior's Queries.

Col. Prior asked: Has the Militia Department had any analysis made by the Department of Inland Revenue of the "emergency food" bought by the Militia Department for use of the troops in South Africa?

What were the results as reported by the Inland Revenue Department?

In answer, Dr. Borden said that he had sent to the Department of Inland Revenue on Feb. 3, 1900, two parcels of the emergency food for analysis and one parcel was a sample of the food sent to South Africa, the other of that tested in Kingston in April, 1899. As further analyses were being made, he did not think it was desirable to make public the results of the analysis of Feb. 3, 1900. But they bore out the fact that the two foods were identically the same.

Chinese Immigration.

The next item of interest was the first reading of a bill concerning and restricting Chinese immigration, introduced by Sir Wilfred Laurier. It provides for the appointment of a commission to ascertain the views of the people of British Columbia upon Japanese immigration. The commission is also charged to find out the feasibility of raising the Chinese poll tax to $500. The bill provides that the Chinese poll tax will be raised from $50 to $100.

What British Columbia Wants.

Sir Wilfred, in explaining his bill, reviewed the history of restriction of Chinese immigration from 1884, remarking that the Chinese were not a desirable class of immigrants, inasmuch as they worked for less wages than the native population, and besides never came with the intention of permanently remaining here. He referred to the fact that the people in British Columbia wished the Natal Act to be introduced in Canada. This would be tantamount to prohibiting Chinese and Japanese immigration. This was a serious question and, speaking for the Government, he held that he was not prepared to come into conflict with Japan at the crisis in the Empire's history when the war cloud was looming up in the Orient and England would need all the aid she could obtain. Hence it was that he did not propose to impose a tax on Japs. This announcement might disappoint British Columbia, but the Government was guided by Imperial policy.

Col. Prior said that British Columbia would certainly be disappointed that the Chinese poll tax was not raised to $500, and that no restrictions were placed upon the Japs. He wanted the Natal Act and he believed the Government should look at home affairs before looking to England's probable conflict in the Orient.

Mr. Wallace held there was no room for the Chinaman in Canada, but favored Sir Wilfrid's announcement regarding the Japs.

The bill was read a first time.

That Elections Commission.

Mr. R. L. Borden moved a vote of censure on the Government for refusing to widen the scope of the Elections Committee at the suggestion of Sir Charles Tupper.

His speech was an elaboration of his motion, which declared that the House was of the opinion:

"That the powers and jurisdiction conferred on the three commissioners are not sufficiently wide and comprehensive to enable the commissioners to make a thoro, complete and searching inquiry into the frauds which are alleged to have taken place with the election of members of the House of Commons.

"That the commissioners should be expressly empowered to inquire into all fraudulent practices and devices by means of which any such frauds have been accomplished, as well as the conduct and proceedings of any person who indirectly or by means of others or by any collusion or connivance have aided, abetted or countenanced the commission of any such fraud.

"That for the purposes of indemnifying witnesses the provisions of the Imperial Act should apply."

This would give absolute indemnity to witnesses. It would be more explicit than the present act, under which the commission was issued. That provision should be made which will place beyond doubt:

"(a) That the Clerk of the Crown in Chancery shall produce all election documents.

"(b) That any witness is competent to testify how he voted at any election, concerning which the commission takes cognizance.

"(c) That persons who make charges could be represented by their own counsel. That the evidence already taken shall be used by the commission.

"That the commission shall first investigate the frauds of the Brockville and West Huron elections.

"That legislation will be enacted to put beyond doubt the power of the Governor-General-in-Council to give jurisdiction in such cases to such a commission.

Mr. Blair's Reply.

The Minister of Railways, Mr. Blair, replied to Mr. Borden, and said the suggestions were unnecessary, for the Government had issued the commission in order to have a full inquiry.

Sir Hibbert Tupper followed, and said the language of the order-in-council forced him to believe the Government was hypocritical in its claim that it desired a full inquiry.

The battle was continued by Dr. Russell, and a vote was taken at 11.40. The result was never in doubt. The motion was snowed under by a count of 50 to 32, a majority of 18.

The binder twine amendment to Sir Henri Joly's weights and measures bill passed through committee, and the bill was read a third time.

The House went into supply on the miscellaneous estimates, and after passing a number of items, adjourned at 2.

The Royal Assent Given.

Ottawa, June 15.—The session of the Senate yesterday was unusual. The Governor-General attended, assisted by Major Drummond, to give the royal assent to bills. Her Highness, Princess Aribert of Anhalt, accompanied by the Countess of Minto, her hostess, sat in the Speaker's gallery and noted the flocking of the Commons and other antique circumstances necessary to the royal assent. After the ordeal was over the princess and suite illuminated the Speaker's gallery in the Commons. The Bank Act was read a third time.

PREPARING A DEFENCE.

HOTEL BURNED AT TRAIL, B.C.

Heroic Work by Firemen Prevented the Town Going Up in Smoke.

Rossland, B.C., June 15. — The Southern Hotel at Trail was burned to the ground Wednesday night, and that the entire business portion of the town is not in ashes, is due to the heroic work of the fire department. It was about midnight when the fire broke out, supposedly from the explosion of a lamp. Fortunately the flames were checked, thus preventing the destruction of the business block of the town. Lewis Bros. and all the adjoining places of business carried their belongings to places of safety. The loss, all told, was about $2,000.

Instant Death to Eight Men.

Winnipeg, June 15. — A Canmore, Alberta, special says: The most serious gas explosion that ever occurred in Canmore mine took place yesterday afternoon, resulting in the instant death of eight men and several slightly injured. The names of the dead are: Presper Daye, Amand Regard, Toney Billini, Peter Caulfield and four other foreigners whose names are not yet known. The first three leave large families. The cause is supposed to be due to one of the miners, who gave up his life in unlocking his safety lamp with a key wrongfully obtained.

ANGLICAN SYNOD IN SESSION

A REPORT THAT REFERRED TO ENTERTAINMENTS TO RAISE FUNDS

Was Not Adopted, But Referred Back—Reports of Standing Committees That Gave Much Information of Interest.

The Synod of Toronto gave practically its whole time on Wednesday to the consideration of the reports of Standing Committees. The only discussion of general interest was that occasioned by the report of the Deputation Committee, of which Hon. S. H. Blake, Q.C., is chairman. The report was decided to be cast in an altogether too pessimistic strain, and to be much too severe in its arraignment of the methods adopted for the raising of church funds. The Deputation Committee is composed of laymen, and its principal work is that of providing speakers at mission meetings and stimulating the missionary zeal of the diocese. Before the meeting of the Synod service was held in the cathedral, conducted by Rural Dean Carroll, of Alliston, and Rev. F. J. Lynch, Rosemount. The session began with prayers by the Ven. Archdeacon of York.

The Clergy Commutation Fund report was adopted.

The report of the See Endowment and Lands Committee showed that by the efforts of the special committee appointed two years ago, $6,309.28 had been added to the permanent capital of the fund, which now amounts to $42,340.97. The report was adopted.

The report of the Mission Board was likewise adopted. It announced a substantial increase in the contributions to the Mission Fund. Last year the amount reported was $10,971.52, and this year $13,394.41. Only two city congregations have exceeded their allotment, St. Alban's and St. Simon's, and St. Thomas' equalled it. Twenty-four parishes outside exceeded their allotments. Bobcaygeon and Dunsford have voluntarily relinquished their grants and become self-supporting congregations.

REVIVAL NEEDED.

The Deputation Committee's report stated that the sum sought to be raised by the Mission Board was $20,000, $13,000 by the Toronto Rural Deanery, and $7,000 by the outside parishes. The former contributed $8,48.80, and the latter $4,965.61, an increase of $2,616.38 for Toronto and a decrease of $193.44 for outside churches. The committee supplied 38 deputations, and visited 161 places or parishes. "While the sum raised," the report states, "is the largest since 1888, with the exception of 1898, when it reached $16,309.54, it must be admitted that the result is far from satisfactory. The committee feel that they have failed to accomplish the work which was given them to do, and that if efforts such as were put forth last year fail so signally, the Synod would do well to enquire as to the cause of the failure, and Churchmen earnestly to ask themselves whether they be worthy of their appointed service, that of upholding the banner of the Church in this diocese. Many are the reasons, or rather pretexts, which are alleged as contributing to this unfortunate result, but the committee are of opinion that all may be embraced in the one word—apathy.

"An unprecedented effort was made last year, and a canvass more thorough than had ever been previously attempted in the diocese, with the result that the fund is still $6,000 below the needs, and the sum given has only exceeded the average amount of the preceding thirteen years by $1,700. If this is all that can be accomplished by the severest strain, what will be the result when the work of the Deputation Committee is discontinued? That with such poor success seems to point to the fact that in spiritual matters business methods alone will not avail, and that, great and earnest efforts should meet unaccompanied by a spiritual revival, the most approved methods will fail. While spiritual apathy broods over the diocese all the funds will starve, as they now do.

QUESTIONABLE ENTERTAINMENTS.

"Although many clergymen have lent very willing and effective help to the Deputation Committee, the work has retained its original character as a lay movement. Three years' experience, however, has taught the laymen that success in raising money cannot be achieved unless there exists in the minds of the people the true foundation on which all almsgiving should be based. In the various localities, with here and there some notable exceptions, the congregations are not taught that the basis of giving is self-sacrifice. The foundation principle, 'Freely ye have received, freely give,' is out of date. Recourse is being had to all kinds of questionable entertainments. It is our firm conviction that the lamentable failure in raising funds in this diocese arises from the lowering of the whole tone of Christian life in this respect, and from the educating the congregations to bestow what they call their gifts only when an equivalent is given, in the shape of a ticket for a skirt dance, a seat at Madame Jarley's waxworks, a place in some operetta or comedietta, or some such like way of joining the world in the raising of money."

There were a few members of synod who were inclined to support the report, but many spoke, and while none defended the class of entertainment referred to, almost all denied that they were [illegible] used as a means of raising funds. The report was referred back.

Mr. Morgan's motion, that the debt to the Diocese of Algoma be paid as an ordinary debt of the church, was adopted without opposition.

Rev. J. C. Roper, of New York, and the Archdeacon of Ottawa were welcomed to the floor of the synod.

Upon assembling after luncheon, the report of the Widows' and Orphans' fund was adopted. During the year the widows on the fund had received within $1 of the usual pension of $200. One widow had been added, making 81. Two children receive aid from the fund.

Another report adopted without discussion was that of the Church Extension, General Purposes, Statistics, and Assessment Committee. The fund now amounts to $9,324.78.

TEACHING OF THE BIBLE.

The reports of the Sunday School and Book and Tract Committee occasioned some discussion regarding the use of leaflets and lesson helps in the Sunday schools of the diocese. Mr. Dymond urged that the committee should see that as far as possible the children of the Sunday schools should be thoroughly instructed in the text of Scripture. Mr. W. H. Hoyle, M.P.P., strongly urged that the committee should provide a proper Sunday school weekly paper to take the place of the cheap, and as far as Canada was concerned unpatriotic, publications issued from Chicago. Both these suggestions were warmly applauded.

Rev. Arthur Baldwin then submitted the revised report of the Deputation Committee, Mr. Blake not being present. It was the old report very thoroughly expurgated. All the matter referring to entertainments was left out along with much else of a not encouraging nature. The report was adopted. Hon. G. W. Allan, N. W. Hoyles, Q.C., Colonel Boulter, and W. D. McPherson were left off the committee, and W. H. Hoyle, M.P.P., J. C. Morgan, A. E. O'Meara, and Beverley Smith added.

Synod adjourned at four o'clock to allow the members to attend a garden party given at the see-house by Mrs. Sweatman.

SERGT. M'CREA WRITES.

Tells of the Canadians' March Toward Petoria—Writes His Mother.

The following letter is from Sergt. McCrea to his mother at Omemee:—

Winburg, May 6, 1900.

Dear Mother,—I wrote you on the 2nd from Jacob's Rest. I hope you received it for I told in it as well as I could on paper what took place since we left Bloemfontein. After the battle of Kooed Nek, which began on the last day of April and ended on the first day of May, about noon we moved to Jacob's Rest and rested one day. Some convalescents from Bloemfontein overtook us there, and as many went back sick, Corporal Hodgins amongst them. On May 3rd, we made 13 miles and bivouacked at Isabellafontein. There was a post office, store and poultry farm there. On the 4th we treked north-east at 7 a.m., and the scrap began at 9, and lasted till noon. We had more artillery with us, among them, 2 six-in. B. L. guns, which I guess disconcerted the Boers. I had a good view of them going as fast as their horses could carry them. We moved on again and came to the Little Vet River at dusk. It took us a long time to get all the transports across as the drift was steep on either side and only one could cross at a time. The Boers should have made a stand there. On May 5th we left the Vet in the morning and moved towards Winburg. We crossed another drift and presently could see signs of the recent passage of Boers,—embers of fire and the refuse of recently killed sheep. About noon a man in a cape cart and pair of white horses with a white flag met the head of our column, and asked leave to surrender. Of course leave was granted and we arrived in Winburg at 2 p.m. It is a very fine town with plenty of good houses surrounded with pretty trees, shrubs, and flowers. I had some oranges, ripe off the trees. The public buildings are good and substantial. There is a church nearly completed, which would be a credit to Toronto. I noticed a good many sad female faces. Some cheered the Union Jack, which was not hoisted till we passed through the town. The population is four or five thousand. At 11 a.m. to-day we had a telegram read to us from Bobs congratulating the Winburg column on the work done in 13 days since leaving Bloemfontein, marching over 100 miles, fighting nine engagements and taking two important towns, also telling us that we had the most forward position, and were in a good position for future fine work. Col. Buchan made a touching, short, address telling us that at 3 or 4 this afternoon we leave for Kroonstadt, 5 or 7 days march, with perhaps some fighting by the way, encouraging all who could to hold out and any who could not to give in their names. (I have not heard of any doing so.) He expects we will get a rest when we get to Kroonstadt, and I hope so. I saw Norman Wilson this morning. He is working with our medical staff in the field, and asked me to say he is well and too busy to write. Ninety-six of our recruits arrived at noon. It will be a tough march for them.

CRICKET.

There will be a cricket match to-morrow afternoon between teams chosen from the town and the district. A good game is anticipated.

TENNIS.

The result of the second draw in the tournament of the Park Tennis Club is as follows:—

E. G. Patterson vs. Dr. Wightman, 15.
P. Wilgar vs. W. McPherson, 40 1-2.
R. McWilliams vs. H. C. Cluxton, 15 1-2.
F. W. Jackson vs. W. H. Collier, 40.
H. D. Burnett vs. H. Burnham.
J. R. Jeffrey, bye.

This round must be completed by Thursday, 21st inst. Those failing to make engagements by that time will lose by default.

CANOEING

The Forest and Stream referring to the proposal to form a second Canoe Association, says:—

"The organization of a second Canoe Association in Canada, as told in another column, seems to be peculiarly untimely and ill-advised. Since the formation of the American Canoe Association, in which they took a prominent part, the members of the Northern Division, which includes the whole of Canada, have had an equal share in the management of the Association, many of the leading officers having been chosen from this Division. That the division is not much larger and stronger than it is to-day is due not to any lack of assistance from the Association as a whole, but to the apathy of the average Canadian canoeist, who cares little for anything outside his own club and local interests, and to the unfriendly rivalry and hostile feeling between different localities within the division. With a far larger contingent of practical canoeists to draw from than in the States, and usually with hard-working and enthusiastic officers to push the interests of the Division, it has never received the hearty and general support of the Canadian clubs and canoeists.

At the present time, however, the Northern Division is comparatively in a very prosperous condition, the debt which once held it back has been replaced by a neat balance, its membership has enlarged for several years past and promises to be still further increased this year, and it has sent a good number to the recent meets. In Com. MacKendrick, a representative Canadian canoeist, the Association has one of the most active and energetic officers that it has yet known, and he, with a strong corps of assistants in the Division officers and committees, is working to make the annual Association meet at Muskoka a success. For many years the American members from the States have been told of the beauties of the Muskoka lakes, and this year it is probable that a large number will visit them for the first time.

"With matters in such a condition, it would seem that every patriotic Canadian who had the interests of canoeing at heart would lend his aid in all possible ways to help the Northern Division. It would not be too much to expect that, in view of all that has been said about Muskoka, and the long and expensive journey which men from the States will be compelled to make, the Canadian clubs and crews might go to a little extra trouble themselves in order to be present, and do their share to make the meet a credit to their division. Instead of this, a number of them have selected this particular year in which to start what must be in a way an opposition to the Northern Division. The objects of the new Association are largely the same as those of the A.C.A., the territory covered is that of the Northern Division, and there really seems no good reason for the existence of two such associations. The special circumstances which led to the formation of the new association have already been discussed in the Forest and Stream; the war canoe crews wish to race within convenient reach of the centre of the sport on the St. Lawrence river, and they object to attending the A.C.A. meet at Muskoka on account of the distance, while there is also the question of dues. There is, however, nothing in all of this that might not have been easily adjusted without going to the extreme of a rival organization.

"In one way the new association will have no effect upon the A.C.A. or the Northern Division, as it will take no members from them and it will not diminish the normal attendance at the meets. It is, however, much to be regretted that such enthusiasm and energy as are back of the new enterprise could not have been given where they really belong, to the service of the Northern Division in the advancement of Canadian canoeing."

BASEBALL.

Last evening the Shamrock baseball team of the Murray-st. Separate school, defeated the Maple Leafs, of the South Central, by a score of 19 to 14. The game was an exciting one all through, and some fine playing was done. Mr. Sorsoliel, teacher, acted as umpire, and was very satisfactory. The Shamrocks are a very promising young team and are ready to receive challenges from any junior team. Average age 16.

The Latest War News.

The Review's Special Afternoon Despatches Giving the Latest Developments of the British-Boer Hostilities.

NOT MUCH NEWS FROM SOUTH AFRICA TO-DAY

Botha's Next Stand will be at Paardekop, it is Expected.

BOTHA'S NEXT STAND

London, June 16.—A despatch from Laing's Nek dated to-day says Gen. Christian Botha's next stand will be at Paardekop but with a reduced force. The German ambulance captured by Gen. Buller has been sent to Durban whence it will be allowed to return to the Transvaal via Delagoa Bay.

THERE IS SERIOUS NEWS FROM PEKIN TO-DAY

It is Said that the Foreign Legations are Destroyed and the German Ambassador and Native Converts Killed.

CONVERTS AND EUROPEANS MURDERED

London, June 16.—A despatch to the Central News from Tien Tsin dated last night says the Boxers in Pekin have murdered a number of native converts and servants of European residents.

GERMAN MINISTER KILLED

London, June 16.—A special despatch from Hong Kong says all the Pekin legations have been destroyed and that the German Minister, Baron Van Kettler, has been killed.

KNOCKED HIM OUT.

John L. Sullivan Did It Once Without Striking a Blow.

A Cleveland man who was a great admirer of John L. Sullivan's prowess in the roped arena recently told the following story of the former pugilistic champion: "It happened in the days when Sullivan was the world's champion and the most feared man in the ring. 'Sully' was touring the country with an offer of $250 to any man, bar none, who would stay in the ring with him for four rounds. Many essayed that dangerous feat, and the same number failed. Finally the aggregation reached one of the largest of our western cities, in which the leading paper was owned by a man who was an all around sport and who took an especial interest in matters appertaining to the squared circle.

"The editor had a young protege who aspired to pugilistic honors in the person of a young butcher who had knocked out all the local 'plug uglies' and was reaching out for other fields to conquer. Him the editor determined to pit against the great John L., but upon broaching the subject to his man the latter promptly interposed countless objections, manifestly inspired by fear. The editor, however, knew John well, so he sought him out and, after telling him of his 'pug' and what he wanted, said: 'Now, John, let him stay until the last part of the third or the first part of the fourth round. You can put him out whenever you want to, but if you let him last a bit it won't hurt you, and it will help him a lot.'

"The great man pondered for a moment and then made reply: 'Naw, I won't do it. I've seen dis duck, and he's a big, husky feller, and if by accident he landed a wallop on me jaw, why de next day it'd be Sullivan de stuff, and "yours truly" would be drivin a street car. No, I puts him out as soon as ever I can, and that goes, see?' The editor made another appeal, to which John astutely replied: 'Say, youse say it can't do me no harm. Why don't you set some bright young feller in your line up in an afternoon pape?' The editor, acknowledging the point well taken, retired from the argument.

"That night when the time arrived for the bout Sullivan arose from his corner and threw off his bath wrapper. As the editor expressed it afterward, he seemed to swell out like an accordion, and then, putting on that awful expression that defeated many an opponent before a blow was struck, John L. called out to the trembling young butcher in the other corner: 'Say, youse over dere, some friends of youse came to me ter day and asked me to let you stay till de last of the third or de first of de fort, but I told 'em nix, I was goin to knock you out when I gets de chanst. Since den my think tank's been workin, and I ain't goin ter knock youse out at all. I'm a-goin ter'—and here Mr. Sullivan surveyed his prospective victim with a diabolically bloodthirsty smile—'I'm just a-goin ter stun yer.' With a howl like an entrapped beast the editor's protege fled from the stage and from the realms of pugilism for all time."—New York Tribune.

A Roll of Paper.

They were coming along Newspaper row, and in front of several of the newspaper offices they saw trucks loaded with the big rolls of white paper on which the newspapers are printed. "Next to the races," said one of the party, "I'll bet that those rolls are the subject of more wagers than any other thing in New York. Everybody wants to bet on the length of the paper unwound. Then they guess at it. I've heard guesses all the way from 1,000 feet to 10,000 feet. Ten thousand, I think, is the highest. As a matter of fact, there are four miles of white paper in each one of those rolls that are being unloaded there." He pointed to a truckload of big rolls.

"There's a bit of information," he went on, "that even the people in the newspaper offices don't know. I know that because I went through two or three offices. They could tell me how much each roll weighed to the fraction of a pound. They could tell me just how many 4, 6, 8, 10 and 16 page papers could be produced from a roll and all that, but they couldn't tell me how long each roll of paper was. I went to the man who made the paper before I found out."—New York Sun.

The Missionary's Broncho.

"I knew a missionary party in the west who had a pair of bronchos, one of which could only be started in one way; the other, of course, was in entire sympathy with and regulated his movements by his companion," writes Rev. Cyrus Townsend Brady in the Ladies' Home Journal. "Two disinterested people who were not going with the party would pass the bight of a stout rope around the hind fetlocks of the recalcitrant animal and each take an end and saw away until you could almost smell the burning hair, when, without one word of warning, the beasts would bolt and from that time would go all day cheerfully at the liveliest kind of a trot, provided they were not halted for anything. If they were stopped, the same process would have to be gone over again. Moral suasion was absolutely and entirely lost on these bronchos, yet you could not help liking them. [illegible]

EFFORT TO SHIELD DR. BORDEN

Mr. Monk's Resolution Said "Guilty" Before Inquiry.

This Was Sir Wilfrid Laurier's Plea, and the Government Majority Struck Out This Part of the Motion and a Committee of Seven Was Named to Make the Much Needed Emergency Ration Inquiry.

Ottawa, June 16. — Emergency rations were again the mental diet of the House yesterday. Hon. Dr. Borden, Minister of Militia, was absent from the House by reason of the serious illness of his wife. At 2 p.m. his counsel, R. L. Borden, Q.C., told Mr. Monk that Dr. Borden would not be present, and that the motion asking for a Committee of Inquiry would be postponed. This was agreed to, and the Opposition entered the House on this assumption.

Opposition Surprised.

On the opening of the House, Sir Wilfrid Laurier informed the House that Dr. Borden would not be able to make his statement because of illness in his family. Yet the Government would not delay the matter, while reserving to Dr. Borden the right to make his statement later. Reviewing the charges, Sir Wilfrid reminded the House that he had said that if fraud were charged, a committee would be granted; but Mr. Monk had not charged fraud, but only culpable negligence. Of the 19 sections of Mr. Monk's charges only 18 were statements of fact, while the 19th paragraph was a conclusion drawn from the preceding 18. It was not fair to the House to draw conclusions from facts, for in doing so the House would pronounce Dr. Borden guilty in advance of evidence. He moved that paragraph 19 be struck out, and said that if this was agreed to the rest of the charges would be agreed to, and a committee appointed to investigate the statements contained in the 18 preceding paragraphs.

Mr. Foster said that the Premier wabbled on the question, and he recited the history of the case. Taking up Sir Wilfrid's proposal to eliminate paragraph 19, Mr. Foster said it contained two most important charges. There had been substitution under officials, and the Minister of Militia was the responsible head of these officials and was responsible for the substitution, because he had not taken precautions to see that the food tested at Kingston was the food sent to South Africa. The only food recommended by Dr. Neilson was protose. The food sent to South Africa by Dr. Borden had never been tested. Hence the charge against Dr. Borden was a grave and serious one, and no amount of whitewashing would keep the people from believing that Dr. Borden was guilty of culpable negligence.

Sir Richard Cartwright asked: Was Mr. Foster going to convict Dr. Borden unheard? He (Sir Richard) was willing to give Mr. Monk a chance to prove his statements, but he did not subscribe to the paragraph that said Dr. Borden was guilty. Paragraph 19 asked the House to say Dr. Borden was guilty of culpable negligence, which was unfair until proof had been made.

Mr. Monk declined to accept Sir Wilfrid's amendment, because it aimed to exclude the only person the House could blame. There was no doubt, in his mind, that the Government desired to shield the Minister of Militia from the just retribution of his negligence.

Sir Louis Davies said there was no precedent for paragraph 19, and he declared the Opposition had brought this up at a time when Dr. Borden was standing at the bedside of a very dear friend, and had tried to make out in his absence that Dr. Borden was guilty of a dishonorable and corrupt act.

Government is Afraid.

Mr. Quinn read the preamble, paragraph 19, and the conclusion, and said that the paragraph was but one of the 19 charges made by Mr. Monk, and was not a conclusion.

At this point Mr. McNeill wanted the analysis of the food made on Feb. 8, 1900, laid on the table.

Speaker Bain ruled that it was not germane to the present question.

Mr. McNeill moved that the words "under all the circumstances above set forth" should be struck from paragraph 19, and that "Mr. Monk believes he can also establish by satisfactory evidence" submitted therefor.

Objects to the Construction.

Sir Wilfrid said he was surprised that his motion to strike out paragraph 19 was misunderstood. He argued that paragraph 19 was unnecessary, for if the 18 preceding charges were proven then the [illegible] contained in paragraph 19 [illegible] inevitable. But to draw [illegible] before the facts were [illegible] absurd. If the amendment of Mr. Mo[illegible]

LIFE..

A question of great interest for intending insurers is which Canadian Life Company is in highest favor with the insuring Canadian public? The following table is a good indicator:

Name of Company.	Commenced Business.	Canadian Business Written in 1899
North American	1881	$4,834,505
Sun Life	1871	3,996,865
Ontario Mutual	1870	3,965,509
Confederation	1871	3,839,469
Canada Life	1847	3,800,917

The above are the five leading Canadian Companies and although the North American is much the youngest in years, she is outstripping all her rivals in the Canadian field.

Every Kind of Backache

Yields to Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, Because They Act Directly on the Liver as Well as the Kidneys.

Pains in the small of the back, over the kidneys, are usually due to derangements of the kidneys, and disappear when the kidneys are set right.

But there are other kinds of backache, by far the greater proportion, that can never be reached by treating the kidneys. Pains in the shoulders, through the centre of the back, and in the sides are caused by a torpid action of the liver, and can only be driven out when the liver is made healthy and active.

To reach the liver, as well as the kidneys, to set the filtering organs in working order and to cure every kind of backache, there is but one unfailing remedy, and that is Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. It is the only treatment that has this direct and combined action on both liver and kidneys, and the only one that positively and permanently cures backache, whether caused by liver or kidneys.

SATURDAY, JUNE 16, 1900.

MULTUM IN PARVO.

There was a political demonstration at Rockton in the interests of Mr. E. D. Smith, the Conservative candidate for South Wentworth, the other day, when the speakers were Hon. Dr. Montague, Mr. J. P. Whitney, M. P. P., Mr. H. Carscallen, M. P. P., and the candidate. The record of the Liberals since gaining office was exposed in all its weakness, dishonesty and inconsistency, but the speech of Mr. Smith marked him as a man who will commend himself to the people and who will rescue South Wentworth from the Liberals. He hit the nail squarely on the head and gave the Liberals a blow in a sore spot when he said the crucial test for any Government was "Has the Government carried out its pledges and promises?" What answer can the Government give to such a straight and such a fair question? An honest answer must condem them. Again speaking of election corruption he stated the case concisely, but pointedly. He charged that to a large extent the electorate was responsible for this corruption. If they showed their willingness to condone the crookedness of the Liberal Governments they might expect there would be crookedness in elections. The party which had been false to its promises should be sent from power. Mr. Smith in this concise way puts a strong case before the people for consideration, and not only South Wentworth but the people all over Canada should think twice before endorsing a Government that has disregarded and broken all its pledges and promises, and makes use of the most corrupt agents and criminal methods in the effort to retain office and hold constituencies. South Wentworth will be one of the constituencies that will change to the Conservative ranks, and thus assist in the overthrow of the present Government with its Tartes and deals, its Siftons and scandals, its Mulocks and blunders, its Bordens and culpable negligence, its Cartwrights and hypocrisy, its Bourassas and anti-British speeches, its Lauriers and broken pledges, its Fishers and increased taxation for the farmers, its Fieldings and extravagance, its machine and criminal corruption, its army of relatives and friends provided for at the public expense.

WHERE THE OBJECTION HOLDS.

The objection is not to allowing Mr. Bourassa or Mr. Tarte free speech, as the Globe seems to think, but it is to these men being supported by the Government party in their public offices, one as member of Parliament and the other as a Minister of the Crown. They may be allowed free speech but do not assist them to practice this free and anti-British speech in the Canadian Parliament or in Paris as a Canadian Minister. The Liberal party should be equal to the task of casting Mr. Tarte out of the Cabinet and Mr. Bourassa out of their camp. This done, they could indulge in their free speech but it would not be heralded abroad as the utterances of a Canadian Minister or a Canadian M.P. to misrepresent the sentiment and the feelings of this loyal British colony.

In this connection attention might well be called to a cable message to the Toronto Telegram which states that:—

The St. James' Gazette to-day under "Notes of the Empire" says that after ex-Premier Schreiner, of Cape Colony, the figure of the week in colonial circles has been Hon. J. I. Tarte, the Canadian Minister of Public Works, now sojourning at Paris in connection with the Dominion's contribution to the great Exposition, and adds:—"It is really difficult to know what to make of this gentleman, we are sure Sir Wilfrid Laurier would be well advised if he were to call his errant colleague to Ottawa, where his speeches would give less offence and give rise to fewer misconceptions than they do in Paris."

Yes, call him home and the sooner the better. Make room in the Cabinet by his retirement for some Liberal who is not so fond of talking so as to "give offence and give rise to misconception." Dare Laurier call his "master" home? Dare he ask him to retire? Liberals generally do not approve of Mr. Tarte, but is he stronger than the Government, and will he continue to talk in Paris while his duties in Parliament are neglected and serious charges are left unanswered? Was ever a Canadian Minister so referred to by an English newspaper before? Call him home!

Schriener and Tarte are the men that the English newspapers are discussing in the same articles.

Will Sir Wilfrid take the advice of the St. James Gazette, a leading English newspaper, and call Mr. Tarte home? He is misrepresenting Canada, and is giving offence and causes "misconception." This is the mild way the English journalist puts it.

Was a Canadian Premier ever advised to call one of his Ministers home before this case? No, there has only been one Tarte elevated to Cabinet rank in Canada, but he seems to be able to say and do as he pleases. The people will reckon with him and the Government later on, however.

Hamilton is moving to organize a Highland regiment for that city. It must be that skirt dance fever that Sam Blake spoke of in Toronto the other day that has caused this desire to take form in Hamilton. But, come to think of it, Toronto has a kiltie corps, and Hamilton Scots have just as good a right to show their braw limbs as have the Toronto men, and there are some guid Scots in Hamilton, too.

Direct and specific charges, made by a reputable member of the House of Commons, say that fraud of the worst and most serious kind was practiced in the supplying of the emergency rations to the Canadian soldiers. Canadians will at once say without any hesitation that there is only one course open, and that is to have the charges probed to the bottom. But, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, delays! Why? To give time for a defence? Because he does not know whether he will allow an enquiry or not? Surely not. No, simply because he is fearful of placing his party in a bad position politically. But whether true or false the charges must now be investigation and a delay can serve nothing but party ends.

The Toronto Star, the junior Grit journal in Toronto, evidently objects to the Review coupling Mr. Tarte and Mr. Bourassa as friends, but the public will agree with the Review that these two notables have been closely associated in all their unenviable notoriety. Messrs. Tarte and Laurier chose Bourassa to be secretary of the International Commission. Mr. Tarte led off with the anti-contingent speeches that Bourassa adopted in the House in making his protest; Mr. Tarte was "on the inside" when Bourassa resigned and Mr. Tarte proudly introduced the young man when he came back to the House after being elected as an anti-contingent Liberal. No two men ever understood each other better than Mr. Tarte and Mr. Bourassa, and, as the Review said before, the Government if "it is truly Canadian and has any real strength will sit most effectively on Mr. Bourassa and his friend, Hon. Mr. Tarte." Canadians have no place in public life for such men. The Star in order to recommend its objection to the Review's paragraph has it, for some reason or other, on the bottom of an article in which it argues that there is just as much justification for yoking Sir Charles with Mr. Bourassa as there is for yoking Mr. Bourassa with Sir Wilfrid. But the heading explains the whole article. It is headed "Playing the Game," and, while misleading at first, a glance shows it is the same old game the Star is attempting—misrepresentation of Sir Charles.

Neill was accepted paragraph 19 would be in nowise changed. It would still be a conclusion.

Mr. Wallace introduced a charge against Hon. William Paterson, following upon the reading of paragraph 17 of the charges, as follows:

17—The substance brought in from the United States, as above stated, in Saratoga trunks, was detained by the customs officers for duty thereon, but, under direction of the Government, it was allowed to pass without payment of customs duty."

After Mr. McMullen had spoken, a vote was taken on Mr. McNeill's amendment. The vote was 30 yeas, 46 nays.

A vote on Sir Wilfrid Laurier's motion to strike out paragraph 19 was then taken. The vote was 47 yeas and 30 nays.

A Committee of Seven.

Sir Wilfrid said that the committee would consist of seven. He named Dr. Russell, Dr. Britton, Hon. John Costigan and Mr. Belcourt.

Mr. Foster named Messrs. Monk, Casgrain and Clarke. The charges of Mr. Monk will be referred to this select committee.

It was so decided unanimously.

A Majority of 13.

On motion to go into Supply, Mr. Foster asked the Minister of Customs what he was going to do about the matter of H. A. Lemieux, Assistant Inspector of Customs at Quebec, who in 1896 had assisted in the election of his son, R. Lemieux, M. P. for Gaspe, and in so doing had assumed a false name.

Mr. Paterson said the act was the act of a father towards a son, and was committed so long ago that the Government did not intend to investigate it.

After the Premier and Mr. Davin had spoken,

Mr. Gillies moved that the action of the Government in regard to Mr. Lemieux tended to demoralize the public service and to injure the proper conduct of public affairs.

Mr. Foster denounced the position of Hon. William Paterson and Sir Wilfrid Laurier, and declared that the Prime Minister had, by his words, humiliated Canada.

A vote was taken at 12.30. The motion was voted down by 34 to 21.

Tarte Denies the Reports.

Mr. Foster asked Sir Wilfrid what he had to say about The St. James' Gazette's demand for the recall of Tarte for his indiscreet utterances.

Sir Wilfrid declared he was in correspondence with Mr. Tarte, and Mr. Tarte denied the reports of his alleged indiscreet speeches.

VEILED WAR.

This Is the Situation in China—The Foreign Legations Are Virtually Prisoners at Pekin.

London, June 16.—This is the situation in China as it appears to the Shanghai correspondent of The Daily Express, cabling last evening:

"It is really a state of veiled war. The members of the Foreign Legations in Pekin are virtually prisoners, and the Chinese troops are only restrained from attacking them by fear of the legation guards. Meanwhile the Ministers are altogether unable to communicate with the officers commanding the relief column, which is making an enforced and isolated halt between Tien Tsin and Pekin. The walls of the capital are guarded by 100,000 Imperial troops. The gates are heavily defended with modern guns. General Tung, acting under orders from the Empress Dowager, says that no more foreign troops shall enter the sacred city.

"On Monday the Ministers sent a demand to the Tsung Li Yamen, that the gates be opened, declaring that otherwise the foreign troops would enter forcibly. To this no reply was given. A second message went unanswered, or had not been answered when the latest news left Pekin. Sir Claude Macdonald's latest message says that the legations are capable of sustaining an effective defence, unless attacked in force."

Russia Sides With China.

Russia, this correspondent asserts, notwithstanding assurances to the contrary, sides with China.

"The streets of Pekin," continues the correspondent of The Daily Express, "are reported to be seething with anti-foreign mobs, clamoring for the destruction of the legations and the death of the Foreign Ministers. Even were the Tsung Li Yamen disposed to restrain the violence of the reactionaries, it is considered highly improbable that they will be able to hold them in check. For the Foreign Ministers the crisis will arise when the relief column comes in sight of Pekin. It is still felt here that the foreign force is wholly inadequate to battle with the hords of Chinese troops massed outside the gates, which now include the Imperial troops from Shan Hai Kwan."

From Tien Tsin it is reported that the foreign forces in the harbor will attack the Taku forts, and if necessary bombard them.

The International column appears to be still at Lang Fang, engaged in slowly repairing the railway.

Russia Wants to Be Independent.

London, June 16. — The St. Petersburg correspondent of The Times, telegraphing Thursday, says: "In competent political circles there is no wish or trace of intention to act in China other than with the great powers. At the same time, there is no desire to establish a European concert. Russia, like the United States, reserves to herself independence of action."

An Ominous Suggestion.

London, June 16.—(6.20 a.m.) — The British Government is considering whether a substantial force should not be sent to China from South Africa. It is thought unofficially that Lord Roberts could spare a brigade or two, and the necessary transports are now in South African waters. The commander of the expedition, it is said, would probably be Gen. Sir William Nicholson.

Claimants to Airlie Castle.

New York, June 16.—News of the death of the fighting Earl of Airlie in South Africa brought to view here humble people who are claimants for the Scottish Ogilvie castles. The Earl was a member of the Ogilvie family. The claimants here also are of the Ogilvie family, and have insisted that they are the direct descendents of an Earl of Airlie who lived in the last century, and therefore have the most valid title to the landed property. The American claimants go back in history to King Malcolm, their ancestor, whose father was slain in Cawdor Castle by MacBeth.

An Important Capture Made.

Manila, June 16. — Gen. Macabulos, with eight officers, 124 enlisted men, and 124 rifles, surrendered to Col. E. H. Liscum of the Ninth Infantry at Tarlac yesterday morning. Macabulos is the most important and last insurgent leader in Tarlac and Pangasenau.

A Message in a Bottle.

Frankfort, Mich., June 16.—Capt. Thomas Rudeck of the fishing tug Anspac's, of this place, found on the beach of South Manitou Island yesterday a bottle containing the following message: "Lake Michigan, June 10, 1900, bound for Milwaukee, S.W., blowing fresh; loaded with coal and leaking like all possessed. Afraid she will founder. Schooner Montreal, Capt. McGrath."

Sympathy may help a wounded heart but it won't heal a wounded limb.

That fact is so obvious that you wonder why any one can offer "sympathy" as the chief feature of treatment for the delicate diseases of women. Yet women are invited to "write to a woman who can sympathize with woman," and the theme of their correspondence is to be the delicate, difficult and dangerous diseases which undermine a woman's health and strength. It is true that such offers are combined with an offer of "medical advice." But medical advice can only be given by a competent physician, and no mention is made in such offers of a physician's or doctor's advice. It is not offered because it cannot be given. The offer is not being made by a qualified physician.

The offer of free consultation by letter, made to ailing women by Doctor R. V. Pierce, has behind it a physician's ability. Dr. Pierce is consulting physician of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y. Associated with Dr. Pierce is a staff of nearly a score of physicians, each man a specialist. In a practice of over thirty years Dr. Pierce and his staff have treated successfully more than half a million women, who have been cured of debilitating drains, inflammations, ulcerations and female troubles. The age, experience and skill of Dr. Pierce give him a supreme advantage in his chosen field of diseases of women.

You can write to Dr. Pierce without fear and without fee. Every letter is read privately and answered confidentially, the answer being sent in a plain envelope, without any printing upon it.

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, free on receipt of stamps to cover customs and mailing only. Send 31 one-cent stamps for the edition in paper cover, or 50 stamps for cloth bound. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

DYING OF THIRST

Is Just as Sensible as Suffering from Dyspepsia

When Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets can be Procured—Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets Cure Dyspepsia as Positively as Water Banishes Thirst.

Why should you suffer thirst, if you have, within your reach, plenty of pure, cold spring water?

There is absolutely no reason why you should do so!

Is there any more reason why you should endure the torments of Dyspepsia, year after year, when you can put your hand on a box of Dodd's Dyspepsia tablets?

There cannot possibly be any more reason, for Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets will cure Dyspepsia just as unfailingly and thoroughly as pure, cold, spring water will quench your thirst.

There is no uncertainty about the action of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets on the digestive system. They will cure Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Constipation, Sour Stomach, Flatulence, or Wind on the Stomach, Catarrh of the Stomach, Impure Blood, Pimples, Boils, Biliousness, Liver Complaint, Jaundice, Foul Breath, Furred Tongue, and every other Stomach ailment, except cancer.

These are not all different diseases. They are all results of one disease—Dyspepsia. Cure this one, and you get rid of all the others.

One or two of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets taken after each meal will thoroughly digest the food, and thus prevent it from collecting in the stomach, fermenting and giving rise to Dyspepsia and its train of evil results.

A couple of the small, brown Tablets, that go with Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets, will, if taken when required, insure regular and perfect action of the bowels and fully supplement the work of the larger tablets.

Mania for Operations

Among the Doctors. No Dread of the Knife to Cure Piles. A Surer, Cheaper Safer Way, Dr. Chase's Ointment.

Dread of the surgeon's knife causes multitudes of people to suffer on year after year with piles, when they could be cured without risk, expense, or danger of an operation by using Dr. Chase's Ointment, the only preparation guaranteed to cure any case of itching, bleeding, or protruding piles.

Rev. J. A. Baldwin, Baptist minister, Arkona, Ont., writes:—"For over twenty years I was a great sufferer from itching and protruding piles. I used many remedies and underwent three very painful surgical operations, all without obtaining any permanent benefit. When about to give up in despair I was told to use Dr. Chase's Ointment, and [illegible], finding relief at once. I used three boxes, and am almost entirely cured. The itching is all gone. I have advised others to use it, believing it would cure them as it has me."

Dr. Chase's Ointment is the only positive and absolute cure for every form of piles. 60 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates and Co., Toronto.

THE CONDITIONS IN INDIA.

Lord George Hamilton Answered Several Questions in British Commons.

London, June 16.—Replying to a series of questions in the House of Commons yesterday, the Secretary of State for India, Lord George Hamilton, said the conditions reported by Mr. Louis Klopsch and some other reports of a similar character, only applied to a limited number of districts, where cholera and smallpox had attacked the famine camps, thus forming a combination which for the moment baffles palliation. Expenditure of money, he added, could not mend the state of affairs due to cholera, causing the people to abandon the camps and disperse in all directions. The famine had already lasted seven months, and it was impossible at present to form even an approximate estimate of the total number of deaths directly or indirectly due to the scourges. Where famine was aggravated by cholera the mortality was very heavy.

In other large districts where the famine was equally severe, but was not associated with other scourges, the efforts of the Government had been so successful that the death rate was hardly above the normal. The total of reported plague deaths from 1896, when the epidemic began, to last April, was 358,685, or about one per annum to every 8,000 inhabitants. At the present moment the mortality in Bombay was lower than at any period during the last three years, and there seemed no reason to apprehend that an Imperial grant would be necessary.

Rain in India at Last.

Calcutta, June 16.—Rain fell continuously in the Darjeeling district for three days, ceasing at 4 o'clock yesterday morning. Several slight landslips occurred, and a number of water pipes were broken. As the railway revetments are unfinished, trains have ceased running.

On the 12th of July 15,000 Orangemen will flock to Ottawa.

YEARS OF AGONY

RESULTING FROM SCIATICA IN AN AGGRAVATED FORM

Many Nights the Sufferer Could Not Lie in Bed, and His Leg was Frequently Swollen to Twice Its Natural Size.

From the Journal, St. Catharines.

Mr. John T. Benson, stationary engineer at the Ridley College, St. Catharines, is known by most of the residents of the city. For years Mr. Benson suffered acute agony from sciatica, and notwithstanding numerous forms of treatment, found little or no relief, until he began the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These pills speedily restored his health, as they have done that of thousands of others who have given them a fair trial. To the reporter who interviewed him, Mr. Benson said:—"I certainly owe a debt of gratitude to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, for they have released me from a form of torture that had afflicted me almost continuously for twenty years. The pain began first in my back, then shifted to my hip, and thence down my leg. It became so severe that it seemed as though the very marrow in my bones was being scalded, and at times I could scarcely repress crying aloud from the agony I endured. I tried all sorts of liniments and lotions, but got no relief. I doctored with several physicians, even going to Buffalo for treatment by a specialist there, but in no case did I ever receive more than temporary relief. It may be easily imagined that the pain I endured told upon me in other ways and I became almost a physical wreck. At times my right leg would swell to nearly twice its normal size. Then the pain and swelling would shift to my left leg, and the agony was something awful. I suppose that during the period I was afflicted I have hundreds of times laid on my back on the floor with my foot and leg elevated on a chair in order to obtain slight ease from the pain I endured. The muscles and sinews in my legs looked as though they had twisted and tied in knots. The trouble went on in this way until finally nothing but opiates would deaden the pain. A few years ago I read of a cure in a similar case through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and decided to try them. For some time after I began their use, I could not see that they were helping me, but I decided that I would give them a fair trial. By the time I had used a half dozen boxes, there was a decided improvement in my case, and I continued the use of the pills until I had taken twelve boxes, when I felt my cure was complete. Several years have since passed and a have had no return of the trouble, so that I feel safe in saying that the cure has been permanent.

I may also add that my wife has used the pills for indigestion, headaches and dizziness, and has found great benefit from them. Words cannot express the great benefit Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have been to me, and I hope similar sufferers will profit by my experience."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure by going to the root of the disease. They renew and build up the blood, and strengthen the nerves, thus driving disease from the system. If your dealer does not keep them, they will be sent postpaid at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50, by addressing the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

To Give Decision on Monday.

Toronto, June 16.—After listening to the evidence of two bank clerks, the argument of counsel for the Crown and defence, Deputy-Magistrate Kingsford yesterday afternoon reserved his decision in the case of George McClive Wilson, the ex-paying teller of the Merchants' Bank, charged with stealing the $10,000 package which disappeared from the bank premises on April 18 last. The prisoner will appear again on Monday, and then His Worship will make known his decision in this case. On two charges of stealing $1,000 each of which Wilson has already pleaded guilty an adjournment was made till the same day for sentence.

Hands Cracked With Salt Rheum.

Mr. James McManus, 25 Elgin-st., Ottawa, Ont., writes:—"I suffered with salt rheum for upwards of ten years, the skin on my hands cracking and breaking so as to make them useless. After trying all sorts of remedies in vain, I became discouraged and thought my sufferings would never end. Last spring I used Dr. Chase's Ointment, and in a short time was perfectly cured." Dr. Chase's Ointment is of unparalleled merit as a cure for all itching skin diseases. All druggists.

THE PARK MUSIC

The Need of a New Band Stand Was Strikingly Illustrated at the Concert Last Night.

The excellent music furnished by the 57th Regimental band in Victoria park last evening was enjoyed by thousands, but the fine music and big crowds only served to emphasize the necessity that exists for a new band stand. The Council has taken the preliminary step to provide a new stand, and no time should be lost in getting the stand erected. The present one is too small, and while crowding the men does not allow the music to be hear to best advantage. When the new one is built it will be wise to have it erected on up-to-date lines, so that it will do for all time to come and allow the good work of the band to be heard to full advantage. The extra expense of a proper stand over an indifferent one will not be much, and when it will be appreciated by such an immense throng of citizens as turn out weekly to hear these band concerts, it will be well spent money that will reach about as many if not more taxpayers than any other dollar spent by the municipality.

A proper stand, such as the city bands have, is none too good for such an organization as the 57th band has now become. The music is of the first order, and will be heard to twice the advantage if discoursed from a stand with a sounding board and the facilities for directing and bringing out the tone.

As to where the stand should be erected that can be settled, but if it goes to Central park there will be still stronger reasons why the stand should be one that will allow the music to be sent out to the crowd. A suggestion is made that if the stand is moved to Central park that a portion of this park should be seated and fenced off, and a small charge of five cents made for seats. In any event seats would have to be provided. In Victoria park the grassy slopes on the hillside furnish seats for hundreds. But these conditions will not exist in Central park. But wherever the stand is let it be a proper one.

FOR DOMINION DAY

Picnic of St. Joseph's Hospital Again the Big Attraction.

As in other years the big attraction for Dominion Day will be the picnic in aid of St. Joseph's hospital, held on the splendid grounds of the Murray-st. school. This year it will surpass all previous events in variety and excellence of attractions. The various committees in charge have been working energetically for some weeks and have made the most thorough and elaborate preparations, ensuring a day that will be found most enjoyable by all. The successful features of other years will be repeated and many new ones of much interest will be added. A record-breaking attendance is looked for, and it is sure to be a gathering at which each one's comfort and pleasure will be well catered to. The hospital picnic is the big event in the picnic line each year, and 1900 will see it greater than ever.

THE IMPERILLED SABBATH

The Public Meeting re Sabbath Observance on Tuesday Next.

The attention of the citizens having been called to the existence of various forms of Sabbath desecration in or near the town. It is necessary that some steps should be taken to protect the day of rest from such encroachments, which if permitted will lead to the wholesale violation of the law without hope of restoration. It is therefore earnestly hoped that every citizen will show a keen interest in this matter, as it will certainly affect social and domestic interests very seriously, by bringing as many as possible to the public meeting to be held in the Y.M.C.A. on Tuesday night next at 8 o'clock, when the Rev. J. G. Shearer, B. A., will give an address on "Our Imperilled Sabbath and how to save it."

A very important conference of all specially interested will be held in the in the afternoon at four o'clock.

Third Building Anniversary of the Y.M.C.A., Thursday evening. Gliddon's Orchestra and Refreshments. Admission 10 cents.

Down the River.

The steamer Eclipse carried a couple of jolly parties down the river yesterday. In the afternoon Mr. and Mrs. R. McWhinnie had some sixty of their friends as guests on a sail down the river. On the return trip tea was served at Crawford's grove and a real good time was enjoyed. In the evening the Misses Goodfellow had about the same number of young people as their guests on the Eclipse and a delightful sail was enjoyed. The friends who were on these pleasant outings appreciated the hospitality that prompted them.

CHILDREN'S AID CASES

A Girl Ill-Treated at Kinmount—A Case in Court.

Mr. Cochrane, agent of the Children's Aid Society, was in Lindsay yesterday for the purpose of meeting a girl who was brought down from Kinmount to be placed in the care of the Society. She is now at the Shelter. The girl has been subjected to hard and brutal treatment. She is fourteen years of age. The officers of the Society would be grateful for clothing for her.

At the police court this morning the Magistrate heard evidence in a case concerning the Children's Aid Society, a mother of six children being accused of not caring properly for her children. There was considerable evidence against her, but the Society thought it best not to break up the home, and, acting on the instructions of the officers of the Society, Mr. Dennistoun, its solicitor, asked that she be given another chance. The Magistrate agreed.

THE LATE W. J. HAMPTON.

The above cut of Pte. W. J. Hampton, whose death of enteric fever in the hospital at Naauwpoort, South Africa, was reported in the Review yesterday, is from a photo taken just before he left this country for the war. The deceased young man enlisted here on January 2nd with Ptes. Wasson and Fleming, who also came from Norwood. He was in his twenty-first year, and was the eldest son of Mr. Wallace Hampton, formerly an employee of Finlay & Sons, of Norwood, but now residing at Parkbeg, Man. At Norwood Pte. Hampton was employed as clerk with Dr. Moffat, druggist, and was well known throughout the district and popular in the village. He took an interest in church work and was secretary of the Methodist Sunday school at Norwood. He was was of a quiet disposition, but stout and healthy and made a fine looking soldier when in uniform.

The news of his death was received with deep sadness at Norwood, where he was highly esteemed. The Register issued an extra announcing his death, so that the sad news was soon known.

He is the first of the Peterborough county boys who have given up life in the Empire's cause in South Africa, and although he will never come back his memory will be cherished by the friends who remember him as an estimable young man who readily responded to his country's call and acquitted himself bravely while doing his country's work on the far-distant veldt until stricken down by disease. His death is indeed sad, and his relatives will have the deep sympathy of the entire community.

EIGHTY DOLLARS DAMAGES

Verdict for Plaintiff for $80 in Case of Rundle vs Waller.

The sessions of the County Court were concluded with the hearing of the suit of Rundle vs. Waller. This was an action brought by Mrs. E. G. Rundle against Mrs. H. Waller for $200 for alleged wrongful seizure of goods. The goods of Mr. Rundle were seized under power of a certain mortgage and it appeared from the evidence that goods which were the property of Mrs. Rundle were taken and sold at the same time. It was claimed by the defence that Mrs. Rundle had agreed to this but this she denied. Judgment was given for the plaintiff for $80. D. O'Connell for plaintiff; E. B. Stone for defendant.

THE CAUSES THAT LED TO THE WAR

DISCUSSED CONCISELY IN A PRIZE ESSAY BY A CLEVER YOUNG LADY

Miss Bella Lillico Presents in Concise Form a Brief History Giving the Causes That Led to the Present Boer War.

The following, which gives a concise history of the South African Republics and of the causes leading up to the present war, is an essay which was written by a clever young lady, Miss, Bella Lillico, youngest daughter of Mr. Donald Lillico, of Chesley, and a neice of Mr. Richard Lillico, of North Monaghan, and Mrs. Wm. Fowler and Mrs. Jos. Forster, of town, and which was awarded the prize offered for the best essay on the subject:—

"Now tell us all about the war, and what they fought each other for," was the request of Peterkin and Wilhelmine long ago. To-day we are deeply interested in the struggle now oging on and are asking what are the causes which have led to the present sad war. That they may be fully understood, it is necessary, first, to look into the history of South Africa.

In 1652 the Cape of Good Hope, the extreme southern point of Cape Colony, was settled by Dutchmen despatched from Holland by the Netherlands East India Company, not, at first, with the intention of founding a colony in the true sense, but as an outpost of the East Indian possessions. These colonists and the Dutch Government did not get on well together, and by degrees the farmers "trekked" away inland from the neighborhood of the Cape, in order to be their own masters, and became the sturdy, isolated "Boers" of recent history. In 1795 the Boers endeavored to establish an independent state. Holland then sought and obtained the assistance of England (who had been on friendly terms with her ever since the days of William of Orange) to put down this rebellion. Having succeeded in this, and finding the Dutch were unable to keep the colony in peace, the English governed until 1802, when the whole territory was made over to Holland at the Peace of Amiens. In 1806 the colonists renewed the war and their country was again conquered by the British, in whose possession it has since remained. When the English became the owners of Cape Colony they emancipated the slaves and did not pay the Boer slaveholders as much as they thought themselves entitled to, so in 1833 these Boers decided to leave the English in possession of the land around the Cape. They sold their farms, and after enduring many hardships settled in Natal. Here they established a republic and lived in peace until 1842, when they had trouble with Britain. Another band of Boers had established themselves across the Orange River. During the forties these people quarrelled among themselves and asked England to settle affairs. England gave the desired assistance and afterwards annexed the district which she called the Orange River Sovereignty. Many of these Boers would not submit to British rule, and made another "trek" across the Vaal River. Here they again set up a republican form of government, naming their country the Transvaal.

In 1877 the Zulus threatened to wipe out the Boers in the Transvaal, because of their brutal treatment of the natives. The Boers then obtained help from Britain. The British Government then proclaimed the Transvaal a British colony, and the majority of the Boers hailed with delight the protection of Great Britain. This was in 1876. In 1880, after the trouble with the Zulus was over, they decided to cast aside their protectors and rose in rebellion against Britain. They invaded Natal and defeated the English at Majuba Hill. In 1881 Britain gave the Boers "complete self-government, subject to the suzerainty of Her Majesty." The Transvaal government agreed with Britain (1) that no treaty into which it might enter with foreign states should be valid until it received the approval of the British Government; (2) that there should be a limit to the Transvaal's rights to deal with the native tribes; (3) that the Boers should not encroach on the boundaries of their neighbors. The Boers were treated as a civilized nation, but they were too savage to appreciate the generosity of the British Government. They thought the British were afraid of them, and lost all their respect for the English people.

In 1867 gold had been discovered in the Transvaal, but had attracted very little attention.

In 1883, on behalf of the South African Republic, President Kruger (who had been made President in this year,) published in the London press a

Floyd N. Thomas, a machinist, died early Friday morning at the Emergency Hospital from injuries received on Thursday afternoon, while at work in the Northey Manufacturing Company's manufactory at Toronto. Deceased was only 18 years of age.

Rev. Francis Coleman, one of the oldest ministers of the Methodist Church in Canada, died in Hamilton on Friday. Mr. Coleman was in his 87th year, and for a great many years had been a resident of that city, as a superannuated minister. He had been in the ministry 60 years.

THREE BOTTLES ...CURED HIM...

One of the best known residents of Kingston, Ont., is Charles H. Clarke, who for nine years in succession held the civic street-watering contract. While following his daily vocation he contracted rheumatism in his legs and feet, through getting them wet so often. For three weeks he was so bad he could barely walk around, and could not put on his boots. He had almost lost the use of his legs, and was unable to obtain any relief from the terrible pains until he gave Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure a trial. It worked like magic; and before he had taken the contents of three bottles he was as well as he ever was at any period of his life. He took the contents of only three bottles, and is completely cured, with no sign of a return of the old complaint. He says Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure is a marvellous medicine for the cure of rheumatism.

Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure is put up in 50 cent bottles, containing ten days' treatment. For sale by all druggists and dealers in medicine. The Dr. Hall Medicine Co., Kingston, Ont.

MR. J. DUNSMUIR'S CABINET

Two Members of His Administration Already Sworn In.

The Situation in British Columbia From Being Full of Political Humor, Has Grown to Be "Startlingly Attractive" —McInnes' Selection of Premier, Which Seems to Have Been Made on His Own Motion, Saved His Position.

Victoria, B.C., June 16.—The new Premier has been sworn in, together with two members of his Cabinet. Hon. James Dunsmuir takes the portfolio of President of the Council as well as Premier. Hon. D. M. Eberts is Attorney-General, and Hon. B. H. Turner, Minister of Finance. The other members of the Cabinet are not likely to be chosen until Monday.

By the selection of Mr. Dunsmuir, it is generally believed that Lieutenant-Governor McInnes acted to conciliate those who demanded his dismissal, and politicians think that now there will be no longer any outcry for his removal. This move has, it is believed, saved his position.

As Seen in Vancouver.

Vancouver, B.C., June 16.—Premier Dunsmuir offered Mayor Garden a portfolio yesterday afternoon, which he declined till after the Opposition convention here on Monday next. The convention will be held, despite the startlingly attractive position of affairs.

Mr. Martin now announces that he did not recommend Mr. Dunsmuir for Premier. He was Lieutenant-Governor McInnes' own choice. Ex-Premier Semlin, who passed through Victoria yesterday, en route to Ashcroft, said the Lieutenant-Governor's selection of Mr. Dunsmuir had caused much surprise in Victoria. It is generally understood, and Mr. Semlin believed himself, that no followers of Mr. Martin will be taken into the Cabinet.

Cabinet Forecast.

The following is a forecast of the Dunsmuir Cabinet:

Attorney-General—D. M. Eberts.

Chief Commissioner Land Works — Joseph Hunter, Cariboo.

Mr. Semlin thought Provincial Secretaryship would be offered either to Mayor Garden or R. C. Tatlow, Vancouver.

Mr. Semlin also mentioned that B. F. Green, Kaslo, would probably be offered the portfolio of Minister of Mines.

It was generally understood in Victoria last evening that the selection of Mr. Dunsmuir was as much a surprise to Martin and Curtis as to any one else.

Martin Had Popular Vote.

It is said that Governor McInnes has relied a great deal in his action since the election upon the fact that his choice, Mr. Martin, was supported by the popular vote of the province. If any one takes the trouble to figure it out, he will find that more votes were cast for the Martin party than for any other party in the province in the election on June 9.

The Martinites regard the appointment of Dunsmuir as Premier as a tactical victory for Martin, who, they claim, practically dictated to the Opposition who shall be their leader. They hold that the Vancouver convention dare not go back on the Lieutenant-Governor's choice, as it would lead to all sorts of turmoil and dissensions. In some quarters it is believed that Mr. Dunsmuir will abide by the result of the convention, resigning in favor of the convention's [illegible]. Mayor Garden is regarded as a probable Minister, while overtures have also been made to Smith-Curtis or to J. C. Brown to join the Government.

Mr. Martin has received a telegram, saying that the canneries in Cassiar have gone strong for Stables, the Martinite candidate, rendering his election probable.

cordial invitation and welcome, and the promise of equal rights and protection to all who would go to the Transvaal (the South African Republic) and invest their capital, or contribute in any way to the development of the country. An influx of foreign population resulted and this was largely increased by the finding of new gold fields, the Witwatersrandt, discovered by the Uitlanders, or foreigners.

These capitalists bought up the mining land and made the country wealthy. Then the Government took the taxes off the farming lands and put heavy taxes on the mines, so that these foreigners were paying nine-tenths of all the taxes raised in the country. After the discovery of the Witwatersrandt the Boer Government began to change the franchise and other laws affecting the Uitlanders, until a residence of fourteen years was required for the foreigner to obtain the right to vote. The applicant must present a written petition from a majority of the Boers in his district and must have it approved by the Executive Council. Furthermore, during the time of his probation, he was liable to military service, just as if he were already a full-fledged citizen of the Republic. In 1894 the Boer Government went so far as to commander, that is, forcibly conscript British subjects to fight against the native tribes. Not until after the war was over did the English Government force the Boer Government to disclaim any intention of such procedure in the future.

Maladministration and corruption were now rampant in all governmental departments of the Transvaal. Numerous petitions were presented by the Uitlanders for the removal of grievances, but President Kruger replied:—"You may protest as much as you please but I have the guns." This was unfortunately the fact. The Uitlanders were not allowed to import arms.

At last, in 1895, Dr. Jameson, an officer of a large trading company, namely, The British South African Company, led a force of four hundred and sixty men into the Transvaal with the hope of redressing the grievances of the Uitlanders. He was met by a force of Boers numbering four times his own and after a brief but sharp struggle he was defeated and captured. Jameson and a number of his associates were turned over to the British Government for trial, the result being that they were sentenced to a short term of imprisonment. It is believed, by not a few, that Jameson was led to such a course more to advance the interests of the British South African Company than to redress the grievances of the Uitlanders. Jameson, they say, was but the tool of Cecil Rhodes, who, they say, was making an attempt to annex the Transvaal. At best it was but a mistake, a little mistake, in the wise policy of a great statesman. This unfortunate incident appears to have determined the Boer authorities to go to war at the first opportunity.

We find in the agreement of 1881 a provision was made for securing certain rights to the natives. The South African Republic bound itself to fulfill certain assurances which were given the natives with regard to liberty to purchase land, and the right to move freely about the country, under a pass system. How have these assurances been fulfilled? Well, under the Transvaal laws no black man does, or can, own a foot of land. If any native tribes are allowed to occupy any portion it is only on sufferance, and they are liable at any time to be driven out. As to moving freely about the country under a pass system, the system exists, but alas for the poor natives who come under its administration.

Can the fellow countrymen of Clarkson, Wilberforce, and Livingstone befriend the only government which denies equal rights to the human race? Have the Uitlanders been given equal privileges and protection promised them by the Transvaal Government? No. Is it just when we find the residents of Johannesburg paying nine-tenths of the total taxes of the state and have not even a voice in the government of their own city? Of sixty-five thousand pounds paid last year for the support of schools, fifty thousand pounds was contributed by Uitlanders, and yet no English was taught, and after paying this enormous sum, the Uitlanders, who represent three-fifths of the population, are not allowed to acquire the right of voting, except under difficult conditions. The dynamite and other necessaries for carrying on mining are sold to them at exorbitant prices. For example, in Cape Colony dynamite sells at sixteen dollars a case; in the Transvaal it costs twenty-five dollars to the mine owner. The charge on the railway for carrying these supplies to the mines is excessive. Nine-tenths of the Transvaal's business is transacted in English, and yet the official tongue is Dutch. Freedom of the press is not allowed, the President having power to suppress any journal whose utterances are contrary to what he deems right. The right of public meeting is denied; an assembly of seven persons can be dispersed by the police. The Alien Expulsion Act empowers the President to expel from the country any Uitlanders, without right of appeal to a Court of Justice.

The Transvaal Government has spent large sums taken from the Uitlanders pockets, in fomenting hatred against Great Britain on the Continent. Boer agents tried to involve her in a war with Germany, but failed owing to the wisdom of the Emperor. They started out to breed that horrid thing, race hatred, in South Africa. The Transvaal Civil Service is the most extravagant and corrupt in the world. The President, the Parliament and the very Courts of Justice are bribed. Large sums of money have been spent on the forts at Johannesburg, the guns of which are not pointed outward to defend the forts, but towards the city to intimidate the defenceless Englishmen. During the last twenty years, the Boer Government has violated every principle of civil and religious liberty. The darkest feature of all is that the law against selling liquor to the natives is systematically violated in the interests of the relatives and friends of those in authority. At last, in April, 1899, twenty-one thousand British subjects in the Transvaal sent a petition to Queen Victoria, as suzerain of the Transvaal, to reform the abuses under which they were suffering. In reply to this petition from the Uitlanders, Mr. Chamberlain despatched a note to Sir Alfred Milner, the British High Commissioner in South Africa, telling him to call President Kruger's attention to the terms of the London convention. A conference was arranged at Bloemfontein, the capital of the Orange Free State, between Sir Alfred Milner and President Kruger. As a result of this conference, President Kruger promised representation for the gold fields in the Volksraad, and offered the rights of citizenship after seven years and to redress other wrongs if England would submit them to arbitration. This Britain could not do, and the result of the conference was unsatisfactory.

In July the Volksraad passed the new law admitting foreigners to citizenship after seven years.

In August fresh troubles arose. The Uitlanders wanted to know just what would be their standing under the new franchise law, and desired that a commission should be appointed to look into the matter. This the Boers would not allow, but as a substitute they offered a five years' franchise law, providing Great Britain give up her claim of suzerainty and concede to arbitration.

Britain replied that she would accept the five years' franchise. Recourse to arbitration was refused, and a convention at Cape Town was proposed. In September Mr. Chamberlain wrote demanding that the British members who were admitted to citizenship and elected to the Volksraad, should be allowed to speak their own language. In reply the Transvaal withdrew all franchise offers, and agreed to a convention.

During the last days of September Britain sent word that the Boers' note would make it necessary for her to take a new view of the situation.

On October 10th the Boer Government issued an ultimatum. This document (in which all pretence of submission to a convention was finally dropped), demanded that all British troops near the frontier should be instantly withdrawn; that all recently arrived reinforcements should be removed from South Africa, and the troops that were then on the sea should not be landed. Failure to present within forty-eight hours a satisfactory answer to these, and other demands, would be regarded as a declaration of war on the part of Her Majesty's Government. The result, of course, was war.

We must remember that the British did not make war upon the Transvaal to reform these abuses. The Boers wantonly made war on the British colonies in order to protect and extend the despotism which they refused to reform. The extensive preparations for war, that could only be against England, which had begun long before the Jameson raid; the obstinacy with which Kruger refused reasonable reforms, the uniting of the Orange Free State with the Transvaal, all irresistibly point to the conclusion that the Boers intended to make war for the overthrow of British supremacy in South Africa.

If ever there was a war that was inevitable, that was necessary, it is this war which the cruel Boer oligarchy has forced upon Great Britain. Our cause is a just and a righteous one. Britain is and has been for a thousand years the friend of liberty, and stands to-day as no other nation stands, for the freedom of the world's trade, the protection of the rights of man, regardless of clime, color or creed.

It is not to conquer the resolute and fierce Boers; it is not merely for the hills and mountains of South Africa, but it is that there shall be in South Africa, as everywhere else under the British flag, free institutions, righteous laws, liberty and protection to the rights of individuals, and that wherever an Englishman lives, there shall be protection and safety.

We expect that Britain will triumph in the end, and in time to come Boer regiments will be proud to fight under the British flag, and the story of the misgovernment of the Transvaal, and the war that Britain waged to justify the principal that "taxation and representation are inseparable," will seem like an evil dream.

I take the liberty of quoting a stanza from John Imrie's poem, entitled "Britain and the Transvaal":

Slavery's shackles we shall sever,
Ere we leave the dark Transvaal.
Freedom is our watchword ever,
Equal rights for one and all!
Then shall cease the reign of terror,
Peace and progress hold full sway.
Uitlander and Boer together
Welcome in that glorious day.

EXPECTS FRESH FIGHTING.

Boers Have Withdrawn to New Positions East of Pretoria.

Gen. Buller Will Move Into the Orange River Colony and Co-Operate With Rundle and Methuen in Cornering Steyn and His Forces—Story of the Last Fight With Botha—Lord Roberts' Official Bulletins.

London, June 16.—(4 a. m.)—Lord Roberts' despatches leave affairs east of Pretoria with the Boers withdrawn to new positions Tuesday. News of fresh fighting is expected at the War Office, but none came last night. Gen. Rundle's patrol had a skirmish with Boer videttes again Wednesday. Some wonder is expressed here as to what he is doing with three divisions. It is assumed by some that Gen. Buller will move into Orange River Colony and co-operate with Lord Methuen and Gen. Rundle in bagging President Steyn and his seven or eight thousand followers.

Part of Christian Botha's force has halted at Paardekop, 18 miles northwest of Volksrust, and fire occasionally upon the British pickets.

Will Keep on Retiring.

A despatch from Lorenzo Marquez, dated yesterday, says: "Persons have arrived here who have seen the preparations of the Boers and learned that they will retire when forced through the Lydenburg district into the Zoutpansberg region, adjoining Rhodesia and Gazaland.

The Daily Mail has a despatch from Bloemfontein, dated Wednesday, saying: "Gen. Dewet's attack on the railway was made after he had succeeded in luring Lord Methuen from where he had destroyed the line and then he cleverly seized it north of Kroonstad, blew up the bridge and destroyed a long section of the line with dynamite."

Slaughter Must Have Been Heavy.

The Cape Town correspondent of The Daily Telegraph, in a despatch dated yesterday, says: "I understand that Gen. Dewet, in addition to the Derbyshire Battalion, captured two companies of the City Volunteers, and two companies of Yeomanry, two men only escaping to tell the tale."

SEIZED DIAMOND HILL.

Even "Bobs" Was Compelled to Say the Attack by Gen. Ian Hamilton's Force Was Grand.

London, June 16. — The War Office has received the following despatch from Lord Roberts:

"Pretoria, June 15. — As I telegraphed yesterday from one of our outposts, 15 miles east of Pretoria, the Boers evacuated their position during the night of June 12. They had paid so much attention to strengthening their flanks that their centre was weakly held, and as soon as this became evident on June 12, I directed Ian Hamilton to attack. He moved against Diamond Hill, with the Sussexs, Derbyshires and City Imperial Volunteers, supported on the left by the Guards Brigade, under Inigo Jones.

"It Was Grand," Says Bobs.

"It was grand, seeing the way our men advanced over the difficult ground and under a heavy fire. The casualties, I am thankful to say, were less than 100, a very small number considering the natural strength of the position which had to be carried. Our seizure of Diamond Hill caused the Boers to feel they were practically surrounded, and this resulted in their hasty retirement. They were being followed yesterday by some of our mounted corps.

Gen. Hamilton Hurt.

"Hamilton spoke in high terms of the troops engaged, Hamilton received a contusion from a shrapnel bullet in the shoulder, but is not, I am happy to say, unable to perform his duty."

The rest of Lord Roberts' despatch deals with the casualties and Gen. Baden-Powell's movements in Western Transvaal, where he, with 800 men, is systematically re-establishing order and collecting arms and supplies. About 600 Boers have surrendered and Baden-Powell captured 230 prisoners.

According to Baden-Powell's report, the Boers will readily discuss terms of surrender, and they all appreciate the work of pacification performed by his troops.

KLERKSDORP SURRENDERED.

When Cronje Found That Pretoria Was in British Hands He Gave Up.

London, June 16. — The War Office has issued the following despatch from Lord Roberts:

"Pretoria, Residency, June 14.—(10.40 p.m.)—Klerksdorp surrendered on June 9 to an armed party sent on by Hunter. Kitchener reports that the Boers attacked a reconstruction train early this morning a few miles north of the Rhenoster River. He sent out mounted troops and drove off the enemy before they could do damage. One man was killed and 11 wounded, including two officers. A messenger from Klerksdorp reports that Cronje, who commanded there, determined to surrender as soon as he knew for certain that Pretoria was in our possession. His example has been copied by many in the neighborhood. The court house is now said to be full of arms."

Horses for British Army.

New Orleans, June 16.—The British steamer Corunna sailed for Cape Town, South Africa, yesterday, with 875 horses for the British army.

Two Dead, Two Missing.

Ottawa, June 16.—The Governor-General has received the following cables from Sir Alfred Milner, dated at Cape Town, 12th and 13th:

"Regret to report that 3,676 Private E. Mullins, 1st Battalion Mounted Rifles, died of enteric at Kroonstad June 11, and Privates (78) J. F. Doolan and (245) F. Perry, 2nd Battalion Mounted Rifles, missing, Kroonstad, June 5.

"Regret to report that (169) Private W. J. Hampton died of enteric Naauwpoort, June 13. (Signed) Milner."

Pte. Owen Was Shot.

Ottawa, June 16.—According to a militia order issued Friday night, 378, Clarence C. Owen, 6th Dragoons, accidentally shot himself near Karee on April 30. A former despatch said it was Clarence Cowen.

Jamaican Troops Will Go.

Kingston, Jamaica, June 16.—The British War Office has just cabled the Jamaican Government, announcing that it is prepared to accept a composite volunteer contingent from Jamaica, Trinidad and Demara for service in Ashantee. Jamaica will supply 200 men and five additional officers.

The West Indian Regiment has been ordered to Ashantee forthwith.

TELEGRAPHIC BRIEFS.

There has been an outbreak of conservative revolution against President Alfaro.

James Ward, grocer, was struck and killed by a Grand Trunk express in London, Ont., Friday morning.

Throughout the British West Indies there have been unparalleled demonstrations of joy at the British successes in South Africa.

Little Joseph Roy, aged 5, ran in front of a trolley car at Ottawa on Friday and was instantly killed, his body being terribly mangled.

The report of the signal defeat of the Colombian revolutionists in the State of Sant Andre is confirmed. The rebel general, Uribe, escaped alone and is now a fugitive.

H. LeBrun & Co. Buying Bargains

It looks as if people who expected two dollars' worth for every dollar they spend on clothing, are not going to be disappointed. There is likely to be a sudden deep dip in prices in a few days at H. LeBrun & Co's. that ought to make the City Clothing Store a bargain centre for the rest of the summer. To-day Mr. H. LeBrun has been negotiating with two of Messrs. H. Shorey & Co's representatives, of Montreal, for a big slice of their high class summer clothing, which they are sacrificing to close the season. There's great goodness in Shorey's make, and the news that H. LeBrun & Co. have made a special purchase at special prices will be good news for good goods well bought. Watch for particulars.

AN UNEXPECTED BONANZA

AT GOUGH BROTHERS

Startling Story of the Most Daring Deal in Fine Clothing Ever Consummated by This Wide-awake Firm.

Never before has the boldness of our buying or the magnitude of our selling impressed business circles with such electrifying effects. Always on the alert, our mercantile moves are marked and momentous events to clothing dealers. Our great capacity and capability for handling gigantic stocks gives us a great command in the markets. But the climax never was so nearly reached as now.

Purchase of Overwhelming 4,500 FINE SUITS All High Grade Garments

being the whole of the manufactured stock on hand of the McKENNA-THOMPSON CO'Y of Montreal, who have earned a first-class Canadian reputation for Up-to-Date Clothing.

This is the most fortunate scoope which has ever come our way during our business history—an unexpected streak of good luck to us, and another boon to the men of Peterborough in need of Fine Summer Clothing. MOST ASTONISHING OF ALL, IS THE FACT THAT—

PRICES ARE ACTUALLY LESS THAN THE COST OF MAKING

This is no guess work—It is positively certain—the following startling figures being a fair and square sample.

You won't have to pay for little more than cloth and linings. Prices go to pieces, but quality remains firm. Values that cannot be duplicated or even approached. The greatest Summer Suit Sale on record is now on. We mean business. Money never bought such values before! Every Suit positively worth double the Price, in many cases less than the cost of the bare cloth.

ANGLICAN SYNOD IN SESSION

SYNOD FUNDS TO BE PLACED WITH TRUST COMPANY FOR INVESTMENT

Interesting Discussion Arising out of Committee Report—The Superannuation Fund and the Laymen's Duty.

The proposal to place funds of the Synod of Toronto amounting to about $300,000 in the hands of a trust company for investment was the principal question considered by that body Thursday. The whole afternoon was devoted to the discussion of it, and the proposal was finally adopted, with the proviso that the capital of the fund, as well as the interest, should be guaranteed by the trust company. A vote by orders was taken, which stood:—Clerical, yea 41, nay 21; lay, yea 41, nay 7, that is 75 for and 28 against the proposal.

The report of the Superannuation Fund Committee was presented by Rev. Septimus Jones. The available income of the fund last year was $1,361, as compared with $1,395.63 in the year previous. Owing to the lack of funds the quarterly payments to the present annuitants had to be reduced 10 per cent this year. The committee urged that immediate steps should be taken to remedy the present conditions of affairs. From year to year many parishes fail to make any response to the appeal for the fund and most of the others fall short of the allotment. Mr. Jones urged a special canvass of the diocese by a suitable man to increase the capital of the fund. He suggested Rev. F. M. Fothergill. Rev. Dr. Langtry supported the proposal, and said the Church had never yet realized what the fund meant. Ministers grew old and unfit for service and the people complained, but they could not withdraw if they had nothing to live on. Old clergymen had to remain in their charges or starve. He thought the capital of the fund should be raised to [illegible]. Lieut.-Col. O'Brien agreed with Dr. Langtry, but thought the clergy was largely to blame for not bringing the needs of this and other funds properly before their congregations.

LAITY AND THE FUND.

The discussion drifted into reasons for and how laymen should do more for the funds of the Church. Mr. S. C. Wood urged that these funds, especially the Superannuation Fund, were matters rather for the attention of the laymen than the ministers. Mr. N. F. Davidson was applauded for a suggestion that lay delegates to Synod should make a report to their congregations upon their return home. The Archdeacon of York defended the clergy, whom he thought for the most part do their duty. Rev. Mr. Dreyer contended that the Superannuation and Widows' and Orphans' Funds were in the rural districts the most unpopular of all the interests of the Church. Farmers contended that the clergy had no more right to such provision for them than had the farmers themselves. Mr. W. H. Hoyle, M.P.P., confirmed this view of the case. He said the laity would do their duty if the clergy themselves would contribute upon an actuarial basis so that the fund might be conducted on right business lines.

Rev. J. Pitt Lewis said Mr. Hoyle was entirely wrong. The clergy did not enjoy the foundation of independence as did the farmer and were not paid as were men of business, besides having, before entering upon their work, to spend a small fortune and several years on their education. He blamed the laity for illiberality. During his twenty-three years at Grace church he had had many curates, and they were nearly all now in the United States. He thought if the laity were not more liberal they would in years to come have no clergy at all or very inferior clergy.

The report was adopted.

RECTORY FUND COMPLAINT.

Considerable feeling was generated at the morning session by a discussion of the Rectory Funds Committee's report, or rather, by a motion for information which Mr. Beverley Jones made, and supported by a harrowing tale of injustice suffered, it was alleged, by a tenant of the committee, named O'Neill. Mr. Frank Hodgins replied for the committee, and made it pretty clear that the committee had done its best in the case cited, admitted the need of some reforms, but stated that to effect them legislation was necessary, which, so far, the committee had been unable to secure. Some of the rectors who benefit by the fund felt personally aggrieved at the tenor of Mr. Jones' address, but his Lordship did not think personal explanations advisable or necessary. The report was adopted, and Mr. Jones' motion also was adopted without opposition; in fact, Mr. Hodgins said the committee were anxious that the whole matter should receive all the investigation possible.

Upon the synod assembling, Bishop Sweatman announced the result of the election of elective members of the Executive Committee as follows:—Revs. Dr. Langtry, Mr. Gillespie, Canon Welch, Arthur Baldwin, Canon Farncomb, Newcastle; and Messrs. J. A. Worrell, Q.C., C. R. W. Biggar, Q.C., Frank Hodgins, J. C. Morgan, and C. H. Campbell.

Bishop Sweatman named as his appointees the following:—Archdeacon Boddy, Archdeacon Allen, Canon Sweeny, Rev. Septimus Jones, Rev. Provost Macklem, Hon. G. W. Allan, Wm. Ince, A. R. Boswell, Q.C., J. S. Cartwright, G. B. Kirkpatrick.

A memorial from the Church of England Temperance Society of Orillia was presented.

Mr. Boswell submitted an amendment embodying his proposal that the capital of the fund should be guaranteed, and upon the vote being taken the amendment was supported as above.

The Latest War News.

The Review's Special Afternoon Despatches Giving the Latest Developments of the British-Boer Hostilitites.

NO NEWS FROM AFRICA BUT CHINA GIVES SOME

The Taku Forts Opened Fire on the War Ships But Were Soon Silenced and Seized.

CHINESE FORT BOMBARDED AND TAKEN

London, June 18.—The Taku forts are reported to have been occupied by the international troops. According to a Che Foo special, 17 forts opened fire upon the war ships whereupon the fleet replied in kind and silenced the Chinese guns, and the international forces subsequently landed and seized the forts. The news of the engagement is stated to have been brought to Che Foo by a Japanese war ship but the date of the occurrence is not given. According to a despatch the Chinese bombardment followed an ultimatum sent by the commanders of the fleet.

DURATION OF PARLIAMENT.

Looks as If the Liberals Will Take Another Session Yet.

Present Session May End July 15—Government Knows That Public Opinion Is Sore Concerning the Emergency Ration Scandal—Can't Take Chances Now, So It May Be September, 1901, Before Next Election.

Ottawa, June 17.—(Special.)— The majority of the commission to investigate Mr. Monk's charges, accusing Dr. Borden of culpable negligence in buying fake rations, will not meet this week. This is due to the fact that Hon. John Costigan goes this week on a vacation. Besides, Dr. Borden is still at the bedside of his wife, who is seriously ill with acute indigestion, and he is an important witness. The Liberal side of the commission is passing under review. Dr. Russell, the diminutive member from Halifax, is even now named as a probable successor to Speaker Bain, tho he would half fill the chair. Dr. Britton, Kingston's legal light, is said to have his eye on a judgship, while Mr. Belcourt of Ottawa has many past favors to be obliged for. What will be the judgment of the commission? That is an easy one.

When Will Session End?

Will the session end July 1? It is said the leaders of the parties have agreed to this, but it can not be verified. The 15th of July looks like a better guess. True, the main estimates have been pretty well cut into, but then the estimates for next year and supplementary estimates and railway subsidies have yet to be dealt with, and they will not be disposed of at a glance. The railway subsidies are suspected of having many deals wrapped up in them, and the Opposition is keen to reveal them. Besides Sir Hibbert Tupper has a pack of Yukon charges still undealt, and all these things take time.

Will Be Another Session.

Will there be another session? There undoubtedly will be. The paucity of business transacted this year, the lamentable inertia of the Government in regard to the contingents and the criminal negligence in buying bogus rations—these and many other irregularities and acts of mismanagement have left a mess on the hands of the Government. The fact is public opinion is sore on the Government. They want time to pull things right, and Micawber Laurier prays that something may turn up to save him. If the Government were to appeal to the country now they would be nuts for the Opposition. Hence it is more than probable that the intention formed a month ago to appeal in October has been cast to the winds, and the look is farther ahead.

Praying for a Lifeboat.

The life of this Parliament, by the flux of time, goes out July 13, 1901. Laurier prays for a lifeboat to arrive before that. It is known that the Minister of Public Works urged Sir Wilfrid last fall to dissolve Parliament and go to the country on the result of the negotiations in Washington. That was statesmanship, for the preservation of Canada's interests is a topic that takes. But Sir Wilfrid was weak. Again, if he had been sincere and rapid with the contingents, the loyalty cry would have enabled him to dissolve and return to power. But, like a man not sure of himself and his followers, he let these two golden hours go by. Now, the iniquities of the administration have been so revealed that his only hope is in cloaking them over by the flow of time.

These facts lead to the conclusion that the next election is not sooner than September, 1901.

Why Major Pettet Is Mad.

What makes Major Pettet, M.P., of Picton, mad? is a question that is being asked around the corridors. Here's the solution. The major is a Patron. He used to be a Liberal, and among those who know, he is looked upon as a Liberal still, and has a just claim to the title, for he always votes with the Government. The other day he addressed and franked 1000 envelopes to his constituents in Prince Edward County, all Liberals. The envelopes were sent down to the messengers' rooms to be stuffed with Fielding's budget speech. But, whether accidentally or maliciously, it is not known, the envelopes were stuffed with Foster's "crushing reply to Mr. Fielding," and Sir Charles Tupper's loyal utterances. Away the stuffed envelopes went to the major's constituents, and bye and bye the major received numerous enquiries from his electors, "Have you turned Conservative, major?"

That's why the major is mad.

To Catch Lambton.

Plans are being drawn for a new $60,000 postoffice in Sarnia. The estimates for this work have not been passed, but the Government has decided upon its erection. Mr. Fraser, M.P., Lambton, is persona grata here.

OTTAWA'S FIRE RELIEF.

The Fund Will Likely Exceed the $900,000 Mark.

Ottawa, June 18.—The fire relief fund is steadily growing and is likely to exceed the $900,000 mark. The Bank of Ottawa acknowledges receipts at $717,184. To this must be added large grants yet to be received, including a balance of $90,000 from the City of Ottawa, $20,000 from Toronto, $15,000 from Montreal and $21,000 from the Ontario Government and the Quebec Government grant, which is expected to be $25,000.

The Preferential Tariff.

Ottawa, June 18.—It is the object of the Laurier Government to have the second reduction in favor of Britain in the preferential tariff to go into effect on July 1. It was a question whether a new bill was needed. Sir Louis Davies said last night that the House will go into committee of Ways and Means to-day and pass the tariff resolutions. Then a bill based on the resolutions will at once be put through Parliament.

Bomb Outrage in Barbadoes.

Kingston, Jamaica, June 18. — A bomb, supposed to have been loaded with guncotton, was thrown during the night of June 10 in the principal street of Bridgetown, Barbadoes. The buildings in the immediate neighborhood were damaged and a number of people were seriously injured. One man's eyes were blown out. A panic ensued. The perpetrator of the outrage was not discovered.

Recruit Cut His Throat.

Quebec, June 18. — Last evening a soldier belonging to the R.C.A., and newly recruited, a young man 21 years old, named Wheatley of Charlottetown, P.E.I., cut his throat with a razor at the Citadel. His death is expected every moment.

INDICATE END OF BOER WAR

Some Events That Cannot Be Read in Any Other Fashion.

Natal Volunteers, After Hard Service, Have Now Been Dismissed and Sent Home—Complete Division of Regulars to Be Withdrawn From General Buller and Embarked at Durban for China—Kruger Getting Supplies.

London, June 18.—(4.20 a.m.) — There are some indications that Lord Roberts considers the end of the struggle in South Africa not far distant. One of these is the fact that the Natal volunteers, who had seen hard service, were dismissed to their homes by Gen. Buller Saturday. They were cheered as they left.

Troops to Be Sent to China.

Other indications is the report current in authoritatively informed military circles in London that a complete division of regulars is to be withdrawn from Gen. Buller's army and embarked at Durban for China. The troops drawn from India will probably go next.

Unofficial intelligence from Machadodorp, via Lorenzo Marques, is to the effect that the British troops are near Middleburg.

Kruger's Story of the Fight.

The Boer narrative of the fighting east of Pretoria, posted on a bulletin board outside of Kruger's car at Machadodorp, ran thus:

"The commandoes east of Pretoria, in the direction of Broockhorst Spruit, were compelled to retire after a fierce stand of more than two days, in a way that won the admiration of the acting commandant-general. The short range rifle fire was very hot, and for part of the second day, especially late in the afternoon, the enemy fought at a distance of 100 yards. Our loss cannot be given out. The acting commandant-general only mentions Field Cornet Jan Van Buren, killed. He was one of the pluckiest men in the field.

Starving the British Troops.

"Information is again to hand regarding the miserable conduct of the enemies' troops that have penetrated to Johannesburg and Pretoria. They continually complain of the lack of food. Several British soldiers have died in the streets of Pretoria of exhaustion and starvation. Along the roads are the corpses of horses and mules, while the living animals are so weak they are hardly able to carry their loads."

Another bulletin at Machadodorp, according to a despatch dated June 15, says:

"Fifteen officers and 500 British soldiers prisoners have arrived at Standerton, Free State, bound for Nooit Gedacht. Thirty burghers were killed and wounded during the last day's fighting near Pretoria."

Steyn Denies British Authority.

Mr. Steyn, in consequence of Lord Roberts' annexation of the Free State by proclamation, has issued a counter proclamation, declaring that the Free State still exists, is independent, and does not acknowledge the authority of Great Britain.

The British prisoners at Nooit Gedacht have been having exciting games of football to keep themselves warm. They are, according to a despatch from Lorenzo Marquez, without shelter or medical comforts, and are confined between two mountains, where the sun does not shine until 8.30 a. m.

Rushing Goods to Kruger.

Delagoa Bay merchants are rushing goods towards Machadodorp, the Boer expectation being that the use of the railway will soon be lost, and that the preparations for a final standing the Lydenburg district must be promptly completed.

Gen. Rundle's column at Senekal and Ficksburg is now almost invulnerable. The Boers attacked Ficksburg this morning, but were driven off.

President Steyn of the Orange Free State is still trying to encourage the burghers.

Gen. DeWet is trekking north of Bloemfontein.

An American Killed.

On an attack on the railway pioneers near Zand River to-day, the Boers were driven off, but Major Seymour, commanding the pioneers, was killed. He was an American, and was formerly employed in the Rand.

The Cape Cabinet.

The indications are, according to reports from Cape Town, that the Ministerial crisis will soon be ended by the formation of a Cabinet by Sir Gordon Sprigg. According to a Cape Town special, the Cabinet, besides Mr. Rose Innes, who will accept the portfolio, will probably include former Attorney-General Solomon, who was a member of the late Cabinet, and Sir P. H. Faure, who was Colonial Secretary during Rhodes' second Administration.

LIFE..

A question of great interest for intending insurers is which Canadian Life Company is in highest favor with the insuring Canadian public? The following table is a good indicator :

Name of Company.	Commenced Business.	Canadian Business Written in 1899
North American	1881	$4,834,505
Sun Life	1871	3,996,865
Ontario Mutual	1870	3,965,509
Confederation	1871	3,839,469
Canada Life	1847	3,800,917

The above are the five leading Canadian Companies and although the North American is much the youngest in years, she is outstripping all her rivals in the Canadian field.

Nervous and Debilitated.

Almost a Victim of Nervous Prostration—Was Restored to Health and Strength by Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Mrs. D. W. Cromberry, 188 Richmond street west, Toronto, Ont., states:—"My daughter, who sews in a white goods manufactory, got completely run down by the steady confinement and close attention required at her work. Her nerves were so exhausted, and she was so weak and debilitated, that she had to give up work entirely, and was almost a victim of nervous prostration.

"Hearing of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, she began to use it, and was benefitted from the very first. It proved an excellent remedy in restoring her to health and strength. After having used four boxes she is now at work again, healthy and happy, and attributes her recovery to the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food."

As a blood builder and nerve restorative, Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is of inestimable value. It makes the blood rich, the nerves strong, and the whole system healthy and vigorous. 50c a box at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

BAD TACTICS.

The tactics of the Government at Ottawa in attempting to delay or burke enquiries when charges are made is bad policy for the people can only reach one conclusion, and that is that the Ministers are anxious to conceal something that they fear would damage their cause. Charges against Mr. Sifton's Yukon administration would not be enquired into because they were not specific, and, as one of the members pointed out, the charges against Dr. Borden in connection with the emergency frauds could not be investigated because they were too specific. Thus it goes.

The Toronto Telegram, an independent journal, thus refers to the Government's policy in dealing with these charges:—

"The Laurier Government is in serious danger of being pettifogged to death by the smartness of the leading lawyers in its ranks.

"It is a pity that Hon. Charles Fitzpatrick, who is really a man of strong judgment and good-sized ideas, should have been led to give an exhibition of Division Court tactics in the first debate as to the quality of "emergency food."

"An ounce of candour is sometimes worth a ton of smartness. The Laurier Government seems to regard every charge as an excuse for illuminating the festive scene with an exhibition of Sir Louis Davies' capacity for the introduction of side issues.

"No consideration is given to the highest interests of the party, or of the country. Sir Wilfrid Laurier is allowing his Government to be run into a false position by about the worst set of strategists who ever sat on the treasury benches.

"The West Huron and Brockville cases show that Sir Wilfrid Laurier has the genius to save the situation at the eleventh hour; but he allowed Hon. Charles Fitzpatrick to act last week like the representative of a Government which was more anxious to hide its sins in technicalities than to reveal its righteousness by an enquiry."

THIS IS A LIBERAL VIEW.

The Hamilton Herald, an independent Liberal newspaper gives the Liberals some good advice that should be heeded by the partisan press that is ready to excuse and defend Mr. Tarte on all occasions:—

"Loyalty of English-speaking Liberals to Sir Wilfrid Laurier as the head of the party is sincere and given ungrudgingly; but the stomachs of English-speaking Liberals are likely soon to revolt against the too-frequent doses of Tartrism which they are compelled to swallow, and even their loyalty to Sir Wilfrid may not prevent many of them from demanding the dismissal of Mr. Tarte as the price of their support.

"There is no denying that the indiscretion (to use the mildest possible term) of Mr. Tarte has greatly strained the patience of his judicious political friends, especially the Ontario Liberals. He is a heavy weight for the Liberal party to carry. Any man, however able, whose public utterances are forever requiring explanation and apology, must be a source of weakness to his party. Mr. Tarte's indiscreet speeches have given the Liberal party more trouble than have all the speeches of all the other members of the Laurier government together. In his recent utterances in France—in newspaper interviews, but more particularly in his speech at Rouen—he has exceeded even his former indiscretions. For a member of the Queen's Privy Council, and a responsible minister of the crown in a British colony, to tell the people of France that the French tricolor is the cherished flag of three million Canadians—that they still look to France with fond affection and hope that France will not forget them—that he hopes for the time, and expects it soon to come—when the French people will dominate Canada—is little short of a scandal. As Canadian Commissioner at the Paris Exposition Mr. Tarte represents the whole Dominion, the English-speaking majority as well as the French-speaking minority. But ever since his arrival in Paris he has been talking as if he represented Quebec alone.

"Even such a staunch Liberal journal as the Kingston Whig cannot stomach the latest dose of Tarteism. 'That he is a discreet politician,' says the Whig, 'few will admit. He has been going to extremes in his adoration of la belle France. The French flag was lowered, as a national emblem, when French Canada passed under British rule, and there is no hope of it being restored to its old position. Mr. Tarte knows this so very well that it is surprising he [illegible] ignore it. French sympathy and friendship may be desirable, but if these cannot be had without false promises and [illegible] they had better be abandoned.'

"Liberal journals in Ontario would do well to follow the example of the Whig and say what they think about Mr. Tarte. Better have it out now than allow the dissatisfaction and resentment to rankle and grow in the party. The premier should be given to understand that the patience of Ontario Liberals with Tarteism is exhausted, and that the force of the adage "Love me, love my dog" is no longer felt in the case of the premier and his protege."

A LIBERAL ON LIBERALS.

Mr. A. B. Bethune, a leading member of the Winnipeg Liberal Association, in a letter to the Winnipeg Tribune, says:—

"The Globe's strategy deserves no Liberal support now. Liberals who deserve the name are sick of these homilies on political virtue in the abstract from the journal which has defended and eulogized every concrete enormity perpetrated by its own party leaders, and which has actually held us as examples of brilliant and patriotic statesmanship, transactions which reek in incompetency or corruption or both, and whose real nature the Globe well knows. The Globe would be less of a danger to the community and less of an insult to the intelligence of true Liberals if it would confine its efforts solely to its real business of party organ, and would discontinue those hypocritical and tomfool effusions, in which it deprecates so regretfully the low political morality of the party leaders. The Globe truthfully declares that the situation in Canada presents a striking illustration of this state of things, referring, of course, to the conditions produced by the prevalence of machine politics. There is much smug and hypocritical impudence in such a declaration from such a source, for to my mind no single agency has so much contributed, both by what it has done and by what it has failed to do, to the present state of things, in so far as Liberalism in Canada is concerned, as has the Toronto Globe. I am prepared, if necessary, to furnish the evidence on which I base these conclusions."

Will Sir Wilfrid call Tarte home, and then "call him down."

Is Mr. Tarte in Paris representing Canada or just Quebec? That is a question he should consider.

The Government agrees to an enquiry into the emergency rations frauds, but it will shield Dr. Borden. But the Government cannot shield him or itself from the electorate if the charges are proven.

The vitality of the body is soon exhausted. Sleeplessness is one of the symptoms of starved nerves. It is a warning of the approach of nervous prostration or paralysis. Don't be tempted to use narcotics or opiates. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food will gradually build up and reconstruct the wasted nerve cells and positively cure all nervous diseases. It is nature's greatest restorative, recommended by your druggist.

Most physicians are anxious to try the surgeon's knife and recommend an operation for piles. A less cruel, less expensive and less risky method is the use of Dr. Chase's Ointment, a preparation that has never yet been known to fail to cure piles no matter of what form or of however long standing. Don't think of risking an operation when you can be cured in your own home by the use of Dr. Chase's Ointment. The best physicians use it in their practice.

Mr. S. Mann, Stittsville, Carleton Co., Ont., writes:—"I was afflicted with rheumatism, had severe pains in the knees, hip joints and across the back. Rheumatism remedies did not help me and I began using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, which have since completely cured me. There is not the least trace of rheumatism left and I am no longer subject to biliousness, headache and stomach sickness which formerly attacked me frequently." One pill a dose, 25 cents a box.

Between comfort and discomfort is often very slight. Have you rheumatism or neuralgia? Or are you a sufferer from obscure nervous pains? Why suffer longer? You can purchase for 10 cents a bottle of that king of pain—Polson's Nerviline—or you can get a large bottle for 25 cents. It cures promptly. It is sure, pleasant to take, and never fails to cure all kinds of pain. Don't wait an hour, but send to any drug store and get a trial bottle. Nerviline, the sure pain cure.

Pain-Killer is the best, safest and surest remedy for cramps, colic and diarrhoea. As an ointment for wounds and sprains it is unequalled. Avoid substitutes, there's but one Pain-Killer, Perry Davis'. 25c. and 50c.

That Was Different.

"Never mind," said the comforter to the dejected lover. "Don't let one refusal deter you. Ask her again. A woman's no often means yes."

"A woman's no may sometimes mean yes," replied the rejected one, "but I am convinced that a woman's 'nit' means no."—Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.

BOERS ARE BARBARIANS.

How They Ruined the Property of the Loyalists in Natal—Rustenburg Occupied.

London, June 18. — The War Office has received the following message from Lord Roberts:

"Pretoria, June 16. — Rustenburg was occupied yesterday by Baden-Powell. A column starts from this place to-morrow to meet Baden-Powell and repair the telegraph between Pretoria and Rustenberg. Hunter is moving from Potchefstroom. His advance brigade expects to reach Johannesburg June 19. Buller, I hope, is at Standerton, Heidelberg will be occupied from this place shortly and then the Orange River Colony will be completely cut off from the Transvaal. Baden-Powell reports that the district through which he passed is settling down satisfactorily. Over 1,000 stands of arms were surrendered and Hans Eloff and Piet Kruger, son of the President, were to make submission to him yesterday, having been previously disarmed on their farms. Botha's army has retired and is believed to be at Middleburg. His rear guard was surprised and entirely routed by Ian Hamilton's mounted infantry."

Boers Are Barbarians.

The War Office has received the following despatch from Gen. Buller:

"Laing's Nek, June 15.—Now that Natal is clear of the enemy, I wish to call attention to the disgraceful way in which private property was treated in the part of the Colony they occupied. Their wilful and needless damage is visible everywhere and houses, when not completely wrecked, have been desecrated with filthy ingenuity. That this has been done with the consent of the leaders is proved by the fact that while in Charlestown every house was wrecked, in Volksrust, two miles off, but in the Transvaal every house was intact."

Thanks to Schreiner.

Paarle, Cape Colony, June 16.—At to-day's meeting of the Afrikander Bond Congress, a letter was read from the late Premier, Mr. W. P. Schreiner, announcing his resignation and describing the causes of the differences between himself and his colleagues in the Cabinet, which left no other course open to him. The Congress adopted a resolution expressing thanks to the Premier for his services to the country, but endorsing the opposition of the Bond members supported by Mr. Schreiner.

THE GALLANT CANADIANS.

Have Been Doing Great Work and Their Immunity From Casualties Is Generally Remarked.

London, June 18.—(Montreal Star Cable.)—Mr. H. S. White, the special war correspondent of The Star with the Canadian Mounted Rifles, writes as follows, under date of Kroonstad, May 19:

"During our halt here we have heard on every hand expressions of admiration at the efficient manner in which the Canadian Mounted Rifles have performed the onerous and very dangerous work assigned them. The marvelous way in which they have gone through the heaviest rifle and shell fire without suffering any casualties is also a subject of much comment.

"During the week a detachment of one hundred of our men from the four squadrons, under command of Captain Chalmers, together with a squadron of the Imperial Mounted Infantry, the whole under the command of Colonel Alderson, rode out over 60 miles without once unsaddling, captured 24 Boers, including a commandant, some field cornets and other officers, and returned to camp without casualties.

"To-day the men and horses, much benefited by their long rest here, are now in a condition to stand any amount of further work and hardships.

"Orders have just been received for the two battalions, with the rest of General Hutton's Brigade, and a strong force of cavalry, to march to-morrow at 7 a.m.. This is understood to be the beginning of the general advance upon Pretoria.

"Colonel Evans commands the First Battalion, in place of Col. Herchmer, invalided home. Major Howe remains behind to fill an important position at the depot here. Veterinary Surgeon Hall also remains here in charge of the remount depot."

Sunday in Camp Niagara.

Niagara-on-the-Lake, June 18.—At the Niagara Camp yesterday morning the usual church parade was held and hundreds of people from the surrounding country witnessed the imposing spectacle. About 8 a.m. the Roman Catholics, 800 strong, headed by the band of the 34th Battalion, marched to St. Vincent de Paul's Church, where Rev. Father Brennan held a short service. At 8.30 the camp service was held in front of the division headquarters. Rev. Dr. Johnson, chaplain of the 44th Regiment, preached the sermon. Among those present was Col. Aylmer, A.G., of Ottawa. On Tuesday next a review and inspection by Col Aylmer will take place.

Watchmaker's Stock Ruined.

London, June 18.—An extraordinary freak was played by lightning during a heavy thunderstorm in Coventry. The lightning struck the chimneystack of a house occupied by a watchmaker and split it to the basement, magnetizing all the tools and watches in the workshop. Every particle of steel received a charge of the electric current. It is thought it may be possible to demagnetize the smaller articles and parts of watches, but the larger tools are so thoroughly impregnated as to be completely spoiled.

Long Distance Writing.

Vienna, June 18.—Messrs. Pollak and Virag of Budapest, whose marvelous invention of quick telegraphy has been successfully tested in America, have completed another invention in connection with it, by which the ray of light directed by the tiny telephone mirror, writes in ordinary characters at a distance of hundreds of miles. In the original invention, it wrote only the Morse alphabet. The addition now made removes the necessity of transcribing.

Behring Sea Claims Paid Up.

Victoria, B. C., June 18.—Fourteen thousand three hundred dollars has been forwarded to collector Milne by the Department of Marine and Fisheries in settlement of the remaining unsettled claims arising out of the Behring Sea seizures.

The seventh biennial convention of the Ontario Deaf Mutes' Association opened at Belleville at the Deaf and Dumb Institution, with 200 delegates present on Saturday.

A Nursery Measure.

The yard measure is a new and semi-useful nursery accessory. Of course the baby could be measured with a common, everyday footrule or a tape measure, but the fastidious mamma thinks growth is too important a subject to be treated in a matter of fact way, and she measures Teddie's or Marjorie's inches with a long, broad, flat piece of wood which has inches and feet plainly marked on one side and pretty pictures and verses painted on the other side.

IN IGNORANCE OF THE FACTS

Not a Cabinet in Europe Informed of Chinese Events.

An Unconfirmed Despatch From Hong Kong says All the Pekin Legations Have Been Destroyed by Fire and the German Minister Killed — Three Chapels Have Been Burned at Tien Tsin Situation Looks Bad.

London, June 18.—(3 a. m.)—There is not a Cabinet in Europe apparently that knows what has transpired in Pekin for five days, or in Tien Tsin for three days. Nor is there any that knows with what difficulties the small and inadequately equipped international column is contending between those cities. The German Foreign Office, upon learning of the report of the murder of Baron Von Ketteler, the German Minister at Pekin, sent a telegraphic enquiry to St. Petersburg, the Russian Government, because of its wires to Manchuria, being supposedly in a better position than the other Governments to obtain direct news. In reply the German Foreign Office was informed that nothing whatever was known on the subject, as communication with Pekin was interrupted.

Pekin in a State of Panic.

Information from Pekin, brought hither by refugees, says that the city is in a state of panic. Incendiary fires are of nightly occurrence and scores of outrages are reported. Women and children from Tien Tsin are pouring into Shanghai.

The latest news to hand is that 7,000 Russians, with 12 machine guns and 12 field guns are marching from Tien Tsin to Pekin.

The Shanghai correspondent of The Daily Telegraph, in a despatch dated yesterday, says: "A Chinese report states that Admiral Seymour is fighting with the Chinese regulars, and that the foreign forces have seized the Taku forts."

In the midst of these rumors an extraordinary amount of excitement has been caused by the sudden despatch, under sealed orders, of H.M.S. Undaunted, without awaiting her full supply of stores. The Rosario is also under orders to prepare for an immediate start."

THE GERMAN MINISTER

Reported on Saturday to Have Been Killed—All the Foreign Legations in Pekin Destroyed.

London, June 18.—A special despatch on Saturday from Hong Kong says all the Pekin Legations have been destroyed, and that the German Minister, Baron Von Ketteler, has been killed.

Son-in-Law of H. B. Ledyard.

Detroit, Mich., June 18. — Baron Von Ketteler, the German Minister to China, who is reported to have been killed in the Boxer riots in Pekin, was a son-in-law of Henry B. Ledyard, president of the Michigan Central Railway. The Baron was married to Miss Ledyard in 1891.

Officials Burned at the Stake.

New York, June 18.—A despatch to The Journal and Advertiser from Tien Tsin on Saturday said: "Boxers control Tien Tsin, and the native city officials have been burned at the stake. A great panic prevails among the Chinese."

A Dutch Warship With Troops.

Pekin, June 18. — The Government has instructed the Governor-General of the Dutch East Indies, Herr W. Roosseboom, to despatch warship with troops to China.

Cabinet Meeting Held.

London, June 18. — A Cabinet meeting, held on Saturday under the presidency of Lord Salisbury, was concerned almost wholly with the situation in China.

10,000 Chinese Troops Joined the Boxers.

Shanghai, June 16. — According to information received here from foreign sources, 10,000 Imperial troops, which were between Pekin and the International forces advancing on that city, have disbanded and joined the Boxers.

Three Churches Were Burned.

Shanghai, June 16. — Last night's advices from Tien Tsin report that large incendiary fires occurred in the eastern part of the city. Three English and American churches were burned, besides the residences of many foreigners.

5,000 Rebels at Kwei Li Sien.

Hong Kong, June 16.—Trouble is now brewing near West River. Riots have broken out at Bun Chow, whence over a hundred refugees arrived at Wu Chow June 12. About 5,000 rebels have assembled at Kwei li Sien. Bodies of Canton troops passed through Wu Chow June 11, on their way to meet the rebels.

Terrible Sails for Tien Tsin.

Hong Kong, June 16.—The British first-class cruiser Terrible, with troops, sailed for Tien Tsin this morning.

Two Cruisers Sail From Manila.

Manila, June 17. — The gunboat Concord, with marines aboard, has sailed under sealed orders, supposedly for China. The British cruiser Buena Ventura sailed for Hong Kong, with troops and stores, for Hong Kong and Tien Tsin.

U. S. [illegible] From Manila.

Manila, June [illegible]—The [illegible] Manila, whence it will proceed to China.

Awful Slaughter of Christians.

Moscow, June 18. — According to a despatch from Port Arthur, the Boxers have killed, up to the present 1,764 Chinese Christians.

The Wires Restored.

New York, June 18.—The Anglo-American Telegraph Company has issued the following notice: "We are again advised by the Great Northern Company to accept messages for the Far East without restriction."

Japan is Taking Measures.

Washington, June 18.—The following cablegram was received to-day at the Japanese Legation here from the Japanese Government at Tokio: "The situation in North China is daily growing more serious. The Imperial Government has, consequently, in addition to the fleet already at Taku, decided to despatch a military force of about 1,000 men to Tien Tsin, in order to strengthen the hands of the Japanese Minister in China. The latter is acting in full concert with the other representatives of the principal powers."

Will Protect U.S. Interests.

New York, June 18.—The Tribune yesterday morning printed the following statement from Secretary John B. Long of the United States Navy:

"The navy will co-operate with the State Department in the protection of American intersets in China. You understand that the navy is an adjunct of the State Department. We await their orders. The navy will be glad to co-operate with the State Department."

The Situation Critical.

London, June 18.—(3 a. m.)—The following summary of the situation was telegraphed to The Daily News from Shanghai last evening:

"The situation is critical, and without parallel since the Indian Mutiny. At the Yang Tse ports there is a grave feeling of unrest among the natives. As yet there has been no outbreak; but placards have been posted in Kin Kiag, Ugas Skin and Wu Hu, calling on the people to kill and burn." A body of rioters 500 strong, are at Kwei Hsien, in the prefecture of Canton, and troops have gone to suppress them. The powers, unprepared, are helpless to prevent disaster, but barring trifling local frictions, they are working amicably."

NEWS FROM PEKIN TO FRIDAY.

Serious Anti-Foreign Outbreak Thursday Night—An Anxious Time.

London, June 18.—The Pekin correspondent of The Times, in a despatch dated June 14, via Tien Tsin, June 15, says:

"A serious anti-foreign outbreak took place last night, when some of the finest buildings in the eastern part of the city were burned and hundreds of native Christians and servants employed by foreigners were massacred within two miles of the Imperial palace.

"It was an anxious night for foreigners, who were collected under the protection of the foreign guards. The Boxers burned the Roman Catholic East Cathedral, the large buildings of the London Mission, and the American Board of Missions, and also all the buildings in the eastern part of the city occupied by the foreign employes of the maritime customs.

"Unless troops who are to reinforce the foreign guards fail to arrive today further riots are expected. It is believed that no person was injured."

I kind of like an argument. It eases up your mind.
As exercise, it seems to me, the best that you kin find.
But there is one debater that I'm anxious to avoid;
When he comes round fur talkin, I am otherwise employed;
Whenever he starts in an lifts his voice up to recite
I simply hold my peace an say, "Well, maybe you are right."
I ain't so very nervous, an I'm never very proud,
But I always quit a person when he gits to talkin loud.

You might give yourself brain fever with your thinkin so profound,
But your thoughts'll all be wasted when the shouter comes around,
'Cause he'll bawl out somethin at you which is fur from apropos
An clinch the argument by yellin up: "Haw, haw! Ho, ho!".
You kin pack up your ideas an start in fur a retreat,

BURNED TO THE GROUND

Queen's Hotel Lakefield Destroyed Sunday at Midnight.

Lakefield had a bad fire last night about 12 o'clock, when the Queen's hotel, the old Blakely House, Jas. Munro, proprietor, was burned to the ground with all its furniture and goods. The origin of the fire is not known. The building was a frame one and burned very quickly. Mrs. Munro and family were away at the time. The inmates could save nothing, Mr. Munro not even getting a coat out. The slight wind was from the north and the sheds and stables were not burned. The town hall, which is situated across the street, was threatened, and a telephone message was sent down to Peterborough about 1 o'clock asking for assistance as it was feared the village might be destroyed. Mayor Kendrey was notified and gave instructions that all possible aid should be given. The brigade was summoned and all things were in readiness when another message was received that the fire was under control.

Mr. Munro carried some insurance, though his loss will be considerable.

The hotel was owned by Mr. George Blakely, of Buffalo.

An Afternoon Alarm.

An alarm was sounded this afternoon for a fire that had caught on the roof of the Lock Mfg. Co's. works. The blaze was extinguished before any serious damage was done.

The Boundary Line

Between comfort and discomfort is often very slight. Have you rheumatism or neuralgia? Or are you a sufferer from obscure nervous pains? Why suffer longer? You can purchase for 10 cents a bottle of that king of pain—Polson's Nerviline—or you can get a large bottle for 25 cents. It cures promptly. It is sure, pleasant to take, and never fails to cure all kinds of pain. Don't wait an hour, but send to any drug store and get a trial bottle. Nerviline, the sure pain cure.

DUTY OF MUTUAL BURDEN BEARING

SUBJECT OF DISCOURSE BY REV. DR. TORRANCE TO CHEMONG COURT, I. O. F.

Burdens That Cannot be Shared With Others – Burdens Which can be Shared and the Grounds on Which the Duty Rests and Ways It Can be Carried Out.

The members of Court Chemong, Independent Order of Foresters, attended divine service at St. Paul's church last evening. The brethren, of whom there was a large representation, occupied the centre pews at the front of the church.

The sermon was preached by Rev. Dr. Torrance, and was a discourse appropriate in theme, convincing in thought, scholarly in preparation and embellishment, and earnest in delivery. It was founded on the words:–

"Bear ye one another's burdens and so fulfil the law of Christ.—Galatians, vi; 2.

There is some burden or other, said the preacher, resting on every member of the human race. Different as men are in other respects they all resemble each other in that every one is a burden bearer. If one was to judge by outward appearance he would say that some had no burdens, but if he could see the heart it would tell a different tale. Some of those who in public were most light-hearted were in private the most gloomy, while some of those on whom fortune seems to smile most brightly are

CARRYING SOME SORROW

which is sapping out their very life and will go with them to the grave. When Christ says, "bear ye one another's burdens." He appealed to the instinctive need of humanity. The burdens resting upon the hearts of men were of two kinds, (1) those which are borne by ourselves and (2) those which may be borne by others. The Apostle referred to the first of these when he said, "Every man shall bear his own burden," and to the second when in the words of the text he says, "Bear ye one another's burdens." There were some burdens each must bear for himself. They could not share the burden of individual responsibility or the burden from past transgressions. Then there were other burdens which could be shared, and which it was their duty to bear for others. They who were strong should bear the infirmities of the weak, and not please themselves. The preacher then proceeded to consider (1) the grounds on which this mutual burden bearing rests, and (2) the ways in which the burdens of others may be borne. First, he spoke of the lower grounds suggested to the intellectual mind without the aid of revelation. There was the ground of the prevalence of burden bearing seen in the material universe, where all things were seen to depend on one another; then he turned from the material world and found the prevalence of this law of mutual burden bearing among the lower animals. Next he went from the material world and from the lower animals to the higher ground of

COMMON HUMANITY.

Different as men were as regards nationality, different as they were as regards social status and intellectual endowments, they were closely united as members of the human race. Then, he pointed out, this law of mutual burden bearing had ground in patriotism. There was no inconsistency between the special love they bore the people of their own country and their general love for humanity. The noblest Christian characters in Scriptures were patriots. It was not to be expected that they would have the same feelings towards the race in general as they had towards those of their own country. Thus when persons of the same country met in some foreign place heart went out to heart, and they have a feeling that they are bound to each other by closest ties. He pointed to the South African war, where Britons, including Canadians, had gone out to free the oppressed of their own race, and said than is seen the mutual burden bearing in love of country. Then he referred to the ground of friendship as one on which this law of mutual burden bearing rested. There were few things more inspiring or more ennobling than true friendship. He spoke of the classic story of Damon and Pythias, and to the Scripture story of David and Jonathan. This ground of friendship, he said, was one that appealed powerfully to those he addressed as members of a society bound by

TIES OF FRIENDSHIP.

They know the meaning of true and ennobling friendship. Lastly he dwelt on Christian brotherhood as the highest ground of this mutual burden bearing. The preacher then proceeded to consider the ways in which this duty of mutual burden bearing could be carried out: First, by the visitation of the sick, a duty on which special emphasis was laid in Scripture, and one in respect to which members of the Christian church might learn lessons from secular societies. Secondly, by relieving the distressed, and again he said he believed members of the Church might learn lessons from secular societies in respect to this duty. It was one that they were liable to forget. Thirdly, by the education of the orphan and, fourthly, by the helping of the widow. He concluded by emphasizing that in bearing the burdens of others they were fulfilling the law of Christ.

After returning to their hall the thanks of the Court was extended to the Rev. Dr. Torrance for the powerful and appropriate sermon, and to the managers of the church for the kindness and accommodation of pews, etc., and to the choir for the select music rendered.

LAKEFIELD SERVICE.

Court Lakefield attended divine service at the Presbyterian church, Lakefield, in the morning, when over 40 members attended, including some of the Peterborough brethren. The pastor, the Rev. Bro. Campbell, preached an eloquent sermon from the text, 1st Peter, 2nd chapter, 5th verse: "Ye also as lively stones are built up a spiritual house an holy priesthood to offer up spiritual sacrifices acceptable to God by Jesus Christ."

A Cure for Rheumatism

Mr. S. Mann, Stittsville, Carleton Co., Ont., writes:–"I was afflicted with rheumatism, had severe pains in the knees, hip joints and across the back. Rheumatism remedies did not help me and I began using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, which have since completely cured me. There is not the least trace of rheumatism left and I am no longer subject to biliousness, headache and stomach sickness which formerly attacked me frequently." One pill a dose, 25 cents a box.

Electric Fans.

Mr. Johnston Greer, electrican has just installed two ceiling fans in the dining room of the Snowden House. The fans are very nicely finished and have attached a cluster of colored lamps that revolve with the fans. Mr. Greer has also installed fans in the store of Lane & Co., confectioners.

JAMES FARLEY IS A FREE MAN

PARDONED AFTER SERVING OVER ELEVEN YEARS AT KINGSTON

The Story of the Market Square Tragedy Recalled by the Release of Farley Who Shot the Indian.

A despatch from Kingston states that James Farley, who was serving a life sentence for murder, has been pardoned and on regaining his liberty on Saturday at once left for his home in Philadelphia.

James Farley was sentenced from Peterborough, and the story of the tragedy that led to his incarceration is not so old that it will not be remembered by the majority of citizens. It was on Sunday morning, June 24th, 1888, that Farley shot an Indian named Simeon Elijah, and the Indian died next day. Both men were employees of Howe's circus, which was showing on the market square. Earlier in the day Farley and the Indian had a wrestling bout, and when they met on the square outside the tent later the Indian spoke to Farley, saying "Hello, Reddy." Whereupon Farley retorted, and the Indian replying Farley drew a revolver and shot the Indian with fatal results. Farley had been drinking, and as it was shown afterwards had previously borne a reputation as a quiet, orderly man. He was arrested, committed for trial, tried before Mr. Justice Street, and on Oct. 12th, 1888, was found guilty and sentenced to be hanged on November 8th. Efforts to secure a commutation of the death sentence were made and were successful, and on October 27th the news that the sentence had been commuted to imprisonment for life reached here. Farley, who was a son of Jos. Farley, an iceman of Philadelphia, was taken to Kingston. Since he has been in the penitentiary he has been a model prisoner, obedient and industrious, and never gave up hopes that he would be pardoned. Now he has realised his hopes and has gone to his home a free man.

In 1898 he graduated with first-class honors from the Royal College of Dental Surgeons and obtained the degree of Doctor of Dental Surgery from Toronto University. Since then he has been practising at his profession in Toronto, and thus has been able to keep in touch with the wonderful advances which have been made in dentistry of late. Dr. Scott was a pupil of the Collegiate Institute here, from which he obtained his matriculation to the College of Dentistry in 1894. He then entered as a student the office of Dr. Rose, remaining with him to the completion of his course. "Andy," as he is popularly known around town, was always an enthusiast in all branches of sport, and will be remembered as a player in many of the football and baseball matches engaged in by the teams of this town. He has come back to Peterborough to enter into business, having become a partner with Dr. Wightman. We have no doubt that many of Dr. Scott's acquaintances will patronize him in his new venture.

A SERMON TO THE WOODMEN

ANCIENT ORDER OF UNITED WOODMEN AT MARK-ST. CHURCH

The Gospel of Toil by Rev. W. H. Moore, of Bangor, Mich.—Rev. J. E. Moore Heartily Commends the Society of the Woodmen.

Camp Sherwood Forest Woodmen of the World held their first church parade last evening, attending at Mark-st Methodist. There was a large gathering. The sermon was preached by Rev. W. H. Moore, Bangor, Mich., brother of the pastor, Rev. J. E. Moore, and he delivered an address full of thought and forceful and impressive.

Rev. Mr. Moore expressed appreciation of the courtesy extended to him. He spoke on the subject of "The Gospel of Toil," taking his text from Eccles. IX, 10, "Whatsoever thy hand findeth to do, do it with thy might for there is no work, nor device, nor knowledge nor wisdom in the grave, whether thou goest." This book of the Book of Books, he said, bears the impress of a beautiful inspiration. It appears to be cold hearted but you cannot approach the author without feeling that it is not without love and feeling. Allow it to touch your conscience; it will set you on errands of mercy and make you one of the most lovable creatures God has ever made.

It points out that the duty of man is to find his position in the world and throw all his energy into it. Then fix your eye on the end of eternal glory for it is to be remembered that righteousness and righteousness alone abideth for ever.

"Whatever thy hand finds to do." The hand is the instrument of action; it is the symbol of strength. Everything is valuable or valueless as it accomplishes or fails to accomplish what it was intended to perform. All our opportunities and privileges will meet us in the great hereafter. Whatever our hands find to do in the whole world and at all times should be done with our whole heart and strength.

This world is no playhouse. It is a place where great moral battles are to be fought. We are to begin in our own hearts and natures and crush out all evil and then work till all our influence is exhausted for others.

We should not be afraid to get down to help the lowest elements of society. Then we may also find lots of work right at home. In the workshop, the office, on the farm, in the kitchen we should always remember that God sees us. If we play our part in the great drama of life we must do it quickly for this is a busy place.

There is no place in this world's busy life where a lazy man is at all welcome. A man that is lazy in the general work of the world will be a lazy man in the church if he ever gets into it. To get a hustler into the church is to get a prize.

The world is no place for indolence or indifference. There is nothing like the genius of activity. The most formidable people are those who have counted the value of every hour. The great difference between men is not inheritance or endowment but it is a definite purpose in life.

God says to us all to put heart and energy and conscience into our work. Do it a little better to-day than we did yesterday. Do our very best every time. Especially should this be so with reference to our church and its work. Religion will make a man in secular business feel sacred in his work all the time. Opening our eyes and hearts we see the world about us in its great need crying for help. Don't let the people of the world or the church or of any society to which you belong brand you as a hanger-on. Make it feel that you are a benefactor. Some people seem to think that the world will be saved without any sacrifice by them. It may be saved but they will have no share in the reward.

"The law of Nature is that we all get more than we sow. The fires of Nature never die. Nature is always progressing, a perpetual lesson to man. In doing all things with our might we should remember that we are pouring our lives into the great stream of time that flows into the great spirit of eternity where God alone will measure and reward us for our works.

The speaker in closing expressed his approbation of fraternal societies. We should thank God for the many great blessings that rise from them. No nobler organization ever was formed than the Woodmen of the World.

ON THE ORDER.

Rev. J. E. Moore spoke a few words on the order of the Woodmen of the World. He pointed out the significance of the emblems, the axe and the maul. All labor is ennobling to the character, whether mental or physical. Distinction is won by work. Canadians are proud of their country but a few years ago it was an unbroken forest. The woodmen of the world came in with the axe and the maul and in the fine farms and houses we see the fruits of their labor.

The society is banded together for a benevolent purpose. It is a fraternal insurance society and insures men from 18 to 55 years of age; men of sound constitutions and good morals, believers in God. There are three things every man should do. He should give his heart to God, should insure his life and he should make his will. Then when he places his head on his dying pillow he will be glad he took that course.

The society is not an old one. In Canada it numbers about 6000 members, Peterborough has a camp 100 strong. Rev. Mr. Moore welcomed the society cordially to the church both for himself and on behalf of the officials. He wished them every success in the work in which they are engaged and hoped they would ever live under God's approving smile.

VOTE OF THANKS.

On returning to the rooms a vote of thanks was tendered the Rev. Messrs. Moore, officers of the church and the choir. A short address was given by Organizer Bates, who is in town at the present time, and the camp was dismissed after singing the National Anthem.

Pimples on the face are not only annoying, but they indicate bad blood. ing the blood.

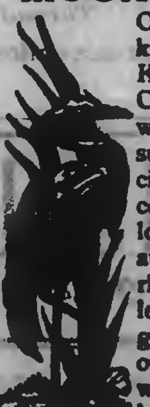
THREE BOTTLES ...CURED HIM...



One of the best known residents of Kingston, Ont., is Charles H. Clarke, who for nine years in succession held the civic street-watering contract. While following his daily vocation he contracted rheumatism in his legs and feet, through getting them wet so often. For three weeks he was so bad he could barely walk around, and could not put on his boots. He had almost lost the use of his legs, and was unable to obtain any relief from the terrible pains until he gave Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure a trial. It worked like magic; and before he had taken the contents of three bottles he was as well as he ever was at any period of his life. He took the contents of only three bottles, and is completely cured, with no sign of a return of the old complaint. He says Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure is a marvellous medicine for the cure of rheumatism.

Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure is put up in 50 cent bottles, containing ten days' treatment. For sale by all druggists and dealers in medicine. The Dr. Hall Medicine Co., Kingston, Ont.

LIVERY UP-TO-DATE

AFTER TEN YEARS.

If I could make a poem that was full of life and wit,
Of freshness and of force enough to make a brilliant hit,
To starco' for ages the lovely and the true
And eclipse all previous efforts, I'd make it, love, for you.

If I could paint a picture with a pencil new inspired,
Which in every part and pigment was unfeignedly admired
And sweet as morning baby from her bath of silver dew,
I'd paint that witching comeliness personified in you.

If I could write a novel with a wonder working pen,
Its situations striking and its heroes living men,
I would not have to rack my brains nor search the world through
To find the noblest heroine; she's found, my love, in you.

If I could do a valiant deed which all the world would praise—
A deed to bring to life again the old heroic days—
I would not value honors, the many or the few;
I'd feel myself ennobled by doing it for you.

—A. MacDonald in Chambers' Journal.

IN SWARMING TIME.

How Bees Are Persuaded to Take Up Their Lodging In a Hive.

"At the Beekeeper's In Swarming Time" is the title of the following account in St. Nicholas of the means employed to lure swarming bees into a hive:

Let us imagine ourselves at a farmhouse far back in the country, where honeybees are kept and cared for by the old fashioned method. It is a pleasant forenoon in the latter part of May. The barefooted boy that Whittier told us about rushes across the yard from the old apple tree under which he and his friends have been playing, dashes into the house, breathless in his eager excitement, and loudly shouts:

"Mother, mother, the bees are swarming!"

Now, just why he should be in such a haste is not easily explained; probably the boy himself could not tell, but true it is that the swarming of the bees causes the boy and all others to rush around as nothing else would do but an alarm that the house or barn was on fire.

The mother needs no second summons. She drops the work in hand, rushes out, and, shading her eyes with one hand, takes a hasty look at the cloud of bees hovering over and around one side of the old apple tree, and excitedly exclaims:

"Yes, Ned; they're swarming, sure enough! You must run to the barn lot cornfield and call father and John."

And away goes Ned, with his playmates trying in vain to keep up with him.

Mother goes back into the kitchen and makes a mixture of vinegar, molasses and water, with which she is soon scrubbing the inside of an empty hive, to "make the new home sweet and clean for the bees."

The cloud of bees in the air settles lower and seems smaller as a cluster begins to form on one of the lower limbs of the tree. By this time Farmer Rood and his "hired man" John have arrived. He first spreads on the ground a sheet that Ned has brought from the house. A small stone is placed on each corner to keep it smooth and flat. John brings the hive from the back of the house, where it has been turned bottom upward toward the sun to "dry out a little." It must be just right—not completely dried out and yet not wet. A rail from the neighboring fence holds the hive in a slanting position so that the raised open edge is directly under the cluster.

When all is ready, the farmer advances with one of the poles used in propping up the clothesline in the back yard, and the rest go back a short distance. There is a minute or two of breathless suspense, and then he hits the limb with the pole and turns and runs.

This is the signal for all to run in various directions. The cluster falls in a solid mass, but almost immediately about half the bees rise into the air, making a cloud of bees all the way from the hive to the limb, on which some settle. A few go in the hive, but often nearly all go back on the limb, and the process of knocking the limb and running away may be repeated several times. If the bees like the hive, fewer go back to the limb each time, and finally the few on the limb leave of their own accord and go into the hive with the others.

Heart Humbug

It is fashionable to-day to have a new heart scare every 24 hours. The commonest symptoms of dyspepsia or nerve trouble, such as palpitation, weak spells, loss of appetite, and poor circulation, are magnified and distorted into serious signs of heart trouble, with the object of frightening the public into taking this or that heart remedy. If a hundredth part of the heart trouble we hear about were real, the cemeteries would be filled in a month. A wrong construction is put upon common ailments in order to humbug the people into the belief that heart disease is prevalent, whereas real heart trouble, which is so sadly and suddenly fatal when it does occur, is a rare disease. Lopsided arguments cannot convince an intelligent people. Iron is the vital element of the blood. Too little iron means weakness, lack of spirit, pallid cheeks, shortness of breath, sleeplessness, nervousness, loss of vital force, ending in general break-down. The iron in Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills is in the soluble form you need, in combination with other curative agents in such a manner that digestion don't resist their action. You feel yourself getting well when you take Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills.

Disraeli the Dandy.

A contemporary of Lord Disraeli in his memoirs records this impression of that famous dandy's personal appearance: Usually he wore a slate colored velvet coat lined with satin, purple trousers with a gold band down the outside seam, a scarlet waistcoat, long lace ruffles falling down to the tips of his fingers, white gloves with brilliant rings outside them and long black ringlets rippling down over his shoulders. When he rose in the house, he wore a bottle green frock coat, with a white waistcoat, collarless, and a needless display of gold chains.—Collier's Weekly.

OBJECTED TO FLATTERY.

And Thereby Was an Object of Wonder to the Other Woman.

It is rare enough that the modern woman objects to a flattering photograph, but it happens once in awhile.

The other afternoon a strong faced woman of 35 or so, very plainly dressed, guiltless of stays apparently and wearing flat heeled shoes and other external evidences of female regeneration, strode into the reception room of an avenue photographic studio.

"I have come for my photographs," she said to the reception room young woman in a hard, matter of fact tone, handing over her ticket. The girl dug the photographs out of a big pile and pulled one of them out of the envelope to show to the customer. The strong faced woman looked at the picture with immediate dissatisfaction.

"Do I in any way resemble such a doll as this?" she inquired of the reception room girl haughtily. "This looks about as much like the proof"—

"Oh, but the finished pictures always look different—much better than the proofs, you know," said the reception room young woman, with rather a surprised expression.

"Do you suppose for a single instant, young woman, that I came here to get pictures that flatter?" asked the woman with the lined face. "Do I look like such a perfect fool as that? Where is there any character in it? Am I such a putty face? It makes me look ten years younger than I am. Where are the lines in it, and the"—

"But," interposed the girl behind the desk, "the retoucher has erased the lines. Most ladies prefer their pictures to make them look a wee bit younger, and I am sure that none of them cares to have the crow's feet"—

"I am not ashamed of my wrinkles, young woman," was the frigid reply. "I acquired them in a good cause. I shall not take these photographs, and that's all there is about it. I shall have another sitting, and I shall have a distinct understanding with the operator that he is not to fatten and puff out and beautify my countenance in this idiotic fashion. The camera stamps me as I am, and I'm not going to have any lying portraits. I shall return for another sitting tomorrow afternoon." And the regenerated woman stalked out.

The reception room young woman took her gum from the place on the underside of the counter where she had stuck it, put it into her mouth and thought steadily for fully two minutes.

"Well, she's just what my brothers call the limit!" was the conclusion she reached.—Washington Post.

In Six Minutes.

"Well, they're just an average lot," remarked the stock buyer. "Four and a half is the best I can offer you."

"That'll be all right," replied the owner of the cattle, "except for the brindle steer. He's worth $200 just as he stands."

"What are you talking about? I won't pay a cent more for him than I do for any of the others. He's nothing but scrub stock, and he won't weigh more than about 'leven hundred."

"That's all right. You heard what I said. If you take him he'll cost you $200. He swallowed my gold watch this morning."—Chicago Tribune.

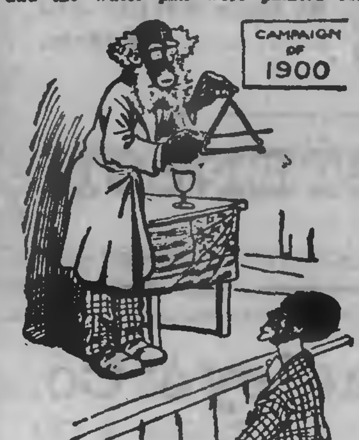
THE LIMEKILN CLUB.

OPENING OF THE CAMPAIGN OF 1900 BY BROTHER GARDNER.

A Remarkable Oration In Which the Distinguished Speaker Outlines Very Forcibly the Politics and Platform to Be Upheld.

[Copyright, 1900, by C. B. Lewis.]

A surprise awaited the members of the Limekiln club as they gathered at Paradise hall for the regular weekly meeting. The walls had been decorated with scores of flags and banners, and there were cloth signs reading, "Campaign ob 1900," "Whar Do Yo' Stand?" "De Battle Has Begun" and "Awake, Freemen!" Brother Gardner's desk was draped with an American flag, and the legs of the stove and the water pail were painted red, white and blue to harmonize. There was subdued but intense excitement as the members continued to drop in, but the real situation was not realized until the triangle called the meeting to order and Brother Gardner arose and said:



DE OPENIN OB DE CAMPAIGN.

"Feller Citizens ob Dis Limekiln Club in de United Staits—I hev no doubt dat in yo'r minds yo' am axin why dis whenceness an what has become ob de goneness which has heretofo' greeted yo' in dis hall. Look about yo' an read dose signs. I hev had my ear to de ground an heard de boom ob de openin gun. [Cheers.] As dis Limekiln club is fust in peace an fust in wah, so it am fust to open de great political campaign which am gwine to shake dis continent from head to heel like a pickaninny picked out ob a mudhole by his mother. [Yells.] Dis am no political club, but when de interests ob liberty am at stake it has got to take a hand in. We ain't lookin fur no east, no no'th, no south, no west, but we realize dat de bulwarks ob freedom hev bin intrusted to us, an we am gwine to preserve 'em or die. [Uproarious applause.]

"Bend yo'r ear to de east, an yo' h'ar a whoopin an a shoutin. It's de millyons gittin ready to jine in de campaign. Bend yo'r ear to de west, an yo' h'ar a screechin an a yellin. It's de millyons gittin ready fur a row. [Whoop.] It's de same in de no'th an de south. Fo' y'ars has rolled around ag'in, an ebery man from Maine to California feels dat de fate ob de United Staits rests upon his vote. [Howls of enthusiasm.] Ober dar on de wall is a sign readin, 'Whar Do Yo' Stand?' Dat's what each en ebery man ob yo' wants to keep axin hisself till yo' feel as firmly settled as a cow in de quicksands. Don't make no mistake about it. In religun yo' kin wabble about from Baptist to Methodist an back ebery five or six weeks an be saved in de eand, but de man who sots out to save No'th America can't do no wabblin. [Cries of "No, no!"] He's got to find out whar he stands an stick to it.

"Havin opened dis campaign wid a whoop, we hev got to stick right to it an close wid a yell. ["We will!"] De man who starts in to save his kentry has no time to go fishin or roost on a rail fence. He's got to keep right at work day an night, an he's got to keep his enthoosiasum up to de b'ilin pint eben if de watermillyon crap am a failure an all de possums go ober to de opposition. [Whoops.] I spoke to yo' ob liberty an freedom. Dem ar' our guidin principles, but dar will be other principles to fit in wid dem to make up a glorious whole. [Agitation.] Fur instance, it has bin diskivered dat a pusson kin hold office an save de United Staits from a collapse at de same time. [Cheers.] Fur instance, ag'in, I hev taken a two foot rule an measured it off an satisfied myself dat de mo' salary attached to de office de greater de patriotism ob de man who holds it. [Shouts for George Washington and Patrick Henry.] Lettin go ob No'th America fur a moment an speakin fur de cull'd race alone, we hev hitherto gone on de principle dat de office should seek de man. It has allus happened, howeber, dat when de office come seekin de man he wasn't home, an it passed on to de Caucasian. [Groans.] I reckon we shall make a change in dat principle. It's quite likely dat de cull'd man will start out to seek office instead ob waitin an dat he'll find it too. [Applause which extinguished two lamps and wabbled the stovepipe.]

"In dis de openin ob de campaign it may be as well dat we announce our platform. Experience in yellin fur candidates all day an carryin a torchlight around all de evenin has taught me dat nobody kin start out widout a platform. It's like puttin on a suit ob clothes. Yo' am gwine to judge a man by de looks ob de cloth. Nobody ever sticks to de platform after he's got de crowd follerin him around, but it's got to be dar to begin wid. De platform ob dis club, an through it de platform ob de cull'd men ob America, may be stated as follers:

"Front seats fur all who kin pay fur 'em. [Cheers.]

"America first, individuals later on. [Whoops.]

"A fa'r show fur ebery patriot to git office. [Yells.]

"Git what we kin an keep what we git. [Hurrahs.]

"A sort ob mixin up an minglin together ob free trade an protection till everybody gits what he wants an all ar' satisfied. [Prolonged applause.]

"No trusts, no doctor's bills, no gas bills an a big drap in de price ob coal an house rent. [Applause which opened three doors and careened the stove five degrees to starboard.]

"Dat's about de platform we shall do bizness on, an any leetle changes worked in won't hev no material effect. [Cries of "It's all right!"] We shall ax de people ob America, both white an black, to accept it. We shall ax de political parties to accept it. As a club we shall stand or fall by it. While dis am our openin night, I hev bin workin fur weeks. It gibs me pleasure to announce to yo' dat doorin de campaign de follerin extravagant an thrillin orators will be wid us:

"De Hon. Crabtree Jones ob Alabamy, known as de 'Sisero ob de south.' [Cheers.]

"De Hon. Come Along White of Indiana, who was de fust cull'd man to be chucked out ob a white man's hotel. [Applause for the chucked.]

"Ex-Judge Bolliver ob South Carolina, who has de distinguished honah ob bein de only cull'd man eber hit wid a brickbat frown by de gubernor's coachman. [Yells for the brickbatter.]

"De Hon. Dewberry Gallup ob Georgia, who spoke wid sich effect at Atlanta last Fo'th of July dat his hearers cleaned out a circus an three saloons. [Enormous applause.]

"Kurnel Drawbridge Hastings ob Ohio, who was one ob de fust patriots to enlist in de late wah an who broke his laig while turnin a handspring at Chickamauga. [Not so enormous.]

"Dere will be others, eben greater men, an dey will stand yere in dis hall an scatter sich words ob oratory about dat nobody kin keep still. Dey will come to us from ebery p'int ob de compass, an dey will gird on our armor an be wid us in our battle fur liberty, justice an right. [Cheers for everybody.] An we shall take as our emblem an as our mascot a possum hangin from de limb ob a tree by his tail. We shall be known as de Possum party. De possum, he lays low. When yo' reckon he's dead, he's foolin yo'. He represents patience an perseverance. He'll git dar when de b'ar an de coon won't stand no show. In dis hall at our next meetin will hang our emblem, an ebery man who am fur honest guberment will wear de Possum badge on his breast. [Tremendous and long continued yells for possums, liberty and our side.]

"An now let us march for'ard to victory. We hev sot our faces to de front, an dere will be no turnin back. Liberty fust, den principle, den liberty an principle an office, all boiled together an handed out widout any string attached. Let us now sing de 'Star Spangled Banner,' follered by 'Yankee Doodle,' an disperse to meet ag'in at de call ob de bugle ob liberty." M. QUAD.

On Parade.

Ogdensburg, N.Y., June 18.—Thirteen lots—1,400 boxes—offered Saturday; 10c bid; no sales. Later on street all sold at 10½c.

Belleville, Ont., June 18.—Saturday 24 factories boarded 2,205 boxes, all white; 10½c offered for 1,830 boxes, and 10 1-16c for balance. Only 250 boxes were sold at 10½c; balance unsold.

He W[illegible]d The Floor

In Agony With Pains in the Back—Sleep Impossible—Medicine of no Avail Until he got Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

Mr. Patrick J. McLaughlan, Beauharnois, Que., states:—"I was troubled with Kidney Disease and Dyspepsia for 20 years and have been so bad that I could not sleep at nights on account of pains in the back. I would walk the floor all night and suffered terrible agony.

"I tried all sorts of medicines but got no relief until I began using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. They made a new man of me and the old troubles seem to be driven out of my system."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills have an enormous sale and owe their popularity to the fact that they can be absolutely relied upon to cure all ailments of the kidneys, liver and stomach. They are purely vegetable in composition, prompt and effective in action, and cure permanently. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates and Co., Toronto.

THE B.C. CABINET.

The Dunsmuir Ministry Contains Only One Liberal—Does it Mean Another Turner Administration?

Ottawa, June 18.—A private message from Victoria, B.C., received Saturday morning, says the following is the probable composition of the Dunsmuir Ministry:

Mr. Dunsmuir, President of Council.
Mr. Turner, Minister of Finances.
Mr. Eberts, Attorney-General.
Mr. Wells, Provincial Secretary.
Mr. Smith (Lillooet), Minister of Mines.
Mr. Garden, Commissioner of Public Works and Lands.

To those acquainted with the facts, this means another Turner administration, as Turner and Eberts would be the strongest men in it. Besides, there is only one Liberal in the Ministry and he is not counted a strong man. From this it appears that Dunsmuir will ignore the Martin faction, but Liberal members here think that Martin has yet to be reckoned with.

Here it is considered that Dunsmuir's elevation relieves the situation so far as Lieut.-Gov. McInnes is concerned.

Cassiar Goes Anti-Martin.

Victoria, June 18. — The latest report is to the effect that Cassiar has elected two straight opposition men, Capt. John Irving and C. W. D. Clifford. This leaves Martin with only seven out of a house of 38, with possibly some independents to turn when they see how the cat jumps to-night.

No News From Coomassie.

London, June 18.—The Daily Express has received the following despatch, dated Friday, from Prahsu: "No additional news is to hand from Coomassie. The incessant rains are delaying the advance of the relief column, which is likely to see some tough work. Seven wounded officers and 130 wounded men are expected here from the front. There is a general rush of natives towards the coast from Obuassa and the mines north of the Prah River."

Native Rising in Gambia.

Bathurst, Gambia Colony, West Africa, June 17.—A native rising has occurred in the Gambia Colony. Two British commissioners and six members of the police have been killed at Sankandi, on the south bank of the Gambia River, by Mandingoes.

Fatal Collision in London.

London, June 18.—A collision between an express train and a train filled with Windsor racegoers occurred Saturday at Slough. Three persons were killed and forty were injured.

Sawyer's Wonderful Memory.

The late Senator Philetus Sawyer of Wisconsin seldom wrote a letter because he was sensitive about his weakness in spelling and dictated nearly everything to a stenographer. But he had a marvelous eye and memory for figures. When he was chairman of the committee on commerce of the house of representatives and made up the river and harbor bill, he could tell to a copper the appropriations that had been made each year for any number of years for any public improvement in that line. His memory was as accurate as the books of the treasury.—Chicago Record.

The Lighting of Lamps.

This must never be done with paper, as it is scarcely possible to avoid letting particles of it drop into the burner. A wax taper is by far the best thing for the purpose, as little bits of charred wood are likely to drop from the matches. This not only clogs the burner, but may cause the lamp to flare up unexpectedly afterward, possibly when there is no one by to arrest the mischief.

THE DRESS MODEL.

Flaring wing effects are still a dominant characteristic of spring and summer millinery.

Argentine gray is a beautiful color very much like the moonlight and opal grays of last season.

Thin muslin gowns are fitted to the figure below the waist this season in an easy and graceful manner.

In place of the high white linen collar on the pretty afternoon waists of taffeta, china silk, etc., are to be worn those of fine hand embroidered bishop's lawn, linen batiste, or French muslin.

A new English skirt just touches the ground at the back, is less sloped on its front and side gores, and is some inches fuller all around the upper portion than any of the skirt models in vogue for seasons past.

French cashmere, a very light weight of ladies' cloth, and fine French flannel in soft powder pink make pretty house blouses. They are elaborately braided in white soutache and fastened with small round pearl buttons.

A special feature of new millinery is that the blossoms and foliage used for decoration are abnormally large, many of the huge leaves that extend at right angles from the sides of the hat being shaped like those of the begonia.

The season's new wash silks or "silk cheviots," as they are called, appear in soft, beautiful shades of rose, amber and reseda; heliotrope, russet and mignonette; chamois and violet; cream, pink and stem green, and green with delicate touches of red or gold.

The new French foulards are handsome, both in texture and coloring, and so glossy and soft that they look like panne. Some of the more expensive weaves are double width, an advantage which is apparent with the still prevailing style of plaited skirts.

The new sashes which are so fashionable this season are not excessively high priced, considering their quality and their marked vogue. Five yards are often used when the wearer is tall and chooses the Louis XV sash, the deeply fringed ends of which reach quite to the foot of the dress skirt.—New York Post.

TURKEY WINGS.

The sultan of Turkey continues to promise and build ships.—Scranton Tribune.

Like other debtors, the sultan is surprised that there should be any hard feelings.—New York World.

The sultan of Turkey is a man of promise, but he is very slow when it comes to writing checks.—Pittsburg Chronicle.

Turkey is said to be buying new guns. Ten to one the money she owes us has been pledged to pay the bills.—Baltimore American.

Our children's children will please see to it that Abdul Hamid puts up that indemnity and those buildings.—Detroit Free Press.

Probably it is reasonably safe to say that Uncle Sam will ultimately get the Turkey and the sublime porte the buzzard.—Boston Herald.

Should Turkey ever seriously propose to pay one creditor the others would object. Russia, it may be certain, will never suffer anybody to reap any advantage great or small from Turkey save and except Russia.

THE PEDAGOGUE.

If President Eliot of Harvard lives until next November, he will have held his present office longer than any of his predecessors. He was elected in 1869.

Professor Otto G. Ramsay of the chair of gynecology at Johns Hopkins university has been appointed to this chair at the Yale Medical school, to succeed Professor B. Austin Cheney, resigned.

Sir William Muir, the principal of Edinburgh university, announces his approaching resignation. His tenure of office will be chiefly memorable for his strenuous and successful efforts to obtain for women full privileges in the university.

Dr. Jerome H. Raymond, who is said to be the youngest college president in the United States, has resigned the presidency of West Virginia university. He had requested from the trustees the removal of five professors, whom he charged with incompetency and insubordination. When the board failed to adopt his suggestion, he resigned.

THE ROYAL BOX.

The Prince of Wales receives on an average between 500 and 600 letters a day. Over 200 of these are usually begging letters.

Empress Eugenie is the only royal woman owning a steam yacht. Her fine ship, the Thistle, is one of the best known pleasure craft on the Mediterranean.

The sultan of Turkey rises every morning at 6 o'clock and after devoting the first half of the day to work breakfasts at noon. After that he takes a drive or a boat ride in his park and dines at 8.

The Empress Frederick, who has returned to Germany after an absence of nearly six months in Italy, is in better health than when she left home, but for some time during the winter her condition caused much anxiety, and the Emperor William sent a specialist to Spain from Berlin to see her.

RAILWAY TIES.

British locomotive firms have work on hand for 12 to 18 months.

Tokyo, Japan, is to have a fine electric railway system 200 miles in length.

A new automatic electric safety block signal, which will stop a train without the assistance of the engineer or motorman, is now being introduced. It is applicable to any style of motor power.

On the new railway built from Sfax to Gafsa, Tunis, by the French company to its phosphate mines, passengers will not be hauled beyond [illegible] unless they sign an agreement not to hold the company for any damages that they may sustain.

DON'TS FOR MISTRESSES.

Don't ignore the fact that she needs some time to herself to mend her clothes.

Don't think she will respect and obey you if you never show any consideration for her feelings.

Don't forget to give her occasional outings in addition to her regular afternoon and evening out.

Don't think she is neglecting her duty if she doesn't happen to be occupied every minute of the time.—Union Signal.

Brother Dickey's Philosophy.

Fer livin purposes dis is de bes' worl' I ever was in.

De long lane is 'bleege ter turn, but look out dat he don't turn too sharp.

Dey say dis worl' ain't no fr'en ter grace, en yit it look lak grace done took he hat off en come ter stay.

De green hills is so clost ter heaven dat ef you'd des tiptoe you could shake han's wid de angels.

Dey ain't any mo' trouble in dis worl' dan de folks what's in it kin bear.—Atlanta Constitution.

Too Farseeing.

"How did you know, Harry, dear, that I would say yes when you asked me?"

"Because, my sweet, I am the seventh son of a seventh son. The future holds no secrets from me."

"Indeed! Then you know, of course, that I have no intention of ever marrying you."—Chicago Tribune.

Discontented Baby's Diary.

Jan. 1.—Just born. Here's a lark. Papa doesn't seem very pleased though.

Feb. 1.—Every night pa walks up and down the bedroom with me when I squeal. I always squeal. I must do something.

March 1.—Nurse is a spiteful thing. She sticks pins into a fellow on purpose.

April 1.—After all, one may even tire of a bottle.

May 1.—I wish I could cut a tooth. I'd bite nurse.

June 1.—What a nuisance it is to have relations who keep on saying "Ketchetty, ketchetty!" and dig in your ribs with their forefingers! When I grow up, I'll do it to them and see how they like it.

July 1.—Three babies next door have got the measles. I get nothing. It's awfully dull.

Aug. 1.—One of the babies next door came in to see us today, and I heard ma say, "He hasn't got the measles now?" "No," said the baby's ma. There's a greedy sneak for you. Left 'em at home.

Sept. 1.—Nurse drinks something out of a black bottle. I've caught her at it. It isn't the same that is in my bottle either. If I were bigger, I'd change 'em.

Oct. 1.—If this isn't a nice state of things! Some one called today to see ma and pa, and they said it was uncle, and gave me to him to kiss. He didn't kiss me, though, with what you might call a good will.

Later on he kissed the nurse right in my presence and seemed to enjoy that well enough.—Tit-Bits.

Courtesy on a Street Car.

A big, fine looking man sat in the corner of a south side car reading his newspaper. Next to him sat a little woman in an up to date frock. She had a box of candy in one hand and an opera libretto in the other. She tried to get a newspaper from a boy who came through the car, but the conductor broke up the transaction and, seizing the small newsdealer by the slack of the pants, put him down on the pavement. Then the pretty woman in the up to date frock paid her fare in pennies and smiled.

The big man's newspaper was spread out before her eyes, and she glanced at the headlines. Then she read a half column about a thrilling rescue of a typewriter girl by a gallant fireman. She glanced sideways at the big man. Apparently he was taking no notice. She began on a story of burglars in a south side flat, how they bound and gagged a woman, stole her sealskin sack and—

"Oh, oh, the horrid things!" she exclaimed excitedly.

The big man looked around inquiringly, and then, quite as a matter of course, he said:

"Have you finished this page, madam? If so, let us turn to the stock reports and the society news."—St. Louis Republic.

Mary's Strong Point.

The servant girl entered the room with noticeable hauteur and awaited the pleasure of her mistress.

A bright, cheery fire burned in the grate, a fact which has no direct bearing upon the events to be related, but which is worthy of notice as a concurrent circumstance.

"Mary!"

The voice of the mistress was softly modulated, as is usual with mistresses similarly situated.

"I wish to raise your salary."

The girl clung to the lace curtain for support.

"Yes, Mary," the lady continued, "I don't know what we should do without you. Of course you have broken dishes and all that, Mary, but the police protection we've had since you've been with us is something immense. You are a good girl, Mary."

It was a new experience for the domestic, and she had no course but to leave the room in silence.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

To Ease a Headache.

Take a sponge and a basin of hot water as hot as it can be used. Pass the hot, wet sponge slowly and steadily over the face and forehead for eight or ten minutes, keeping the sponge as hot as it can be used. By this time the face will seem as if it were parboiled. Dry it in a soft towel. Next bathe the back of the neck as you have done the face, carrying the sponge each time well up the back of the head. Keep up the bathing for some length of time; then, if thirsty, take a cooling draft and lie quietly for half an hour to rest. If sleep is not likely to visit you, just lie in the [illegible] with closed eyes and try to rest the brain.

"THE ACADÉMIE DE MÉDECINE OF FRANCE HAS PLACED

("THE QUEEN OF TABLE WATERS.")
At the Head of All the Waters Examined for Purity and Freedom from Disease Germs."

Amusing the Little Ones.

Quite young children can be taught to interest and amuse themselves and are far happier than if some one is continually amusing them. The children of the poor learn this lesson of necessity; the children of the well to do are happy in proportion as they are taught it. Such teaching calls for an ever watchful eye, that notes the need of each moment and detects at once when weariness begins. For instance, suppose a child is putting a colored bead necklace together, draw its attention to the fact that the beads can be made to form a pattern. Forming a pattern is ten times as fascinating as simply stringing beads.

Curious Treasures.

Princess Marie of Roumania, wife of the crown prince, has an unusual hobby—the collection of perfumery bottles. In this she resembles her grandmother, the late empress of Russia, who left a collection of perfumery bottles valued at $25,000.

Among her treasures the Princess of Wales has the most valuable thimble in the world. It is of gold, delicately traced with blue enamel and studded with small slabs of various precious stones. It is an heirloom inherited from Denmark.

Working Overtime.

Eight hour laws are ignored by those tireless, little workers—Dr. King's New Life Pills. Millions are always at work, night and day, curing Indigestion, Biliousness, Constipation, Sick Headache and all Stomach, Liver and Bowel troubles. Easy, pleasant, safe, sure. Only 25c at J. Lynch's drug store.

Off the Track.

This means disaster and death when applied to a fast express train. It is equally serious when it refers to the people whose blood is disordered and who consequently have pimples and sores, bad stomachs, deranged kidneys, weak nerves and that tired feeling. Hood's Sarsaparilla puts the wheels back on the track by making rich, pure blood and curing these troubles.

Constipation is cured by Hood's Pills. 25c.

THE FIELD OF GENERAL SPORT

AN EFFORT BEING MADE TO FORM A NEW LACROSSE DISTRICT.

BASEBALL.

In a Midland League baseball match on Saturday at Port Hope the home team won from Lindsay by 10 to 9.

LACROSSE.

It is proposed to form a new C.L.A. district to include Beaverton, Markham, Peterborough and the Young Torontos. Mr. J. A. Cooper has been appointed secretary and will communicate with the clubs interested.

At Cornwall on Saturday the home team defeated the Capitals by 3 goals to 2. It took four hours to play off the match.

At Montreal the Shamrocks were defeated by the Montrealers by the score of 5 goals to 4.

FISHING.

The C.G.E. Angling Club's first outing was held on Saturday afternoon last when a fine time was enjoyed by the members. The buses left town about 1.30 loaded with dead game sports and fishing rods, and proceeded up the river to the second locks below Lakefield which by the number of rods held over the water and the yarns of the anglers must be fished dry. The only event to mar the pleasure of the day was that Bard Geomulligan wandered too far in the woods and a searching party had to be organized to find him. After long searching "Scullion" Billiehill found him with a long knife getting some slippery elm off a bass wood tree. The honor of scoring most points goes to Mr. Nihillmunro who caught ten bass but he put them in a pint tin with the craw fish and the craw fish ate them. About six o'clock the cook, Harriesmith, had a most appetizing spread prepared which was ate and enjoyed to the last sardine. As the party was leaving the locks a snap shot was taken of the Commodore, Billiejohnston, doing up his four bass in an envelope. The secret of Mr. Geotovey's success as a fisherman lies in the fact that he carries the left ear of a black cat in his right hip pocket. On the return trip the club could be heard three blocks off singing with a vengance, the old song of "The three dark complexioned birds." The club as a whole can thoroughly recommend Mr. J. Fitzgerald as a driver who can set any team of horses on the dash board and rest them on going down a hill.—"Official Club Liar."

AMONG THE CHURCHES.

Items of Interest Gathered From the Different Congregations.

GEORGE-ST.

Rev. S. J. Shorey, the pastor, occupied the pulpit at both services yesterday. The evening sermon was intensely interesting, taken from "Ask for the old paths."

The morning anthem was "Sacred Head Once Annointed," by Sheppard, with soprano solo by Miss Clara Belleghem. A very pathetic solo, "The Man of Galilee," was rendered during the offertory by Miss Belleghem.

The evening anthem was Concone's Mass in F, "Gloria," with solo by Miss C. Belleghem and duet by soprano and contralto members.

During the offertory Mr. Walden and the choir rendered a selection which was both pleasing and effective, Mr. Theulis presiding at the organ.

CHARLOTTE-ST.

Rev. Mr. Steele, of Fraserville, preached at both services at Charlotte-st. church yesterday. The morning anthem sung by the choir was "O, Come Let us Worship," with solo excellently taken by Miss Hall. The offertory hymn was "Seeking the Lost." In the evening the choir rendered a very pleasing anthem, "As Pants the Hart," Miss Pedlar being soloist. The offertory number was "The Days are Going By," solo by Mr. Parks.

ALL SAINTS.

During the offertory in All Saints' last evening the choir sang the hymn—anthem "Softly now the light of day," Miss M. Lickey taking the soprano solo very nicely. On Trinity Sunday Stainer's "I am Alpha and Omega" was rendered very creditably, Mr. A. Kingscote taking the tenor solo.

ST. ANDREW'S.

At St. Andrew's church last evening the choir rendered the anthem, "Abide With Me" (Torrington) in effective style. At the offertory Miss Vina Belleghem sang a solo, "Must I go Empty Handed," with much sweetness and expression.

ST. PAUL'S.

The sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be dispensed at St. Paul's church next Sunday morning, when new members will be received at the service and not as formerly at the preparatory service.

The service preparatory to communion will be held on Friday evening, when Rev. J. G. Potter, of St. Andrew's will preach.

The Faithful Workers Mission hold a social on Tuesday evening.

Something Uncommon for Once

A SPECIAL SALE —OF— SLATER SHOES

It's unusual—a special sale of goods so good as the Slater Shoes are. Slater Shoes sell on sight, on their worth, on their value, on the strength of the many points making up a good shoe. But here is a sale.

And by special permission of the Slater Shoe Company—we need not detail all the facts—we have approval. That is as far as the public care, but what interests more is the prices.

Our stock is large. Large for a big city store, where thousands pass the doors and hundreds buy in an hour. Our large stock we want to reduce and make offer:

SLATER SHOES

$5.00 quality in Men's sizes for...........$3.00
$3.00 quality in Men's sizes for...........$2.00
$3.50 quality in Men's sizes for...........$2.00

Every shoe new, bright, and in every way first-class goods. Better buy now. All shades of leather and styles of fastening.

Just a line to say that our Tan and White Canvas Shoes are just the thing for hot weather wear.

DEPARTURE REGRETTED

Late Proprietor of the Hotel National Presented With a Cane.

Mr. Jas. White, proprietor of the National Hotel, who has lately disposed of his interest in the concern received a pleasant surprise from the boarders, who last evening presented him with a farewell address, accompanied by a beautiful gold-headed cane. That Mr. White and his two sons were justly popular the following address will show:—

Mr. James White, National Hotel, Peterborough:—

Dear Mr. White,—It was only a few days ago that we, the boarders of the National Hotel, became aware that there was some truth in the rumor that you were about to leave us. We immediately started a rigid enquiry and as a result many of us find ourselves in such a position that we will be owing you about seventeen cents on Tuesday morning and after that our cents will be paid under the guiding light of the new moon. Now this is a state of affairs that does not agree with our stomachs. We believe the change will be too great for us, and while we need not mention how glad we are that you are leaving us, we must express our appreciation of the many little kindly acts which have helped to materially make the National feel like home. We have stopped at many places, but in no instance can we say that we found such sociability shown between the boarders as could be found at the National, over which you were host. This has been helped to a considerable extent by the popularity of your two sons, Frank and Alban, who have at all times been ready to assist in making doings for the boys.

Then on the other hand and on behalf of the ladies we [illegible] too highly commend the many little courtesies of Mrs. White, Mrs. Frank White, and Miss White. It would seem that they were at all times ready and willing to help and remedy any little want of the ladies. In fact everything they did seemed a pleasure to them, their whole desire being to see others comfortable.

After taking these things into consideration, it seems to be a duty imposed on us to show our gratitude to you in some way and we have come to the conclusion that the best possible way in which to get even with you was to give you a solid caning. This performance will now commence, and while it is going on we venture to express the wish that Mrs. White, yourself and family will continue to live long and useful lives. We regret their leaving us, but we have the consolation that we will have kindly remembrances of the days spent at the National when you were the host.

With the very kindest and most sincere wishes for a very pleasant journey. We are yours sincerely:—E. G. Laverdure, W. J. Bailey, W. O. LaBelle, A. H. Vennels, H. Leahy, W. J. English, J. G. Bradley, F.M. Vanderwater.

WHEN DOCTORS DISAGREE

What Becomes of the Patient?

Doctors have their hobbies as well as other people and in the treatment of disease often carry them too far for the patient's good. For instance in the treatment of indigestion or dyspepsia many doctors give bismuth and nothing else, others rely on pepsin to bring their patients through, still another doctor treats stomach troubles with the various vegetable essences and fruit salts.

Now one or the other of these excellent remedies become a hobby with the doctor who has had most success with the particular one in question, because all of them are first class remedies for indigestion and dyspepsia, but not one of them alone is so good as a combination of all of them, such as is found in Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, which contains not only vegetable essences and fruit salts, but also the freshest, purest pepsin and bismuth, making altogether a remedy unsurpassed for every form of indigestion, sour stomach, nervous dyspepsia, belching of gas, distress after eating, sleeplessness, headaches, etc.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is not a secret patent nostrum, but you can use for yourself what it is, and knowing this, its success as a dyspepsia cure is not surprising. All druggists recommend and sell them at 50 cents.

Can You Tell Why

You have constant headaches, are nervous and sleepless at nights and feel tired in the morning? Your blood isn't carrying the right materials to your nerves and other organs. Begin taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, the great blood enricher, and you will soon realize a change. You will feel better and stronger, will relish your food and enjoy refreshing sleep.

Nausea, indigestion are cured by Hood's Pills.

LUNATIC AT THE CIRCUS

A Privileged Patient Who Had Escaped From Orillia Asylum Saw the Big Shows at Lindsay.

Lindsay Post:—Guard Sisson, of the Orillia Asylum staff, arrived in town yesterday morning in search of a patient named Lilly, who was supposed to have secreted himself on the circus train just before it pulled out on Friday morning.

Lilly is a privileged patient and is allowed to wander about the grounds unattended by a keeper. When he heard that a circus was in town he manifested some interest in the news, but kept his own counsel relative to his intentions, and his flitting remained unnoticed for hours.

Guard Sisson found his man on the circus grounds. He was watching with manifest interest the efforts of a crowd of fellow lunatics to beat a fakir in charge of a ball game, but he evinced no inclination to join in the sport. When tapped on the shoulder he accompanied the guard with evident eagerness, merely murmuring, "Take me home—for pity sake don't put me where those other fellows belong." Herein is a moral not difficult of extraction.

A PICTURE OF PARIS.

The Various Quarters and the People Who Inhabit Them.

Paris is not the noisiest of continental cities, but it is not especially quiet. The whole place, except in the aristocratic quarters, seems to be wide awake and much alive in early morning. Street cries are especially noticeable as the hawkers ply their busy trade. But though the traffic in Paris is noisier, it is not dense. Yet it appears more bewildering to the foot passengers in Paris because of the want of order. The Parisian police, or guardiens de la paix, are not nearly so much in evidence as our policemen. The coachmen in Paris seem to drive where they please, and if a policeman hold up a restraining hand it is questionable whether the driver of a public vehicle would pay much attention to his warning. They sometimes rather timidly hold up batons. It is therefore necessary to be careful in the more crowded places in crossing the streets. The little victorias skim past in such happy go lucky fashion that the wonder is there are not more frequent accidents.

In Paris the modern fashionable quarter for dwelling houses lies in the Chaussee d'Antin and west of the Madeleine, near the Elysee and the Champs Elysees, the district of the Faubourg St. Honore. The old aristocracy chiefly inhabits the Faubourg St. Germain, south of the Seine, opposite the Tuileries and its gardens. The famous Quartier Latin, the resort of students and art workers, lies east of the Faubourg St. Germain. This is the learned corner of Paris. Here are the universities, most of the colleges, schools and scientific institutions, and for centuries this has been regarded as the students' quarter. Behind the Church of the Sarbonne is the Lycee Louis le Grand, founded in 1560 by Francis I and rebuilt by the Jesuits in 1680. Close by, on the Place du Pantheon, is the Lycee Henri Quatre, with its ancient though restored tower. This formed part of the old abbey of St. Genevieve. The ancient refectory is now used as the chapel of the Lycee.

North of the river and to the east of the Place de la Bastille, the Faubourg St. Antoine is the artisan quarter, where the chief part of the working people dwell. Here are found cabinet makers, wood carvers, carpenters, all the useful trades, and in revolutionary times the outbreak has usually proceeded from or been fomented in this quarter. There is a most interesting museum, the Musee Carnavalet, a beautiful building, begun early in the sixteenth century and finished 100 years later. It stands in the Rue Sevigne, a street leading on the left from the Rue de Rivoli, just where that street changes its name to Rue St. Antoine. The Maison Carnavalet was the town residence of Mme. de Sevigne from 1677 to 1696. It is now a municipal museum and contains objects relating to the history of Paris from early down to recent times. Various objects here have connection with or illustrate the revolutions of 1789, 1830 and 1848. Some of the sculpture on the building is the work of the famous Jean Goujon, 1520-1572.—Chicago News.

Blacksmith Aprons.

Every Easter Monday morning the blacksmiths all over the land, following an immemorial custom, put on new leather aprons. They do this twice a year, at the Easter and Christmas holidays. Dealers expect it of them and lay in a great stock in advance. The most recherche blacksmith's apron is now made of sheepskin. It has a diamond shaped bib to cover the breast, but fashion dictates that should not be worn up, but should fall from the waist down over the stomach carelessly.

The apron fastens behind with two brass buttons and comes in three colors, white, lemon and tan. The white one, which is affected by the younger and more modish sort of blacksmith, is reinforced and padded at the knees for horseshoeing and such like work. This is an effeminacy disdained by the austere and hardy blacksmith of the old school. Though all aprons are slit up the middle to the thigh, they still continue to be sold unslit. It is because the manufacturers are not progressive. An apron costs $1 and lasts about six months.—Philadelphia Record.

GREAT SLAUGHTER IN ATTACK ON LEGATIONS

Chinese Mob Mowed Down by Rapid Firing Guns in an Attack on the Foreign Legations--Tien Tsin Burned.

SLAUGHTER AT PEKIN

Shanghai, June 19—It is reported that the Chinese soldiers have burned Tien Tsin. Yu Let, the Viceroy of Chi Le, has fled. According to the latest reports here the Pekin Legations were attacked by Chinese Manchus. Two onslaughts were made by the mob, but they were mowed down by machine guns. The slaughter being particularly severe at the gates of the British and Russian Legations. Many high officials are reported to have been killed.

20,000 TROOPS FROM JAPAN

Yokohama, June 19—It is reported here that the Powers have asked Japan to send 20,000 troops to China and that the Japanese Government has consented to do so.

AMERICAN TROOPS FOR TIEN TSIN

New York, N.Y., June 19—The President has directed Gen. Macarthur to send three regiments of regulars to Tien Tsin, which with their support of Commissary, field transportation, signalmen and staff, will make a force of 3900, says a Washington special. Admiral Romey has been directed to send the Oregon to Taku as soon as she can start. She will take extra marines and sailors from the Monterey, now with her at Hong Kong.

ANXIETY AT SHANGHAI

Shangai, June 19.—The consulates have received no communication from the legations at Pekin since June 11, and the greatest anxiety prevails as to their safely. There are innumerable rumors, but there is nothing of an authentic nature. The stories purporting to describe the situation at Pekin, June 17, merely reiterate previous accounts. The viceroy of Manking has taken vigorons measures to a prevent a rising in his district.

NOTHING IMPORTANT HAS DEVELOPED TO-DAY

Lord Roberts Reports That Over 2,000 Stand of Arms Have Been Given up--First Train Through Laing's Nek Tunnel.

NO IMPORTANT DEVELOPEMENTS

London, June 19.—No important developements mark the progress of the British in the Transvaal. Lord Roberts reports that over 2,000 stands of arms have been given up at Pretoria, since the occupation of the capital. Gen. Buller reports that the first train passed through Laing's Nek tunnel Monday, June 11, and proceeded to Charlestown.

TO-NIGHT'S MEETING

Hear the Rev. J. G. Shearer on the "Imperilled Sabbath" To night.

It is earnestly desired that all the churches will be fully represented in the public meeting in the Y.M.C.A. hall to-night, when the Rev. J. G. Shearer, B.A., will address the meeting on the subject, "Our imperilled Sabbath and how to save it." To church workers, Sabbath school teachers and young People's Societies, this matter should be of the deepest concern for the opportunities secured by a preserved Sabbath for the teaching, training and saving of the young are too essential to admit of any indifferentism.

To the laborer, mechanic and clerk, this is also of profound interest as the toiler's day of rest is threatened on every side. If many are quite safe from peril there are those who already are in bondage. For their sakes it is imperative that all take a personal and practical interest.

CHINA HAS DECLARED WAR.

Imperial Forts at Taku Opened Fire on the Foreign Fleet.

International Fleet Captures the Forts After a Combined Attack—Chinese Fire Was Unexpected—The Casualties Were: Killed, British, 1; German, 3, Russia, 16; and French, 1; Fifty-Two Wounded—Forts Are Now Occupied.

London, June 19.—(8.30 a.m.)—China declared war against the world when the Taku forts opened fire on the International fleet. The accounts of what took place are still unsatisfactory, the best semi-official information being the despatch received at Berlin from Che Foo as follows:

Berlin, June 18.—(Later.)—A semi-official despatch from Che Foo announced that the Taku forts had been captured after a combined attack by the foreign warships. Three men on the German warship Iltis were killed and seven were wounded.

The despatch added that the foreign settlements at Tien Tsin were being fired. When the despatch left nothing had been heard from the German detachment sent to Pekin or from the German Legation there.

Story From Che Foo.

An Associated Press despatch from Che Foo, dated yesterday, says:

"The forts on both sides of the Taku are now occupied. The Chinese opened fire unexpectedly.

The Casualties.

"The casualties to the mixed forces were as follows: Killed—British 1, German 3, Russian 16 and French 1. Wounded—British 4, German 7, Russian 45 and French 1.

"The Chinese torpedo boats were seized."

Orders From Pekin to Fire.

The Shanghai correspondent of The Daily Mail, telegraphing yesterday says:

"The Taku forts began firing in obedience to orders from Pekin, conveyed in a personal edict of the Empress Dowager, by advice of Kang Yi, President of the Ministry of War. Several warships were struck by shells from the 12-inch guns of the forts.

Heavy Russian Losses.

"The heavy Russian losses were due to the blowing up of the magazine at Nandaber.

"Four hundred Chinese are reported to have been killed. The Chinese, when retreating, fell into the hands of the Russian land force."

Details of Taku Fight.

The Shanghai correspondent of The Times, under yesterday's date gives the following description, said to be taken from official sources, of the action at Taku:

"On the afternoon of June 16, in view of the large bodies of Chinese troops assembling at the forts, and of the facts that the torpedoes had been laid in the river, and that all communications were interrupted, the naval commanders held a council and decided to send an ultimatum calling for the disbandment of the troops, and announcing that, if this demand were not complied with before 2 a. m., of the following day, the united squadron would destroy the forts.

The Forts Opened Fire.

"Shortly after midnight the forts opened fire. The British, French, German, Russian and Japanese warships replied. Two of the forts were blown up, and the rest were carried by assault.

"Two British, one American and five Chinese warships are in Che Foo harbor."

The morning papers consider that a state of war practically exists, and that the issue is between Western and Eastern civilization. The Times says that the latest news indefinitely increases a situation already sufficiently serious.

TAKU FORTS TAKEN.

They Fired on the Foreign Warships, but Soon Had to Surrender.

Berlin, June 18.—(1.30 p.m.)—The German Consul at Che Foo cables that an engagement is proceeding at Taku between the Chinese forts and the foreign warships.

Taku Forts Occupied.

London, June 19.—A despatch from Che Foo, under yesterday's date, says: "The forces of the combined fleets occupied the Taku north forts yesterday after exploding a magazine. The British gunboat Algerine was damaged and two of her officers and four men were wounded. Japan and Russia are reported to be landing a large force of troops. All is quiet here."

Taku Forts Fired and Surrendered.

Washington, June 19. — The Navy Department has been informed by Admiral Kempff that the Taku forts yesterday fired on the foreign ships, and, after a brief engagement, surrendered.

THE PARIS FAIR.

The mineral display of British Columbia and the Yukon is particularly fine. The timber exhibit comprises all kinds of Canadian woods from a shoe peg to a saw log.

Vesuvius is situated next to the Champ de Mars railway station, and, besides the eruption and other volcanic display, there is a series of other attractions, including concerts and theatrical performances.

Professor Bernhard E. Fernow of the College of Forestry of Cornell university has been elected an official delegate to the international congress of forestry, to be held in connection with the Paris exposition.

It is said that more than $10,000,000 has been invested in the private enterprises known as "side shows," and the exposition authorities have evidently profited by the experience of the World's fair promoters in letting concessions on the Midway. Most of these "side shows" are backed by stock companies, and their capitalization is enormous.

She Was Pale and Languid

Too Nervous to Sleep, and Daily Grew Weaker and Weaker—Dr. Chase's Nerve Food Restored Health and Vigor.

Mrs. E. McLaughlin, 85 Parliament street, Toronto, states:—"My daughter was pale, weak, languid, and very nervous. Her appetite was poor and changeable. She could scarcely drag herself about the house, and her nerves were completely unstrung. She could not sleep for more than half an hour at a time without starting up and crying out in excitement.

"As she was growing weaker and weaker I became alarmed, and obtained a box of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. She used this treatment for several weeks, and from the first we noticed a decided improvement. Her appetite became better, she gained in weight, the colour returned to her face, and she gradually became strong and well. I cannot say too much in favour of this wonderful treatment, since it has proven such a blessing to my daughter."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is a blood-builder and nerve vitalizer of most unusual merit. In pill form, 50c a box, at all dealers; or Edmanson, Bates and Co., Toronto.

"To Err is Human."

But to err all the time is criminal or idiotic. Don't continue the mistake of neglecting your blood. When impurities manifest themselves in eruptions or when disordered conditions of stomach, kidneys, liver or bowels appear, take Hood's Sarsaparilla. It will make pure, live blood, and put you in good health.

A CONFESSION OF WEAKNESS.

It now appears that the Government has lost courage again and the general elections will be delayed until after another session. Last year the elections had been decided on, but the blundering of the Government in dealing with and the opposition among the Ministers to the sending of a Canadian contingent roused such a strong feeling that a delay was decided. Then it was announced, all but officially, that the elections would be on this fall and the Liberals were warned to be prepared. But the Opposition have pressed the Government so closely, exposed the mismanagement so glaringly, and unearthed the scandals and deals so diligently that it is said that another delay has been decided on. If this is true it is a confession that the Ministers recognize their weakness, and propose to wait the limit of their term in the hope that something may turn up that will attract attention from their scandalous record and allow them to secure another lease of office. But next year they will not be able to postpone the inevitable any longer, and will have to face the people. The Conservatives can afford to wait, for the Government gets worse as it gets older, and every year adds to the record of mismanagement, deals, scandals and corruption.

A PAGE OF THE RECORD.

"The plain fact is that the one issue "of the election will be whether the "people are satisfied with what the "Government has done."

Thus declares a Liberal journal, and the case could not be more tersely put, says the Montreal Gazette. The Government will be judged, not by its pledges, not by the speeches of its members, not by the volumes of words which its defenders pour out, but by its acts. As they are understood and appreciated by the common people will be rendered the verdict. And the Government's acts are writ large in the record, adds our contemporary.

It broke a contract for a fast Atlantic mail service to put the St. Lawrence on a level with New York, and it proved itself unable to make another.

It broke an arrangement by which the Crow's Nest Pass railway was to have been constructed for $1,600,000, and made another that cost the country $3,600,000.

It bought from a political supporter at a price far above its cash cost the Drummond County Railway, and then bonused another railway to take trade away from it.

It made a contract, without tenders being asked, for the construction of a railway into the Yukon country, pledging as a bonus millions upon millions of square miles of land in the great gold-bearing region, a contract so bad that the whole people revolted against it.

It filled the Yukon country with officials whose conduct was so scandalous that the greatest journal of opinion in England said the relations between people and rulers in that section of the British Empire were everything that they should not be.

It refused a public independent enquiry into the conduct of these officials, though charges were made against them by name on the floor of Parliament by a member of the Privy Council.

It bungled its tariff legislation so that Canadian grain was shut out of the German market.

It instituted a [illegible] preferential tariff system from which Canada has not received and cannot receive any commercial advantage, and which cannot be made effective of its pretended purpose, except at the risk of Canadian industries.

It put an insulting "no precedent" proviso in the order-in-council authorizing the despatch of Canadian soldiers to the war in South Africa.

It compromised suits of customs fraud which had been brought into the courts, and this against the protests of straightforward importers and merchants.

It appointed unqualified men, and men who had been condemned by the courts as political corruptionists, to important places of trust and emolument.

It spent tens of thousands of dollars in paying partisan commissions for going about the country looking through the public service for employés who had voted against its party candidates.

It marked every [illegible] job, almost every [illegible] by [illegible] and every batch of [illegible] with the proof of extravagance.

It raised [illegible] more by taxation than its [illegible] had declared the people could bear, and spent ten millions more a year than they had pledged themselves to show was sufficient for the needs of the country.

It developed "the machine" as a factor in electoral fraud, and raised ballot stealing, cheating at the polls and corruption to the level of a science.

It established the system of giving contracts without tender to political friends, who sublet the work at a profit to themselves and a loss to the country to men capable of doing it.

It gave the country the "business is business" letter as a politician's idea of public ethics.

It forced two qualified commanders of the militia to throw up their positions in disgust at the ideals and methods of its administration of the country's armed forces.

The above constitutes a page from the record of the Government. If the people are satisfied with it, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Mr. Tarte, Mr. Sifton and Mr. Blair will be entrusted at the elections to go on doing the same sort of thing for another five years. If the people are in their right minds there will be another story to tell.

Tarte has not been called home yet.

It begins to look as if the "boxers" will have to be "boxed."

The Laurier Government still stands by Tarte and Bourassa.

China is in danger of being broken into several pieces, and these pieces placed in the collection of European nations.

It will be interesting to know just what it has cost Canadians to have Mr. Tarte in Paris misrepresenting them and their country to the world.

The United States Democrats are calculating on carrying New York in November, because since 1872 it has never voted twice in a presidential contest in the same way. Here is the record giving year, successful candidate and plurality:—

1872... ...	...Grant, Republican...	22,515
1876... ...	...Tilden, Democrat...	5,515
1880... ...	...Garfield, Republican... ...	6,641
1884... ...	...Cleveland, Democrat... ...	6,512
1888... ...	...Harrison, Republican......	2,348
1892... ...	...Cleveland, Democrat... ...	7,126
1896... ...	...McKinley, Republican ...	18,181

The Hamilton Herald, (independent Liberal), makes a point against the Government in this paragraph:—

"A Dominion civil servant, the father of a member of parliament, is accused of committing perjury and of personation in the political interests of his son in 1896. The government does not deny the truth of the accusation, but says the offence was committed so long ago that it's not worth while going into the matter now. If the government's position is right, the electoral commission won't have any business to investigate fraud and corruption as far back as 1896."

Woman's Welfare

Paine's Celery Compound

Gives and Maintains a Perfect Condition of Bodily Health.

The great susceptibility of women to nervousness and worry is heightened by the fact that, in the majority of cases, they had confined and monotonous lives, narrowed down to the four walls of home the greater part of the day.

Paine's Celery Compound is just what such nervous and depressed women need to restore their nerves to energy and to lift them out of their constipated, dyspeptic habit of body.

No other remedy known to medical men is so rich in flesh-forming and energy-producing constituents for women as Paine's Celery Compound. It is also a true and unfailing regulator, keeps the blood pure and rich, and maintains an even condition of good health that makes a woman contented and happy. Mrs. Wilcox, of Creemore, Ont., writes as follows:—

"For years I have suffered from constant sick headache and nervousness. At times I have been so bad that I have been unable to sleep two hours a night for weeks. I have tried many medicines and doctored a great deal, but never received a hundredth part of the value from them that I obtained from Paine's Celery Compound. After using three bottles I can sleep well, my headaches have ceased, and I feel healthier and fresher than I have been for years."

The Indian Famine.

London, June 19.— The following despatch has been received from the Viceroy of India: "The week's famine reports show a state of general expectancy, pending the advance of the monsoon, which has not yet appeared. Rain has fallen in Burmah."

Nervousness is cured by making the blood rich and pure with Hood's Sarsaparilla. It gives the sweet refreshing sleep of childhood.

Blood Disorders

are simply kidney disorders. The kidneys filter the blood of all that shouldn't be there. The blood passes through the kidneys every three minutes. If the kidneys do their work no impurity or cause of disorder can remain in the circulation longer than that time. Therefore if your blood is out of order your kidneys have failed in their work. They are in need of stimulation, strengthening or doctoring. One medicine will do all three, the finest and most imitated blood medicine there is Communication Re-Established.

New York, June 19.—The cable companies yesterday morning issued the following notice: "Telegraphic communication with Taku and Tien Tsin has been re-established, via the Siberian and Helempo route."

CAPTURE OF TAKU FORTS.

First News Received by Lord Salisbury From American Sources.

London, June 19.—The despatch from Admiral Kempff, dated Washington, containing the American Admiral's report of the engagement at Taku, was the first news Lord Salisbury received of the capture of the Taku forts. The British Government had been aware that an engagement was proceeding, but it had been ignorant of the result, and the greatest satisfaction was evinced.

The officials of the Foreign Office say no word had been received from the British Minister at Pekin, Sir Claude M. Macdonald, since June 12, and the Government was ignorant as to whether the legations at the Chinese capital had been captured or not. The admirals on the spot were relied on to overcome all difficulties. Admiral Seymour, the British commander, not being hampered by orders, and any requests which he might make would be promptly met.

There Was a Bombardment.

Berlin, June 19.—The German Consul at Che Foo telegraphs that a Japanese torpedo boat from Tkku has brought the following:

"The Chinese laid torpedoes in the Taku River, and collected troops from Shan Hei Kwan. The foreign commanders assembled on the Russian flagship and addressed an ultimatum to the commanders of the Taku forts, summonung them to withdraw their troops before 2 o'clock, June 17. At 1 a. m., June 17, the guns of the forts opened fire, to which the Russian, British, French and Japanese war ships replied. The bombardment lasted seven hours. Two British ships in the river between the forts are reported to have been sunk. The telegraph line and railroad between Tien Tsin and Taku were destroyed. Communication by water is also threatened."

THE NEWS CORROBORATED.

Forts at the Mouth of the Pei Ho River Have Surrendered.

Washington, June 19.—The actual news of the Chinese situation was received by the Navy Department in two cablegrams, the contents of which are made known as follows:

"The department has received a cablegram from Admiral Remey at Cavite, dated June 18, that informs the department that Commander Taussig cables that the Taku forts at the mouth of the Pei Ho River fired on the foreign gun vessels, and surrendered to the allied forces on the morning of the 17th. The department has instructed Admiral Kempff to concur with the other powers in taking all steps necessary to protect all American interests.

"A despatch from Taussig, dated Che Foo, June 17, says that the Taku forts fired on foreign vessels at 12.45 in the morning, and reports that the British Admiral is at Tien Tsin."

Couldn't Reach Pekin.

London, June 19.—The Admiralty Office has received the following official despatch from Che Foo, under yesterday's date: "The Japanese man-of-war Tsyahasi has just arrived from Taku. She reports that the Commander-in-Chief and troops are back at Tien Tsin."

Yamagata Remains in Office.

Yokohama, June 19.—The Marquis of Yamagata, the Premier, at the request of the emperor, consents to remain in office, in view of the Chinese situation.

Japan Sends 2,000 Troops.

London, June 19.—The Yokohama correspondent of The Times says: "Japan is sending 2,000 troops to China. At the audience granted to the Japanese representative at Seoul, the Corean Emperor expressed regret for the torture and execution of the two refugees, which, occurred without the Imperial knowledge. His Majesty promised that the judicial officials involved should be punished. The incident is thus closed."

Bengal Infantry Under Orders.

Simla, June 19.—In consequence of the gravity of the Chinese situation, the 7th Bengal Infantry has been ordered to proceed to Hong Kong.

Russia Demands Indemnity.

London, June 19.—A despatch from Shanghai says Russia has demanded 50,000,000 taels indemnity for the damage done to the Chinese railroads in which Russians are interested.

Mr. Brodick Explains in the House.

London, June 19.—In the House of Commons, Mr. Broderick yesterday for the Government amplified the admiralty's news from Che Foo. He said the Japanese warships reported that the Chinese forts opened fire on the gunboats at the mouth of the river on Sunday, 12.30 a.m., that the ships then engaged the forts, and that the engagement was proceeding when the Japanese ships left at 5.30 a.m. on that day. Detachments from all the foreign warships were landed Saturday to protect Taku. There was one Chinese warship at Taku which remained passive.

Mr. Broderick added that British, Russian, Japanese and French reinforcements were due to arrive about Thursday. Mr. Broderick said he had heard that the telegraph line from Taku to Tien Tsin had been restored.

Only at Senders' Risk.

New York, June 19. — The Anglo-American Telegraph Company has sent out a notice saying: "Telegrams for Tien Tsin and places beyond in China are only accepted at sender's risk."

Wilson Gets Seven Years.

Toronto, June 19.—George McClive Wilson, the ex-paying teller of the Merchants' Bank, will spend the next seven years in Kingston Penitentiary. He was sentenced by Deputy Magistrate Kingsford yesterday to three years each on the two charges of embezzling $2,000, to which he pleaded guilty, the terms to run concurrently. On the charge of stealing the $10,000 package, he was convicted, and sentenced to four years' imprisonment, the term to commence at the expiration of the other sentences.

Fox Bay Settlers at Dauphin.

Winnipeg, June 19.—The Fox Bay settlers have gone to their future home at Dauphin.

Charles Minnack, an employe at Ogilvie's mill, while attending to his duties yesterday, was caught by cable rope used for drawing cars. Both legs broken. He came from Eastern Canada.

A Sessional Clerk Dead.

Ottawa, June 19.—Mr. W. Owens, one of the sessional clerks of the House of Commons, and formerly a member of the press gallery for The Charlottetown (P.E.I.) Examiner, died of heart disease yesterday, after a few days' illness.

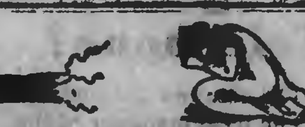
Hicks—Got so you like golf better than you did, I suppose?

Wicks—Well, I won't say that, but I get along with it better. I have got my wife interested in it, you see. She does the dialect and I do the outdoor work, so it isn't so very exhausting to either of us. —Boston Transcript.

His Eyes Open.

"Have you considered what matrimony means?" asked old Dar in Mark.

"Oh, yes," replied young Speedy. "That's why I want to marry your daughter."—Philadelphia North American.



It has been wittily said of the martyrs that they were people who were cannonaded while they lived and were canonized when they were dead. The same thing might be said of many a woman, who has been cannonaded by censures and criticisms while she lived and canonized as a saint after death.

Husbands don't mean to be small and selfish. But they can't understand the sufferings which come with debilitating drains, irregularity, inflammation, or ulceration of the sensitive female organs.

Thousands of happy women pay tribute to the wonderful change in their lives effected by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is not a cure-all. It has a specific purpose, in the curing of diseases peculiar to women. It cures these diseases perfectly.

Sick women can consult Dr. Pierce free by letter. Each letter is treated as a sacred confidence, privately read and promptly answered. All answers are in plain envelopes. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

"My health is much better since I have been using Dr. Pierce's medicines," writes Mrs. Cora [illegible], of [illegible], Franklin Co., Ga. "After having a miscarriage in [illegible], I suffered with a pain in my left side and a lingering cough which grew worse and worse. I used [illegible] of C——, but it only gave me temporary relief. Last spring I got [illegible] anything and my husband went to the drug store and called for [illegible] of C——, and the druggist recommended Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription as better, so he brought one bottle. Wheat Four Cents Higher, on Damage From Drought Reports—The Visible Supply—The Latest Quotations.

Liverpool, June 19.—Wheat futures advanced yesterday and closed ⅛d per cental higher than on Saturday.

Chicago, June 19.—Wheat futures yesterday opened up strong. The July option advanced 4⅛c over Saturday's close and held all the gain but ½c. Weather and crop damage reports from the west are doleful still.

VISIBLE AND AFLOAT.

As compared with a week ago, the visible supply of wheat in Canada and the United States has decreased 281,000 bushels. The visible supply of wheat in Canada and the United States, together with that afloat to Europe, is 76,496,000 bushels, against 78,987,000 bushels a week ago, and 68,659,000 bushels a year ago.

Montreal, June 19.—The C.P.R. earnings for the traffic week ending June 14 were $575,000. For the same week last year the total was $530,000, showing an increase this year of $45,000.

THE COOKBOOK.

Meat for soup should be cut into small pieces.

Fish is fresh when the eyes are clear, the gills red and the flesh firm.

When making tea, if the kettle should have boiled, pour a cup of cold water in and let it boil up again before making, and you will find the tea will be as nice again.

The soapstone griddle must be made very hot before the batter is poured upon it. Such a griddle should be heated gradually, but must be hot enough to bake the cake quickly. Never grease a soapstone griddle. If the cakes stick, it is because the griddle is not hot enough.

DROPPING TO EARTH.

THE FEAT OF JUMPING FROM A BALLOON WITH A PARACHUTE.

According to the Aeronaut, It Is Not a Very Dangerous Trick—The Manner In Which the Thrilling Performance Is Managed.

"Is it a dangerous business?" said the aeronaut in answer to a question. "No. The crowds at the fair grounds, at the Fourth of July celebrations, the land sales and the picnics all think that our work going up into the air a couple of thousand feet and then dropping back to the earth is a dreadfully dangerous trick, but the men who do it think nothing of it. Of course a man must have nerve and must have confidence in his parachute, and then if he keeps his wits about him and keeps sober the rest is easy. We get $250 for an ascension, $100 a day when we give a week's performances, and when we have a month's stand the price is much lower, but the pay is always good, and, besides this and the excitement, we have the satisfaction of being great heroes in the towns where we show."

In a corner of the room stood a canvas covered roll about as large in diameter as a flour barrel and a little higher. "There's a balloon," said the aeronaut, "all ready to be sent away for use, and in the trunk are the ropes, life belts and all the fixings requisite for inflating except what we get on the spot. When we reach the fair grounds or any place where we expect to give an exhibition, we build a trench about 18 feet long, two feet wide and three feet deep, and in this a fire is made of dry hard wood. The favorite material is old barrel staves. When the fire has been built, the excavation is covered over with sheet iron and two inches of earth. Then a layer of planks soaked with water is put on and on this a final coating of earth. This is all done to keep the metal from getting too hot and sagging with the weight of the people who stand on it to hold the balloon while the hot air is going through a portable cylinder and into the balloon.

"When the balloon is full, it is about 85 feet high and 145 feet in circumference. It is made of ordinary sheeting and will carry a man to the height of one mile if the wind is favorable. It will remain up until the air cools off, usually about two hours. While the hot air is going into the balloon there is a man on the inside who has a wet cloth tied over his mouth and nostrils to protect him against the smoke. It is his business to keep an eye on the operation and quench any stray spark that may get into the balloon. When the word is given, 'Everybody let go!' he must get where the ropes can't catch him when the balloon shoots into the air. If he is caught and does not retain his nerve and drops, he may land in the basket with the two aeronauts, or he may cause the death of all three. The show usually consists of going up about 2,000 feet and then making the jump with the parachute."

The parachutes hang at either side of the balloon and are not great umbrellas, as many people believe them to be, but resemble more closely the upper part of a balloon, with a lot of ropes terminating in a trapeze bar. It is all cloth and rope and has no ribs. When expanded, it is about 19 feet in diameter.

In speaking of the jump the aeronaut said: "When the earth has disappeared and when the sound of the music has died out, one man pulls the parachute on his side of the basket, gets on the bar and swings himself off into space, and there he hangs for a few seconds in or above the clouds. Then he pulls a rope which causes a knife to cut a string by which the parachute is held, and then he drops. He falls about 300 feet before the rush of air opens the parachute, and when that happens the resistance is so great that he rebounds about 40 feet. That's the time to hold on and keep your teeth set and your wits about you. After the rebound the parachute goes down slowly in a zigzag way and lands the aeronaut with about the same velocity as though he had jumped down a distance of six feet. When the first man has jumped, the lightened balloon shoots up a considerable distance, and when it has settled the second man makes his jump. He has the better end of it, for his parachute has more time to fill, but he usually lands farther away from the show grounds than the first man.

"Coming back to earth is a strange sensation. It lasts about five to eight minutes and is always, no matter how often one has made the trip, at least interesting. If one has the good luck to come down near to the place where he went up, one of the first sounds that he hears is the tooting of the band, and the tune is usually the same, so that going and coming the last and first sounds are 'Up in a balloon, boys.'

"People think it a risky business and look upon the balloon man as foolhardy, but the woods are full of men who want to go into it. The man who says he would not mind going up, jumping and being killed is the man we can't use. We want cool, active, fearless men, with good judgment and the proper appreciation of life.

"I had a strange experience once with a new man," said the aeronaut. "We made the ascent all right, and when it came time to jump the new man wanted to back out, saying he was afraid to jump. There were two things to do—one to remain up until the balloon cooled off and then come down with it and by that means spoil the show or to make the fellow jump, and it didn't take me long to make up my mind what to do. He had a life line about him which would hold him on the parachute even if he slipped off the bar, so I told him to move over on the outside to balance the balloon. He got out on the bar, never suspecting what would happen, and when I made sure that the life line was all right I cut the line by which the parachute was held, and away he went back to the ground. I watched him as he went down. I shot up, and when I reached the earth myself I found that he had landed all right. He has made the leap many times since then and has learned that there is not so much danger connected with the business as he fancied there was."

Eczema on the Scalp

Would Itch and Burn until the Child Screamed with Agony—A Wonderful Cure Effected by Dr. Chase's Ointment.

The case recorded here is one of the worst ever brought to the attention of Toronto's best physicians, and when doctors gave up all hope of recovery, Dr. Chase's Ointment was successful in producing a perfect cure.

Mr. James Scott, 126 Wright avenue, Toronto, states:—"My boy, Tom, aged ten, was for nearly three years afflicted with a bad form of Eczema of the scalp, which was very unsightly and resisted all kinds of remedies and doctor's treatment. His head was in a terrible state. We had to keep him from school, and at times his head would bleed, and the child would scream with agony. For two and a half years we battled with it in vain, but at last found a cure in Dr. Chase's Ointment. About five boxes were used. The original sores dried up, leaving the skin in its normal condition. To say it is a pleasure to testify to the wonderful merits of Dr. Chase's Ointment is putting it very mildly."

A Mania for Operations

Most physicians are anxious to try the surgeon's knife and recommend an operation for piles. A less cruel, less expensive and less risky method is the use of Dr. Chase's Ointment, a preparation that has never yet been known to fail to cure piles no matter of what form or of however long standing. Don't think of risking an operation when you can be cured in your own home by the use of Dr. Chase's Ointment. The best physicians use it in their practice.

Meets at Campbellford for a Three Days Conference.

The Peterborough Association of the Baptist churches opens sessions at Campbellford this afternoon. The sessions will continue until Thursday night. The ministers from here who will attend are Rev. J. Bastow, of Murray-st., who will go down to-morrow, and Rev. W. A. Gunton, of the Gilmour Memorial church, and Rev. O .C. Elliott, of the Park-st. church. With Rev. Mr. Elliott from Park-st. the delegates are Mrs. T. G. Gillespie, Mrs. M. Mowry, Miss Edith Crossley, Mr. M. Mowry and Mr. W. J. Rome.

Murray-st. and Gilmour Memorial also sent delegates.

A Social and Festival.

The Woman's Auxiliary of St. John's met yesterday afternoon and arranged for a public at home and social festival to be held in St. John's school house and adjoining grounds next Monday evening, 25th inst. Refreshments, music, vocal and instrumental and other attractions will diversify the evening.

Anniversary.

The committee in charge of the arrangements for the third anniversary of the opening of the Y.M.C.A. met last evening and completed plans for a most enjoyable time on Thursday evening next. Gliddon's orchestra has been secured to furnish the musical programme. The ladies will serve refreshments. Everybody interested in the building is invited to attend and have a good time.

THE ALDERMEN IN SHORT SESSION

THURSDAY WILL BE A PUBLIC HALF HOLIDAY

The Appeal Against the Dodger Case—Re appointment of the Tax Collector A Matter to Come Before the Railway Committee of the Privy Council.

A brief session of the Town Council was held yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock. There were present Mayor Kendrey and Ald. Sawers, Roger, Oke, Corkery, Weir and Denne.

The first business had reference to an old matter, the settlement of the claim of John Green for damages done to his lot in the creek by the C.P.R. The Canadian Pacific Railway Co. had agreed to deal with Mr. Green re damages, but did not do so and the Town Council settled with Mr. Green. Now it looks to the C.P.R. to reimburse it. The matter comes before the Privy Council Ottawa on Thursday morning next. A resolution was passed giving Mayor Kendrey full power to represent the town at the meeting of the Privy Council. Town Solicitor Edwards will also be present, if it is possible for him to get away from the camp at Kingston.

THURSDAY HALF HOLIDAY.

Ald. Denne presented the petition of the merchants for a half holiday on Thursday, Decoration Day. On motion of Ald. Denne, seconded by Ald. Roger, it was ordered that a proclamation be issued declaring Thursday afternoon a holiday.

NO FURTHER USE.

On motion of Ald. Roger, seconded by Ald. Weir, the clerk was instructed to notify Mr. Belleghem that the town gives up possession of the lot on the corner of London and Aylmer-sts., which the town has used for piling stone, etc.

THE DODGER CASE.

The Town Solicitor reported on the appeal of Mr. Gus Sawers against the conviction registered against him by Magistrate Dumble for infraction of the by-law prohibiting the throwing of hand bills on the street. He stated that County Judge Weller quashed the conviction on the ground that the defendant was not the right man, he being absent and not having authorized the distribution. The conviction was quashed without costs and the town's position is not affected.

RE-APPOINTED COLLECTOR.

A by-law was passed re-appointing Henry Denne Collector of taxes at a salary of $850 per annum.

DEBENTURES.

A resolution was passed that the rate of interest for the local improvement debentures to be issued to be 3 1-2 per cent, and that $150 be added to the cost of the sidewalks to cover the cost of selling the debentures.

HE GOT PUGNACIOUS.

George Valois Got Indiscreet in Police Court and Had His Term Lengthened.

County Magistrate Edmison held court this afternoon. Geo. Valois was charged with stealing a bicycle belonging to Frank Forbes, who had left it at Morgan's hotel, Warsaw, for his brother to call for. Valois pleaded guilty and the Magistrate lectured him and sentenced him to three months in goal at hard labor. As he was turning away, however, the prisoner threatened Forbes, saying "Wait till I get out and I'll smash your face for you." High County Constable Cochrane overheard it and faced him right about and the Magistrate made his sentence two months longer, five months in all.

—Any friends who may desire to contribute flowers to the Oddfellows' decoration day ceremonies may leave them at H. Long's store or at Oddfellows' hall after one o'clock on Thursday.

—Mayor Kendrey will not be able to be at the Douro picnic on Thursday, as intended, owing to his having to represent the town before the Railway Committee of the Privy Council at Ottawa on that day.

—Last evening while walking on the sidewalk on the street that forms the southern boundary of the town, that leading to the locks, Mrs. F. W. Miller was injured by a loose plank flying up and striking her. She was taken to the house of Mr. L. Letellier, where she recovered.

THE PERJURY CASE

Evidence Taken Against John Macfarlane in the Charge of Perjury.

A session of the police court was held yesterday afternoon, at which evidence was taken regarding the charge of perjury laid against John Macfarlane by John Montgomery. It will be remembered that Macfarlane denied on oath using language which Montgomery swore he had used. Yesterday afternoon Robert Long, an employee of the Times press room, and Charles Guy, of the Palace restaurant, swore to overhearing Macfarlane using vile language to Montgomery on the morning in question. They corroborated Montgomery's evidence. Macfarlane claims that this is only one side of the story. County Crown Attorney Wood conducted the prosecution and Mr. D. O'Connell defended Macfarlane. The Magistrate reserved judgment till this morning, and this morning further enlarged the case till Saturday morning.

THE CANOE PARADE

Will Take Place To-morrow Night on the Little Lake.

The illuminated canoe parade will take place to-morrow evening on the Little lake. All canoeists are requested to join the fleet at the foot of Sherbrooke-st., where the line of cruise will be directed by Commodore R. M. Roy.

It is requested particularly as the opening event of the canoeing season in Peterborough, that all persons having canoes and boats will have them as gaily decorated as possible.

For the benefit of the citizens generally it may be stated that the cruise may be witnessed from the steamboat wharf, the Bay, or from Burnham's point.

TOOK BIKE AND GIRL

Warrant for the Arrest of a Young Man of Toronto Junction.

Chief Roszel has received notice of the theft of two bicycles, against which people should be on the lookout. The first card states that there is a warrant for arrest of Benjamin Titus on a charge of stealing a Cleveland bicycle. It was stamped on the handle-bar with the number 145. It is a model 35 and has Dunlop tires. It was stolen from Jas. Hall. Titus is described at 22 years old, 5 ft 6 in. in height, fair, curly hair. He skipped out from Toronto Junction on Sunday night with a girl 15 years old.

Constable Goodman, of Cedardale, gives notice of the theft of a lady's wheel, Beatty & Brady make, enamelled dark green, wooden handles, red leather Christie saddle.

The Accused Not Guilty.

In the County Police Court yesterday hearing took place into the charge of theft against Henry Hughes, of Dummer. The accused was declared not guilty and was discharged.

FORMATION OF A NEW DISTRICT

PUTTING MORE LIFE AND VIGOR INTO THE LACROSSE CLUB.

The Team is now Strengthening Up and Some Good Sport Will Likely be Seen This Summer—The Field of General Sport.

Lacrosse matters have been in rather a mixed up state this spring but the placing of Peterborough in a strong district composed of the local club with Markham, Young Torontos, and Beaverton has put a new enthusiasm into the players and those who follow the fortunes of the national game in Peterborough anticipate a rare season's sport.

The Peterboroughs have lost some good men since last season, but there is the makings of a very fast twelve here yet and liberal assistance has been promised from some of the surrounding towns and villages, the clubs of which are not playing this year.

Beginning with the defence end of the field there are the names of several good men to consider for the position of goalkeeper. Ernie Wasson has defended the flags before and though he has not taken a very active part in the game recently yet his great performance is still spoken of when the Peterboroughs went to Cobourg to play the team of that place and found the pick of Port Hope's aggregation lined up against them. Ernie made a name for himself as goalkeeper on that occasion and with practice he should be able to get his eye in again, as his hockey training would stand him in good stead. Then again, young Carey, who played goal for Hastings a couple of years ago, is in town now and has shown that he is a very reliable man. Another player who is available in Lang Crowhurst, who guarded the flags for Port Hope when that town had such a strong team. Lang would do credit to any team in the league between the flags.

For the positions of point and cover point, there are that old reliable Jim McCabe and Lionel King, who has evinced a preference for playing on the defence this year. There is not much need of saying anything of this pair. Their work on many a hard fought field speaks for itself. Jack Mein also talks of getting out again. He is a hard man to pass and would of course strengthen the defence field considerably. For first, second and third defence men we have Myles McDonough, Oliver Dusty and Pat Kelly. In the practice work this spring McDonough showed up better than ever before. He is a hard checker as well as a safe catch and sure pass. Dusty is not so well known, having only come to Peterborough this spring. Last year he was the star of the Cannington team and the management is well satisfied with the way he has shown up in the practices. Pat Kelly made his debut in senior company last year and did well. He is the fastest runner on the team and should prove a splendid feeder to the home field.

Then there are Vic McWilliams and Ned

COUNTY COUNCIL IN JUNE SESSION

THE WARDEN'S ADDRESS REFERS TO SEVERAL MATTERS.

The Death of Trooper Hampton is Regretted and a Resolution is Moved—A School Matter from Galway and Cavandish.

The June session of the County Council opened at the Council Chamber in the Court House this afternoon. Mr. Jos. Forster, Warden, presided, and present were Messrs. Crowe, Fitzgerald, Eastland, Shaw, Hawthorne, Anderson, Buck, Pearse and Peck.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed.

THE WARDEN'S ADDRESS.

The Warden then read his annual address as follows:—

To the Members of the County Council of the County of Peterborough:—

Gentlemen,—It affords me great pleasure to again meet you in this assembly for the transaction of our county business.

It is a source of thankfulness that the prospects of a bountiful harvest are evident from the rapid growth and quantity of the crops sown which if as fortunately ripened and saved will realize our hopes in this respect.

This year should mark a special era in the history of our country from the efforts it has displayed to cement the bonds of united empire by the voluntary aid of its sons to Her Most Gracious Majesty the Queen and the Mother Country in overcoming and surpassing her enwmies and rebellious subjects in South Africa, and we cannot let the opportunity pass without alluding to the bravery, pluck, skillfulness and endurance displayed by our boys so handsomely mentioned in the despatches from the field by the Commander in Chief of the British forces, General Lord Roberts. And we sincerely regret the loss of so many of our brave countrymen who have fought and died for their Queen and Country, and more particularly for Mr. William Hampton, of Norwood, whose death in South Africa has recently been reported.

The advisability of an arbitration between the Town and County for the purpose of adjusting the amounts of expenditure in connection with the Administration of Justice, etc., having been suggested by the late Warden, Mr. Hawthorne, the County Council appointed Mr. Casement as arbitrator on their behalf whilst the Town was represented by Mr. Carnegie, and Dr. T. W. Poole, of Lindsay, was appointed third arbitrator. It is now some thirteen years since the last arbitration was held for this purpose. I am happy to say that the result on this occasion has been most satisfactory to this Council.

I am pleased to say that the spring freshets and ice have quietly passed away without any damage of moment to our bridges the expenditures on which are but of a slight nature and will be referred to in the County Engineer's report.

A few days since I had a communication from the Trent Valley Navigation Company with respect to the navigation through the swing of the Mud Lake bridge, which was out of repair and blocked by a floating island. This I have instructed the County Engineer to see and have put to rights.

Tenders for the erection of the new Mud Lake bridge have been fully advertised for, and it is satisfactory to know that with the liberal aid granted for this purpose by the two Governments and the town something definite may now be hoped for towards its construction. The tenders were due on yesterday's date and will be laid before you for consideration.

The agreement with the Peterborough Waterworks Company for the supply of water used in the county buildings and Court House grounds was submitted by the Company to the committee appointed by your Council for its consideration, when it was discovered that sufficient area was not provided for therein for the requirements of the Court House and grounds. I have therefore declined perfecting the contract until the Company have made the necessary alterations in the aforesaid contract, and the Clerk has notified the Water Company to that effect.

In accordance with a resolution of the Council I have entered into a contract with P. Alexander for the electric wiring of the Court House and offices and dwellings therein. The matter was carefully gone into and considered by the committee and the work is now being proceeded with.

JOS. FORSTER,
Warden.

The Warden also read a letter from Mr. W. H. Casement, the county's representative on the arbitration re the funds for the administration of justice, reporting the result of that arbitration, the official report of which had been sent to the County Clerk.

On motion of Mr. Pearce, seconded by Mr. Buck, the address was received and the communication placed on fyle.

THE LATE W. J. HAMPTON.

Mr. Pearce said he concurred with what had been said in the Warden's address regarding our soldiers in South Africa, and desired to add his word of appreciation of services rendered and his regret at the large number of lives that had been sacrificed. Especially did he regret the death of the Peterborough boy, Mr. W. J. Hampton, and he moved:—

That this Council regrets to learn from a telegram from the Adjutant General, Ottawa, that a cable message on the 15th inst. from South Africa, from which he regrets to report that 183, W. J. Hampton, Third Prince of Wales Dragoons, Canadian Mounted Rifles, died at Naauport on the 12th June inst. of enteric fever; the deceased was the eldest son of Mr. Wallace Hampton, who but recently removed from the village of Norwood to Parkbeg, N.W.T., to whom we desire to extend our sincere sympathy at the great and irreparable loss that he and his family have sustained by the sudden cutting short of the life of his son, just entering manhood estate, esteemed and respected by all who knew him.

And in tendering our expression of sorrow and condolence we desire to assure them that his name and memory as one of the sons of this county whose courage and loyalty in volunteering for active service and assisting to establish the rights and privileges of Her Majesty's subjects in South Africa, which were denied by the Government of that county, will ever remain as a monument in the hearts of the people of this county, and that a copy of this resolution be signed by the Warden and Clerk and forwarded to the family of the deceased.

Mr. Peck seconded the resolution, saying it was with sincere sorrow that he had read of Mr. Hampton's death. The loss of life in the war was a matter of deep regret all over the Empire, but when death took one of our own boys it seemed to bring the war nearer home. He hoped the war would soon be ended and the remainder of our contingent return in safety to their homes.

The resolution was adopted.

A SCHOOL MATTER.

A communication was read from ratepayers of the townships of Galway and

Mr. E. C. Dean, City Editor of the Daily British Whig, Kingston, Ont., was a sufferer for thirteen years from neuralgia in the head. Hearken to his unsolicited testimony: I take much pleasure in testifying to the efficacy of Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure for the treatment of neuralgia. I suffered for thirteen years with neuralgia in my head, immediately above the eyes. For one whole year before trying Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure, I was scarcely ever free from pain, and for five weeks at a stretch I was confined to my room unable to eat or sleep and during this time six physicians treated me declaring that they had given me every remedy known to the medical profession, but without affording me even temporary relief, except when they administered morphine hypodermically. A friend, Henry Wade, the well known druggist, recommended to me a trial of Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure. Less than half a bottle gave me relief, and after taking the contents of three bottles I am able to declare myself completely cured.

Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure is put up in 50 cent bottles, containing ten days' treatment. For sale by all druggists and dealers in medicine. The Dr. Hall Medicine Co., Kingston, Ont.

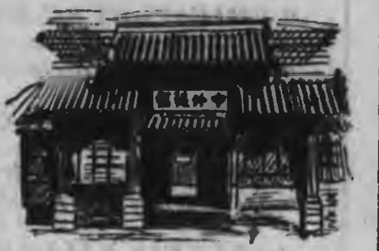
"BOXERS" OF CHINA.

DERIVATION AND MEANING OF THE TERM IN ENGLISH.

Popularity of Secret Societies Having as Their Main Object the Extermination of All "Foreign Devils" — Reasons Chinamen Give for the Favor With Which Such Societies Are Regarded by the Chinese People.

The present internal disturbances in China are due to the resistance to foreign aggressions offered by the society of the "Great Knife." The society is called in English the "Boxers." The membership is supposed to exceed 100,000. A strong public sentiment exists in China against the foreign despoliation of the kingdom now in progress. The effort to dismember China by foreign powers promises to be the international tragedy of the twentieth century. The "Boxers" Society is a secret organization, supposedly encouraged by the ruling Chinese dynasty, and has for its principal object the driving of all foreigners out of the empire. The Chinese race has an antiquity of at least 6,000 years.

It is difficult to get at the Chinaman's version of the origin of the "Boxers." No experience of his in the past justifies him in being frank with his Caucasian brother. Still, there is something at hand to show why a "Boxer" in China itself is a national patriot, even though abhorred in the diplomatic and religious centers of other nations.



CHINESE FOREIGN OFFICE, PEKIN.

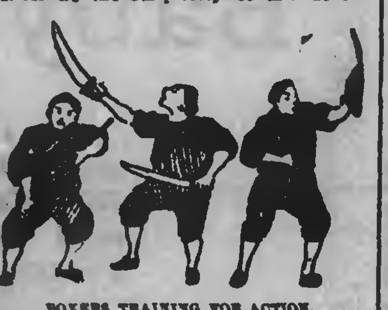
Wu Ting Fang, the Chinese minister at Washington, was asked:

"What is the meaning of the term 'Boxers' in Chinese, or what is its derivative analysis?"

He replied:

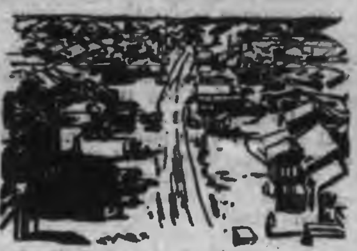
"I have seen from the Chinese papers that the local word applied to the people that your papers call the 'Boxers' is 'Yee-ho-chuan.' 'Yee' means 'righteousness.' 'Ho' means 'harmony.' 'Chuan' means 'fists.' 'Yee-ho-chuan' would therefore involve the righteous idea of promoting harmony by the fists, the righteousness resulting from the harmony, with the fists as an incidental means to a good end. The term undoubtedly arose in connection with athletic sports and teachers of the art of boxing or defense by the fists."

The Caucasian may be inclined to sneer at the simplicity of this definition, but it is not to be forgotten that as a matter of indisputable history the word "righteousness" and the word "right" have a foundation in the Chinese vocabulary more solid than rock. Anyone who has had intimate and honest business relations with Chinamen in this country knows that. A Chinaman in this country who has not yet learned the worst features of American or English or German commercialism in his dealings with his white brother invariably starts out with the query, "What is right?" He puts it in his own way, but that is what he means, and he never betrays until he has been betrayed.



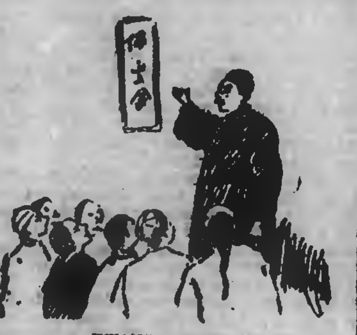
BOXERS TRAINING FOR ACTION.

The Chinaman before he became an agriculturist was a sheep raiser and herder. His word for truthfulness, uprightness, that which stands for righteousness, is composed of two parts—the first and the second forming the phrase "my sheep," apparently pointing to a time when upon the rightful ownership of flocks—demonstration of the same—one was in the right, therefore upright, therefore had a righteous cause. Transpose this to possession of the land of China, for which the great powers are now uncovering their armaments, and the "Boxers'" use of the word "righteousness" does not seem so far-fetched. The word "right" in the Chinese tongue is from "taze," meaning "one's own," and "yang," meaning "sheep." Make that land, or the privacy of the home, or the right to worship Confucious, or the right to resist foreign invasion, and error is difficult to detect. The "Boxer" therefore, by all justification of his past, "rightfully" uses his fist for defense of his own, and when he becomes heated in passions, it is not surprising if for the fist he substitutes a weapon. Nor is it surprising, if looked at with dispassion, that in killing the invaders he fails to draw a discriminating line between Caucasian missionaries, railroad engineers, diplomats or soldiers. In his mind they all stand for the same thing—invasion and conquest.



CENTRAL BUSINESS STREET IN PEKIN.

When China bore the names of Seres it was written of her people "they are civilized, mild, just and frugal." The Dominicans wrote of them when they bore the name Kitai "they are kindly and polished folks enough." Their population at the present time is about 405,000,000, or one-fifth that of the globe. Pekin is the capital, situated in the province of Chi-Li and surrounded by eighteen other provinces that comprise China proper. The Chi-Li province has an area of 58,949 square miles. The population of Chi-Li, where the "Boxers" have come into conflict with Cossacks and some other invaders, is 35,000,000. In Chi-Li there are 458 people to each square mile, so many needing food and life, that the dead must be buried in the gravel pits where nothing can possibly grow. In Shan-Tung province the population is 467 to the square mile, in Shan-Se, 262; in Ho-Nan, 369, and so on. The people are thrifty, honest when honestly treated, possess a literature of great age and beauty, and a phonetic language whose mastery depends more upon the ear than the eye. The fundamental principles of their religion, morality, social relations and commercial ethics may be glimpsed at through their ancient definition of the word "emperor"—one who rules himself. That is, one must be able to rule himself before fit to rule others. Their capacity for great things in literature may be found in the following lines on "The Drought," taken from the works of one of their masters:



KWANG YU WAI.
Instructing Pupils in the Reform Doctrine.

The demon of the drought
Destroys like one who scatters fiery flames,
Terrified by the burning heat my heart,
My mourning heart, seems all consumed with fire.
The many dukes and ministers of the past
Pay me no heed,
Oh, God! from Thy great heaven
Send me permission to withdraw myself into seclusion.

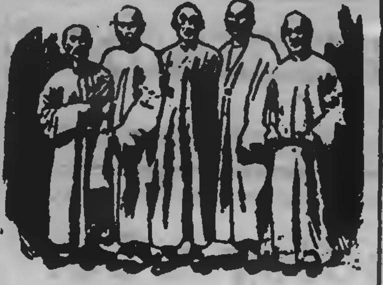
For at least a century past China has been rended within itself by disagreements as to policies of government, intrigues in and out of court, clashes between the conservative and the progressive elements; the conservatives appearing to be those who stand for the old order of things and the maintenance of China as an independent power, treating with other nations only as it sees fit. The progressive element seems to be composed largely of those who have entered into the pay or come under the control of foreign powers, eager for new territory under the guise of "commercial advancement." Out of this jarring of interests the "Boxers" have arisen, standing for the conservative element, and meeting the front of armed men and ships of war, sent forward under one pretext and another by all the great powers with assassination, open assaults and conflicts with the Caucasians already in Chinese soil. If some horror is felt over the Chinese belief in assassination as an effective and rightful means of removing Christian invaders, it ought not to be forgotten that it is scarcely 250 years since it was tolerated in Europe and made use of by crowned heads and diplomats of an age not yet far removed from our own.

As to what the "Boxer" is, competent testimony comes from various sources. Edwin Wildman, late vice consul of the United States at Hong Kong, says:

"They are divided into lodges and have common signs and passwords known only to themselves. They have certain methods of interrogating each other and recognize peculiar manners in placing cups and dishes at the table; of wearing their garments and saluting each other. They hold their meetings usually in secluded places in the dead of the night and draw blood from their bodies, mixing it with water and pledging each other to oaths of vengeance against their enemies. The Boxers have adopted a flag bearing the motto 'Up with the Ch'ing dynasty and down with the foreigner.' The foreign tradesman in China, to the mind of the native, is a barbarian, and the average celestial is as incapable of turning back the pages of history and restoring idol worship and burnt sacrifices. The Boxer believes in immortality and in a heaven-sent mission. He is a foe to fear, and the present alarm felt by all foreigners in China is fully warranted."



NATIVE CHINESE MISSIONARIES.
The special Object of the "Boxers'" Hatred.

"Mr. Denby, a former United States Minister to China, writes:

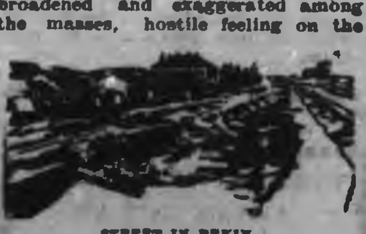
"The chief cause of this dissatisfaction is jealousy against the foreigners. China seems herself powerless to control in any wise the foreigners who are swarming on her borders. These people are under extra territorial jurisdiction and cannot be touched by the Chinese authorities, no matter what crimes they may commit. A hundred or five hundred miles away from a consul the foreigner is safe from any judicial action. Witnesses cannot be transported such a distance, and it follows that the foreigner has no restraint upon his evil passions. Out of this cause secret societies have arisen whose members are hostile to the Ming dynasty, and who find the easiest mode of embarrassing the government to be to attack the foreigners."

As to what effect the war with Japan had upon China Mr. Denby writes:

"This demonstrated the unexpected weakness of China and she became the prey of the European powers. There was rivalry as to which should most thoroughly rob an inoffensive power."

Tam Pui-Shun, a Chinese diplomat, said while on a recent visit to the United States:

"You had in this country years ago a 'know-nothing party.' It was a movement against foreigners. The 'Boxer' movement in China has the same political and philosophical cause, but founded probably on more aggravating grounds. There have been rumors and rumors of the partition of China by the foreign powers. As these rumors have been broadened and exaggerated among the masses, hostile feeling on the part of the people against foreigners and missionaries and their converts has increased. Hence the 'Boxers' movement."



STREET IN PEKIN.
Showing British Legation in the Central Background.

Rev. F. M. Royell, a Baptist missionary from China, says:

"The hatred of the 'Boxers' was first directed against the Catholic missionaries, but in a short time it included all 'foreign devils,' as they call the foreigners."

There appears to be no doubt that certain foreign civil engineers who have been at work in Chi-Li and Shan-Tung have treated the natives with great severity and done much to provoke the uprising. Lines have been run across farms without let or hindrance, homes despoiled, property rights disregarded, crops destroyed and the Mongolian given a fearful example of what "commercial rights" mean in the language of the Caucasian. The "Boxers" are but one of innumerable secret societies which have organized, not only to fight invaders of his type but also to further the interests of one or the other political parties of the empire itself.

Heart Humbug

It is fashionable to-day to have a new heart scare every 24 hours. The commonest symptoms of dyspepsia or nerve trouble, such as palpitation, weak spells, loss of appetite, and poor circulation, are magnified and distorted into serious signs of heart trouble, with the object of frightening the public into taking this or that heart remedy. If a hundredth part of the heart trouble we hear about were real, the cemeteries would be filled in a month. A wrong construction is put upon common ailments in order to humbug the people into the belief that heart disease is prevalent, whereas real heart trouble, which is so sadly and suddenly fatal when it does occur, is a rare disease. Lopsided arguments cannot convince an intelligent people. Iron is the vital element of the blood. Too little iron means weakness, lack of spirit, pallid cheeks, shortness of breath, sleeplessness, nervousness, loss of vital force, ending in general break-down. The iron in Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills is in the soluble form you need, in combination with other curative agents in such a manner that disease can't resist their action. You feel yourself getting well when you take Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills.

Baking in the Middle Ages.

An article in an English technical journal gives some curious details in regard to bread and bakers in the middle ages. Bakers were subject to rigid laws and close government supervision. In London only farthing and half-penny loaves were allowed to be made. If the baker retailed his own bread he was not allowed to sell it in his own house, before it, or before the oven in which it was baked. He was obliged to dispose of it in the market on Tuesdays and Saturdays only, and sometimes on Sundays. A baker of white bread was not allowed to make bread of unbolted meal, and bakers of the latter were not permitted to have a bolting sieve in their possession. They were not allowed to heat their ovens with fern, stubble or straw or to bake at night. They were not allowed to take back bread from hucksters when once it had become cold. Hotels and keepers of lodging houses were not permitted to take bread. Private individuals who had no oven of their own were in the habit of sending their flour to be kneaded by their own servants at the moulding boards belonging to the bakers; the the loaves being baked in their ovens. The profits of bakers were strictly defined. The quality of bread made was in degree indicative of the rank of people who ate it. The finest and whitest was called "simnel bread" and was only consumed by the most luxurious persons occupying high and in affluent circumstances. The wealthy middle class used "waste bread," which is supposed to have resembled what we know as the French "gateau." Poorer middle class people bought bread of an inferior quality called "cocket." A still lower grade was "tourte," made of unbolted meal. It was so called because the loaves had a twisted form. Tourte was used by the humbler classes and the inmates of monasteries. Three other inferior grades of bread were made; by whom consumed it is not stated.

Drunkenness is the cause of 14 per cent of cases of insanity in England and of 12 out of every 100 suicides. In England 1,082 die yearly of drink, in Scotland 230 and in Ireland 280.

In the Jaws of a Lion.

The gallant Major Swaine tells of being knocked senseless by a lion that lacerated his arm. His thrilling escape from the jaws of death is only equalled by Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, which has saved thousands from desperate Throat and Lung troubles. "All doctors said my wife would soon die of Consumption," writes L. C. Overstreet, of Elgin, Tenn., "but your wonderful medicine completely cured her, and saved her life." Satisfaction is guaranteed by J. Lynch, who gives trial bottles free. Large bottles 50c and $1.00.

ANOTHER YUKON SCANDAL.

Does Bonanza MacDonald Owe Canada $70,000 for Royalty?

Sir Hibbert Tupper Says Walsh is Responsible—The Name of F. C. Wade Comes Up—Motion Voted Down—Wrong Information Used to Refute Statement Made in Parliament by Sir Hibbert Tupper.

Ottawa, June 19.—Monday is a dull day in the House. Few members were in attendance yesterday. Some have left for home not to return this session. Others are getting ready to go as soon as June 22 comes, for that date winds up the sessional indemnities.

Yukon Administration.

Sir Charles Tupper gave notice that he would shortly move that the House was of the opinion that provision should be made to have the Yukon district administered by an advisory council similar to the one in N.W.T., partly elective and partly appointive, and that provision should be made at once to have the Yukon represented in the Federal House.

Sir Wilfrid said that the Government intended to give the Yukon representation in the territorial council, but would do nothing regarding federal representation, till after next census.

Sir Charles then eliminated the first part of his notice of motion, and said he would spend his time in pressing federal representation.

Yankee Boat in Tow.

Mr. Bennett was told by Mr. Paterson that he had given permission to one American tugboat to tow craft in Canadian waters, but he promised not to duplicate the application unless under special circumstances.

Read a Third Time.

These private bills were read a third time: Schomberg and Aurora Railway bill; a bill to relieve W. H. Featherstonhaugh; bill incorporating the Ottawa and Hull Fire Relief Fund.

Imports From Britain.

In answer to Mr. Gillies, Hon. Wm. Paterson said that the total imports into Canada from the United Kingdom for the nine months ending on March 3, 1900, amounted to $34,436,439, of this $34,106,556 was for consumption.

The minor amendments made to the Bank Act to the Senate were concurred in by the House.

Mr. Fielding's amendments to the Civil Service Act were accepted.

Another Yukon Scandal.

Sir Hibbert Tupper wound up a two hours' speech by moving for an investigation into a series of charges, namely: That Major Walsh was guilty of crimes in his office, contrary to the design of the office. He did not send a report by every mail, as was required by law. He allowed regulations regarding royalties to be violated by favored persons. Besides, officials received gifts to exempt certain claimholders, and were guilty of fraud and breaches of trust. Walsh, illegally and by confidential instructions extended the time during which Alexander MacDonald could pay his enormous royalties. MacDonald was never requested to make a statement of the amount of gold he took out. In all this transaction F. C. Wade acted as counsel for both Walsh and MacDonald. There never had been an audit of the deal. Sir Hibbert asked for an independent and complete audit, and a searching enquiry into the indulgences shown MacDonald.

Sutherland's Eyesight Dim.

Hon. Mr. Sutherland said there was no substantiation of the fact upon which to build these wild charges. The Alexander MacDonald deal was for the benefit of the country. He considered that the Crown officers in the Yukon should be given much latitude in the discharge of their duties, and should be allowed to use their own discretion in such matters as the MacDonald deal.

A Peculiar Feature.

R. L. Borden, Q.C., challenged the Government to produce any document showing that the $70,000 or $40,000, or $80,000 of royalties due by McDonald, according to the varying reports had been paid, and he thought it was peculiar that F. C. Wade always turned up whenever there was a suspicious deal. In this case Wade had advised Walsh not to press MacDonald to pay his royalties, but MacDonald was one of the firm of Morrison & MacDonald, who had retained Wade by a cheque of $10,000. However, Walsh listened to Wade.

Messrs. D. C. Fraser, Foster and Mr. Fielding followed, after which a vote was taken on Sir Hibbert's motion at 11. It was voted down. Yeas 33, nays 63.

The House then went into Supply.

G. U. Ryley's Salary.

The item under discussion in supply was to raise the salary of G. U. Ryley, Chief Clerk of Timber and Mines, from $1,850 to $2,200. Ryley had prepared a memo. for the acting Minister of the Interior, in which he said that Dominion Creek had been closed by Thomas Fawcett on Nov. 13, 1897. This memo. was used by the Solicitor-General in combatting charges laid by Sir Hibbert Tupper against F. C. Wade a few days ago. The memo gave Sir Hibbert the lie. Last night a further memo was read from Mr. Ryley, in which he said that he had misapprehended the information asked of him by the acting Minister, and that the former memo was incorrect.

Sir Hibbert was incensed not so much by the memo as by the use the Solicitor-General had made of it to make out that Sir Hibbert was a liar. He therefore moved that the whole item be struck out.

At 1.30 a.m. Sir Hibbert had got well into the dredging cases in the Yukon, and was nearing a series of scandals reflecting upon the officials, not only of the Government officials here, but also in the Yukon.

Sir Hibbert was half through his speech when the House adjourned at 2 o'clock. He will continue his speech to-day.

Hon. D. Mills Says Its Settled.

Ottawa, June 19.—In the Senate yesterday, Hon. D. Mills, in answer to Senator Landry, said that the Manitoba school question was settled. In county districts 81 schools came under the settlement. In Winnipeg there was a difference of opinion, but he hoped that in time a settlement would be arrived at.

Senator Berthier objected that there was no settlement, and that whatever had been done had been done under the protest of the minority. A number of bills were reviewed. The Criminal Code Amendment Act was further considered.

EMERGENCY RATIONS SCANDAL.

Initial Meeting of the Committee—Mr. Belcourt, Chairman.

Ottawa, June 19. — The Emergency Rations Scandal Committee met yesterday afternoon at 2.25 o'clock. Present: Dr. Russell, Hon. John Costigan, Mr. Belcourt, Mr. Monk and Hon. T. C. Casgrain. Absent: E. F. Clarke and Dr. Britton. Mr. Belcourt was elected chairman.

The committee decided to meet in the morning at 10 o'clock, even if the House sits on Wednesday morning. The following witnesses will be asked to attend and bring papers and documents with them: The Auditor-General, Lt.-Col. Pineault, Deputy-Minister of Militia, and Dr. MacFarlane. Analyst of the Inland Revenue Department. These will give evidence this morning.

Before the committe adjourned Hon. John Costigan said that he had to go away to-day and would not be back for a week. He had requested Sir Wilfrid to give him leave of absence.

In the House yesterday afternoon Sir Wilfrid Laurier withdrew Mr. Costigan's name from the committee and appointed Archie Campbell, M.P., instead.

A $5,000,000 CLAIM.

An Important Suit to be Brought in the Exchequer Court.

Ottawa, June 19.—An important suit will shortly be brought to trial in the Exchequer Court. It is one against the Government for about $5,000,000. It consists of a petition of right filed by two steamboat and railway companies, the Hon. David McInnes, Osler & Hammond of Toronto, and Hon. W. Pugsley of St. John, N.B., against the Queen. The Government granted the Qu'Appelle, Long Lake and Saskatchewan Railroad and Steamboat Company 6,400 acres per mile, fairly fit for settlement. The supplicants allege that in 1896 there was a shortage of 773,894 acres, and they claim compensation with interest on the amount, reckoning that land is worth $5 an acre in the N.W.T., and adding interest since 1890, the amount alleged to be due by the Government is $5,000,000.

WANT TO DISMISS M'INNES.

B.C. Opposition Members Unanimously Adopted Such a Resolution.

Vancouver, B.C., June 19. — The meeting of the Opposition yesterday afternoon adopted unanimously a resolution calling upon the Dominion Government to ask for the resignation of Lieutenant-Governor McInnes. Messrs. Dunsmuir, Turner and Eberts retired from the meeting before the resolution was put, but the members would not have it, and Mr. Pooley, after much persuasion, got them back into the hall, and the motion was then made unanimous.

Mr. Tatlow of Vancouver moved the resolution, seconded by Mr. Pooley of Esquimalt, strongly supporting it. None of the supporters of the late Government were present. Smith-Curtis said yesterday that Martin and his followers will make it hot for the new Government when the House meets.

Penalty of Asking Higher Wages.

Ottawa, June 19.—Some 25 men employed by the Ottawa Electric Company as linemen and trimmers are out of a job to-day. A few weeks ago the men wrote the company asking a raise in wages and a nine-hour day. The company replied on Saturday by laying off about 45. The linemen have, heretofore, been paid at the rate of $1.60 per day, and the ground men $1.25. They made a demand for a uniform increase to $2, which the company refuses to grant. A final answer to that effect was given the men yesterday. About 20 men were re-engaged to return to work. The rest were refused work, and are out of a job in consequence. The lockout is thought to be a harsh measure.

The Murray Hill Disaster.

Toronto, June 19.—For the death of his parents in the Murray Hill disaster Fred Kern, a 16-year-old Russian, secured a verdict of $1,000 against the Grand Trunk Railway yesterday. Mr. Justice Ferguson, who tried the case, was asked to allow $220.60 legal expenses incurred by the plaintiff, but His Lordship deferred action, saying that if he had known of their existence at the trial he would have allowed them, too.

TAKING THE REINS.

In 95 races Woodshed, 2:09¼, has missed the money only nine times.

A 2-year-old brother to Asmoor, 2:13¼, has been named General Joe in honor of General Wheeler.

George U. Curtis has purchased the gray pacer Gil Curry, 2:09½, and will use him on the road.

The colt by Margrave, 3, 2:15½, out of Cora Lee, by Axtell, is eligible to stakes to the value of $52,000.

It is said that Frank Stannard spent the entire season of 1899 teaching The Swift, 2:09¼, to pace without hopples.

Lucie May, 2, 2:22½, winner of the pacing division of the Kentucky Futurity last year, is being trained at the trot.

Monroe Salisbury's "hearse horse" San Pedro, 2:10¾ pacing, 2:14½ trotting, is now driven on the New York speedway by Frank Ferguson.

Dave McClary will ride in the free for all ranks again this year, as C. W. Lasell has sent Rubenstein, 2:05, to him to campaign this season. The fast Baron Wilkes pacer is now at Hartford.

William Holland, Waterloo, Ia., claims the horse auction championship. On March 27 he sold 4,100 horses at St. Paul in exactly five hours, or nearly 14 horses per minute. The sale aggregated $161,000, or $9 per second.

A 3-year-old by Emperor Wilkes, out of Countess Emeline, by Chimes, has paced a quarter this spring in 0:34, and another by the same sire, out of Psyche, 2:19¼, has stepped a half in 1:08 and a quarter in 0:33. Both youngsters are owned at Reservoir farm, Lexington, Mass.

Miss Bennett again demonstrated her ability to beat the best 2-year-olds at the Memphis track. With 115 pounds up recently she won the Memphis Stakes in a gallop from Garry Herman and Lady Scherr, both stake winners, and equaled the local track record for five furlongs—1:01¾.

POULTRY POINTERS.

To be sure of vigorous, thrifty chicks it is best to use for hatching only eggs that are less than 15 days old.

Oats are a very useful food, as they stimulate without enervating or fattening and help to make a variety.

While the gizzard of the fowl masticates the food, it can only be done by the aid of sharp, gritty material.

One advantage with the Pekin ducks is that they can be raised with only so much water as they need to drink.

Spring chickens at spring prices pay better than fowls sold later on, even though the later birds weigh more.

One advantage with poultry farming is that although but little land is required the harvest comes every day.

Feather pulling is largely due to idleness. It is most apt to occur in active breeds kept confined and given no exercise.

Crowd the growth of the early chickens as fast as possible. The earlier they are sent to the market the better prices they will bring.

Eggshells are good for fowls, but they should be crushed very fine before feeding them or the hens may get into the habit of egg eating.—St. Louis Republic.

H. LeBrun & Co. Buying Bargains

It looks as if people who expected two dollars' worth for every dollar they spend on clothing, are not going to be disappointed. There is likely to be a sudden deep dip in prices in a few days at H. LeBrun & Co's. that ought to make the City Clothing Store a bargain centre for the rest of the summer. To-day Mr. H. LeBrun has been negotiating with two of Messrs. H. Shorey & Co's representatives, of Montreal, for a big slice of their high class summer clothing, which they are sacrificing to close the season. There's great goodness in Shorey's make, and the news that H. LeBrun & Co. have made a special purchase at special prices will be good news for good goods well bought. Watch for particulars.

FORMATION OF A NEW DISTRICT

Dillon, both of whom are hard men to pass, and either of whom could drop into Lionel King's place should he play on the home field, where he did so well last season.

"Bud" Bogart will once more canter around centre field, and though he now wears a cap and gown at Ridley College, his holidays begin next week and he will at once go into active training.

For the home field or the attack there is a very fast lot to pick from. Will Galley has been surprising every by the way he has rounded into shape after being out of the game so long. His aggressive style of play encourages a home greatly. George Lipsett and Jack McCabe have put in more solid practice than any man on the team and are fit to jump into any kind of a game at a moment's notice. Both are tricky and fast enough for the best company and are wicked shots on goal. Rolly Glover will soon be down to the right weight and says that he would like to play inside home this season. Whenever he plays he can always give a good account of himself. Another good man is "Giddy" Burt, who made his debut with the Ontarios of Port Hope. His feints and turns will be remembered by those who used to witness the great games which took place annually between clubs of the two towns until 1897. A rattling good shot on goal and a clever stick handler will be here next week in the person of Harry Duncan, who was Hastings' best man last year. He is going to work with the [illegible] Co., and should be a great acquisition to the Peterboroughs.

The first game will take place on Dominion Day, in all probability, and will be played out of town. There remains, therefore, just five more practices before the match, and in order to make a good showing no man should miss one night between now and that time.

The subscription list will be opened at once and an effort made to place the team on such a financial footing as will guarantee its closing the season without indebtedness.

A meeting of the executive will be held in the secretary's office after practice on Wednesday evening.

GOLF.

LADIES' GOLF CLUB.

Rheumatism remedies did not help me and I began using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, which have since completely cured me. There is not the least trace of rheumatism left and I am no longer subject to biliousness, headache and stomach sickness which formerly attacked me frequently." One pill a dose, 25 cents a box.

TALK OF BOTHA'S SURRENDER

Boer General Asked for Six Days to Considered It.

Then He Decided That He Would Resume Hostilities—Burghers Are Returning to Middleburg and Are Burning the Veldt Behind Them—Boers Have Abundant Arms and Ammunition and Will Fight Still.

London, June 19.—(3 a.m.)—Lord Roberts, according to a Boer despatch from Machadodorp, sent a message to Commandant-General Botha on June 13, suggesting disarmament, and complimenting the bravery of the burghers. It was pointed out that the surrender would be without dishonor to the burghers and would prevent much suffering. Gen. Botha asked for a six days' armistice in order to confer and consider. Lord Roberts consented to five days. Finally Gen. Botha declined to accept the proposition, and hostilities were renewed.

The Boer commandoes are retiring on Middleburg, followed by the British cavalry and artillery, occasional shells reaching the rear guard. The Boers are destroying the bridges and burning the veldt behind them, carrying off provisions and cattle and leaving the country barren.

Advices from Machadodorp says that the Boers have an abundance of arms and ammunition, with dynamite and oxen, and that they are preparing heavy wagon trains for a retreat to the Lydenburg district, where the chiefs, notwithstnding rumors to the contrary, are determined to make a stand.

The Boers continue to work the Barberton mines, says a despatch from Lorenzo Marquez, and there are eight carloads of bar gold, valued at £5,000,000, with President Kruger.

What Steyn Says.

Mr. Steyn, in his proclamation declaring the Free Sytate still free and independent, says the fact that the army is yet in the field renders Lord Roberts' annexation contrary to international law.

In a despatch to the War Office from Pretoria, dated yesterday, Lord Roberts says that Gen. Baden-Powell has just arrived there.

Kruger Will Not Surrender.

The Lorenzo Marquez correspondent of The Times, under yesterday's date, says: "Judge Van Leeweh, who left Pretoria with a permit from the military government, is understood to have been the bearer of a verbal message from the British authorities to President Kruger, to the effect that, if he would surrender now, he would not be sent out of the country. Van Leewen was unable to see Mr. Kruger, but when passing through Machadodorp he told State Secretary Reitz. The latter scouted the idea of surrender. Mr. R. J. H. Fortuin, head of the Transvaal secret service, is taking to Euraipe very important secret documents."

A Charge Against Lansdowne.

London, June 19.—Mr. Charles Williams, the military expert of The Morning Leader, accuses the Marquis of Lansdowne, Secretary of State for War, of having cut of Sir Redver's Buller's despatches on the Spion Kop disaster the criticisms of Gen. Buller upon himself, and of having left in Lord Roberts' despatche remarks almost identical with General Buller's. He also asserts that the reasons for not removing Sir Charles Warren were cut out, together with much other matter, the mutilating of the despatches showing personal animus.

The New Cape Cabinet.

Cape Town, June 19.—The new Cabinet has been officially announced. Sir J. Gordon Sprigg is Premier and Treasurer; J. J. Graham is Colonel Secretary; Mr. Rose Innes, Attorney-General; Smartt, Department of Public Works; Sir Peter Faure, Agriculture, and Frost, without portfolio.

Reitz Family Sail for Europe.

Lorenzo Marquez, June 19.—Mrs. Reitz, wife of the Transvaal State Secretary, sailed for Europe yesterday, accompanied by her family.

Kruger in Feeble Condition.

London, June 19.—A despatch from Cape Town says it is reported there that President Kruger is in a feeble condition.

Canadians at Mafeking Relief.

London, June 19.—The Daily Telegraph's correspondent furnishes to his paper a graphic description of the relief of Mafeking, in the course of which he says: "The Canadians and the infantry on the left had a tougher job and more protracted, but not an inch did they budge, except to move forward."

WAR OFFICE TERMS.

What Is Meant in Casualty List by "Slight," "Severe" and "Dangerous."

Ottawa, June 19.—The Militia Department has received a notice issued by the War Office relative to casualties in South Africa. It states that the following terms, when applied to wounds, may be taken as conveying the signification defined.

SLIGHT—A wound likely to heal rapidly, not impairing the use of a limb or organ, and not even entailing admission into hospital.

SEVERE—A wound requiring careful treatment in hospital, but not necessarily dangerous—often involving fractures of bone and sometimes even the permanent impairment of a limb.

DANGEROUS—A wound such as might occur from the penetration of the head, chest, abdomen or any vital organ. In many cases, however, soldiers reported dangerously wounded have completely recovered, and the percentage of deaths from wounds of all sorts among those admitted to hospital has during the present campaign only reached 5 per cent. of the total wounded.

Is Simplicity itself when Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets are used.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets, don't cause feverish over-stimulation of the digestive organs. Their effect is to strengthen and re-invigorate the stomach, while they are digesting the food.

In effect, Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets say to the worn-out, exhausted stomach:—"You take a day off. Let me do your work for a while; you just take it easy, and rest." Then they go to work, and the effect is marvellous.

The food is digested, dyspepsia disappears, indigestion, heartburn, sour stomach, etc., vanish. The stomach grows strong, healthy, vigorous, able to digest any food supplied to it. The blood becomes pure, the nerves that were shattered by indigestion or dyspepsia become steady and healthy, and the irritable, fault-finding man or woman becomes pleasant, genial, and sunny-natured. All because he or she used Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets, and the smaller tablets that are in every box.

The manner in which these changes are made is simplicity itself. Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets act in place of the stomach till the stomach regains its strength. At the same time they tone it up and nourish it.

Try the treatment yourself. Give your stomach a holiday. Give Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets a chance. They'll positively do the work.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets, each box containing a full double treatment, for stomach and bowels, are for sale by all druggists.

like the lower terminus of the Cape to Cairo railway this morning with the volunteers leaving for the brigade camps at Deseronto and Kingston.

The local detachment of the Durham Field Battery left on special train at 6.45 o'clock for Deseronto. It was about 30 strong. The main body will be taken on at Port Hope.

C squadron of the 3rd Prince of Wales Dragoons left on special train about 9 o'clock, travelling via Belleville to Kingston. The detachment consisted of about 60 men and 53 horses. They all looked to be in splendid condition and presented a fine appearance.

A special train of 8 coaches passed through town about 11.40 bearing the 45th regiment, with headquarters at Lindsay, to the Kingston camp. The 45th band, 18 strong, and the bugle and drum band were on board. The regiment was within 30 men of its full strength, a very creditable showing, and the boys appeared to be enjoying themselves greatly. The composition was Major Sylvester, in command; Capt. Staples, adjutant; Major Hopkins, quartermaster; Capt. Williamson, paymaster; No. 1 Co., Lindsay, Capt. Holtorf; No. 2 Co., Lindsay, Capt. Parkin; No. 3 Co., Lindsay, Capt. Henley; No. 4 Co., Omemee, Capt. Neill; No. 5 Co., Fenelon Falls, Capt. McKay; No. 6 Co., Woodville, Capt. Staples.

No. 6 company of the 46th regiment, the Fraserville contingent, under command of Capt. Johnston, boarded the regular Belleville train here at 11.55 for the Kingston camp. It consisted of about 40 men.

THE NEWS FROM THE CHINESE TROUBLE

It is Said That the Legations at Pekin are Safe---Returned Missionary Tells of the Murder of Converts---Russians Still Landing Men.

LEGATIONS REPORTED TO BE SAFE

Shanghai, June 20—Reports from Chinese sources, credited by the local foreign officials here, say the legations at Pekin were safe June 17, Sunday, and that Admiral Seymour with the relieving column reached Pekin that day.

MURDER OF CHRISTIANS

San Francisco, June 20—Mrs. A. P. Lowrie, a Presbyterian missionary who has been stationed at Po Ting Fu for the last six years, has arrived here and reports that on the night of May 16, many native Christians, principally women and children, were murdered by the Boxers while fleeing from Pao Ting towards Tieng Tsing. This was about ten miles from Mrs. Lowrie's station, which was not disturbed. The murderers afterwards returned to Pao Ting and burned all the houses of their victims.

LAING'S NEK BOERS WOULD CUT RUNDLE OFF

TRYING TO CUT RUNDLE OFF

Leribe, Basutoland; June 19—(Delayed)— The Boers from around Laing's Nek are trying to cut off Rundle's lines. They opened a big shell fire yesterday.

RUSSIANS STILL LANDING THOOPS

Washington, June 20—A cablegram was received at the State dept. this morning from the United States Consul Fowler at Chefoo. The Consul say that no communication has been had with Pekin for six days past, that the mission at San Chow has been looted, but that the Chinese General carried the missionaries off in safety to an unknown place. The Chinese ships in the harbor have left for the south. The Russians continue to land troops at Taku.

London, June 20—The war office has received the following despatch from Lord Roberts: Pretoria, June 20—Hunter's advance column occupied Krugersdorp without opposition, June 16. Methuen, who was escorting a large convoy to Heilbron yesterday, routed a force under Christian DeWet, who endeavored to prevent him from entering the little town. Methuen had only three casualties. Baden-Powell left this city to-day on his return to Rustenburg. The country is quieting down in that direction. This satisfactory state of affairs will be materially assisted by the capture between here and Rustenburg, June 19, of two guns, by Hutton's mounted infantry, from a body of the enemy under Commandant Duplessis. Railway and telegraph communication with Cape Town is now completely restored. All is quiet here and at Johannesburg. The shops are open and the market is daily becoming more crowded and business-like.

KITCHENER NEARLY CAPTURED

London, June 20—A Cape Town despatch says that Gen. Kitchener had a narrow escape from capture while sleeping in a train at Kopje Station on June 14.

CANADIANS WOUNDED

Ottawa, June 20—Sir Alfred Milner cabled to Lord Minto to-day reporting the following casualties: Lieut. H. G. Blanchard, 2nd Mounted Infantry, was wounded at Roodeval, on June 7th, and died on June 13; Capt. A. C. McDonnel, 2nd Mounted Rifles, dangerously wounded in abdomen; Pte. W. Frost, 2nd Mounted Rifles, dangerously wounded, since dead; Corp. H. H. Baines, 2nd Mounted Rifles, slightly wounded; Pte. F. Greenal, 2nd Mounted Rifles, slightly wounded, near Pretoria, June 12; Pte. G.W. Leonard, wounded Zand River, May 10, died of wounds; Pte. J. McElkmoy, missing. May 29. Both belonged to Canadian Regiment Infantry.

AN ORDINARY SODA BISCUIT

Is as Good at the Emergency Ration Supplied Our Soldiers.

Facts Adduced by the Emergency Ration Committee on its First Working Day —Not Worth $2 a Pound But 20 Cents —Latter Was the Value Invoiced at Montreal — The Evidence of Tuesday.

Ottawa, June 20. — The Emergency Rations Committee met again yesterday morning. All the members were present part of the time. Messrs. Casgrain and Monk examined the witnesses for the Opposition, while Dr. Russell watched the case for the Government. The Solicitor-General was in attendance for a little time, as advisory to the Government members of the committee.

When the Bill Was Paid.

Auditor-General MacDougall swore that the account of Dr. Devlin for the emergency food was paid on Feb. 14.

Deputy Minister of Militia, Col. Pineault, was examined: He had refused to give the free entry certificate asked for by John T. Lyons for Dr. Devlin, because "it was not in the contract so stipulated." This was between Jan. 12 and 18, 1900. The application was for "A free entry from the United States for the emergency rations contracted to be supplied by Dr. Devlin." A sample package of vitaline accompanied Dr. Devlin's tender. This tender was recommended by Dr. Nielson on the assumption that the rations to be supplied would be tested in Kingston. Borden approved of the recommendation. Col. Pineault made out the contract. This was all done in one day, Jan. 4, 1900.

When it Was Shipped.

The Devlin ration was shipped to South Africa in three lots, on Jan. 20, Jan. 27 and Feb. 21. Capt. Benoit, the secretary of the department, superintended the shipment at Halifax, and with the aid of an employe named Barker, opened some of the boxes of food and took out two tin cases of vitaline. One of these tin cases of food was given to Col. Pineault by Capt. Benoit. When Dr. Devlin presented his bill on Jan. 29, 1900, the colonel, on the advice of Dr. Neilson, sent this tin case of food, along with the standard sample presented with the contract, to the Inland Revenue Office to have them analyzed. He did this in order to see if the cases shipped were up to the sample.

The Analysis.

Witness then gave analysis of Mr. MacFarlane of the Inland Revenue Department as follows:

Sample B (standard furnished by Dr. Devlin with his contract): Moisture 9.08 per cent.; fat 2.15 per cent.; nitrogen, 2.56 per cent. This is equal to about 16 per cent. proteids.

Sample A (taken by Capt. Benoit from goods delivered at Halifax): Moisture 6.64 per cent.; fat 1.80 per cent.; nitrogen 2.59 per cent. This is equal to 16.18 per cent. proteids.

Analyst MacFarlane goes on to say: "Sample A is marked 'Delivered at Halifax, Jan. 24, 1900.' It is deficient in fat as compared with sample B. Since the average percentage of proteids in wheat is about 12 per cent., it does not appear that this powder (vitaline) is a very concentrated food, or has a food value equivalent to $2 (two dollars) per pound."

Col. Pineault: These analysis were made Feb. 12, 1900, and on the strength of the analysis ordered Dr. Devlin's account to be paid on Feb. 14. The food shipped and the food contracted for were equal in strength.

Col. Pineault said that no steps had been taken to prove that the food shipped and the food tested at Kingston were the same.

Colonel Could Not Find It.

Mr. Monk handed the Colonel an abstract of the expenses of the contingents submitted to Parliament and asked him to find any mention of $4,660 for emergency rations. The Colonel could find no mention of it.

Col. Pineault said that he had not heard of the letter sent by Henri Hatch to Dr. Borden telling him of the spuriousness of Dr. Devlin's rations till last Sunday or last night. Dr. Borden told him he had received the letter some time in January, 1900. It was only when the question of the food came up in the House that he began to question whether it was spurious or not.

Capt. Benoit at Murray Bay.

Mr. Monk asked that Capt. Benoit be summoned to attend the committee, but it was stated that he was away on sick leave at Murray Bay. It was then hinted that perhaps the committee could go to Murray Bay and take his evidence. This was possibly a joke.

A Witness Off for Europe.

The next witness called was Deputy Commissioner Mial of the Inland Revenue Department. The chief item of his evidence was that Dr. MacFarlane, the chief analyst of the department, left for Europe on a vacation ten days ago. This was re-

LIFE..

A question of great interest for intending insurers is which Canadian Life Company is in highest favor with the insuring Canadian public? The following table is a good indicator:

Name of Company.	Commenced Business.	Canadian Business Written in 1899
North American	1881	$4,834,505
Sun Life	1871	3,996,865
Ontario Mutual	1870	3,965,509
Confederation	1871	3,839,469
Canada Life	1847	3,800,917

The above are the five leading Canadian Companies and although the North American is much the youngest in years, she is outstripping all her rivals in the Canadian field.

What You Pay For Medicine

is no Test of its Curative Value—Prescription Versus Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are just as much a doctor's prescription as any formula your family physician can give you. The difference is that Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills were perfected after the formula had proven itself of inestimable value in scores of hundreds of cases.

Dr. Chase won almost as much popularity from his ability to cure kidney disease, liver complaint, and backache, with this formula, as he did from the publication of his great recipe book.

The idea of one treatment reaching the kidneys and liver at the same time was original with Dr. Chase. It accounts for the success of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills in curing the most complicated ailments of the filtering organs, and every form of backache.

As a family medicine Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are unequalled. They keep the kidneys, liver and bowels healthy, active and regular, and so prevent and cure thousands of the ills to which humanity is subject. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

OUR SPECIAL OTTAWA LETTER

THE GOVERNMENT HAD AN UNCOMFORTABLE WEEK

The Government Refused to Allow the Election Frauds Enquiry to Have Wide Scope Though Urged by the Opposition to do so—The Ration Frauds—The Case of Mr. Lemieux.

Special Correspondence of the Review.

Ottawa, June 18.

The chief topics of discussion last week in the Commons were the election frauds commission and the emergency rations. There is one point of resemblance between the two, for on both questions the Government offers a full enquiry and then narrows down the investigation. Sir Charles Tupper tried by suggestion and conciliation to induce the Premier to give full effect to the promise that a complete and searching enquiry should be held into the election fraud charges which the Government had removed from the Privileges Committee. The Opposition leader pointed out some of the defects and shortcomings of the commission of investigation which it is proposed to substitute for the enquiry now choked off. The Premier said he would consider tthe suggestions, but returned with the declaration that they could not be adopted. Every one of the changes proposed by the Opposition was in the direction of a more thorough and effective inquiry. They were first suggested by Sir Charles Tupper, and then brought forward by Mr. Borden, of Halifax, in the form of a resolution. Mr. Borden's resolution set forth that the powers and jurisdiction of the commission "are not sufficiently wide and comprehensive to enable the commission to make a thorough, complete and searching investigation and inquiry."

WHAT THE OPPOSITION WANTED.

The resolution asked the following among other amendments:—

That the commissioners should have power to ascertain not only who stole or destroyed or switched ballots, but who aided or abetted or employed the perpetrators of the crime.

That greater facilities should be given for procuring witnesses and for obtaining the truth from them by offering indemnity from prosecution, and by applying other provisions of the Act drawn up for such purposes by Hon. Edward Blake.

That provision should be made to pay the expenses of preliminary inquiry and investigation.

That steps be taken to secure the production of all poll books, ballot papers and other documents connected with the elections.

That the witnesses should be competent to testify how they voted at any election which is the subject of enquiry before the commission.

That the commissioners should have power to use as evidence, if they think proper, the testimony taken in the West Huron enquiry before the Privileges Committee.

That the commissioners should, in the first instance, proceed with all convenient speed to inquire into the West Huron and Brockville alleged election frauds charged before the House a year ago, and made the subject of a partial investigation in the Privileges Committee.

ALL REFUSED.

All these proposals were refused. The Ministers claimed that the commissioners had already power to obtain witnesses and secure the documents and requirements. The use of evidence taken before committee is now positively prohibited. Mr. Blair on behalf of the Government, said that much evidence was admitted by the committee which a court would have excluded. He said that the majority allowed it to go in, because they feared that the people would think that its rejection would show a disposition to suppress the facts. By breaking off the committee inquiry, Mr. Blair and his colleagues have escaped the necessity of admitting more of this dangerous testimony, and by excluding what has been given from the commission, much dangerous evidence may be got out of the way. The Ministers also refuse to secure legislation, to provide that electors may tell how they voted. The evidence taken before the committee established the fact that ballots had been stolen. Voters who were robbed of their votes are anxious to prove that the wrong has been done, but the Premier and the Minister of Justice are still more anxious that the secrecy of the ballot shall be maintained in the particular polls where Mr. Pritchett's students operated. Also the Premier refused to order the Huron and Brockville cases to be taken up first and the order of proceedings is left to the judges themselves. The result of it all is that the particular election frauds which alone have been charged in the House, which alone the House began to investigate, and which have already been partially exposed, may be left undisturbed until the Commissioners have travelled all over the country looking for other election charges. The debate on Mr. Borden's motion for a wider enquiry was one of the lively discussions of the session. Mr. Borden, Sir Charles H. Tupper and Mr. Powell urged a broad and complete and thorough investigation. Mr. Blair and Dr. Russell spoke in favor of the Government programme. The Government was strongly attacked in the debate, and the fine promises of the Premier were severely contrasted with the half-hearted fulfillment. On the vote the Government won as usual, except that absence and abstention from voting brought the majority down to 12.

THE SOLDIERS' FOOD.

In a previous letter the history of the alleged swindle in the emergency ration for the troops in Africa was outlined. The subject was discussed four times this week, and finally was brought to a head. At the beginning Dr. Borden challenged inquiry and invited charges, especially against himself. This is just what he has got. But he and his colleagues lost their keenness for the the enquiry when it came near them. On the first day of the week it was crowded off to Wednesday. On Wednesday Sir Wilfrid demanded notice, though, on a question of privilege he could not claim it. On Thursday he wanted another day. On Friday when the charges were allowed to be moved, the Premier, by the vote of a majority of the House, struck out from the list of charges to be pressed the one which contained the accusation against the Minister.

MR. MONK'S STATEMENT.

The member for Jacques Cartier made a neat and precise statement of his charges. He said he was creditably informed and believed he could establish on oath certain facts. These facts are contained in nineteen numbered clauses, which tell the story. They may be thus condensed:

In October, 1898, Col. Neilson, of the Military Medical Staff, wrote to Henri Hatch, of Montreal, manufacturer of "Hatch protose," a well known food used in hospitals, asking him in the name of the Minister for samples of his goods. The samples were sent and in the February following the Minister promised Hatch a trial order for troops in the Yukon, and asked if supplies could be furnished at short notice. Later Dr. Devlin was engaged by Hatch to go to Ottawa and seek an opportunity to test the preparation on certain members of the force at Kingston. The test was made on soldiers of "A" Battery and was a complete success for the food. A few months later when Canada was sending troops to Africa, the Minister had several interviews with Hatch about the emergency food for these soldiers. Then the Minister dropped the subject, and when the second contingent went away the Minister bought another food called Vitalene, to the extent of 2,333 pounds, from another dealer, paying two dollars per pound for it. When it come to the knowledge of Mr. Hatch that this transaction was going on, he wrote to the Minister telling him that the food he was buying was not the same thing as that tested at Kingston, but an inferior and comparatively useless article. The Minister nevertheless completed the transaction and paid the money. As a matter of fact the charges state that the food bought was inferior stuff, not made in Canada at all, but bought in the United States by the contractor, conveyed to this country in Saratoga trunks and admitted free of duty. The value is placed at $600, which leaves a large profit on a sale at $4,000. Finally Mr. Monk charges that the Minister has been guilty of gross and culpable negligence in the matter, and asked for a special committee of the House to inquire into the whole matter.

THE CHARGE GERRYMANDERED.

The minister was kept at home by illness in his family, and it fell to the Premier to deal with the case. Sir Wilfrid offered the Committee but insisted striking out the clause which made the charge of negligence against Dr. Borden. The Prime Minister took the remarkable ground that while the other eighteen clauses were mere charges which he was willing to send to the Committee, the last clause was a statement of the Minister's guilt and that the adoption of the resolution would find the minister guilty before trial. Mr. Monk, and other members pointed out that the clause only affirmed the fact that Monk was making the charge and called for no affirmation of the House as to its truth. To make this absolutely clear, Mr. McNeill, with Mr. Monk's consent, offered a second amendment, changing the words so that the adoption of the resolution could not possibly commit the House to an expression of opinion on Dr. Borden's conduct. Still the Premier and his colleagues persisted that the charges of negligence against the Ministers must go out, and finally the majority of the House was called on to strike out that part of the resolutions which authorized the committee to inquire into this charge of negligence. The Government had a majority of sixteen in voting down Mr. McNeill's amendment, and of seventeen in affirming the amendment of the Premier to garble the charges. The committee will consist of seven members, Dr. Russell, Mr. Britton, Mr. Belcourt and Mr. Costigan, on the Government side, and on the Opposition side Mr. Monk, Mr. Casgrain and Mr. Clarke.

MR. LEMIEUX'S INDISCRETION.

After to emergency food question was settled for the time the House gave some attention to the extraordinary matter. R. Lemieux is M.P. for Gaspe. His father H. A. Lemieux, was in 1896 a customs official at Montreal. Dr. Ennis was the Conservative candidate against Mr. Lemieux. In February, 1896, when the Ministers at the request of Mr. Lemieux, M.P., were turning out the civil servants a Gaspe, because of alleged Tory partisanship, Dr. Ennis brought the conduct of the elder Lemieux to the attention of the Minister of Customs. Mr. Paterson was informed that this Customs officer had left Montreal at the time of the election campaign, journeyed to the Magdalen Island section of Gaspe, and had there campaigned for his son. Not only did he canvass, but on election day he acted as the official agent of the Liberal candidate. But the grave part of the offending was that Lemieux did not perform these party services in his own name, but took the false name of Lamirande. Under this name he was sworn in and by this name he signed the return, and it was by this false name that his son the candidate addressed him when they were among strangers. These were the matters which were brought to Mr. Paterson's notice by Dr. Ennis who said he could prove them on oath. Mr. Paterson did nothing. Mr. Foster brought the matter up in the House and Mr. Paterson promised to look into it. Dr. Ennis appealed to the Minister of Justice. Mr. Mills said it was not his department, but he would speak of it to Mr. Paterson. All the speaking was of no avail. Mr. Lemieux, alias Lamirande, had in the meantime been promoted to the position of Customs Inspector and he is still in undisturbed possession of his rewards. These matters were placed before the House in a brief and calm statement by Mr. Foster, on Friday evening. To the surprise of all who might have hoped that there was nothing in the story, Mr. Paterson did not dispute a word of it.

Imitations

of Dodd's Kidney Pills are legion. The box is imitated, the outside coating and shape of the pills are imitated and the name—Dodd's Kidney Pills is imitated. Imitations are dangerous. The original is safe. Dodd's Kidney Pills have a reputation. Imitators have none or they wouldn't imitate. So they trade on the reputation of Dodd's Kidney Pills. Do not be deceived. There is only one DODD'S. Dodd's is the original. Dodd's is the name to be careful about—

D-O-D-D-'S KIDNEY PILLS

A FORGIVING SPIRIT.

The Minister of Customs said that the reason he did nothing about the charges of partizanship against Lemieux, was that they had not been made until a year and eight months after the offence. He admitted that he might have proceeded against other officials as late as that, but they were not many. Members asked Mr. Paterson in surprise if he saw no difference between an ordinary charge of partizanship and these charges of perjury or personation and fraud. He admitted that the officer had committed some "indiscretions," as he called them, but these proceedings he had referred to Sir Wilfrid Laurier as better qualified to determine whether they were grave offences or not. The Premier concluded that they could be overlooked. This made it necessary for Sir Wilfrid to speak. The Premier also admitted everything, the fraud, the personation, the taking of the oath to a false name and all. But Sir Wilfrid pleaded that Mr. Lemieux had been a faithful officer for many years, and the "indiscretion" was due to his great love for his son. Sir Wilfrid explained that he had bowels of mercy and had forgiven the indiscretion and hoped the House would do so too. The House did so by a party majority of 18. Mr. Gillies had moved the vote of censure, observing that while Mr. Paterson could not find it in his heart to take up the case of Lemieux because it was a year and a half old—he had dismissed in 1897 an officer in Arichat for alleged partizanship six years before. Mr. Foster, Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper and Mr. Davin used severe language in showing the Ministers that they were inviting all the members of the public service to a criminal career, when they excused and even rewarded such offences as those of which Customs Inspector Lemieux was admitted to be guilty.

NOTES.

Much interest was felt here in the British Columbia elections, and the Liberal-Conservatives are well pleased to find that another Grit provincial Premier has had to give place to a Conservative.

The Premier has introduced a bill increasing the poll tax on Chinese immigrants from $50 to $100.

The speeches of Mr. Tarte in Paris have gone so far in their offensiveness to the English people that the London papers are asking Sir Wilfrid to bring the erratic home. Sir Wilfrid was constrained to say the other day that he was in communication with Mr. Tarte on the subject, and that the latter complained of false reports. Mr. Tarte seems to be subject to false reports in every country he visits.

Among the visitors in the House of Commons gallery this week was the Princess Aribert, of Anhalt, granddaughter of the Queen.

ceived in silence, that was nothing if not suspicious.

Wanted an Expert Analyst.

The committee reassembled at 3 p.m. Mr. Monk desired the attendance of Dr. Jordan Smith, an eminent English analysist living in Montreal. After argument it was agreed to have Dr. Smith called.

Assistant Analysist McGill of the Inland Revenue Department, was the next witness: He explained some of the technical terms used in relation to emergency food. Proteids are the tissue-producing elements of food. Their presence was the vital part of an emergency food. His opinion was that, mutatis mutandis, an emergency ration containing 85 per cent. proteids was five times as good from a nutrative standpoint as one containing 16 per cent. proteids. He gave a list of ordinary foods and their percentage of proteids. For instance, lean beef in its natural state, contains about 20.71 per cent. proteids; peas, 24.4 per cent.; beans, 23 per cent. The ordinary food supplied to the German army contained 19 per cent. proteids. It was only natural that Dr. Macfarlane should draw attention in his report to the fact that Devlin's emergency rations contained only 16 per cent. proteids and was not worth $2 a pound. Ordinary biscuits would contain as much nutriment. He personally knew nothing about the analysis of emergency food. That work would be done by Miss Tyrrell, under the direction of Dr. Macfarlane. Miss Tyrrell will be examined to-day.

On cross-examination, Mr. McGill gave further statistics in regard to the percentage of proteids in foods. Medium fat dried beef contained 35.6 per cent.; very lean dried beef, 77.59 per cent.; beef hearts, 87.65 per cent.; dried tongue, 47.18 per cent.; horse chestnuts, 30.18 per cent.; dried potatoes, 8.31 per cent.

Not Worth $2 a Pound.

No amount of cross-examination could shake his opinion that a ration that contained only 16 per cent. proteids was not worth $2 per pound.

That Free Entry.

Mr. MacDougald, of the Customs Department, said he had searched the fyles of the department, had toiled all night in fact, and found no record of a free entry. He thought it probable that such an order had gone directly from the Militia Department without being entered at the Customs Department. He backed his opinion by reading two telegrams. The first read:

> Ottawa, June 14.—R. S. White, Collector Customs, Montreal: Wire if emergency rations for South Africa contingents or materials for same admitted free at Montreal, and by whom certified for free entry?
> (Signed) Commissioner of Customs.

The second read:

> Montreal, June 15.—Commissioner Customs, Ottawa: Emergency rations brought in by baggage; delivered to Dr. Devlin on collector's permit upon production of order from Militia Department; pending order entry not made yet. (Signed) R. S. White, Collector Customs.

Some discussion arose as to the interpretation of R. S. White's telegram. It was decided to await his evidence. Did "order from Militia Department" mean an order to admit the goods free of duty or an order for the goods themselves? That was the question. Mr. White will tell the committee about it to-day.

Invoiced at 30c Per Lb.

On further examination Mr. MacDougald said that there was another entry regarding the goods in the Customs Department. This entry showed that nine bags of this vegetable proteid powder, 900 pounds, were still in the Custom's warehouse in Montreal. It was invoiced $275, or 30 cents a pound. It was warehoused as baggage on June 16, 1900, and was held for duty. The invoice of these rations was made out by Dr. Devlin with the usual declaration, in which he swore that $275 was the true price paid for them in New York.

From Mr. MacDougald's evidence it was adduced that the balance of the rations, those passed through free of duty, were passed irregularly, as no regular order for exemption had been issued to the Montreal collector by the Customs Department.

The committee passed a motion to order the proper authorities to detain these goods at the Montreal warehouse until they had been examined by the committee. The committee adjourned till 10 a. m. today, when Henri Hatch, R. S. White and others of Montreal will be heard.

Wise Agnes.

Agnes had been sitting for two or three minutes in deep thought. At last she looked up and said:

"Mamma, I know why people grow old. It's because they live so long."

Fluctuations in Wheat — Liquidation Caused a Decline in Chicago—The Latest Quotations.

Liverpool, June 20.—Spot wheat yesterday advanced 10c to 20c per cental in sympathy with Monday's strong American markets. Futures rose 1⅝d to 1¼d per cental and closed near the highest price for the day.

Chicago, June 20.—Wheat futures were weak early yesterday on realizing sales, but the market recovered on further damage reports from the west. There was renewed liquidation late in the day, and the July option closed 1¼c lower than on Monday.

TORONTO LIVE STOCK.

Toronto, June 20.—The run of live stock at the stock yards yesterday amounted to 74 cars, composed of 1,021 cattle, 2,221 hogs, 1,008 sheep and lambs, together with 90 calves. The quality of fat cattle outside of those that had been stall-fed, was only medium. Trade was brisk, with Friday's quotations well maintained for both butchers' and shipping cattle, especially the former. The market for Buffalo stockers was easier, with a light run of not more than 2 carloads, selling at 15c to 25c per cwt. lower than on Friday. The prices quoted in table are for stall-fed cattle.

THE HOUSE OF COMMONS.

Sir Charles Tupper's Motion Re Yukon Representation Voted Down—Sir Wilfrid's Reasons.

Ottawa, June 20.—In the House yesterday, Sir Charles Tupper moved that Federal representation, adequate and immediate, should be given to the Yukon territory. Speaking to his motion, he read a petition from the citizens of Dawson, asking for representation. He thought the Government should act upon the census already taken by the N.W.M.P., in which it was shown that the population was about 17,000, of which 4,500 were British voters. Dawson itself, with 6,000 souls, had 1,120 British voters. Besides, the Yukon paid 1-25th of the revenue of the Dominion. The principle of no taxation without representation should be applied; otherwise representation should be given for the people clamored for it.

Sir Wilfrid replied that the Yukon territory was only four years old, and its administration had first to be experimented. He believed in introducing responsible institutions slowly. He proposed to issue a proclamation before July 1, so as to give the inhabitants two representatives in the Yukon Territorial Council. Next year, after the census that would be taken early in the year, between January and April, representation would be given the Yukon in the Dominion Parliament.

Mr. Foster argued that if the Yukon had bad Federal representation, more information, greatly needed, would be forthcoming regarding the Yukon. He then launched out into a general condemnation of the present Yukon administration.

Sir Charles Tupper's motion was lost by a vote of 46 to 82.

An hour was spent in discussing the need of better approaches to Halifax harbor in particular, and all coast harbors in general. Insurance companies had raised the rates upon shippers because of the dangers of entering harbors. It was stated that Lloyds classified Canada on a scale of the dangerous Gulf of St. Lawrence, hence innocent sections suffered with the guilty.

Sir Louis Davies and Mr. Dobell said that they would do all that was possible to erect the necessary lightships, buoys, bells, etc.

Mr. Dobell said the reason for the raised rate was the loose manner in which deck loads were laid on ship.

Mr. Edwin Tolton of Clifford.

Arthur, Ont., June 20.—The North Wellington Conservative Convention met at Arthur yesterday. Edwin Tolton, reeve of Clifford, received the nomination for the House of Commons.

Dr. Chase Cures Piles

Without the Danger, Pain or Expense of an operation—The Only Guaranteed Cure.

From nearly every town and village in Canada come letters from persons who have been rescued from the miseries of piles by using Dr. Chase's Ointment.

Mr. F. Stokes, 116 Dunlop street, Barrie, Ont., writes:—"I was troubled with blind, itching piles for years, and could get nothing to stop the constant itching. I was always in pain until a friend of mine told me of the wonderful cures Dr. Chase's Ointment had made among his acquaintances.

"I only used one box and am entirely cured. In gratitude for this marvellous cure and for the benefit of others suffering as I did, I send you this record of my case."

When operations and every other means have failed to cure you, you can begin the use of Dr. Chase's Ointment with perfect confidence that it will cure you. It has never failed to cure piles and will not fail you; 60 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates and Co., Toronto.

THE FIELD OF GENERAL SPORT

BASEBALL.

Port Hope Guide:—"Do or die," was the motto of the Lindsay ball tossers, when they went into the game against our File Works team at the Town Park last Saturday afternoon, but we are happy to relate they did not accomplish either, but made things very uncomfortable for the locals at every stage of the game, and it was not until the last man was put out that "Tip" O'Neill breathed freely. Although Port Hope always seemed to have the best of it, the visitors played in "fits and starts," that would make the spectators look grave.

The Port Hope Guide says that Jordan, O'Hara and Lattimore of the Lindsay team are from Toronto and Elliott and Tuttle from Kingston.

At Oshawa last Friday the home team was defeated by Bowmanville in a league game by 10 runs to 3.

Port Hope Guide:—"Chaucer" Elliott, who caught for Lindsay, played a fine game throughout, in fact, it was his 'head work' that saved the visitors from a worse defeat. He displays the same spirit in baseball as in football and hockey—never beaten until time is called.

LACROSSE.

FRED DOBBIN PLAYED GOAL.

Toronto Globe:—Saturday's senior C.L.A. game at the Island between the Dufferins of Orangeville and the Tecumsehs was nothing more or less than a good breezy gallop for the Indians, who could have made the score much larger if they had extended themselves to the limit. In every department of the game the Tecumsehs were superior, with the possible exception of between the flags, Kelly, the ex-Markham goalkeeper, doing great work in that position for the Dufferins. In no particular was the superiority of the home team so pronounced as on the home. The combination of the attacking division of the Indians was well nigh perfect, although their shooting was susceptible to improvement. "Billy" Kelly showed marvelous skill in placing the ball into the net, three of the Tecumsehs' scores being the result of his fine marksmanship. On the defence the Tecumsehs developed unexpected strength, Dobbin, late of Peterborough, who was between the posts; Dowling from Orangeville, and Behan, last season with the Mimico Stars, evidencing that the company they were in was not by any means too fast for them. Bert Davis, who was moved out in the defence field to make room for Dobbin, played in championship form. Along with Grimes and Angus he effectually smashed the combination of the visitors' home, and after the first few minutes of the initial half the visitors were never dangerous. Bradley, the elongated Georgetown player, who was recruited at the last moment by the Dufferins, was not in good shape, but despite that the visitors relied upon him to do all the shooting, invariably passing the ball to him when in the vicinity of the flags. His work was pretty, but decidedly ineffective. Kelly, in goal, stopped many hard shots. Menary, Shore, Pat Kelly and the McIntyre boys were greatly in evidence throughout. The system of playing two halves of 45 minutes each, with a 15-minute rest between periods, was, from the spectators' point of view, a success, but the players did not seem tickled to death with the change. But there are more ways than one of killing a cat, etc., and it was very funny to see a player fall down flat on his face from no apparent cause, thereby securing a much-needed rest not only for himself but the other players. Each player sported a number on his tunic, by which those who were fortunate enough to possess programmes could identify the different members. Some changes were made in the line-up of the Tecumsehs, and the names and numbers did not correspond with the printed list. Two No. 4's were playing on the winning team, while it was almost an impossibility to distinguish the numbers sported by the Dufferins, as they were not blocked out like those worn by the Indians. Manager Taylor deserves all the credit in the world for introducing this much-needed reform in Toronto, and though on Saturday the scheme did not prove very successful, he promises that in future games there will be a different story to tell. Between 1,500 and 2,000 enthusiasts enjoyed the game.

WHEN DOCTORS DISAGREE

What Becomes of the Patient?

Doctors have their hobbies as well as other people and in the treatment of disease often carry them too far for the patient's good. For instance, in the treatment of indigestion or dyspepsia many doctors give bismuth and nothing else, others rely on pepsin to bring their patients through, still another doctor treats stomach troubles with the various vegetable essences and fruit salts.

Now, one or the other of these excellent remedies becomes a hobby with the doctor who has had most success with the particular one in question, because all of them are first class remedies for indigestion and dyspepsia, but not one of them alone is so good as a combination of all of them, such as is found in Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, which contain not only vegetable essences and fruit salts, but also the freshest, purest pepsin and bismuth, making altogether a remedy unsurpassed for every form of indigestion, sour stomach, nervous dyspepsia, belching of gas, distress after eating, sleeplessness, headaches, etc.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is not a secret patent nostrum, but you can see for yourself what it is, and knowing this, its success as a dyspepsia cure is not surprising. All druggists recommend and sell them at 50 cents.

REVIEWS.

The exquisite colored cover of the Designer for July will recommend this number of the popular monthly to the feminine public before even a peep is given at the contents, which, however, are all that can be desired in interest and artistic display. There are over a hundred fashion illustrations, and a dozen millinery designs in black and white and color, and all are refined, stylish and effective. Crochet work, tatting and fancy work in other lines are largely represented by fifteen illustrations accompanied by practical working directions, and equally practical are the suggestions for summer weather under "Living Out of Doors."

WEDDING BELLS

Marriage of Miss Fanny English and Mr. Geo. Manning.

A pretty wedding of local interest was celebrated at Lakefield yesterday. It was the marriage of Miss Fanny English, daughter of Mr. John English, to Mr. Geo. Manning, of town. The ceremony took place at the residence of the bride's father, which had been tastefully beautified with flowers, the bridal party standing between a beautiful arch, suspended from which was a handsome floral bell. Rev. Geo. Warren officiated.

The bride, who wore a becoming costume of blue and white silk, trimmed with lace and chiffon and carried a bouquet of cream roses, was assisted by Miss Eva Nicholls, of Rochester. The bridesmaid was attired in cream cashmere, trimmed with satin and lace, and also carried a bouquet of roses. The bride was also attended by little Albertina Herridge as maid of honor, who was prettily dressed in white organdie with insertion and lace trimmings and carried a bouquet of carnations.

Mr. Ed. Manning supported the groom as best man.

The bride was the recipient of a large number of wedding gifts. The groom's gift to the bride was a gold watch, to the bridesmaid a brooch inlaid with pearls, and to the maid-of-honor a ring.

After the wedding ceremony a dainty wedding supper was served and congratulations extended the happy couple.

Mr. and Mrs. Manning will reside at 631 Water-st.

OBSERVANCE OF THE SABBATH

BRANCH OF THE LORD'S DAY ALLIANCE FORMED IN PETERBOROUGH

Address by Rev. Mr. Shearer in the Y.M.C.A. Hall - Desecration of the Lord's Day Must be Stopped - The Organization.

A meeting was held last night in the Y.M.C.A. hall to consider the organization of a branch in this community of the Lord's Day Alliance. Rev. Mr. Potter was chairman and after saying that Peterborough ought to take an active interest in the work of the Alliance he introduced Rev. J. G. Shearer, field secretary for the province.

Rev. Mr. Shearer began his address by saying that while he knew that Peterborough is a good town and has a reputation as a moral town, this fact only emphasizes the responsibility the town bears in the work of trying to keep the Sabbath sacred. We must not delay in one defence of this country against those who would abolish the Sabbath.

Let us take the example shown by events in South Africa. Already the number of our men put out of action is 85,000. Would the number be so great if the governing bodies of Britain had taken the advice of those who warned them at first and had taken measures to stop the preparations that the enemy were making.

The war has shown that it is easier to fight on the defensive than on the offensive, that it is easier to keep the enemy out of your country than it is to drive them out if they once get a foothold in it.

This reasoning holds good in the case of the fight for a Christian Sabbath. Look at the United States where they have Sunday saloons, stores, factories, theatres, etc. Did these all come in at once. No, they worked in one by one and only now has the United States awakened to the fact that she is losing her Sabbath Day.

The Lord's Day Alliance believes that the destroying of our country is co-ordinate with a Sabbath Day.

That the life of God's Church will end if the Sabbath is lost, for when can the churches reach the people if not on the Sabbath.

In the United States how many a man is debarred from all intercourse with his family, because he has to work seven days in the week?

If the people of Canada could be convinced that the Sabbath is in danger we would all be ready enough to enlist and fight for it. Yet there are three great forces at work against it.

1st.—Irreligion or infidelity.
2nd.—The greed for gold.
3rd.—The lust for pleasure.

The power of infidelity is shown in the fact that, at the time of the French revolution the Sabbath was done away with the tenth day, a holiday, substituted for it. The Sabbath was restored when the monarchy was restored but France seems never to have recovered her love for the Sabbath as is shown by the way the Paris exposition is kept open on Sunday's.

The other two forces, the greed for gold and the lust for pleasure, go hand in hand, one complementing the other.

The greed for gold can put on the mask of religion at times, as for instance in the cases of cars and steamboat companies who suddenly get a holy zeal for carrying people to church on Sundays.

This greed sometimes poses as a philanthropist desirous of carrying people from the cities out to the parks and suburbs.

We have been taught and we believe that works of necessity and mercy are allowed on the Sabbath.

In the United States all these things are existent but they worked in one by one. In Montreal and in places in Ontario we have many of these desecrations of the Sabbath.

Yet we must draw a line between a work of necessity and a case where a manufacturer say that stopping the machinery on Sundays injures the machinery.

Some urge that the Sunday cars are a convenience to the people. We admit this but is it a reason why they should be tolerated. The Sunday morning butcher shop, and cigar store, and barber shop, and saloon, are they not also conveniences? Would Sunday newspapers not be a great convenience at this time? Yet if we admit one we must admit all.

Commercial necessity, this is another plea of the Sabbath breakers. Employers work their employees seven days in the week and plead this excuse. If we admit this once we must admit it again. The Lord's Day Act, said Mr. Shearer, is radically deficient, and must be improved. The method of the Alliance in dealing with a case where the Sabbath is being broken is first to use kindly persuasion, then if that is not effective to use public remonstrance. Appeal to law is the last alternative. If we show the law breakers that we are ready to use this last means, the first is generally all that is necessary. There are many places, said the speaker, where the need of a branch of the Alliance does not seem apparent, yet if the whole province were organized what a power it would be. If we allow the people of Windsor to fight single handed, they will fail. We must concentrate all our forces at the point of attack. If Ottawa or Hamilton has to fight alone she will lose just as Peterborough will lose when her turn comes. The Lord's Day Alliance has now between 80 and 90 different branches, whereas in November, 1898, it had but 27, and in 1899 but 67. The mere fact that there is a branch in a town has a great effect in keeping down Sabbath breaking.

Rev. Mr. Shearer closed by urging the people to consider their great responsi-

TELEPHONE CHANGES

Mr. J. S. Knapman Retires From the Service of the Bell Co.—Succeeded by Mr. C. W. Stringer, of Belleville.

A change took place to-day in the local managership of the Bell Telephone Co., when Mr. J. S. Knapman, who for several years has been local manager here, transferred his duties of office to Mr. C. W. Stringer, who will succeed to the charge of the exchange and its business as manager.

Mr. Knapman has resigned his position with the Bell Telephone Co., in order to accept a position with Sun Life Insurance Co. On July 1st he assumes duties as inspector for the Sun Life. Mr. Knapman has been an employee of the Bell Telephone Co. for eighteen years, and since coming to Peterborough as local manager has been a good servant of the company and courteous and affable in his intercourse with the people. As a result the exchange has grown and prospered under his management, and the company expressed regret at losing his services. For the present, at least, he will not be lost to Peterborough as a citizen, as he will continue to reside here. His friends, and they are many, will wish him success in his new position, which is an excellent one with a good company.

Mr. Stringer, the new manager for Peterborough, is a gentleman of long experience with the Telephone Co., and has been manager at Belleville for sixteen years past. This testifies to his good qualities, and the Peterborough subscribers will find in him an obliging, genial manager who will also be a good citizen. He will be heartily welcomed here.

TENDERS FOR THE CHEMONG BRIDGE

WERE OPENED AND THAT OF A TORONTO MAN WAS ACCEPTED

The Figures Varied From $27,000 to $41,000 — The Lowest Tender Was Accepted.

The Joint Committees of the Town and County Councils were in session this morning considering the tenders for the new Chemong lake bridge. Ald. Oke, Roger and Denne represented the town.

Five tenders were received. They ranged from $27,000 to $41,000, and it was decided to accept the lowest tender, which is that of Mr. Donald McDiarmid, of Toronto. His price is $27,437. The other figures were not given out.

DANGEROUSLY WOUNDED IN ACTION

Capt. McDonald Reported Dangerously Wounded in Action in South Africa.

A cable message from General Hutton this morning conveyed the first news of the wounding in action of gallant Capt. McDonald, which is reported in this afternoon's despatches. Capt. McDonald is the brother of Mrs. L. M. Hayes, of town, and was a well known citizen and popular officer of Toronto. The Review's despatch says the wound is a dangerous one in the abdomen received in action near Pretoria on June 12th, and his friends will be terribly anxious while awaiting further news.

General Hutton in his message said they "hoped for the best."

TO-NIGHT ON THE LAKE

The Illuminated Parade Promises to be Well Attended.

The first illuminated canoe parade that has been held on the Little lake for years will be held to-night. The fleet with everything in readiness will manouvere for the start sharply at eight o'clock, when the cruise will be conducted by Commodore R. M. Roy. The line of procession will follow the shore for the trip downwards after circling through the lake as directed by the Commodore. Good points for citizens to see the procession will be from Point St. Charles, the steamboat wharf, Burnham's Point or from the cemetery. Let every canoeist turn out and help the parade along.

COUNTY COUNCIL IN JUNE SESSION

A SHORT SESSION WAS HELD BEFORE COMMITTEE WORK WAS PROCEEDED WITH

The Committee on the Warden's Address Reported on the References Made by the Presiding Officer.

The County Council went into session this morning at ten o'clock, the Warden presiding and all the members being present.

THE REPORT ON WARDEN'S ADDRESS.

Mr. Pearce presented the report of the special committee on the Warden's address as follows:—

The Special Committee on the Warden's address beg leave to report as follows:—

1. Your Committee have great reason to congratulate the County on the advancing strides it is making and on the happiness, contentment, prosperity and exceptional prospects of the great mass of our people and your Committee have further reason for congratulation upon the prospects of a large and bountiful harvest during the coming season.

2. Your committee desire to place on record its affirmative judgment of the justice and necessity of the South African war and of the wisdom of our Parliament in sending our Canadian contingents as evidence to the world of the sympathy, concord and loyalty of all the component parts of the British Empire in all matters affecting its integrity and unity, and your Committee wish to express its satisfaction at the successful issue of the conflict and hope that soon all belligerent elements will be enjoying peace and prosperity, the perfect enjoyment of British freedom and liberty.

3. Your committee desire to thank Mr. W. H. Casement for the care and diligence he displayed in connection with the arbitration between the Town of Peterborough and this County in connection with the Administration of Justice accounts, etc.

4. Your committee concur with the Warden in expressing satisfaction with the grants made by both the Town of Peterborough and the Ontario and Dominion Governments for the Mud Lake bridge and trust that before long this bridge will be re-constructed and again be in first class condition for traffic.

5. Your committee recommend that the matter of the water supply for the County Buildings and Court House grounds be again referred to the Committee on County property.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

J. B. PEARCE,
Chairman.

The report was adopted and the Council adjourned and proceeded with Committee work.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS

The Managers of the Y. M. C. A. Meet—Chairman Elected for the Year.

The June meeting of the Board of Directors of the Peterborough Young Men's Christian Association was well attended and much important business transacted last evening.

The appointment of Mr. Wm. Curtis, as janitor, was confirmed, and Mr. MacLeod was re-engaged for another year as physical director.

Both appointments were made by unanimous vote of the Board.

Feeling reference was made to the late Mrs. Brownscombe, who for many years has been a warm friend and supporter of the association. One of her last requests was that twenty-five dollars of her money be given to the association, which request was complied with some days ago.

A hearty vote of thanks was tendered by the Board to those who had instructed the educational classes during the past season.

The names of the instructores are as follows:—Messrs. J. C. Smith (English), Jas. A. Hall and W. D. Campbell (book-keeping), F. H. Dobbin (advertising), W. H. Collier (applied mechanics), F. C. Smallpiece (electricity), H. A. Yenney (Arithmetic), W. J. Stubbs (shorthand), Jas. Armstrong (int. course).

Warm appreciation was also expressed of the action of Messrs. Richard Hall and Chas. McGill, trustees for the Nicholls estate, for allowing the association the use of the lot on the south side of the building for tennis, quoits and other out door recreation.

The following were elected chairmen of the different departments for the year 1900-1901:—

Religious work	T. H. Martin
Bible study	Jno. Manning
Social	R. B Harding
Educational	A. E. Dixon
Boys	H. Ayers
Membership	E. E. Lord
Information and Relief	J. W. Bennett
Foreign work	R. R. Hall

The other members of the Committees will be selected at once, and the departments will then prepare plans for next season's work.

NOBLE INSTITUTION IN CHARITY'S CAUSE

THE HANDSOME NEW HOUSE OF PROVIDENCE AT ST. JOSEPH'S

The Building About Completed—A Grand Site—A Substantial Building Grandly Equipped for the Want That it is Intended to Fill—A Beautiful Home for the Poor and Aged.

The finishing touches are now being given to the House of Providence that has been erected in connection with St. Joseph's hospital, Ashburnham, and in a few days the magnificent building will be ready to receive the aged and infirm and the infants who are now sheltered in the hospital. The new building is not one that has had money lavished on the architectural adornment of its exterior, but is a sensible and substantial structure at once commending itself as a solid institution erected with a practical end in view and therefore planned and supervised by practical minds. The interior, however, has been made complete. Here money has not been spared in giving every modern improvement that will contribute to the comfort, convenience, and health of its inmates. The same practical hand is seen in the interior, however, as is evidenced outside, and at no time has the object for which the building has been erected, the character of the work it is to do and the accommodation it will be called upon to furnish been lost sight of. Nothing is lacking, and the result is that the aged and infirm who may be inmates will find comfort and pleasant environment there to make their declining days as cheerful as they well can be. Provision is also made for the accommodation of the infants, bereft of or neglected by parents who are taken in charge by the Sisters of St. Joseph. The building is a monument to the charity of the Church under whose auspices it has been erected and is a credit to the architect, Mr. J. E. Belcher, C.E., who designed and supervised it, and to the contractors who did the work of erection.

A FINE SITE.

The House of Providence is a solid brick building, covering an area 75 by 45 feet, standing a short distance south of St. Joseph's hospital, which it faces. Rising from the high land in the picturesque grounds formerly known as St. Leonard's, the building commands a magnificent view and enjoys the healthy and invigorating breezes from the surrounding country and water stretches. As stated, the main entrance is to the north, while to the south, stretching the full length of the building, is a verandah on each storey. From these verandahs is obtained one of the finest views that can be pictured. Directly in front are green fields, intersected by the white roadways and dotted with dwellings, with the beautiful waters and tree-fringed shores of Little lake in the distance. To the east is a grand rural scene of farming land and green woods, while to the west a glimpse is caught of the village and the town. These verandahs are easy of access from each floor in the building, and will be most delightful breathing places during the day and in the evening.

THE INTERIOR.

The interior plan of the building is practically the same on each floor. The basement is occupied by the culinary departments, the kitchen, dining rooms, laundry, boiler rooms, etc. The ground floor is for the men, the second floor for the women and the third floor for the children. On each of these floors there is a wide and commodious hall or corridor running through the centre from east to west and off of this hall open all the wards and other rooms. A large staircase, substantially built of solid oak, ascends from the centre of the building, on the south side opposite the main entrance, to the top storey, and on each landing there is the door leading to the verandah. The building has been finished throughout with hardwood floors and maple wainscoting, and all the woodwork is finished in the natural color. From top to bottom it is lighted by electricity, and heated with the most complete and modern system of hot water. Two immense "Daisy" twin boilers supply the hot water that is distributed to fifty large radiators that will keep the building at any temperature desired on the coldest day in winter. Every ward and room is well-lighted and is bright and cheerful, while at the east end of the hall or corridor on the second floor is a small chapel, which can be extended by opening the doors and including the hall space. From the basement to the top storey runs a dumb waiter, which will form an easy and convenient line of communication between the kitchen and any of the floors above. The system of water supply is also unusually good, the waterworks being supplemented by a steam service of two large force pumps, situated at each end of the basement, and forcing the water from the cisterns to the large copper tanks in the attic. The main connection of the waterworks comes into the basement and goes up through the corridors to the attic, with fire plugs on each floor for fire protection.

Each floor is furnished with bath rooms and closets, fitted up with the most modern conveniences, and latest equipment. The baths are porcelain and the fittings are all nickle plated. The

The Chinese Muddle Explained.

Chicago Times-Herald.

The Emperor Hien Fung had no children by the lawful empress, Tse An, but he had one son by the so-called empress dowager, Tse-Hsi. During the long minority of this son, Tung Che, the women were associated together in the government, and although they retired in 1873 when he came of age they resumed the reins two years later upon his death. He left a widow, who might have become a mother and the regent, but she survived him only two months, and the empresses chose Tsai Tien (Kwang Su), the son of Prince Chun, who was the brother of Hien Fung, to be emperor. As Prince Chun had married a sister of Tse-Hsi that lady was aunt of Kwang Su both by marriage and blood, and as the new emperor was a child there was another long minority, during which she ruled first with the other dowager and then alone. She retired ostensibly in 1889 when Kwang Su came of age, but seized the government again in 1898 and named an heir to the throne early this year. He is Pu Chun, son of Prince Tuan, son of Prince Tun, brother of Hien Fung. His father, Prince Tuan, is first cousin of Kwang Su, and has just been appointed president of the reactionary Tsung-li-yamen.

—Stephen Nevison, of Fenelon Falls, has been appointed Chief of Police of Lindsay. There were 19 applicants.

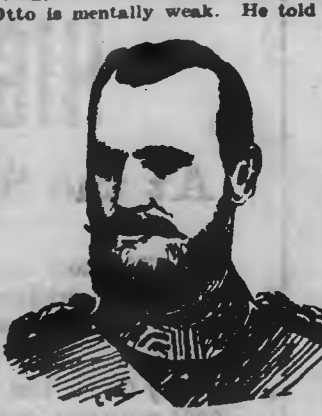
PRINCE LUDWIG.

Bavaria's Daring Heir Presumptive Has Aroused the Ire of the German Emperor.

Prince Ludwig, heir presumptive to the throne of Bavaria, whose speech at Straubing before the members of the Canal Association has aroused the ire of the German emperor, is said to be as mentally strong as his unfortunate relative King Otto is mentally weak. He told his hearers that the Bavarians desired to be "first-class," not "second-class" Germans. This strong upholding on his part of the Bavarian national spirit has won for him the love of all his future subjects. Both he and the princess are adored by them. Prince Ludwig is short, stout and simple. He loves far more to wear a scant jacket and Tyrolese hat than his uniform as a Bavarian infantry commander. His wife, the princess, is known as the direct heir of the Stuarts and Charles I. Her claim as heiress of the Stuarts rests upon her descent from Victor Amadeus II., Duke of Savoy and King of Sardinia. Princess Henrietta Anna, daughter of Charles I., married Philip, Duke of Orleans, and brother of Louis XIV. Their daughter Anna married Victor Amadeus. Prince Ludwig's father, Leopold, is now regent of Bavaria, while King Otto is confined to the padded cell of a madhouse.



PRINCE LUDWIG.

TRUTH NOT STRANGE ENOUGH.

An Instance Where Something Better Was Found in Fiction.

"If truth is stranger than fiction," said an amateur cynic of this city, "it is well for a fellow to fib a little when he wants to be believed. Not long ago, to give you an illustration, a young friend of mine who works for a certain shipping house here was detained at the office until after midnight and just before leaving attempted to replace a letter file on a high swinging shelf. In so doing he dislodged a ledger, which struck him on the bridge of the nose as it fell and knocked off a good sized section of skin, besides blacking one of his eyes. I occupy the adjoining office and, hearing the racket, went in and helped patch him up.

"Now, I happened to know that this young man had a wife who was inclined to be very suspicious, and as he was going I asked him what he proposed to tell her about the accident. 'Why, I'll tell her exactly what happened,' he said. 'It is perfectly plain and simple.' 'That's just the trouble,' said I. 'It's so plain and simple that she'll never believe it in the world. She'll think you made it up to conceal something terrible and will be very unhappy. It is your duty in such a case to do a little lying.' 'But what shall I tell her then?' he asked, looking puzzled. 'Tell her,' said I, 'that you heard a row in the street and, going to the window, saw the Italian fruit vender on the opposite corner yelling at some boys who had just robbed his stand. While you had your head out he hurled an apple at the urchins, and it flew wild and hit you in the eye.' 'But, good heavens,' he protested, 'that's a most preposterous yarn! Here we are on the third floor, so how on earth could I be hit by an apple thrown at a boy in the street?' 'You don't pretend to know,' I replied. 'All you can say is that it happened.'

"I finally got him to promise he would do exactly as I advised, and next day he came down all smiles. 'It worked to a charm!' he explained. 'I told her the apple story just as you outlined it and remarked casually that I knew it sounded incredible and might easily enough have invented some plausible fiction to account for my eye, but I preferred to tell her the exact truth on all occasions. Well, she simply beamed,' continued my friend. '"John," she said to me, "don't you ever be afraid to tell your little wife the truth, no matter how wild it sounds. You can always depend on her common sense."'

"I really believe I averted trouble in that family," said the amateur cynic thoughtfully.—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Heart Humbug

It is fashionable to-day to have a new heart scare every 24 hours. The commonest symptoms of dyspepsia or nerve trouble, such as palpitation, weak spells, loss of appetite, and poor circulation, are magnified and distorted into serious signs of heart trouble, with the object of frightening the public into taking this or that heart remedy. If a hundredth part of the heart trouble we hear about were real, the cemeteries would be filled in a month. A wrong construction is put upon common ailments in order to humbug the people into the belief that heart disease is prevalent, whereas real heart trouble, which is so sadly and suddenly fatal when it does occur, is a rare disease. Lopsided arguments cannot convince an intelligent people. Iron is the vital element of the blood. Too little iron means weakness, lack of spirit, pallid cheeks, shortness of breath, sleeplessness, nervousness, loss of vital force, ending in general break-down. The iron in Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills is in the soluble form you need, in combination with other curative agents in such a manner that disease can't resist their action. You feel yourself getting well when you take Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills.

TENS AND TREYS.

The Incident That Gave Them the Name "Dead Man's Hand."

The term "Dead man's hand" in poker means tens and treys, and the hand got its name because they won when the man that held them was dead.

Many years ago a party of planters and cowmen had a sitting on one of the boats plying up and down the Mississippi. Among them was a young fellow whose mother had sent him to New Orleans to bring back a large sum of money with which to pay off a mortgage on the homestead. He may be called Smith.

Bad luck and bad whisky very soon knocked a hole in his wad bigger than a pound of dry wool. Along in the night some one opened a fat, juicy pot for the "Downs," and every one staid. It being Smith's last say, he did the usual elevating, and every one staid again. This effort took about half of what was left of the original sum. We then drew cards. The opener drew three, the next two drew two each, and the last three drew one each. Smith was included in the one card draw. The opener then bet. Smith promptly raised with all the money he had left. As he was a rank bluffer the other players sized him up pretty close, and he was called by the opener, one of the two card men, and two of the one card men. He now stood to win about twice as much as he had originally. If he lost, he might as well shoot himself, for he could never face his mother without the money for the mortgage. After the last bet he laid his cards face down on the table in front of him and bent over on the table with his head resting on his arms.

The opener didn't help his pair, another played made a pair of aces by drawing to a four flush, a third had two pair, sevens and fives, and the fourth had a pair of kings and an ace kicker. As Smith did not answer when asked to show his hand and as he was supposed to have fallen asleep a man named Halpin turned his cards over and showed a pair of tens and a pair of threes, which, being the big hand, entitled Smith to the pot. After vainly trying to rouse him one of the players, a doctor, raised his head and, looking long and carefully, pronounced him dead of heart disease. The money was sent to his mother, and Smith finished his trip as freight.

Since then tens and treys have been called the dead man's hand, and it is a hand that is rarely beaten in draw poker. Aces and eights are called the gambler's hand and is popularly supposed to be invincible.

Out of the Caucus.

Some senators remember, says a Washington correspondent in the New York Mail and Express, how Vice President Henry Wilson of Massachusetts left the senate to take the vice presidential office, and soon after his inauguration the Republicans called a caucus of their side, and out of habit Mr. Wilson was the first to attend the meeting. As the senators began to gather they expressed surprise at the presence of the vice president, but he did not seem to notice this and finally had to be told that only senators could attend caucuses and that as vice president and presiding officer of the senate he was not expected to attend party gatherings. Senators who have prospects of re-election, therefore, do not care to give up their seat on the floor to become a mere presiding officer, with only the right to cast the deciding vote in case of a tie.

Not Idle Curiosity.

"Marse William," said the old family servant, "is you gwine ter run fer office dis year?"

"Don't know. Why do you ask?"

"Well, suh, dey's been one er two gentermens put in application for my vote, en I des wants ter know ef it's ter stay in the fambly or go projeckin eroun' fer itse'f."

In 1850 the first steamer direct from Glasgow to New York, the ill fated City of Glasgow, was launched, and in 1851, though only 1,650 tons, she struck on a rock near Renfrew, and the Clyde trust had years of work before it could blast that rock away.

The French method—and an excellent one—of making gravy with roast meats is to baste the roast repeatedly with butter. The resultant rich juices are neither thickened nor strained.

THE BOTANIST.

There is no tree which requires less pruning than a cherry tree, either at the time of planting or at any other.

There is a hospital for trees on the banks of the Seine in Paris. Trees which grow weak along the boulevards are taken there to recover.

Most people think milkweed is poisonous, but botanists and other people who know what is good declare that the young leaves, when they are just in the right condition, are a cross between spinach and asparagus and are delicious in a salad.

ASHANTI OUTBREAK.

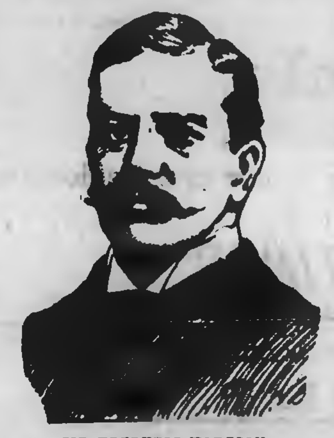
WHY WEST INDIA REGIMENTS WERE SENT TO GOLD COAST.

Cause of This Lesser African Disturbance to the Peace of John Bull — King Prempeh and His Savage and Barbarous Hordes—The Ashantees Tired of Being Good.

Notwithstanding the large demand for troops for the Boer war, the sending of West Indian regiments to the Gold Coast does not necessarily mean that the British war office has no white troops to spare. It means, rather, that the British have no white troops to throw away by sending them to a climate which is little better than deadly. White people do not live in Ashanti, but a carefully housed existence is one thing while a campaign in the open is quite another.

Gold is at the bottom of this disturbance. It is the gold stool of state, owned by King Prempeh, which is the bone of contention. When the British expedition of 1896 overthrew the power of this savage monarch, his gold stool and the golden sacrificial bowls disappeared. The British government officials have made attempts to recover these precious relics, but always in vain. It is said that their hiding place was recently betrayed to Sir Frederic Hodgson and that his subsequent attempt to seize them caused the present rising.

The Ashantees have long been noted as the most savage and barbarous of all the African tribes. Among them human sacrifices are still made, slavery practiced and fetich worship indulged in, with all its attendant horrors.



SIR FREDERIC HODGSON.

Almost three years ago the present king of the Ashantees threw off his allegiance to Great Britain and, taking advantage of the fact that the greater part of the British forces in that vicinity had been withdrawn to take part in the campaigns then being conducted in the Soudan against the khalifa, held the time honored fetich in the face of the British resident. It is said that in consequence of having been restrained from this horrible rite for several years the savages were particularly cruel on this outbreak.

This uprising, as will be remembered, was very promptly put down, and under rather amusing circumstances, by an expedition under Sir Francis Scott. It numbered less than 1,600 men, of whom only 250 were English, the remainder being Fanies and Gold Coast mercenaries. Prempeh had massed something like 100,000 spearmen on the border and was said to have been proffered firearms by the French.

The miserable little British force would have been overwhelmed had the Ashantees made a stand. But midway between Elmina and Kumassi Sir Francis Scott was met on the highway by Prempeh himself, accompanied by only a few of his courtiers. He had heard of the British expedition and remembering the signal defeats inflicted upon his people for more than a century, came trudging along under his cotton umbrella to humbly offer surrender.

The incident was very amusing and made an end to what might easily have assumed international proportions, for, as will be seen, Germany and France are both vitally interested in Ashanti. Sir Francis Scott accepted Prempeh's offer of surrender and gave him a guard of honor back to his capital. Here he made the fallen monarch take an oath to abolish the fetich dances and left a resident agent to see that the oath was kept.

But it is evident that the Ashantees are tired of being good. They thirst for blood again and long to resume their barbarous practices. So they have risen and crushed the feeble garrison which has been stationed at Kumassi.

Sir Frederic Hodgson, who is said to have escaped from Kumassi in which he was shut up for some time by the natives, has been governor of the Gold Coast only a year or two. He has seen much service in West Africa. He began official life in the English postoffice service and became postmaster general of British Guiana in 1882. Six years later he became colonial secretary of the Gold Coast, and on several occasions he had acted as temporary governor. He was mainly instrumental in raising the Gold Coast Rifle volunteers.

The Germ of the Plague.

The specific organism of bubonic plague is conveyed mostly by shipping. This organism was discovered independently by Versin and Kitasato in 1894, since which time there have been constant efforts on the part of bacteriologists to produce a prophylactic either in the form of a serum or vaccine. These investigations have met with the most successful results. Haffkine, a leading scientist, prepared a vaccine which has robbed the plague of its terrors. Barker and Flint, of Johns Hopkins University, compiled statistics of the plague cases in Manila which show that the mortality in the unvaccinated is seven times greater than in the vaccinated.

Briefly Announced.

There is no personage quite so imposing as a well developed specimen of the British butler. The Wellesley Magazine relates an anecdote of one butler whose taste for the impressive was too much for the family whose service he had entered.

He was a newcomer, and almost his first duty was to announce the arrivals at his employer's first "at home" of the season. The earliest guests to appear were Mr. and Mrs. Penny and their daughter, old and familiar friends of the family. The new butler announced them in measured tones and with majestic mien:

"Mr. Edwin Algernon Pembroke Penny, Mrs. Edwin Algernon Pembroke Penny and Miss Maud Victoria Penny."

Other arrivals were announced at equal length and with equal solemnity. Before the next "at home" the master of the house suggested that so much repetition and elaboration was unnecessary; that he would prefer to have his guests announced more briefly. The magnificent being bowed grave assent and said nothing. But his feelings had been wounded, and he was, unlike most of his kind, as clever as he was majestic.

As before, the first to arrive were Mr. and Mrs. Penny and Miss Penny. When they had ascended the stairs, they paused an instant at the drawing room door; the next the butler flung it abruptly open, and they heard themselves briskly announced to their dismayed hosts in the comprehensive formula:

"Threepence!"

UNCLE ELI'S FABLES.

The Story of the Trusting Owl and the Wily Fox.

One evening as the Owl was uttering a few hoots and pluming her wings preparatory to rustling about for food she was accosted by the Fox with:

"I heard your hoot from afar off and have come to make you a proposition. I am nearsighted, but fleet of foot, while you are sharp sighted, but slow of wings. Suppose we hunt together and divide the game?"

"But from my earliest infancy I have been told that you were full of guile," replied the Owl as she looked down upon Reynard with suspicion.

"All a mistake, my dear bird. Such talk comes from the fact that my ears are cut on the bias. As I said, we will hunt together and make a divide."

"But how do I know that you won't even eat me?" insisted the Owl, suddenly remembering that her grandmother had mysteriously disappeared after a confab with a Fox.

"Listen to me," continued Reynard, with great earnestness. "You simply fly about and use your eyes to uncover Hares, and I will run them down. You need not even alight."

The Owl still doubted, but at length agreed to the partnership, and it was not long before her sharp eyes espied a Hare in her form, and she called to the Fox. It was but a short chase ere the Hare was overtaken and killed.

"I'll eat my half and retire," said the Fox as he fell to, and ten minutes later the Owl descended to find nothing but a ball of fur and a few bones.

"Alas, but I should have known you'd trick me in some manner!" she called to the Fox.

"Gently, thou wall eyed," he replied from the thicket. "It was to be a divide, and I have taken the meat and left you the fur and bones."

"But I can't eat fur and bones!"

"Mebbe not, but who said anything about eating? I supposed you were out for the fun of the thing."

ARRIVED IN THE NICK OF TIME

Russian Relieving Force Attacking Pekin on Both Sides.

This Occurred as the Chinese Had Successfully Begun a Renewal of the Attack on the Legations—They Had Set Fire to Five European Buildings—700 Chinese Killed at Taku—Japan Will Act.

London, June 20.—(3 a.m.) —"The Russian relieving force arrived outside of Pekin this morning," says the Shanghai correspondent of The Daily Express, "and immediately began to attack the city on both sides, employing numerous artillery. The of time, for the Chinese assert that force apparently arrived in the nick attack upon the legations had been successfully renewed. On the night of June 16 the Chinese troops, under Gens. Tung Fuh Sian and Tung Ching attacked the legations and set on fire five European buildings. Nothing definite is known as to the result, except that the Chinese were disappointed, although other reports, utterly discredited by foreigners here, are that the Chinese, infuriated by the destruction of Taku, have since massacred all the foreigners in Pekin."

French Minister Also Killed.

A modified version of these rumors received at Berlin is that the French, as well as the German Minister, has been killed. The English at Shanghai think that the Chinese had foreign advice in organizing defences at Taku, because of the precision with which their attack was delivered. The wires connecting with the harbor mines were cut by the boats of the warships the night before the bombardment.

Seven Hundred Killed.

It is now reported at Shanghai that it was on board the Russian cruiser Korietz, and not the Mandschur, that the explosion occurred, killing and wounding more than 50. It is reported that no fewer than 700 Chinese were killed in the forts.

The Shanghai correspondent of The Daily Express says he is officially informed that Japan is mobilizing 25,000 men for immediate transportation. The whole fleet of the Nippon Yusen Kaisha (Japanese Merchant Shipping Company) has been chartered.

Cruiser Took Hostile Attitude.

The British cruiser Undaunted arrived at Shanghai yesterday, cleared for action, and took up a position commanding the Chinese forts. There are three Chinese cruisers in the harber. The new Chinese cruiser Hai Yang, built by the Armstrongs, has been taken into custody at Taku by the British and Russians.

French Mission Attacked.

At Yun Nan Fu, where the rising has been gathering force for days, 680 Christians have been attacked at the French mission settlement, many being put to death. The French Consul and three Ministers are still in prison.

A thousand Boxers have gathered on the outskirts of Tien Tsin.

Chinese Officials Have News.

The Shanghai correspondent of The Daily News, telegraphing yesterday, says: "The Chinese officials here assert that they have news from Pekin up to June 17. The situation was then very serious. Beyond that they claim to have received nothing, but they deny that despatches have been withheld."

Worst to Be Feared in Pekin.

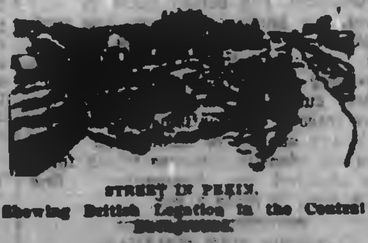
"An official says: Although I am not willing to adopt the alarmist reports, my impression, gathered from the consuls and the Chinese authorities, is that the worst is to be feared at Pekin."

Where Seymour's Column Is.

Admiral Seymour's column is now in the middle of an arid plain, with no food and no good water, and surrounded by hostile forces."

British Flag Floats at Pekin.

The Shanghai correspondent of the Times, telegraphing yesterday, says:



STREET IN PEKIN.
Showing British Legation in the Central Background.

"The British flag is reported to have been floating over the south gate of Pekin to-day. This is presumed to indicate the arrival of Admiral Seymour.

A Hopeful Sign.

"The summoning of Li Hung Chang to Pekin is regarded as a complete change of front on the part of the Manchus, who have abandoned the hope of opposing the powers."

BRITISH OFFICIAL STORY.

H. M. Ships Engaged Were the Algerine, Fame and Whiting—No News From Seymour.

London, June 20.—The Admiralty Office has received the following message from the officer commanding the British first-class cruiser Endymion:

"Liu Kun Tau, June 18, Monday.—The Taku forts opened fire at 1 in the morning of June 17, on the ships of the allied squadrons. After six hours' engagement the forts were silenced and occupied by the allied forces. Additional men for storming the forts were sent ashore from the ships the previous afternoon.

"The British ships up the river engaged were the Algerine (gunboat), Fame (torpedo boat destroyer) and Whiting (torpedo boat destroyer). The two latter captured four Chinese torpedo boat destroyers. The casualties of the Algerine were slight. Those of the storming party and others are unknown.

"A Chinese second-class cruiser, flying an Admiral's flag, is detained outside Taku by the allied Admirals.

"No information of Commander-in-Chief Seymour's return to Tien Tsin had been received by the Rear Admiral up to 2 in the afternoon of June 17. I am sailing forthwith for Taku."

Japan to Send 20,000 Troops.

Yokohama, June 19.—The news of the shelling of the forts at Taku has caused great excitement throughout Japan. It is reported that the powers will ask Japan to send 20,000 troops to suppress the revolt. It is probable that the Government will consent. Additional transports are being prepared.

More Russian Troops.

Washington, June 20.—Secretary of State Hay has been notified by the Russian Embassy here that 4,000 Russian troops have been despatched from Port Arthur to Taku.

Li Hung Chang Goes North.

Hong Kong, June 19.—It is understood that Li Hung Chang leaves Canton for the north June 20. Canton is quiet, and the Viceroys of the provinces bordering on the Yang-Tse-Kiang are believed to be strongly opposed to the revolutionary movement.

EMPRESS DOWAGER IS ANGRY.

Degradations in the Chinese Army Over the Fall of the Taku Forts.

London, June 20.—An agency despatch from Shanghai, dated June 19, says the latest news from Pekin is that the Dowager-Empress is greatly concerned at the capture of the Taku forts, and that wholesale degradations of the Chinese army, including Generals Sung Ching and Wang Fu Siang, the Governor of Pekin and other high officials, who promised in the Tsung Li Yamen to accomplish the expulsion of the foreigners, have taken place.

Three of the Taku forts, it is added, were completely destroyed, and most of the garrisons killed or wounded by a charge of the sailors of the allied fleets.

Last From Pekin June 11.

Shanghai, June 20.—The Consulates have received no communication from the Legations at Pekin since June 11, and the greatest anxiety prevails as to their safety. There are innumerable rumors, but there is nothing of an authentic nature. The stories purporting to describe the situation at Pekin, June 17, merely reiterate previous accounts.

The Viceroy of Nanking has taken vigorous measures to prevent a rising in his district.

Sensational native rumors are current that Tien Tsin has been burned by the Chinese soldiers, and that Yulu, the Viceroy of Chito, has fled from his province in order to escape degradation.

THE REVOLT IS SPREADING.

Unexpected Organization Among the Anti-Foreign Elements Shown.

London, June 20.—The revolt is spreading in Western China. The representatives of Mr. Pritchard Morgan, M.P., at Cheng Tu wires that he and his party have been retained there, owing to news that the revolution has broken out in Szechuan, which adjoins the Province of Yunnan, also in revolt, and official news came yesterday that the London Missionary Society's premises at Tsao Shuh, Central China, west and northwest of Hankow, have been destroyed by a mob. The rising seems to be spreading with rapidity, and shows unexpected organization among the anti-foreign elements. The missionaries at Tsao Shuh escaped, and reached Hankow in safety.

Chinese Cruiser's Hovering Around.

Cable despatches from Shanghai report that a number of Chinese cruisers are anchored in sight of the foreign settlements, which are only guarded by a small Japanese gunboat. A thousand Chinese troops with two 49-ton guns, still hold the forts outside the town. The Viceroy of Woo Sung is reported to have assured the Consuls that the foreign settlements at Shanghai will not be attacked.

This Is Reassuring.

The British Admiralty draws attention to the fact that the Endymion's report, which is of a later date, does not confirm the Japanese report of Admiral Seymour's return to Tien Tsin.

GERMAN MINISTER NOT DEAD.

His Mother Gets Message That the Death Story Is Not True.

Berlin, June 20.—The German Government continues to express its opinions with the utmost caution, regarding the situation in China. Even now it contrives to avoid the use of the word war, and still expresses a hope that the Pekin Government is innocent of deliberate hostile action.

German Minister Not Dead.

The mother of the German Minister at Pekin, Baron Von Ketteler, in Munster, has received a telegram from China saying that the news of her son's death is not true.

The Chinese Minister in Berlin has countermanded the diplomatic reception for Friday next, invitations to which had already been issued.

The Colony Won't Stand It.

Kingston, Jamaica, June 20.—The community has been excited by the receipt of news that the secretary of State for the Colonies, Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, has ordered a military conscription at St. Kitts and St. Nevis, by which every male between 17 and 40 is liable to compulsory military service. The local press denounces the step.

Ask for Compensation.

Winnipeg, June 20.—A delegation composed of over 100 hotel and business men of the city and province were present at the Law Amendments Committee to-day, to prtest against the liquor bill. F. H. Phipps appeared on behalf of the License Victuallers' Association, made a strong plea for compensation, should the law be enforced.

will prove to any woman that there is no better shoe for feminine wear than the King quality at $3. She doesn't need to be a judge to see that. Did you ever know that uncomfortable shoes affect a woman's temper? It's true, nevertheless, and so we can honestly say that a sweet disposition goes along with the style and the ease and the beauty of King Quality.

H. LeBrun & Co. Buying Bargains

It looks as if people who expected two dollars' worth for every dollar they spend on clothing, are not going to be disappointed. There is likely to be a sudden deep dip in prices in a few days at H. LeBrun & Co's. that ought to make the City Clothing Store a bargain centre for the rest of the summer. To-day Mr. H. LeBrun has been negotiating with two of Messrs. H. Shorey & Co's representatives, of Montreal, for a big slice of their high class summer clothing, which they are sacrificing to close the season. There's great goodness in Shorey's make, and the news that H. LeBrun & Co. have made a special purchase at special prices will be good news for good goods well bought. Watch for particulars.

GOUGH BROTHERS'
GREAT MASTER STROKE

Startling Story of the Most Daring Deal in Fine Clothing Ever Consummated by This Wide-awake Firm.

Never before has the boldness of our buying or the magnitude of our selling impressed business circles with such electrifying effects. Always on the alert, our mercantile moves are marked and momentous events to clothing dealers. Our great capacity and capability for handling gigantic stocks gives us a great command in the markets. But the climax never was so nearly reached as now.

Purchase of Overwhelming 4,500 FINE SUITS All High Grade Garments

being the whole of the manufactured stock on hand of the McKENNA-THOMPSON CO'Y of Montreal, who have earned a first-class Canadian reputation for Up-to-Date Clothing.

This is the most fortunate scoope which has ever come our way during our business history—an unexpected streak of good luck to us, and another boon to the men of Peterborough in need of Fine Summer Clothing. MOST ASTONISHING OF ALL, IS THE FACT THAT—

PRICES ARE ACTUALLY LESS THAN THE COST OF MAKING

This is no guess work—It is positively certain—the following startling figures being a fair and square sample.

You won't have to pay for little more than cloth and linings. Prices go to pieces, but quality remains firm. Values that cannot be duplicated or even approached. The greatest Summer Suit Sale on record is now on. We mean business. Money never bought such values before! Every Suit positively worth double the Price, in many cases less than the cost of the bare cloth.

Men's Good Blue Serge Suits, Serviceable, Seasonable, Stylish, STARTING AT $2.50
Men's Fine Canadian Tweed Suits, very Special, New Patterns, for Business, etc. STARTING AT $1.90
Men's Worsted Suits, Sack or Morning Coats, Beautifully Trimmed and Finished STARTING AT $4.50

To add fuel to the fire of this Great Sale, we will offer at proportionately sensational prices the whole of our enormous Stock of Youths', Boys' and Children's Suits. Also, a regular Record-Breaking Reduction Sale of Boots and Shoes, Hats, Caps and Furnishings, while this greatest event of the season is on. NOBLE INSTITUTION IN CHARITY'S CAUSE taps in baths and basins are the Fuller patent taps, the newest thing of the kind. On the women's floor there is a separate bath room and lavatory for the use of the Sisters, and on the children's floor there are also two, one for the boys and one for the girls.

In the basement in the wash-room or laundry there are three stone-ware wash tubs, which are furnished with hot and cold water from taps that are connected with the tanks.

The kitchen is fitted with a large McClary range, put in by Mr. Quinlan, and capable of meeting all the demands that may be made on the culinary department of such an institution.

THE HEATING AND PLUMBING.

As will readily be imagined one of the largest and most important contracts in connection with the building was the plumbing. The installing of a system of heating such as has been put in, and the placing of such an extensive system of plumbing for baths, lavatories, etc., was a big undertaking, but it has been successfully carried out by Mr. C. A. J. Duranceau. To give an idea of what was included, it may be mentioned that beside the immense twin boilers and their fifty radiators and piping therefor, there are ten closets, five baths, nine wash basins, one slop basin, three stoneware laundry tubs, one cast iron basin, two force pumps, two copper tanks, etc., all to be placed and connected up. The plumbing represented a combined weight of 110,000 pounds of material. The entire system of plumbing is exposed, so that any pipe or any part of any pipe can be reached without any difficulty. At the elbow joints are brass screws which allow an easy entrance in case of any stoppage, and all the joints are "wiped" in the best style. All the connections are ventilated by means of a separate fresh air pipe which travels throughout the system and finds exit at the roof. The bath rooms, closets and lavatories on each floor are situated one above the other, so that they are all operated on an excellent plan of plumbing. In the basement the hot water pipes from the boiler are encased or swaddled in a wrapping of inch thick hair felt and canvass painted with two coats. This prevents a useless and extravagant expenditure of heat in the basement where the boilers are. The heating and plumbing contract alone was a $4,000 job, but the money has been well spent, for there are no features of more importance than the heating and the sanitary arrangements. In these two respects the House of Providence is the most modern and most complete in town, and is unsurpassed in the province. Mr. [illegible], who [illegible] the system, and Mr. [illegible], who [illegible]ed the contract, are to be congratulated.

The other work in connection with the building has been equally well done. The different contractors were:—R. Sheehy, masonry and brick work; C. Rutherford, carpentering; James Murty, tinsmithing; F. Cook, the painting; T. Cronin, the plastering; C. A. J. Duranceau, the heating and plumbing; the Rogers Electric Co., Toronto, the electric lightning. The total cost of the building will be about $16,000.

A Mania for Operations

Most physicians are anxious to try the surgeon's knife and recommend an operation for piles. A less cruel, less expensive and less risky method is the use of Dr. Chase's Ointment, a preparation that has never yet been known to fail to cure piles no matter of what form or of however long standing. Don't think of risking an operation when you can be cured in your own home by the use of Dr. Chase's Ointment. The best physicians use it in their practice.

Blue Trading Stamps

There is scarcely a family in this city but what are collecting blue trading stamps. These stamps are nothing more nor less than discounts, but the ladies seem to take a particular delight in saving them, and will go blocks out of their way to patronize merchants giving them. The Dominion Trading Stamp Company have just leased their handsome show rooms, 285 Young-st., for three years longer, so that collectors will have ample time to fill a good many books in that time. Twenty-third of June is the next red letter day, as it is called. A visit to their show rooms on that day will give some idea of the great number of people collecting blue trading stamps. We notice that the company have recently opened some new show rooms, making in all 22 branches that are now established. Over 300 merchants in Toronto have already renewed their contracts to give stamps another year.

The Early Closing By-law.

Chief Rossel has received a letter signed "Merchant," in which complaint is made that some merchants are breaking the by-law by selling after hours. The Chief wishes the writer to remember that he pays no attention to annoymous letters, but if "Merchant" has any complaint, backed by information, he should consult the Chief personally. All information will be treated confidentally and a prosecution will follow if the case demands it.

Off the Track.

This means disaster and death when applied to a fast express train. It is equally serious when it refers to the people whose blood is disordered and who consequently have pimples and sores, bad stomachs, deranged kidneys, weak nerves and that tired feeling. Hood's Sarsaparilla puts the wheels back on the track by making rich, pure blood and curing these troubles.

Constipation is cured by Hood's Pills. 25c.

OBSERVANCE OF THE SABBATH

bility and not to let the Sabbath be lost.

Rev. Mr. Potter suggested that steps be taken to form a branch of the Association in town.

Rev. Dr. Torrance asked Mr. Shearer what were the usual steps taken in this matter.

Mr. Shearer said that officers should be elected by this meeting, also an Executive, and that membership be offered to all.

A BRANCH FORMED.

Mr. James A. Fife moved that a branch of the Alliance be at once formed. This was seconded by Mr. D. W. Dumble, and carried.

The election of officers then took place. Sheriff Hall was nominated by Mr. Dumble for President.

Mr. J. W. Bennett nominated Mr. J. B. Oke, who, however, withdrew in favor of Mr. Hall.

The Sheriff was not present, but a vote was taken and he was declared elected.

For Secretary Mr. J. W. Bennett was nominated by Mr. D. W. Dumble. Mr. Bennett withdrew.

Mr. J. A. Fife was nominated by Mr. J. B. Oke.

Mr. Wm. Yelland, jr., was nominated Mr. Fife, seconded by Mr. Roger, and elected.

For Treasurer, Mr. Felix Brownscombe's and Mr. E. B. Edwards' names were mentioned, but no decision was made as neither gentleman was present.

It was also decided that the Executive committee should include the Ministers of the town and district and three members of each congregation.

The officers and Executive held a private meeting after the public meeting was closed.

LAST FROM ROBERTS ON 16TH

It is Feared That His Wires Have Been Cut Again.

Casualties Are Greater Than Reported in War Messages Received—Boers Are Threatening Gen. Rundle—British Fear That the Boers May Break Through the Thin Lines—Malana Bridge Blown Up.

London, June 20.—(3.25 a. m.)—The casualties made public by the War Office, including a long list of missing, show British loss in engagements hitherto not reported. In an attack on a reconstruction train at Loeuwspruit on June 14, three were killed, five wounded and 60 captured. Loeuwspruit is 40 miles north of Kroonstad. This was the day of the Zand River attack, 80 miles distant. Another list shows nine wounded and 11 missing in action Vredefort on June 7, no previous mention of which has been made.

The Daily Mail points out that it is quite possible the wires have again been cut in Lord Roberts' rear, as no despatch later than June 16 has been received.

Boers Threaten Rundle.

The Boers are gathering in force in front of General Rundle, near Ficksburg. His forces stretch 40 miles. As some parts of the line are weakly held, the British fear that the Boers may break through. Outpost skirmishes are of daily occurrence. The Boers there are commanded by De Villiers and Hermann.

Mr. Steyn is at Bethlehem, the temporary capital of the Free State.

Malana Bridge Destroyed.

According to despatches from Lorenzo Marquez, dated yesterday, the Malana bridge has been destroyed. One account says it was blown up. Another asserts that it was undermined by a patrol from Swaziland, and so collapsed under the weight of a train. This will temporarily interrupt the flow of supplies to the Boers from Lorenzo Marquez.

Huts for 30,000 Men.

The Bloemfontein correspondent of The Daily Mail, telegraphing June 16, says that Lord Roberts is getting huts for 30,000 men, and is arranging re-transport for a part of his army, although his plans are not to take effect immediately.

Did British Do It?

The Lorenzo Marquez correspondent of The Times says: "Three escaped British prisoners are believed to have tampered with Malana bridge. A freight train pitched into the stream and two men were killed."

FIRST TRAIN THROUGH LAING'S NEK

Tunnel Has Been Repaired—Arms Ready for the British Prisoners.

London, June 20.—No important developments mark the progress of the British in the Transvaal. Lord Roberts reports that over 2,000 stands of arms have been given up at Pretoria since the occupation of the capital. These will be utilized by the released British prisoners, of whom there are 148 officers and 3,039 men. Of the former, twelve, and of the latter, 248 are in the hospitals.

The total of the British losses June 4, says Lord Roberts, amounted to only two men killed and one officer and 48 men wounded. Gen. Buller reports that the first train passed Laing's Nek tunnel Monday, June 18, and proceeded to Charlestown. The first batch of Mafeking's sick and wounded arrived at the hospital at Bloemfontein June 15.

A Cure for Rheumatism

Mr. S. Mann, Stittsville, Carleton Co., Ont., writes:—"I was afflicted with rheumatism, had severe pains in the knees, hip joints and across the back. Rheumatism remedies did not help me and I began using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, which have since completely cured me. There is not the least trace of rheumatism left and I am no longer subject to biliousness, headache and stomach sickness which formerly attacked me frequently." One pill a dose, 25 cents a box.

ENJOY THE HOLIDAY

Dominion Day at the Big Picnic on the Murray-St. School Grounds.

All people are looking forward to a good time on Dominion Day, July 2nd, and the big attraction for all is the picnic under the auspices of the congregation of St. Peter's cathedral in aid of St. Joseph's hospital and to be held this year on the fine grounds of the Murray-st school. The attractions this year will make the event one that will far surpass all past records. The experience of many years has taught the committee how to conduct a picnic that all can enjoy and the ladies of St. Peter's have earned fame for the thorough and skilful manner in which they have always conducted their part of the picnic. There will be a great variety of sports and games. Full particulars are given on the large posters. Everybody should attend the picnic.

Resolution of Condolence.

At the last regular meeting of Branch 30, C.M.B.A., Peterborough, Ont., held June 12th, 1900, the following resolution was unanimously adopted:—

"That we, the members of this Branch, desire to extend our heartfelt sorrow and sympathy to the bereaved widow and family of our esteemed Brother, the late Thomas Cahill, late a Chancellor of our Branch, coupled with the prayer that Almighty God may comfort them in their affliction; that our Charter be draped for the period of sixty days, and that a copy of this resolution be forwarded Mrs. Cahill, and also published in the local papers and the Canadian."

The Boundary Line

Between comfort and discomfort is often very slight. Have you rheumatism or neuralgia? Or are you a sufferer from obscure nervous pains? Why suffer longer? You can purchase for 10 cents a bottle of that king of pain—Polson's Nerviline—or you can get a large bottle for 25 cents. It cures promptly. It is sure, pleasant to take, and never fails to cure all kinds of pain. Don't wait an hour, but send to any drug store and get a trial bottle. Nerviline, the sure pain cure.

Death of a Lindsay Pioneer.

The death is announced at Lindsay today of Mr. Wm. McDonald, one of the oldest of that town's residents. Mr. McDonald was at one time Mayor of the town and was repeatedly elected to positions by his fellow citizens. He was a large property owner and identified with several enterprises in the early years of the town, and will be well remembered in Peterborough, where relatives reside.

NOTHING HEARD FROM ADMIRAL SEYMOUR

Shanghai, June 21—The British destroyer Whiting at Chefoo reports that nothing has been heard from Admiral Seymours force for six days.

Warning to Others.

Cheapside Wasp.

Farmers are warned if a short, stout, clean shaved young tramp calls at your farm and states he will kill all your rats and all he wishes for his trouble is a meal, after he has eaten all he wishes, he directs himself to the woodshed, grabs the ax and cry "bring on your rats." The same trick was played around here once before.

Hear, Hear! Hear, Hear!

Ottawa Citizen.

A man conscious of his integrity would not consent to have a charge such as Mr. Monk framed against the Minister of Militia struck out of the indictment, but would insist upon going to trial on the issue and getting the vindication which only a thorough investigation could afford.

Odd Names.

Hamilton Spectator.

The New York Sun delights in the publication of odd names worn by people. Ontario can furnish a few. Miss Enod Loop lives at Glencolin, Ontario; Lot Singular is the singular name of a Guelph man; Ransome Soules recently lived near Hamilton; May B. Bald once wore a profusion of hair in the Welland district, and M. P. Empey, M.L.A., once held a seat in the Ontario Legislature.

The Way They do Business.

Hamilton Spectator.

Here's a fact that should not be forgotten: On January 25 Dr. Borden was informed that the emergency ration supplied to the Canadian troops was not a proper ration. The information was not contained in a "mere newspaper paragraph"; it was contained in a registered letter, written by a reputable firm of practical men who know what they were talking about. Any Government but the Laurier Government would have begun investigation immediately on receipt of that letter.

Suffers by His Own Trick.

Mail and Empire.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier's treatment of the Chinese and Japanese immigration question has turned the entire west more strongly than ever against him.

The trouble is not only that the legislation he proposes is inefficient, and that the commission of enquiry is a trick, but that the arrangement violates his contract with the people.

When Sir Wilfrid was campaigning in '96 he was asked his position on the Chinese question.

He at once telegraphed to British Columbia that the subject belonged to the West, and that whatever the West proposed it should have.

The West has made propositions, and its proposals are not respected.

Obviously the telegram to British Columbia was not sent in earnest; it was a deception to catch votes; Sir Wilfrid never intended to be bound by it.

Now Sir Wilfrid suffers from his own trick.

Will Not Drop Roosevelt.

Philadelphia, June 21.—Theodore Roosevelt will probably be nominated for Vice-President. Late last night it seemed as if the stampede his way could not be averted, and even Senator Hanna seemed to see it for he said: "Since President McKinley is to be nominated without a dissenting voice, it is my judgment that Gov. Roosevelt should be nominated for Vice-President with the same unanimity." The platform has been adopted.

BOER STAMP BOOM.

How the War Enhances the Value of These Pieces of Paper.

There is a big boom in South African stamps. The war has enhanced their value and has enormously increased the demand for them.

Several dealers whom a Daily Mail representative consulted yesterday agreed that there has never been such a rush on South African issues. Mr. F. R. Ginn of the Strand said: "The great demand just now is for Free State stamps, commandeered by Lord Roberts when he entered Bloemfontein, and converted with the letters 'V.R.I.' stamped upon them in black. They are rare at present, for the curious reason that most of them were lost in the Mexican.

"The soldiers in Bloemfontein bought them up as soon as they were issued and were sending them to friends in England. There were all sorts, from halfpenny up to five-shilling stamps. I have sold one of the latter, unused, for £5. The 'Drie Pence Oranje Vrij Staat,' converted into a 'V.R.I,' 2½d.' fetches 7s 6d. Possibly these stamps will soon be worth as many pounds.

"So far no Mafeking stamps have got on to the market, but they will fetch high prices when they come here. The V.R.I. Free Staters are in huge demand, and so will the converted Transvaalers be when Lord Roberts issues them.

"A complete set of Transvaal stamps would cost over £1,000, for a great variety has been issued. The Free State, on the other hand, has kept much in the same groove all along."

Some of the old Transvaal stamps, of the British regime of 1877-80, and of the First Republic, now fetch from £20 to £50.—London Daily Mail.

PRINCE ARTHUR.

The Queen's Third Son, Who Is Commander of the Troops in Ireland.

Prince Arthur, Duke of Connaught, who has just taken Castle Blayney, County Monaghan, Ireland, for the season, is Queen Victoria's third son, and the Iron Duke of Wellington's godson and namesake. He represents the martial spirit of Britain's royalty. He has gone the route from a cadet at Sandhurst to a general on the active list, and was commander in chief for five years of the great camp of instruction at Aldershot. The duke served with credit at the battle of Tel-el-Kebir. He is popular with officers and men, and thinks it worth his while to look personally into every detail bearing upon their comfort or safety. As heir to the duchy of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha he declined to accept the duchy.

Little Johnnie Knew.

A good story is told of Lady Minto's visit to an Ottawa school recently. She asked permission to ask the pupils a few questions. She chose as her topic the war in South Africa, and asked why the English were not successful at first.

"Because there were no Canadians there," answered little Johhie Smith.

THE PEKIN LEGATIONS SAFE.

Arrival of Admiral Seymour at the Chinese Capital.

The Fact Has Not Yet Been Officially Verified—Rebellion Is Spreading Far and Wide, and There Is a Feeling That the Allies Have Not Yet Grasped the Situation—50,000 Troops Would Not Be Sufficient.

London, June 21.—(3.50 a.m.)—The reports of Admiral Seymour's arrival at Pekin and of the safety of the foreign legations, originating from Chinese sources, and cabled to this city from Shanghai, are still unverified. However, the Italian Consul at Shanghai has wired to the Italian Foreign Minister, Marquis Visconti-Venosta, that the legations are safe.

Rebellion Spreading.

The rebellion is spreading far and wide. There is an impression in diplomatic circles here and on the Continent that the allies have not yet grappled with the situation effectively, and that even 50,000 troops would be powerless to do much to control 4,000,000 square miles.

SEYMOUR REACHED PEKIN

On Sunday Afternoon—Killed 500 Chinese Who Attacked His Column on the Way.

London, June 21.—A news agency despatch from Shanghai, dated June 20, says: "After an arduous march and frequent fighting with the Chinese, Vice-Admiral Seymour arrived at Pekin Sunday afternoon. On five occasions the Chinese attacked the column in great force. There were many mounted men among the Chinese, but most of the natives were badly armed. At times they fought with admirable courage and bravery. The losses of the Chinese during the march are estimated at five hundred killed. The losses of the foreigners were trifling.

"The exact state of affairs inside of Pekin it is impossible to describe, in view of the many conflicting reports, nothing having been received from the legations or foreigners there.

"Surprise is expressed that a large force of Indian troops has not been ordered here."

The Legations Were Safe.

The Shanghai reports, originating from Chinese sources, and credited by the local foreign officials, state that the legations at Pekin were safe on Sunday, June 17. Admiral Seymour, with a relieving column, is reported to have reached Pekin.

FROM REAR ADMIRAL BRUCE.

His Communications With the Allied Authorities Harmonious.

London, June 20.—The British Admiralty has received a telegram from Rear Admiral Bruce, dated Taku, June 18, via Che Fu, June 20. After a mere mention of the capture of the forts at Taku, Admiral Bruce adds:

"The Chinese admiral was present with the allied fleet, his flag flying from a cruiser. At a meeting June 17 he agreed to anchor with the fleet, putting out his fires.

"No news from the Commander-in-Chief and the advance guard. A heavy fire was heard at Tien Tsin the night of June 17.

"Three thousand Russian troops, commanded by a Major-General, are here.

"My communications with the allied authorities are most harmonious."

Kempff Is Standing In—and Out.

Washington, June 21.—The Navy Department has received a cablegram from Admiral Kempff, dated June 20. He says the Taku forts were captured by the other foreign forces; that heavy firing was heard at Tien Tsin on the evening of the 17th inst. There are 300 Americans ashore. On May 31 the number of foreign troops at Pekin was 430. There are 6,000 men ashore now at Che Foo and about 3,000 troops, Russian, German and English have just arrived.

A FISHING PARTY LOST.

Mr. James King, Lumber Merchant Quebec, Among the Six Victims.

Cedar Hall, Que., June 21. — A dreadful boating catastrophe occurred here yesterday afternoon, resulting in the drowning of a fishing party, composed of Mr. James King, the well-known lumber merchant of Quebec and ex-M.P.P for Megantic; Mrs. Nolan, wife of Mr. H. Nolan, manager of Messrs. King Bros.' saw mill here; her son and three men named Joseph St. Pierre, Alfred DesChamplain and Joseah Fournier, all single and aged about 20. The party were out fishing in Lake Metapedia about 4 o'clock, when a sudden gale sprang up and upset their sailboat, throwing all into the water. The lake is very deep and has many eddies. The accident was witnessed from the shore, but, there being no boats available, no assistance could be rendered. It was fully an hour later when a boat was procured and search made for the bodies, but up to a late hour the only one recovered was that of Mr. King. Mrs. Nolan leaves a husband and a young child three years old.

False Pretenses.

An Iowa young man not long ago proposed marriage to a young woman and was accepted. But hearing that her hair was false he declined to fulfill his engagement. She brought suit against him for breach of promise and, being put on the stand, admitted that she wore a wig, whereupon she was nonsuited on the ground that she had won the young man's affections under false pretenses.

Turks in German Army.

It is the custom for parties of Turkish officers to take temporary service in the German army for the purpose of learning the methods of modern warfare. They are drafted into different corps as lieutenants, but receive no pay. The term of service is generally three years, during which they are subjected to the same discipline as German soldiers.

Weak, Sickly Children

Are Restored to Health and Vigour by Using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Many children are pale, weak, and bloodless from their birth. Many others have their blood and nerves exhausted, and their systems broken down by the ravages of disease, or as the result of over-study at school.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is the ideal treatment for children. It supplies the very elements which are lacking in the pale, weak, and nervous. It restores the colour and richness to the blood, invigorates the nerves, and builds up the system. As a restorative after the exhausting and debilitating effects of measles, scarlet fever, and such ailments, it is of inestimable worth.

Mrs. Stephen Dempsey, Albury, P. E. county, Ont., writes:—"My little granddaughter, nine years old, was very pale and weak, and had no appetite. She had a tired, wornout appearance, and was delicate and sickly. I got some of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food for her, and it has helped her very much. She is gaining considerably in weight and looks real healthy."

The Daily Review.

THURSDAY, JUNE 21, 1900.

THE ONTARIO BANK.

To-day the Review publishes the annual statement of the Ontario Bank together with the proceedings of the annual meeting held on the 19th inst. Attention is directed to the statement as giving the record for the year which has just closed, a record which shows healthy and substantial development, and an excellent and profitable year's business.

The by-law increasing the capital stock of the bank to $1,500,000 was adopted. This increase of $500,000 in the capital stock was made necessary by the increased business, and was made by the unanimous vote of the shareholders. The profits for the year amounted to $125,876, which with the amount carried forward from last year's profit and loss account brought the total profits this year up to $166,287. Out of this two half-yearly dividends were paid, the substantial addition of $90,000 was made to the rest, making it $110,000, $5,000 was reserved for the officers' guarantee fund, and $1,000 contributed to the patriotic fund. The balance amounting to $17,687, was carried forward.

There was a large increase in the deposits during the year, amounting to about one million dollars. The deposits not bearing interest this year amount to $1,336,603, and those bearing interest to $5,717,527, as compared with $1,279,623 and $4,965,793 last year.

The whole record is a most satisfactory one to the shareholders, and a continued endorsation of the careful and wise management that the affairs of the bank receive at the hands of the present officers. Confidence in the bank and its management must be promoted by such a statement as that presented this year.

WHAT DO CANADIANS THINK.

Mr. Tarte has been making speeches again in Paris, and the report which has been received shows that he continues to misrepresent this country and give additional reasons why he should be called home, as the English newspapers suggested. Let Canadians glance at this speech which was made before at a gathering in the Canadian pavillion on June 6th, and this may have been one of the speeches that caused the London journalists to advise Sir Wilfrid Laurier to call Tarte home as he was giving offence and causing "misconception." After referring to Canada's natural wealth Mr. Tarte spoke of French Canada as never having been more French than at present and to the tricolor which was and ever would be the flag of French Canada. Then he went on:—

"When I see Frenchmen emigrating to foreign countries, to the Argentine Republic, for instance, and other lands where their language and their institutions cannot be preserved to them, I ask myself why these compatriots of ours do not come to join us in Canada. We French-Canadians have remained French and Catholic for more than three centuries. We are more French to-day even than we were 25 years ago. We shall always remain French."

Then he continued:—

"I have frequently heard Canada spoken of as a British possession. I object to the term possession. We are not a possession. We possess our own present, and our future even more than the present. I am a Frenchman, and I am a Minister in the Dominion Cabinet. The Premier of Canada is a Frenchman, and two other Cabinet Ministers are also French-Canadians. Should the time ever come when it should be necessary for me to choose between being a Minister and remaining French, I should remain French."

Mr. Tarte then proceeded to give an account of the progress of the French in Canada during the past half-century, declaring that their natural increase of population far exceeded that of the English-speaking population. In Eastern Ontario, he said, and also in parts of Manitoba, where 25 years ago the English were greatly in the majority, the French now either outnumbered those of English origin or were at least equally numerous. Their increased prestige in Ontario, he said, was shown by the fact that the present Speaker of the Legislature of that province was a French-Canadian, Mr. Evanturel. Then Mr. Tarte added:—

"I have frequently been asked what would be the attitude of Canada in the event of a war between France and England; would French-Canadians fight for England against France, or would their help go out to the land from which they sprang? To this I might reply somewhat in the words of a French gentleman with whom I was speaking just the other day. We were discussing the question of a possible European war, and, coming to the point of likely allies, this gentleman said that if France found herself without friends she could stand alone and let Europe go her way. And so I would say with regard to Canada—Canada could stand alone and let Europe do what she liked."

There were quite a number of Canadians among Mr. Tarte's auditors, and much indignation was expressed by them at the course of the Commissioner-General's remarks. As a lecture on "Canada," they thought it was somewhat unique, and hardly in line with what was to be expected from one who is in Paris as representing the Dominion at large.

What do Canadians think of the sentiments as coming from one of their Cabinet Ministers in a foreign country, where he is sent by the Government as its representative and where his presence is costing the people of Canada—not Quebec alone—many thousands of dollars.

It is reported that Mr. Tarte is coming home. Did Sir Wilfrid call him back?

Its time Tarte came home, and was placed where he could never again speak as a member of a Canadian Government and one of the Queen's Privy Councillors.

It only took the first session of the investigating committee to show that Mr. Monk's charges in regard to the emergency rations supplied by the Department to the Canadian boys who went to South Africa were well founded.

That emergency ration scandal promises to be rather interesting for Dr. Borden, so interesting as showing the system that has been allowed to permeate the entire departmental government under Liberal rule that the general elections will be further delayed.

TOURIST TRAVEL

What Was Seen Last Year in the Tourist Travel to Northern Ontario.

Toronto News.

At the request of The News M. C. Dickson, district passenger agent of the Grand Trunk railway, has supplied the following facts touching the development of tourist travel in Ontario:—

Canada waited patiently for many years for the attention she is now receiving from the rapidly increasing brotherhood of tourists. Each successive season has seen a phenomenal influx of visitors to the northern regions of Ontario, which possess unsurpassed facilities for all who are seeking rest and health or would find a refuge from the oppressive heat of midsummer weather.

There seems no end this year to the applications from foreigners asking information about different parts of Ontario as pleasure grounds, and how they may be reached.

The tourist business of 1899 was very large, quite double that of 1898. During the first two months of the season 13,443 tourists went north by the Northern branch G.T.R., compared with 7,137 in the same period of the previous year. In all last year 23,745 took passage over the railway from Toronto to those northern pleasure spots, and this year's traffic promises to double even that of a year ago.

The enormous business in 1899 was in large measure due to an advertising car sent by the G.T.R. to various points in the States, where the many excellent views of Ontario scenery were inspected by 126,000 people, nearly all of whom also carried home with them literature descriptive of Ontario's beauty spots. This method of advertising was repeated last winter on a large scale, and much bettter results are already assured. A personal visit last June to the principal tourist points by a large number of passengers and ticket agents did much in bringing business this way, but better results of that eye-opening tour will be reaped during the coming summer.

Northern Ontario, from a tourist standpoint, may be conveniently divided into six districts: Muskoka, Georgian Bay, Huntsville and Lake of Bays, Burke's Falls, Burke's Falls to North Bay, Gravenhurst to Burke's Falls. Twenty-three thousand seven hundred and forty-five tourists of last year were distributed among the above places, as follows:—

Muskoka, of course, secured the lion's share of the business, 11,535 persons from Toronto, United States and other points having invigorated themselves among the wooded isles, pretty lakes and rivers, rippling brooks and pure air of that picturesque region.

Georgian Bay, where it is said "the north star shines most clear," came next with its 7,836 visitors, who made Penetanguishene, Midland, Sans Souci or Parry Sound and vicinity their headquarters while they explored at leisure that wonderful waterway along the south-eastern shore of Georgian Bay, dotted with 30,000 beautiful islands separated by intricate channels and narrows.

One thousand seven hundred and seven tourists were scattered through the districts between Burk's Falls and North Bay. Devotees of the rod and gun were much in evidence here; their good luck and splendid sport will be sufficient advertisement to attract a much larger number to the picturesque wilderness this year.

A region that had been practically unknown to the pleasure-seeking public until last year is the Huntsville and Lake of Bays district, which made a very respectable debut, however, by entertaining with entire satisfaction 1,609 tourists, mostly Americans. It is in this comparatively new section that you see speckled beauties jumping in all directions, and a morning's fishing at any point on Lake of Bays will warm the heart of every Izaak Walton.

The Gravenhurst to Burk's Falls section secured 911 of the great list who went north, but is preparing to entertain in A1 style double that number this year.

Burk's Falls, with its total of 555, appeared at the bottom of the list last year, but does not anticipate continuing longer in such subordinate position. The precautionary measures are extensive preparations for at least 2,500 visitors this season.

The G.T.R. is assisting another picturesque region to make its bow this year to the travelling public. "Kawartha Lakes," or better known as the Stony Lake district, is presenting a bill of fare containing many attractions and pleasure of more fashionable summer resorts. These lakes form a picturesque waterway through Victoria and Peterborough counties, 600 feet above the level of Lake Ontario. Three hundred years ago Champlain and his Huron war party canoed down these waters, but since that the silence has been quite unbroken. Kawartha people see in the near future canoes, sailboats, rowboats and steam launches carrying hither and thither their thousands of delighted summer visitors.

Practically speaking, the summer tourist travel to the Highlands of Ontario all converges at Toronto and thence proceeds northward by the Grand Trunk railway. In this tourist traffic, therefore, Toronto should take a live interest, and especially now it is manifest that a very large portion of camp supplies, outfits, etc., will be purchased in this city. The tourist earnings of a railway are but a small fraction of the total amount of money spent in the country by the tourists themselves. W. E. Davis, general passenger agent, when speaking in Orillia last June, said that very soon the G.T.R. will make $1,000,000 annually out of the tourist trade to Northern Ontario, which would represent the enormous sum of $10,000,000 spent in the country.

The people of Toronto can sing the praises of Muskoka and neighboring gardens without a blush; indeed, they can meet their friends returning from the invigorating atmosphere and life-giving beauty of those "Bonnie Highlands," and hear them singing the same glad refrain.

There is nothing more beautiful for artist, poet or painter than Northern Ontario.

Business Men's League.

Montreal Witness:—The formation of a "Business Men's League" in Montreal is in line with a movement which is now becoming general in cities on this continent. Cities where such associations have been in operation for some time past are said to have obtained gratifying results, not only from increased business, but from the reforms brought about in the management of civic affairs. It is stated that in St. Paul and Minneapolis the mercantile and commercial bodies are manifesting the liveliest and deepest interest in the betterment of local conditions, notably in public economics and the administration of municipal law. It would seem that everywhere business men are waking up to the importance of exercising an intelligent control over city affairs and the necessity of putting a stop to the spoils system. They have had practical demonstration of the fact that bad, loose, dishonest city government means tangible loss to the business interests of their cities, and that, if they would have things managed properly, they must pay active, personal, continuous attention to civic affairs. There can be no doubt that like good results will be had in Montreal as have followed the establishment of Business Men's Leagues and Civic Reform Clubs in other cities.

Refuses to Resign in Response to the Demand of the Laurier Government.

Ottawa, June 20.—A fully attended meeting of the Dominion Cabinet was held yesterday morning, when the political tangle in British Columbia was discussed. The petition signed by a whole legion of names, asking for Lieutenant-Governor McInnes' recall, was received and reviewed. The Cabinet agreed unanimously that Lieutenant-Governor McInnes must go. The Prime Minister followed out the decision of the Cabinet, and wired McInnes for his resignation.

McInnes Refuses to Resign.

Victoria, B.C., Jano 20.—A resolution, signed by 25 at the convention, including Dunsmuir and the Ministers, was sent to Ottawa asking that Lieutenant-Governor McInnes be asked to resign. The Cabinet took the matter into consideration, and last night Mr. McInnes received a telegram, asking for his resignation. He refused to do so.

Most Expensive City.

The annual expenses of the city of New York are larger than those of any other municipality in the world, and the financial transactions of a year represent the receipt and expenditure of more than $200,000,000, counting temporary loans, sinking funds and bond issues. The gross budget of the city for 1899 was $20,000,000 greater than the expenses of the city of London, $18,000,000 in excess of the budget of Paris and only $1,000,000 less than the combined expenditures of Boston, Chicago and Philadelphia.—Popular Science Monthly.

Dr. PIERCE'S Favorite Prescription

MAKES WEAK WOMEN STRONG AND SICK WOMEN WELL.

The success of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription in the cure of diseases peculiar to women, is beyond comparison greater than that of any other medicine prepared especially for women's use. It is not a cure-all but a scientific preparation, the prescription of an eminent living physician, still in active practice and who, assisted by his staff of nearly a score of trained physicians, treats and cures thousands of women every year. "Favorite Prescription" has an invigorating and vitalizing power peculiar to itself and a phenomenal control of diseases which attack the delicate organs of women. It permanently cures backache, bearing-down pains, ulceration, inflammation and like ills by curing their cause. It dries up the drains, puts out the fever fire of inflammation and cures the corroding ulcer. It makes marriage a happiness and motherhood a blessing, by giving to women such an abundant vitality that the baby blossoms into life as sweetly, simply and naturally as a flower. Sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter free of charge. All correspondence strictly confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

It contains no opium, cocaine or other narcotic, and no alcohol or whisky.

THE MARKET REPORTS.

Peterborough Markets

Thursday, June 21.

This has been an exceptionally bad week for markets. Very little stuff of any kind is moving. The farmers seem to be holding their grains anticipating better prices. The berry season has opened and strawberries are reported very plentiful throughout the country. The prices current for the week are as follows:—

Hay.—Very few loads offered and only a fair demand with prices steady at last week's quotations, $7.00 to $7.50.

Straw.—There is a good demand for straw of quality and prices are fair, $2.50 to $3.00 per load.

Wheat.—There is no change in the wheat market. In fact it would appear to be a shade weaker. Local quotations are 60c. to 61c.

Peas.—Peas remain unchanged with a good demand of them for feeding purposes.

Oats.—Oats are a little firmer if anything. There is a steady demand for them. The buyers want them and so do the local dealers. Price 27 cents.

There were no other offerings in the grain line.

Wool.—There has been considerable wool brought in during the past week. The prices ranged from 15c. to 16c.

Butter and Eggs.—There is no change in the butter market. There is a good demand fro fine butter with prices the same as last week, 16c. to 18c. Eggs are wanted badly with only comparatively few being offered.

LIVE STOCK.

There has been very little live stock moving on the market this week. The run of hogs to-day despite the good prices was comparatively small. The local dealers paid $6.50 for selects. In Toronto the market is firm at last weeks prices $6.87 1-2, and it is reported in some instances that the $7.00 mark was reached for good car lots of select hogs.

Some of the drovers will commence shipping sheep next week as the market has a good appearance for quick disposition of stock.

MR. H. P. KENNEDY'S REPORT.

Things are brisk at present, and prices for export and butcher's cattle are firmer, but stockers are weaker. Mr. Kennedy shipped out a load of stockers to-day to Uxbridge and he expects to ship three or four car loads of sheep this week to the Northwest. In Buffalo Monday he bought four cars of stockers, which he shipped to Kansas. The hog market this week is one-eighth lower, with prospects of further decline.

Mr. M. S. Kennedy is in Kansas this week looking after the interests of his brother, Mr. H. P. Kennedy.

MR. WRIGHTON'S REPORT.

Mr. W. H. Wrighton reports the local markets to be as follows:—

There is little or nothing doing in grain. Any offering sells at about the following prices:—Wheat, spring and fall, 63c. to 63c; oats 27c. to 28c; peas, 60c; no barley or rye. On the market eggs are selling at 10c. to 11; butter, 16c. to 18c; chickens or old fowl, 50c. to 60c; potatoes, 40c. to 50c, and plentiful. No other changes.

A New Industry.

After extracting a nail from the stomach of a child, where it had remained for about a week, a Turin surgeon remarked that the iron had become reddish in some places and corroded in others, in exactly the same way as ancient Greek and Roman coins.

These observations, communicated to his colleagues, spread abroad and quite a new industry has sprung up lately in Italy. Traders manufacture spurious coins with the effigy of Trajan and others and force them down the throats of turkeys. They kill them after a few days and withdraw the coins, which then acquire an appearance of antiquity which deceives the most experienced numismatists.

Backache for 18 Years.

Suffered Much—Was Unable to Work or Sleep—Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills Made Him Well.

Too many endure the misery of backache without knowing that it is the unmistakable symptom of kidney disease. As you value your life do not neglect a backache. It tells of the beginning of the most fatal of diseases—Bright's Disease of the kidneys.

Mr. D. C. Simmons, Mabee, Ont., writes:—"My kidneys and back were so bad that I was unable to sleep or work. My urine had sediment like brickdust, and I had to get up three or four times every night.

"I saw Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills advertised, and decided to give them a trial. I have only used one box, and am a well man again. I can saw wood or do any kind of work, and am not bothered with backache or kidney troubles. I also enjoy good rest and sleep, which is a great relief after suffering for eighteen years."

THE CIRCUS IN THE SOUTH.

Amusing Instances of Attempts to Evade the Ticket Wagon.

"In the north," said the old circus man to a reporter, "the desire to get into the tent by crawling under the canvas is confined to the small boy. But in the south the entire colored population comes to the ground and hangs around day and night looking for an opportunity to get in free. And to crawl under the canvas seems to them to be the easiest way. Men and women tramp around and around the tent looking for an unguarded point. We always put extra canvasmen on watch when we go to the south with our show. I have witnessed more than one amusing and exciting incident growing out of this desire of the negro to get into the circus without buying a ticket. They go literally circus mad when the show comes to town, and they won't do a tap of work until it leaves. One reason why they don't step up to the ticket wagon and hand out their coin is that they never have any. There may be other reasons, but I have never inquired further into the subject.

"I was with old Adam Forepaugh one fall when he took his show to the south for an extended season. Two new canvasmen nearly precipitated a riot for us at Lexington, Ky. They had been hired for the special purpose of keeping negroes from crawling under the tent, and they saw an opportunity to make a little money for themselves on the side. They were able to work out their scheme through the fact that they were favorably stationed for it. One was on the outside at the connection between the main tent and the menagerie and the other on the inside within the connection.

"Among the vast crowd of negroes hanging about the show was a large number who had come to town expecting to get in for 10 or 25 cents. The outside canvasman gave out a quiet tip that if any one had any change in his pockets by giving it to the right person he could get into the show at cut rates. They began to crowd around him, tendering varied amounts of money from one cent up to 45. He accepted all tenders. He told them that he would have to put them in one at a time. He did.

"The inside man was waiting for them. Just as soon as a black head would appear under the canvas he would grab it, drag the rest of the person owning it inside and shove him out of the other side of the narrow connection. From here it was a long way around to the man who got the money. If one of the dupes found his way back, which was uncertain, and wanted his money returned, he was promptly shoved under the canvas again and just as promptly kicked out on the other side. It was a kind of an endless chain.

"Why didn't the two men let them stay in? Well, old Adam Forepaugh was about, and if he saw an unusual number of negroes in the tent he would at once have made the rounds to find where they were getting in. That was why. The show was about half over that night when an unearthly racket started at the connection. A minute or two passed, and we saw two canvasmen running for life around the hippodrome track with an angry yelling crowd of negroes after them. The audience enjoyed it immensely; thought it was part of the show. We knew different. A lot of us jumped in and headed the negroes off. That gave the canvasmen time to escape. After we learned the cause of it we regretted our interference. We lost two promising canvasmen at Lexington."—Pittsburg News.

Skin Tight Sulu Trousers.

The most amazing thing about a Moro is his trousers. If he is of any station or has any money, they are made of silk, and the more colors and the brighter they are the better. I have seen red, green, yellow, white and black all in one pair, and the greens and reds are no soft, subdued affairs. They are the most violent and vehement things in the color line. It is the fit of them that is the wonder, though. If they were of the right shade of brown, you couldn't tell that there were any trousers. Nothing so tight ever was contrived by any sartorial artist who uses the English language. But for one thing the conclusion would be irresistible that they are made on the wearers and worn off—that is, that sometimes they are changed.

General Bates once waited about two hours for a dato, with whom he had some business, to change his trousers, and those two hours were filled with language and strange sounds from within the house of the dato. But at the end of them there was the demonstration that the trousers could be changed, although the mystery of their construction was increased.—Ainslee's Magazine.

Having Fun With an Echo.

The mischievous pages of the house have discovered a trick of the echoes in Statuary hall. They play it upon the tourists by the score and upon pretentious statesmen occasionally when they can do so without discovery.

There is a certain spot near the beaten path of travel from the central doorway of the house toward the senate where this peculiar echo is effective. If any coin or metal object is dropped on the marble step between the telegraph office and the reception room, it sounds to one passing the particular spot in question as though the object were dropping immediately at his feet. A boy with a dime or a nickel is able to have all sorts of fun by waiting till some one passes the point. Even the senate pages skip away from their work to visit the boys on the other side and play with the echo.—Washington Post.

A Hard One.

Mr. Goodfellow (showing his wife all around his counting house)—And these are the day books.

Mrs. Goodfellow—Yes? Now show me the night books.

Mr. Goodfellow (mystified)—The night books?

Mrs. Goodfellow—Yes. Those that you have to work over at night and that keep you down here until 2 o'clock in the morning.

He Has New Moon Spells.

The investigation made by Humane Inspector Wilson in the case of Edward Kennedy, a colored man found bound hand and foot to a stake in the rear of his father's home, 1515 Asbury street, has brought to light a strange condition.

Edward Kennedy was born an idiot. He is harmless until a new moon appears in the sky. Then his quiet nature becomes demoniacal, and he can only be controlled by being tightly bound. His "new moon spells," as his father calls them, have increased in violence and duration during the last few years, and his father, a North Carolina negro, feared he would kill the family by the sudden change in demeanor. It was for this reason that Edward was placed in bondage.—Indianapolis Press.

A Cure for Rheumatism

Mr. S. Mann, Stittsville, Carleton Co., Ont., writes:—"I was afflicted with rheumatism, had severe pains in the knees, hip joints and across the back. Rheumatism remedies did not help me and I began using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, which have since completely cured me. There is not the least trace of rheumatism left and I am no longer subject to billiousness, headache and stomach sickness which formerly attacked me frequently." One pill a dose, 25 cents a box.

—The Lindsay Post explains the mystery of a piece of a human foot found in Geo. Stevens' yard, Ashburnham, in a lot of ashes that came from Lindsay. It states that Acting Chief of Police Reeves undertook the clearing away of the mystery, and on Saturday he obtained the desired clue. It appears that a medical student brought the foot with him from his College dissecting room in Toronto in order to complete his scientific anatomical researches, and when he had mastered his problem he unfeelingly cast the foot into the family ash heap, not dreaming that his act would eventually startle the police of Peterborough into an unusual state of activity for a short time.

The Boundary Line

Between comfort and discomfort is often very slight. Have you rheumatism or neuralgia? Or are you a sufferer from obscure nervous pains? Why suffer longer? You can purchase for 10 cents a bottle of that king of pain—Polson's Nerviline—or you can get a large bottle for 25 cents. It cures promptly. It is sure, pleasant to take, and never fails to cure all kinds of pain. Don't wait an hour, but send to any drug store and get a trial bottle. Nerviline, the sure pain cure.

An Engine of Death.

A patent has just been issued for a "motor driven car for use in warfare" which if it is ever built will be a fearfully destructive engine of devastation. It is nothing more than a battleship on wheels, or an armed automobile full of guns and other terrifying weapons and also adapted to be so charged with electricity that rash storming parties attempting to board it will instantly be electrocuted.

APPOINTED AN INSPECTOR

Mr. Michael O'Brien Appointed a Provincial Inspector of Separate Schools.

The announcement is made to-day of the appointment by the Ontario Government of Mr. Michael O'Brien, of the Collegiate Institute staff, to be Inspector of Separate Schools for the Province of Ontario. The appointment is made necessary by the work growing beyond the capacity of the two present inspectors.

Mr. O'Brian's appointment is a good one, for he possesses all the necessary qualifications for the position. He has specialist's qualifications and his experience of twenty-four years teaching in the Public and Separate schools and in the Collegiate Institute equips him in a peculiar manner for the duties of inspector.

As a member of the Collegiate staff, Mr. O'Brien has given excellent services, and the Board will regret the loss it will suffer by his appointment, but will unite with his many friends in extending congratulations on his new position. Mr. O'Brien had taught in the county public schools, was on the Separate school staff here and was for some years principal of the Separate school at Lindsay.

The position will not, it is understood, necessitate Mr. O'Brien's removal from town at present.

The Celebration of the Twelfth.

The County Orange Lodge met at Lakefield on Tuesday evening, when the principal business was the consideration of arrangements for the celebration of the twelfth of July in town. It will be a big day, marked by a great gathering of the Orangemen of the district, and the town will be in gala attire, Mr. J. J. Turner having charge of the decorations. Both the local bands have been engaged for the day.

Sermon to Freemasons.

As directed, the members of Peterborough Lodge, No. 155, A.F. & A.M., are requested to meet in the Masonic hall, Water-st, at 3.15 p.m., on Sunday, June 24th, (St. John the Baptist Day), for the purpose of attending divine service at All Saints' church. Sermon by Wor. Bro. Rev. W. L. Armitage. Members of Corinthian Lodge and all visiting brethren are fraternally invited to be present. Masonic clothing. By order, R. W. McFADDEN, Sec. 3d

THE ODDFELLOWS' DECORATION DAY

THE ANNIVERSARY MEMORIAL CEREMONY WAS HELD THIS AFTERNOON

The Opening Proceedings—The List of Graves That Were Decorated by the Brethren—The Day General Observed.

The bright sun and beautiful weather smiled on the Oddfellows' decoration day ceremonies this afternoon. It was the anniversary memorial service of the Oddfellows, but, as usual, the day was observed by all who have friends resting beneath the grassy mounds of Little Lake cemetery. As a result the cemetery presented a most beautiful appearance, all the lots being in trimmest attire and the graves were bright with garlands, wreaths and bouquets of flowers. The cemetery throughout was a picture of beauty and neatness.

The Oddfellows in large numbers assembled in Central park, and, headed by the 57th Regimental band, marched in procession to the cemetery. The parade was creditable to the Order, and was a very pretty spectacle, each brother being laden with flowers. At the cemetery a great crowd had gathered to witness the ceremony. The Oddfellows marched to the space in front of the chapel, where a stand had been erected, and proceeded with the opening ceremonies, a prayer being offered and a hymn sung. Then the brethren divided into four sections and proceeded to decorate the graves of the brethren who rest in the cemetery. The following is a list of the graves decorated:—

After the decoration ceremony the brethren re-assembled and speeches were made by local clergymen and others. This portion of the day's proceedings will be reported to-morrow.

Brevities

—Mr. C. C. Munro brought up a carload of hogs from Colborne for Mr. H. P. Kennedy yesterday.

—Scarce goods are Black Velvet Ribbons yet Sutcliffes have a good range of both Cotton and Satin Backs. Read Sutcliffes' daily ads.

—The annual picnic in aid of St. Joseph's church, Douro, is being held to-day. Quite a number went out from town.

—A "farmers' picnic" is being held at Jubilee Point to-day. The North Star took down about 125 passengers from town.

—Thos. Courcey, who was charged with stealing a horse and buggy, the property of R. Leary, was up for trial before Judge Weller yesterday. Evidence was heard and judgment deferred until June 30th. In the meantime the prisoner remains in gaol.

The C.G.E. vs. Peterborough, sr., match which was to be played next Saturday has been indefinitely postponed owing to S.O.E. excursion taking place on that day.

ITS FIRST TRIP

Mr. Leary Puts His Swell New Landau at the Disposal of the Press.

Last evening Mr. Robt. H. Leary, the popular liveryman, treated a jolly party representatives of the Press to an excursion that was the event of their lives to date. The occasion was the dedication of a handsome new landau, just received at noon, and now, having been duly approved of by the Press, added to the stock at Mr. Leary's livery. The excursion was to Chemong. A gallant big gray team were put to the shiny equipage and the party set forth on trip in high spirits and with faces wreathed in smiles of the most self complacent kind. The rubber-tired vehicle bowled merrily and smoothly over the road and from their nests in the luxurious cushions the members of the party looked out on the landscape and admired all things. It was better than a wedding party and beat any number of christenings. A pleasant time was spent at Chemong and the drive home was quite as enjoyable as that out. The Press felt greatly honored and, in secret, tickled at being invited to the launching of the new landau. Among those present was a representative of the Toronto Star.

The new carriage, which is a most handsome one, was manufactured by the well known firm of M. Guy, Toronto. In construction and furnishing it is of the highest standard and has only to be seen to be admired. It is fitted with rubber tires.

THE EXHIBITIONS

Representatives of the Two Peterborough Societies Meet the County Councillors.

This morning representatives of the East and West Peterborough Agricultural Societies waited upon the County Councillors in Finance Committee to urge a grant towards the Peterborough Central and the Norwood exhibitions. The West Peterborough Society was represented by Mr. F. H. Dobbin, President, and Mr. T. E. Bradburn, and the East Peterborough Society by Mr. F. Birdsall, President. These gentlemen presented the claims of the societies, and the Finance Committee decided to recommend a grant of $100 to each society.

CAPT. MACDONELL'S WOUND

A Later Message From Pretoria Says He is Practically Out of Danger.

Captain Archibald Cameron Macdonell, who was reported yesterday among the wounded, was not Captain Archie Macdonell, but a cousin of his and a brother of Mrs. Wallis, Gilmour-st., with whom Mrs. Macdonell and the children are staying.

Capt A. C. Macdonell is a son of Mr. F. S. Macdonell, of Windsor. He received his education at Trinity College, Port Hope, and pursued a course at the Military College. About eight years ago he received a commission in the Northwest Mounted Police, and several years ago was appointed an inspector. He was last stationed at Regina. He was an enthusiastic cricketer.

A message received in town last night from Lord Roberts at Pretoria stated that Captain Macdonell was practically out of danger. The bullet had been extracted and he was doing well.

LAST NIGHT'S CANOE PARADE

For an Opening Number it Was a Huge Success.

It was a very pretty appearance that the Little lake had last night from half-past eight to ten o'clock. The lake was black with canoes, while quite a large proportion of the number were gaily decorated with the lanterns of the Orient. There was an unusual amount of interest taken in the parade by citizens generally, and it was wonderful to see the crowds of ladies and children that assembled at the different points along the river and lake to see the cruise.

The steamboat wharf had the appearance of a day when a large excursion was about to leave. Burnham's point was covered with sightseers, who applauded the different decorated canoes as they appeared ready for darkness to set in. Then again down on cemetery point quite a number of men and their wives rode down on their bicycles and displayed exceptional interest in the novelty of the parade. It is quite evident that when another one is held that the Little lake will present an appearance of gaiety that will long be remembered for its beauty.

It was shortly before nine o'clock that the illuminated canoes got into a bunch near the Ashburnham wharf and the line formed and started across the lake towards the cemetery. From that the procession proceeded round the lake in snake fashion, then a turn was taken up the river along the steamboat wharf and back down to the lake again. It was certainly a very pretty sight. Everyone enjoyed themselves and all are looking forward to another such an evening.

There were a number of exceedingly handsome decorations, while some gentlemen in undecorated canoes let off some fireworks, giving a very beautiful appearance to the lake.

The suggestion has been made that a citizens' committee be formed and a regatta arranged for on the lake early in the evening, to be followed by another illuminated parade. Let some one take the initiative, and this will be a good night's fun on the lake.

Blue Trading Stamps

(From Toronto Saturday Night.)

There is scarcely a family in this city but what are collecting blue trading stamps. These stamps are nothing more nor less than discounts, but the ladies seem to take a particular delight in saving them, and will go blocks out of their way to patronize merchants giving them. The Dominion Trading Stamp Company have just leased their handsome show rooms, 186 Young-st., for three years longer, so that collectors will have ample time to fill a good many books in that time. Twenty-third of June is the next red letter day, as it is called. A visit to their show rooms on that day will give some idea of the great number of people collecting blue trading stamps. We notice that the company have recently opened some new show rooms, making in all 23 branches that are now established. Over 300 merchants in Toronto have already renewed their contracts to give stamps another year.

INJURED IN A FALL

Mrs. Pethick Sustains Nasty Injuries in a Fall Down Cellar.

Last evening Mrs. Pethick, who lives Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Kemp, Bethune-st. sustained painful injuries by falling down cellar. She cannot explain exactly how the accident happened. Mr. Kempt heard something falling in the house and it was found that the cellar door was open and Mrs. Pethick was found at the foot of the steps. She had been down cellar and was coming up again when she fell. She was injured about the head.

Personal.

Mr. R. Gough, of Toronto, is in town to-day.

Mr. W. Sherwood was in Lindsay yesterday.

Dr. McCullough paid his regular visit to Lindsay yesterday.

Mr. J. H. Brandon, of Fenelon Falls, was in town yesterday.

Capt. W. H. Hill this morning received from Ottawa his "Fenian Raid" medal. Capt. Hill was out at the time of the trouble in 1870.

Lindsay Post:—Messrs. Horn Bros. have sold their steam yacht, the Victoria, to Mr. R. B. Rogers, of Peterborough, Superintendent of the Trent Valley Canal.

Mr. W. J. Drope, formerly of the Collegiate Institute, had two students of his school at Grimsby try the examination for entrance to the Royal Military College, one being G. R. Hall, a son of Mr. R. H. D. Hall. Both boys were successful at the examination.

Lindsay Post:—Mr. George Matthews and family, of this town, and his son, Mr. G. S. Matthews and family, of Peterborough, have rented cottages at Lindsay's popular summer resort—Sturgeon Point—for the summer months. The latter has already established his family there.

Among the successful candidates at the examinations for admission to the Royal Military College was Mr. W. C. Campbell, of Keene, who was a student at the Peterborough Collegiate, and who stood second on the list. Not a bad record for the local Institute.

IN CONFERENCE AT CAMPBELLFORD

PETERBOROUGH ASSOCIATION OF BAPTIST CHURCHES

Ninety-eighth Annual Convention of the Peterborough Association of Baptist Churches Starts off in Good Style at Campbellford—Warm Welcome and Interesting Addresses.

The 98th annual convention of the Peterborough Association of Baptist churches met at 7.30 p.m. on Tuesday, at Campbellford. Rev. C. M. Carew, pastor of the church in Campbellford, opened the meeting, and Pastor A. W. Torrie, of Norwood, conducted the devotional exercises. A large number of delegates were in attendance and an unusually large number of pastors, all but two or three, being present.

Moderator L. B. Randall, of Port Hope, took the chair at 8 o'clock and called upon who said:—"Christian friends, I am not much of a speaker; accordingly my address will be a short one indeed. Although I cannot say much, we will show you before you get away how heartily we welcome you. Not only the members of this church, but the members of the other churches in the town join us in welcoming you and will take part in entertaining you. I therefore most heartily welcome you (1) to our church, (2) to our homes, and (3) to our town. Again I bid you welcome."

MR. R. A. PATTERSON,

Rev. Mr. Parsons, pastor of the Mission in Picton, replied, and expressed the feeling of the delegates, and said: "We have come here not only to receive help, but to give help to others."

The next speaker was

who said in part: "A Christian ought to be happy under any circumstances, having as we do such a wonderful hope. Others do not enjoy this Gospel life and grace of God. It should be our duty to tell this Gospel to others and thus obey God's command to us. This is Home Missions.

(1). What has God done for us? I am in the 11th year of service in the work and I have seen 100 chapels erected, 86 churches organized, 9,000 persons baptized on Home Mission fields. I never tire of this latter when I think of my own conversion and of what it means to the individual, the home and the cause of God. God has wonderfully blessed our efforts, and for money, men and time we have wonderfully large results. The people of Ontario and Quebec seem to have been prepared of God for the work we are doing.

(2). I am sure our people do not appreciate the vital relationship of the Home Mission work to our other work. Even from the financial standpoint it pays us to do this Home Mission work. We could never have raised so much for Foreign Missions, Bolivia and Grand Ligne had not our Home Mission work been pushed. He next spoke eloquently on

"NEWER" ONTARIO.

We must not, he said, as is the danger, lose this opportunity. There is no time like the time of early settlement to do the best work. Think of the 7,000 miles of railroad laid during the last few years and of the hundreds of miles of colonization roads built. He spoke of the vast extent of the great Rainy River country, Nipegon district, Slate River Valley, White Fish River country, Tamisquim and other regions, which have such fine fertile soil, great timber and mineral wealth and the people rushing in by hundreds and thousands. Mr. McEwan caused the delegates to feel that they were not doing anything near what they should do in this matter, and strongly appealed for enlarged efforts and gifts.

The next order of business was the annual sermon by Rev. O. C. Elliott, of Peterborough, who spoke with fluency and eloquence and gave many thoughts which the delegates sanctioned and appreciated. His text was Matthew 5, 20: "Except your righteousness shall exceed the righteousness of the Scribes and Pharasees ye shall not enter into the Kingdom of Heaven." He described the Pharasees as having a strict righteousness.

(1) They were zealous.
(2) They were exemplary in conduct.
(3) They were aggressive.
(4) They were liberal.
(5) They believed in a future life.
(6) They believed in baptism.

But Christ calls for more than this in us. It must be more than a mere conformity, it must be the transformation of the life. The reason they fell short was that they

(1) Had low motives.
(2) Righteousness only outwardly.
(3) They omitted the weightier matters.

He said we were apt to settle down to the belief that we know it all and thus become narrow in mind and life. We should test ourselves and see how we stand. If we have only the Pharasees' righteousness we are short in a matter that is of vital importance.

WEDNESDAY MORNING.

The devotional service was led by Mr. C. Barker:—

Rev. L. B. Randall, Moderator, gave an address on "Our Influence on Personal Work." Nothing of more importance concerns us. I will simply offer a few suggestions. I notice few conversions for last year. I am of opinion the reason is that we are not doing personal work.

1.—Preparations of the world's great work.
2.—Be in touch with the spirit of Christ.
3.—Study God's word. The Holy Spirit cannot use a man ignorant of the Word.
4.—Must plan for the work.
5.—We must be winsome.
6.—Must use every power of nature.
7.—Our companion should be the Lord Jesus Churst.

Ten minutes was spent in discussion of the above subject in which Revs. Dayfoot, Gunton, Elliott, Watson, Bastow, Cowsert and Deacon Graham took part.

The following new pastors and visitors were introduced:—Revs. Pinio, Kelly, Parsons, Torrie, Meldrum, Russell, Redman.

Some facts:—Number added to churches, 171; number dismissed, 101; net gain, 70; total membership, 2,323; scholars in Sunday schools, 1820.

WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON.

In the afternoon Miss Baskerville gave an address. She said:—I will not speak of all the work, nor of many different things. I will dwell upon one thing—work among children. Miss Baskerville spoke of the fact that Ontario stood so high in education and that we would not think much of their India schools.

(1) Least scientific methods of work. Little heathen Sunday schools. They have many of them, unkempt, dirty and naked. Their parents live in mud huts

One Congressman's Work.

In a printed appeal to his constituents Congressman Henry R. Gibson of Tennessee tells what he has done to entitle him to a re-election. During the last three congresses he has put through 853 war claims amounting to over $1,200,000 and 65 special pension bills, had 41 men commissioned as army officers by the president, had 74 new postoffices established, had 20 men appointed as postmasters, made about 12,000 calls on the pension bureau, sent out 20,000 packages of vegetable seeds, distributed 67,000 pamphlets and books, mailed 167,000 copies of his speeches and wrote 47,000 letters to his constituents.

LIKE A NEW MAN.

"I would say to all those suffering from that dread disease, rheumatism, 'Give Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure a trial and be convinced of its merits,'" is the recommendation of Mr. W. C. Switzer, Harrowsmith, Ont., a man 70 years old, who was a sufferer from sciatic rheumatism for ten years, and who never expected to find relief from this terrible disease this side of the grave. He had tried every known remedy recommended for the cure of rheumatism without obtaining relief, until he started taking Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure, of which he took six bottles, and found a perfect cure. He says he finds himself "like a new man," entirely free from pain, his appetite is good, and he sleeps well.

Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure is put up in 50 cent bottles, containing ten days' treatment. For sale by all druggists and dealers in medicine. The Dr. Hall Medicine Co., Kingston, Ont.

RATIONS ENQUIRY ON ALL DAY

Hon. Dr. Borden on the Stand Told How He Did It.

Hatch, the Rival of Dr. Devlin Told What He Knew of the Matter—How the Customs Duty Was Paid—Collector White Got the Money Just Before Appearing Before the Enquiry—Evidences of Other Witnesses.

Ottawa, June 21. — When the Rations Committee met yesterday morning Dr. Borden was examined, being sworn at his own request. He spoke of the contract entered into with Dr. Devlin. In December, 1899, Devlin offered to supply rations similar to those tested in Kingston. Dr. Borden directed Devlin to Lieutenant-Colonel Dr. Neilson.

Dr. Neilson laid down as the basis of a contract that the food tested at Kingston should be the standard of the food contracted for, and in a letter to Dr. Borden stated that: "This substance thoroughly tested on five members of H Battery last year."

On January 4 the contract was approved by the Minister. Every reasonable precaution was taken to ensure that the food contracted for was supplied to the Government. A certain number of boxes were taken from cases at Halifax and brought to Ottawa to be tested. The analyst of the Inland Revenue Department was given a sample of the Kingston food, and a sample of the food sent to South Africa. These two samples were then analyzed. The result of this analysis is already known.

What Devlin Said.

In regard to the complaint received from Henri Hatch, Dr. Borden said that he inquired of the department, and was informed that proper precautions were being taken, and consequently he did not think that any further action in the matter was necessary. Dr. Devlin had assured the Minister that the food he (Devlin) intended to supply was the same as the food successfully tested at Kingston.

Dr. Borden had then sent Devlin with a sample of his food to Dr. Neilson, the Director-General of the Medical Stores, with instructions to Neilson to see that this food was really the same as the food tested at Kingston. He had not noticed the dissimilarity between the name of the food tested at Kingston and the name of the food which Devlin sold the department. The one was known as Hatch's "protose," the other as Devlin and Lyons' "vitaline." In the department the only name given the food was "vegetable proteid."

Dr. Borden was confident that if the analysis disclosed anything irregular he would have been informed of it by Dr. Neilson or some of the department officials. No report of the analysis was ever made to him, and consequently he concluded that everything was all right.

The Minister emphatically denied any knowledge of the fact that the food was being brought to Montreal from the United States, and had never given any order for the free entry of the rations, nor had he any knowledge as to Devlin's place of manufacture.

It Is the Same.

"I have no doubt at the present moment that the food supplied to the troops was identical with the food tested at Kingston," said Dr. Borden.

"Even after the analysis, which shows that the rations purchased contained only 16 per cent. proteids?" asked Mr. Casgrain.

"Yes, even after that analysis," was the Minister's reply.

Hatch Gives Evidence.

Mr. Henri Hatch, the Austrian food chemist, was next examined. He owns the "Hatch Protose Factory" in Montreal, and is the sole manufacturer of "Protose," a duly registered concentrated food product containing 85 per cent. proteids or tissue-producing elements. Samples of the food tested at Kingston were exhibited. They were in the shape of small brown biscuits and contained on the average 60 per cent. proteids. The cost price of the food was about $1.25 per pound. Mr Hatch explained that he had purchased a sample of Devlin's food from the Vitaline Company through the agency of a man named Moore. This sample he had analyzed by a Montreal analyist, and the result showed that the food contained about 17 per cent. proteids. Comparing his own food with the food manufactured by Devlin, Mr. Hatch said that "Protose" differed visibly from "Vitaline," both in color and texture. The witness declared that Devlin's "Vitaline," as analyzed in the Interior Department, was not by any means a concentrated food, and as an emergency food was quite useless. If the food tested at Kingston had contained no more than 16 per cent. proteids the test would have been declared unsuccessful within five days.

The committee adjourned till 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

Will Call Prof. Ruttan.

The committee re-assembled at 4 p. m. The committee decided to summons Prof. Ruttan to appear before the committee to-day.

Hatch Again Called.

The examination of Henri Hatch was continued. Asked what he thought were the contents of the two samples produced and said to be respectively Hatch's protose and Devlin's food, Mr. Hatch replied that they were composed of starch and proteid to the extent of 16 per cent., baked in a biscuit and ground. He never heard of such a thing before. There could be no uniformity in the consistency of a biscuit so made. Neither of the samples was his food.

In Sterilized Jam Jars.

Mr. Hatch declared that his food was put up in sterilized glass jars. If he sent it by water he would send it hermetically sealed and in sterilized tin cans. If damp air reached his food, it would immediately begin to decompose. In the course of the evidence of Mr. Hatch said that The Morning Herald asked him to pay for the printing of labels for vitaline. He refused to pay the account because he had never given the order. He produced the original printer's copy, got from The Herald office. It was in Devlin's handwriting. This copy was an exact counterpart of the label on the tin of food handed in with Mr. Devlin's tender.

Another bit of copy got by Mr. Hatch from The Herald was also in the writing of Mr. Devlin, and from it the label put on the food sent to South Africa was printed.

The foreman of the printing office will be summoned to tell when these labels were really printed.

Mr. Hatch gave a long description of his food, and declared the weakest contained 30 per cent. proteids. An emergency food was practically useless unless it contained 50 per cent. proteids. Asked if any of his food sent to Kingston contained only 17 per cent., he said it was not possible, though he confessed that during the third week of the test his wrist gave out, and the food was baked by a well-known Montreal baker. He would not swear to the percentage in the food made by this baker during six days, but the witness prepared the ingredients, and all the baker had to do was to knead them and bake them. He thought that none of it contained less than 60 per cent.

Devlin's Worth 25c Per Pound.

As to the value of the stuff in the samples of Devlin's food, Mr. Hatch said if it was vegetable proteid it was worth from 20 to 25 cents. If animal proteid, it would be worth more, though it would not be more valuable.

Hatch Process a Secret.

To Dr. Russell, the witness said that his process was a secret, though while he worked at Dr. Devlin's house the machinery used was worth not more than $10.

"Is the raw material made in Canada or elsewhere?"

After Dr. Russell had put the question a dozen times with ever-increasing heat, Mr. Hatch said: "I do not choose to answer you."

"That is, you refuse to answer?" asked Dr. Russell.

"This looks suspicious," smiled Archie Campbell.

The question was changed, and Mr. Hatch said that he got part of the raw material used in making the food tested at Kingston in Canada and part out of Canada.

"Where do you get the proteids?"

"I make the proteids."

Prompted by Dr. Devlin, Dr. Russell asked: "How do you spell your name?"

"H-a-c-c-a," was the answer. Dr. Russell tested the witness' expert knowledge, and caught a tartar. In this bout Dr. Russell showed his hair-splitting proclivities, and tried to work an advantage on the strength of the Austrian's lack of knowledge of the English language. In comparison with the witness, however, the diminutive doctor did not know how many beans counted five.

Hatch and Devlin at Law.

The relations of Dr. Devlin and H. Hatch were gone into by Dr. Russell. The two parted company Jan. 15, since which time they have had no amicable dealings, and a lawsuit between the two is in progress.

Chairman Belcourt objected to the production of the articles of agreement between the two, signed prior to Jan. 15. The art of objecting has been chronic with the chairman. The majority of the committee were against the chairman, and the agreement was received.

The committee rose at 6.30.

The Evening Session.

When the committee met again at 8.15, Napoleon Martin, landing waiter of customs at Montreal, gave evidence. He said he saw two large Saratoga trunks and one paper package of emergency food come into the Bonaventura Station at Montreal from New York on Jan. 11, 1900. They were on the train as ordinary baggage and bearing checks. The package had no check. Dr. Devlin was the passenger who had the checks, so he was told by another customs officer. Dr. Devlin was told that the trunks could not be delivered without an order from the customs. When the collector sent the order the package was opened by Officer Cauchon. The order came on Jan. 16 and said: "You may give delivery to two trunks and one parcel containing prepared food for second Canadian contingent. R. S. White, Collector of Customs." On Jan. 18, four other trunks came and Dr. Devlin presented another from R. H. White, granting delivery of all. The witness knew nothing of 900 pounds now stored at the customs warehouse. He had been told about it, but it did not come as baggage. If it came as baggage he would have seen it.

To Dr. Britton the witness said the stuff was delivered on the order of R. S. White. The trunks were heavier than ordinary baggage.

Mr. White on the Stand.

"Under what circumstances did you cause to be delivered the trunks just spoken of?"

The witness answered: "The goods were not delivered free of duty, but only pending receipt of permit for free entry."

On Jan. 12 Dr. Devlin called on R. S. White and told him he had in the trunks prepared food that was going to be sent to South Africa. He said he would get a permit of free entry from the Militia Department. The same thing happened in regard to the other trunks. A portion of the goods was entered for bond, in all, 900 lbs. This was under R. S. White's control now. R. S. White never got the permit Dr. Devlin promised to get. He confessed it was his duty to have followed up the matter by getting the permit or detaining the goods.

His mind was recalled to the matter when it came up in the House. He communicated with Dr. Devlin, who said that he had also overlooked the matter. Then Dr. Devlin paid $140, on a basis of 30 cents a pound duty. This was deposited within the last week, a cheque for $60; another for $80. Neither is an accepted cheque. It was on an unennumerated article and was 20 per cent. It covered the whole duty on 223 pounds delivered to the Government.

White Asked for the Duty.

The application for payment of duty was first made by Mr. White in person and then afterwards by letter. At first Dr. Devlin said he would get a permit from the Militia Department but Mr. White demanded the duty and the cheques at the eleventh hour were obtained. Mr. White was asked why he did not present the cheques for payment, knowing the Government had paid Dr. Devlin for the food? The answer was that he did not have time yet.

In answer to other questions, Mr. White said that Dr. Devlin was accompanied by John T. Lyons, when free delivery was requested on Jan. 12. Mr. White was satisfied the goods were for the Government, because Dr. Devlin told him so. Mr. White acted on the doctor's words.

From Jan. 10 to June 20, Mr. White admitted that he was uncovered for the duty charges on these rations, but he declared it was not the fault of Dr. Devlin, but his own fault.

Mr. White Protected Himself.

"How long have the 900 pounds been in the customs?" was asked.

"Since Monday, this week," replied the witness. He said that prior to that, and since Jan. 10, they had been in Dr. Devlin's house in Montreal. He understood that Dr. Devlin had brought in more than the 2,280 pounds required by the Government. The 900 pounds were part of the six trunks and one package. Mr. White insisted upon the removal of the 900 pounds to the customs, to be held in bond, and not released till an invoice was presented, with Mr. White's order. Mr. White sent a carter to Dr. Devlin's house on Monday, June 18, and found the goods in five trunks. There were in all nine bags, each weighing 100 pounds. No invoice was presented.

Will Bring Up a Bagful.

At this stage, it was suggested that 100 pounds of the 900 pounds be brought to the committee, but the chairman did not think the committee had the power to bring up any of the bonded goods. Finally, it was agreed that 100 pounds should be brought up.

"Are you sure the food is there, Mr. White?" asked A. Campbell.

"I have only the word of Dr. Devlin," replied Mr. White.

"I won't get caught again," said Mr. White, when he left the witness chair.

Two letters referred to by Dr. Borden in the morning were read. One was from Dr. Devlin to Col. Neilson, and was dated Feb. 18, 1900. In it he speaks of the "Emergency Ration" as "My Ration."

The other was from H. Hatch to Dr. Borden, shortly after the Ottawa fire, soliciting an order for 60 per cent. proteid food.

Mr. Bessiere of Montreal, an agent for condensed foods, was next examined. He was soliciting orders for his foods. Called on the Militia Department in March, 1898. When South African wat broke out, he saw Col. Neilson, and again solicited orders. He was told the Government would give no orders for rations. His rations cost 68 cents a pound. These were supplied to the British army. He had supplied rations to the Geological Department, and was known to Col. Neilson.

The committee adjourned at 9.45 p.m.

Heart Humbug

It is fashionable to-day to have a new heart scare every 24 hours. The commonest symptoms of dyspepsia or nerve trouble, such as palpitation, weak spells, loss of appetite, and poor circulation, are magnified and distorted into serious signs of heart trouble, with the object of frightening the public into taking this or that heart remedy. If a hundredth part of the heart trouble we hear about were real, the cemeteries would be filled in a month. A wrong construction is put upon common ailments in order to humbug the people into the belief that heart disease is prevalent, whereas real heart trouble, which is so sadly and suddenly fatal when it does occur, is a rare disease. Lopsided arguments cannot convince an intelligent people. Iron is the vital element of the blood. Too little iron means weakness, lack of spirit, pallid cheeks, shortness of breath, sleeplessness, nervousness, loss of vital force, ending in general break-down. The iron in Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills is in the soluble form you need, in combination with other curative agents in such a manner that [illegible] can't resist their action. You find yourself getting well when you use Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills.

HOUSE OF COMMONS.

Liberals Will Give No Preference to Home-Grown Tobacco.

Ottawa, June 21.—In the House yesterday afternoon Mr. Morrison asked Sir Wilfrid Laurier if any steps were being taken to form a stable Government in British Columbia.

Sir Wilfrid said that the whole matter was receiving the closest attention of the Government, and he had hoped yesterday to make an announcement, but owing to circumstances that announcement would have to be postponed.

The chief matter discussed was a motion of Mr. Clancy that the excise duty of 5 cents a pound be taken off Canadian grown tobacco. In speaking to his motion he said the Government was now in possession of a surplus that, unless it was used to lessen the burdens of the people, was wholly useless. Some of this surplus should be used by remitting taxation. He recognized the fact that the Canadian tobacco, comprising 60 per cent. of the tobacco used in Canada, was a legitimate object of taxation. Yet he felt his motion could be carried out with profit. It would result in added stimulation to the native tobacco, and would reduce the price of tobacco to the consumer by five cents a pound.

Mr. Fielding replied that the present question really was that the duties were too high upon imported tobaccos. Mr. Clancy's motion would discriminate too much against imported tobacco. Much encouragement had already been given to native tobacco growers, and the time was not yet ripe for further aid.

The motion was voted down by 68 to 38, Mr. Stubbs voting against the Government.

The House adjourned at 12.45, after making much progress with public works estimates.

COOMASSIE HAS NOT FALLEN.

BRITISH TAKE MACHADODORP

Captured After a Battle in Which Heavy Artillery Was Used.

Boers Are Now Retreating Northward—One Report Has It That Kruger Has Fled and Is Already on the Sea Bound for Europe—Five Days' Truce Between Lord Roberts and General Botha.

London, June 21.—(4.20 a.m.) —The British have penetrated Transvaal territory as far as Machadodorp. Passengers who arrived at Lorenzo Marquez from the Transvaal assert that heavy artillery was engaged, and that the Boers abandoned Machadodorp, retiring northward.

President Kruger is still at Alkamaar.

Boer bulletins regarding Gen. De Wet's operations along Lord Roberts' communications, assert that two convoys were captured, and 300 hundred workmen, with 50 military, taken prisoners."

It is reported from Lorenzo Marquez that a resident of Komatipoort has been arrested and shot by the Boers for complicity in a breakdown of the Malana bridge.

President Kruger's unstamped sovereigns have been offered for sale in Lorenzo Marquez for 20 shillings.

Has Kruger Skipped Out?

A member of the British House of Commons, who has had an important connection with South Africa, is telling a story of a telegram alleged to have been received from Cape Town, which says that Mr. Kruger has really escaped, and is already on the seas, bound for Europe, and that the person occupying the Executive car is not Mr. Kruger, but a substitute.

Advices from Pretoria, dated June 17, say that an official warning has been issued to the effect that any further wrecking depredations will be followed by the demolishing of the farms on both sides.

The Pretoria correspondent of The Daily Telegraph, in a despatch dated Sunday, says:

A Five-Day's Truce.

"An informal truce for five days is in operation between Lord Roberts and Commandant-General Botha."

KITCHENER'S NARROW ESCAPE.

The Boers Nearly Had the Hero of Khartoum at Kapjes' Station.

London, June 21.—Lord Roberts yesterday afternoon reported that Gen. Hunter had ocupied Krugersdorp (west of Johannesburg) without opposition and that Gen. Methuen on June 19 routed a Boer force, which was opposing his entry into Heilbron in the Ornage River Colony.

Kitchener's Narrow Escape.

According to a Cape Town despatch Gen. Kitchener himself had a narrow escape from capture in the engagement at Leeuw Spruit on June 14. Gen. Kitchener's sleeping car was at Kapjes' Station, when the Boers, under Gen. De Wet, suddenly opened a rifle fire at 3 a.m. Kitchener managed to reach his horse and galloped to Rhenoster, two miles distant. The Boers numbered 900 men, with three guns. They burned the culvert which had just been rebuilt and derailed the train.

HUTTON CAPTURES TWO GUNS.

Canadians Are in His Brigade—Railway Communications Restored.

London, June 21.—The War Office has received the following despatch from Lord Roberts:

"Pretoria, June 20.—Hunter's advance column occupied Krugersdorp without opposition, June 18th.

"Methuen, who was escorting a large convoy to Heilbron, yesterday routed a force under Christian De Wet, who endeavored to prevent him from entering the little town. Methuen had only three casualties.

"Baden-Powell left this city to-day on his return to Rustenburg. The country is quieting down in that direction. This satisfactory state of affairs will be materially assisted by the capture between here and Rustenburg, June 19th, of two guns by Hutton's mounted infantry from a body of the enemy under Commandant Duplessis. Railway and telegraph communication with Cape Town is now completely restored.

"All is quiet here at Johannesburg. The shops are open and the market is daily becoming more crowded and businesslike."

CANADIAN LOSSES.

Lt. Blanchard Dead—Capt. Macdonnell of the Mounted Rifles Dangerously Wounded—Pte. Leonard Dead.

Cape Town, June 19th, 1900.—Regret to report the following casualties:

Capt. A. Macdonnell, 2nd Mounted Rifles, dangerously wounded in abdomen.

108 Pte. W. Frost, 2nd Mounted Rifles, dangerously wounded, since dead.

46 Corporal H. H. Baines, 2nd Mounted Rifles, slightly wounded.

129 Pte. F. Greenal, 2nd Mounted Rifles, slightly wounded, 2nd Mounted Rifles near Pretoria, June 12th.

Lieut. H. G. Blanchard died of wounds on June 15th.

7,208 Pte. G. W. Leonard, wounded at Sand River, May 10th, died of wounds.

7,820 Pte. J. McElhinney missing May 29th. (Signed) Milner.

Pte. Walter Frost was from Calgary, originally from Crieff, Perthshire, Scotland. Pte. H. Hewitt Baines, Calgary, originally from Lancaster, Eng. Pte. Frank Greenal comes from Calgary, originally from Shrewsbury, Eng. Pte. G. W. Leonard, 22nd Oxford Rifles. Pte. J. McElhinney belonged to the 62nd St. John Fusiliers.

Capt. Blanchard belonged to the Royal Canadian Regiment of Infantry, being an officer of the British Columbia Company. However, he was attached to the Derbyshire Regiment when wounded.

Capt. Macdonnell, before enlisting, was inspector of N. W. M. P. at Regina. He is a cousin of Capt. Archie Macdonnell, of the first Canadian contingent, and he has many relatives in the city. His wife is residing at Peterboro, with her sister, Mrs. L. M. Hayes. Capt. Macdonnell is a graduate of the Royal Military College, Kingston.

SIR HENRI JOLY

Gets the Lieutenant Governorship of British Columbia, Which Will Be Vacant by McInnes' Dismissal.

Ottawa, June 21.—The attitude of the Lieutenant-Governor of British Columbia will force the Government to dismiss him. This will be the second case on record where a provincial governor has been dismissed summarily. The other case is that of Letellier.

Sir Henri Joly Accepts It.

It was stated last night on good authority that Sir Henri Joly has been offered and has accepted the Lieutenant-Governorship of British Columbia.

H. G. Carroll of Kamouraska, Que., will be offered the portfolio of Minister of Inland Revenue.

It Will Be War to the Knife.

Vancouver, B. C., June 21.—The news of the dismissal of Governor McInnes fairly startled all here. The conduct of the Dominion Government is simply suicidal in appointing a French-Canadian, violent pro-Chinese man like Sir Henri Joly as Governor, as has been reported. The labor men are already strongly hostile and there is any amount of grumbling going on amongst them and to a large number of Liberals the appointment is most unpopular, even offensive. It is freely said, if Sir Henri Joly attempts to air his pro-Chinese proclivities here there will be war to the knife right off. The feeling here on that question runs high now.

Ottawa, June 21.—The insurance losses in connection with Mr. J. R. Booth's lumber, destroyed in the recent fire, have been fixed. Mr. Booth will receive $202,500, to cover his lumber losses. This is not half what Mr. Booth lost.

A BENTON PARK BURGOO.

The Concoction of This Gastronomic Dream a Work of Art.

The "burgoo" has played an important part in the politics of Missouri, and Colonel John T. Crisp, now a shade in the nether world of politics, was a past master in the art of concocting the delectable dish. This is a campaign year, and "burgoo" time is at hand, so the following extract from the New York Herald may not come amiss:

"Not far from Kansas City, where the Democratic national convention will be held, is a park, nominally the property of Colonel John T. Crisp, one of the picturesque, old time politicians of Missouri and for many years fish commissioner of the state. This park is named after the late Senator Tom Benton, the pride of 'Missourah.'

"Benton park is a great place for politics. Many meetings of the state Democrats have been held there, and many a scheme has been cooked up while Colonel Crisp and his men were concocting the famous Benton park 'burgoo,' which was indispensable to every meeting of the kind. The concoction of a 'Benton park burgoo' is a work of art both in the selection of the ingredients and the timing of their introduction into the caldrons in which they are cooked. It is also an expensive operation.

"For a 'burgoo' of 60 gallons the fires are started at 3 o'clock in the morning, and at half past 1 o'clock in the afternoon the 'burgoo' is ready to serve to the hungry Democrats. Here is a list of the ingredients of a 'burgoo:'

"Twenty-five pounds of beef bones sawed short for the extraction of the marrow, 40 to 50 fat half grown chickens chopped in small pieces, 75 half grown squirrels, especially the saddles, with the heads, which are full of brains; 50 squabs, a large gulf of Mexico turtle chopped into small pieces, 25 pounds of fresh pork, 12 pounds of Jersey butter browned and drawn, 15 pounds of old ham chopped fine, a bushel of Irish potatoes sliced, 10 bushels of scarlet tomatoes, 4 bushels of onions, 8 bushels of carrots, the milk of 100 sweet roasting ears of corn, 5 pounds of macaroni, all the vegetables in season in proportion, 200 to 300 pods of cayenne pepper chopped fine.

"When the 'burgoo' is done, it is the color of rich old burgundy, and the odor of it can be smelled all over the park, drawing the Democrats about it like flies around a honey jar. Bread has been fried and cut into dice. Every man has a gallon cup and a big spoon. The cup is three-quarters filled with 'burgoo' and the bread dice thrown in. Old Democratic levers of 'burgoo' have been known to swallow four gallons of it in four hours and for a year thereafter look upon other foods with contempt as only capable of sustaining life."

LIFE..

A question of great interest for intending insurers is which Canadian Life Company is in highest favor with the insuring Canadian public? The following table is a good indicator:

Name of Company.	Commenced Business.	Canadian Business Written in 1899
North American	1881	$4,834,505
Sun Life	1871	3,996,865
Ontario Mutual	1870	3,965,509
Confederation	1871	3,839,469
Canada Life	1847	3,800,917

The above are the five leading Canadian Companies and although the North American is much the youngest in years, she is outstripping all her rivals in the Canadian field.

Something Uncommon for Once
A SPECIAL SALE
—OF—
SLATER SHOES

It's unusual—a special sale of goods so good as the Slater Shoes are. Slater Shoes sell on sight, on their worth, on their value, on the strength of the many points making up a good shoe. But here is a sale.

And by special permission of the Slater Shoe Company—we need not detail all the facts—we have approval. That is as far as the public care, but what interests more is the prices.

Our stock is large. Large for a big city store, where thousands pass the doors and hundreds buy in an hour. Our large stock we want to reduce and make offer:

SLATER SHOES
$5.00 quality in Men's sizes for............$3.00
$3.00 quality in Men's sizes for............$2.00
$3.50 quality in Men's sizes for............$2.00

Every shoe new, bright, and in every way first-class goods. Better buy now. All shades of leather and styles of fastening.

Just a line to say that our Tan and White Canvas Shoes are just the thing for hot weather wear.

HALL'S GLEN

A News Budget From the Hall's Glen Neighborhood.

Miss Clara Rosbury was visiting friends in this neighborhood last week.

Mrs. A. Madill has just returned from her long visit in Selwyn.

Mr. Ira Snelgrove, of Peterborough, spent Sunday here among his friends.

Mr. Robt. Moore, school teacher, of Stony lake, spent Sunday evening at the home of Mr. Wm. Carveth.

At a meeting of the Good Templars on Friday evening last three candidates, who had been previously proposed, were initiated into the Order.

On Saturday evening last a number of young people gathered at the home of Mr. F. Darling, where they passed a very jolly and sociable evening, the amusement consisting of music, both vocal and instrumental, and the singing of temperance and patriotic songs, which were very entertaining and pleasing to all present.

We are pleased to learn that the business of Mr. Wm. Batton, agent for the Massey-Harris Co. in this vicinity, is making very satisfactory progress. We are informed that his business of this season is almost double what it was last year. Mr. Batton is one of the most energetic and successful agents working in the company's interests at the present time. We wish him every success.

The Grove social, which was held here on the afternoon of Wednesday, the 6th inst., under the auspices of the Zion Methodist Sabbath school, proved very successful and enjoyable, especially to the children, who participated heartily in the afternoon's proceedings. About 4.30 p.m. lunch was served up in baskets, which had been prepared by the young ladies previous to the occasion, and to which all did ample justice. After tea the remainder of the evening was spent in sports, such as foot races, swinging, social intercourse, etc. The winners in the races mentioned were awarded prizes by three judges, Messrs. D. Little, H. Crowe and J. Batton, the latter acting as chief judge and awarder of prizes.

NEWSY NOTES FROM NORWOOD

BUDGET OF NEWS FROM THE EAST RIDING CAPITAL.

A Runaway—Flags Floated at Half Mast—Early Closing—Many Personal Mentions.

Norwood, June 20.

Mr. A. B. Richardson, of Tilsonburg, is here this week preparing to remove his family to Tilsonburg.

Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Somerville are at the lake this week getting their cottage ready for the summer.

The Waters family have moved to the lake to-day.

Miss Fowlds, of Hastings, who has been visiting at the Roxburgh's, returned home last night.

Mrs. B. Cross, of the C.P.R. staff, is home this week visiting her parents.

A team belonging to Mr. Archie Patterson broke loose from their moorings in the Methodist church yards and ran up Peterborough-st, on Saturday, to Chas. McDonald's stables. No serious damage was done.

The early closing has proven a decided success so far. The voluntary act seems to work better than an arbitrary by-law, "You can lead a horse to water better than you can drive him."

Messrs. Waddell, Alex Robertson, Thos. Fraser and J. Anderson are out of town to-day in search of trout.

A new roll and record book has been added to the Public Library.

Fruit promises good this year, strawberries are coming in and selling at 10 cents quart. All cereals look well.

The 12th of July will be celebrated here.

The east end of Peterborough-st has been graded and a new sidewalk is being built on the north side from Finlay & Son's storehouse to the C.P.R.

The sad news of W. J. Hampton's death cast a shadow over the spirits of his many friends here who deeply regret his early death. The town and school flags were lowered to half mast, where they sadly hung for three days in memory of the departed.

Walter and Mrs. Cumming, of Campbellford, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Cumming's this week.

A [illegible] for Operations

Most physicians are anxious to try the surgeon's knife and recommend an operation for piles. A less cruel, less expensive and less risky method is the use of Dr. Chase's Ointment, a preparation that has never yet been known to fail to cure piles no matter of what form or of however long standing. Don't think of risking an operation when you can be cured in your own home by the use of Dr. Chase's Ointment. The best physicians use it in their practice.

IN CONFERENCE AT CAMBELLFORD

in the outskirts of the town, and there being no streets, the lady missionary travels around among the houses and gets the children on mats or in rows on the ground. Mr. Lefleims started these Sunday schools by coaxing out the children with fruit. There are now many of these Sunday schools all over the fields.

(3). Village schools. No well equipped schools, but often held on the verandah of the preacher's house. Often young girls and boys are truly converted in these schools and then trained as workers. These schools tend to soften the parents. Where English people live in large numbers it is hard to do any Christian work, and when the women could not be reached she turned to the children and the women came and listened, and then work was started among the women and some were saved. Day schools furnish boarding school material. When some are converted we send them into the boarding schools. We have schools for caste children separate from the others, because we could not get them into others. The Bible is taught in all the schools. In the day boarding schools we keep the Government standard of education. Many ones have been saved through their early training in the schools. Many instances were related of thorough conversion through the educational work.

A WONDERFUL LEAPER.

This One Was the Greatest In the Whole of Ireland.

Two old tads were sitting with shoulders humped over, their black pipes dangling between their teeth, their elbows on their knees, their hands flopping idly beside their legs. They were discussing the old days in Ireland.

"Sur-re," said one, "f'r l'apin the min of Connemara cud not be bate. An thot is thrue, thot.

"I mind me wan bit of a la-ad thot wance on a time shtarted l'apin. He l'aped wan lape after arnother like a kangaroo, an ivry lape was longer than the other wan befure it. An the lasht lape was thot long an hard thot whin he shtruck his feet wint three inches inter the solid lidge. They did thot."

The other tad never quivered. His face was speechless. He slowly pulled his pipe from his mouth and spat meditatively. Then he put back his pipe and pursed his lips.

"Thot's viry fair l'apin," he said at last. "It moight do for Connemara, where the l'apin is not so much as it moight be.

"But now thot ye spake of l'apin, I rimimber a Tipperary man thot was the gr-r-reatest l'aper in the whole of Ireland at thot time of which I'm spakin. I'm tellin ye this for a thrue shtory. Wance on a time I see thot man stand oop wid his fate close together an his hands close down by his side, an thot man he joomped 69 fate backward—thot's what he did."

The narrator halted here and pulled at his pipe thoughtfully, apparently absorbed in reflection as to the glories of that jump.

The other old tad looked at him reproachfully.

"G'long wid ye," snorted he. "Sixty-nine fate! Why, no man thot iver lived cud make such a lape as thot, what a-r-re ye tarkin about."

"Sure, now, what I'm tellin ye is the thruth of the matter jist as it happened. He did make thot same lape."

"G'long, he didn't."

"But I say he did."

"No man cud iver do thot thing, I'm tellin ye."

"Oh, but there was a mon as did do it, an if ye'll be aisy now I'll tell ye his name."

"No matther about his name. There was niver the mon that cud do it."

"But he did do it, an thot mon thot did thot same was yer uncle Tim, yer fayther's own brother."

The other old tad shrugged his shoulders with an assenting gesture.

"My uncle Tim, was it? Ah, well, to be sure he moight!"

A MOST DEADLY POISON.

Terrible Fate of Those Who Partake of Mushroom Phallin.

"One of the most terrible poisons of which I have any knowledge," said a chemist, "is phallin, of which but few persons have more than the most rudimentary knowledge, though the vegetable from which the deadly stuff comes is to be found in almost every field and swamp in the country, for phallin is the poisonous element in the deadly mushroom, the 'death cup,' as it has been appropriately called. Not only that. When phallin was first discovered, it was found that it was almost identical with the poison of the rattlesnake, so that death from mushroom poisoning is very similar to death from a serpent's bite. But still more wonderful it is not known that various bacteria produce nearly the same poison—the bacteria, for instance, of diphtheria and typhoid fever. It seems odd enough that death from the poisonous mushroom, from a rattlesnake bite and from diphtheria should result from practically the same cause.

"It is said that 25 people are killed every year in the United States by eating the death cup, mistaking it for the edible mushroom. It requires only a bit of the death cup to kill—a piece the size of a pea will do it. One case is cited in which a boy ate only a third of a small uncooked cup of the deadly mushroom, but it was enough to cause his death. Indeed, so baneful is the phallin poison that even the handling of the death cup and the breathing of the spores may produce serious illness.

"The death cup looks very pretty as it grows in the fields, and when eaten it has not the slightest ill taste, either when raw or when cooked. Nor is there any uneasiness felt from 9 to 14 hours afterward. Then come terrible pains in the abdomen, nausea and vomiting, followed by almost certain death, with many of the symptoms of Asiatic cholera. The effect of phallin is to dissolve the red corpuscles in the blood, permitting them to escape through the alimentary canal. The greatest care is necessary, therefore, in gathering mushrooms not to pick any of the death cups. They are easily recognised from the others, and there never is any need of making mistakes."—Chicago Chronicle.

He Needed the Clerk.

When Tim Campbell was in the Fiftieth congress, he stole a clerk from Congressman Scott. Scott was a new member and was made chairman of a committee which gave him a clerkship. He knew nothing about the clerk. Campbell did. Through some means or another he had the clerkship transferred to his own committee. Six months later Scott learned of the trick. Meeting Campbell, he said:

"That was a nice piece of petty larceny."

"Tut, tut, Mr. Scott," said Campbell; "my committee needed a clerk worse than yours." Then, with twinkling eyes, he continued, "You are a millionaire and can afford to hire a half dozen clerks, while I must go to the government for clerical assistance."

The ready reply amused Scott. The two men were always the best of friends thereafter.

Wholly Discouraging.

"Did you bet anything while you were at the races?"

"Yes," said the sad eyed man.

"Lose?"

"No; I won $20."

"But you are not laughing merrily and otherwise behaving in a proper and consistent manner."

"I don't feel like laughing. I thought I had my luck gauged, and before I started I bet a man $50 that I could bet on every race and lose. That's the kind of a Jonah I am. It cost me $30 to win."—Washington Star.

Those who attain any excellence commonly spend life in one common pursuit, for excellence is not gained upon easier terms.

When some girls marry, they are compelled to mind their mothers just the same.—Atchison Globe.

Not Responsible.

"Say, what right have you got to kick?" asked the man. "You never vote."

"That's just the reason I have a right to kick," said the tall man with the unhappy look. "As long as I don't vote I am not to blame for the actions of the fellows that are elected."—Indianapolis Press.

TERRIBLE MASSACRE AT TIEN TSIN REPORTED

The British and Russians Are Said to Have Entered Pekin Simultaneously --British Cabinet Considering the Crisis.

TERRIBLE MASSACRE REPORTED

London, June 22—A special from Shanghai says that it is reported from Japanese sources that 1500 foreigners have been massacred at Tien Tsing.

RE-ASSURING NEWS FROM PEKIN

Brussels, June 22—The Petit Bleu states that a telegram was received yesterday by an important Brussels firm from China saying that Admiral Seymour's relieving force and the Russian column entered Pekin simultaneously. The legations were reported intact and all the Belgian residents are said to be safe.

INDIAN TROOPS FOR CHINA

Calcutta, June 22—Fourteen transports will convey troops from India to China. All except six are already in port. The Norbudda and Palamcotta will probably sail Sunday with the Seventh Bengal infantry.

FLEEING FOREIGNERS

Chefoo, June 22—The entire foreign community of Pei Lobo arrived here to-day by the American gun boat Nashville. They lost all their belongings.

A GERMAN COMMANDER DEAD

Shanghai, June 22—Commander Hans, of the German gun boat Iltis, has died of wounds received during the bombardment of Taku on Sunday.

BOMBARDMENT OF TIEN TSIN

Chefu, June 22.—It is officially reported that the bombardment of Tien Tsin with large guns continues incessantly. The foreign concessions have nearly all been burned and the American consulate has been razed to the ground. The Russians are occupying the railroad station but are hard pressed. Reinforcements are urgently needed. The casualties are heavy. The railroad is open from Tong Tau to Ching-Liang-Chung half way Tien-Tsin.

BRITISH CABINET CONSIDERING THE CRISIS

London, June 22—Lord Salisbury presided this morning at a meeting of the cabinet specially summoned to consider the far eastern crisis. Prior to meeting the French ambassador, M. Paul Cambon, and the Chinese Minister, Sir Chih-Chen-Lo-Feng-Luh, paid a lengthy visit to the officials of the foreign office, and it is expected that important developements will be the outcome of the Cabinet conference, as Lord Sailsbury proceeded to Windsor after the meeting.

LINE NOW OPEN FROM PRETORIA TO NATAL

Roberts Reports That Ian Hamilton Has Joined Hands With Buller, Which Will Prevent Joint Action Between Kruger and Steyn.

A REPORT FROM ROBERTS

London, Jnne 22.—A despatch from Lord Roberts dated Pretoria, June 22, is as follows: "Ian Hamilton's column reached the Springs yesterday en route to Heidelburg, where they will join hands with Buller's troops who reached Paardekop yesterday, and will be at Standerton to-morrow, thus opening up communication between Pretoria and Natal and preventing any joint action between the Transvaalers and the Orange River Colony. Baden-Powell reports from Rustenburg that he found the leading Boers very pacific and cordial on his return journey. Commandant Steyn and two actively hostile field cornets had been captured during his absense. Lord Edward Cecil, the administrator of the Rustenburg district, has to date collected 3,000 rifles. The commissioner at Kroonstadt reports that 341 rifles have been handed in at Wolmarnstad."

THE CHINESE INSURRECTION.

The Scantiness of Authentic News Still Continues.

Although Anxiety Exists the British Admiralty Does Not Believe the Report of Admiral Seymour's Death—Consuls at Shanghai Are Making Efforts to Reach Pekin by Wire—A Veil Over the Whole Situation.

London, June 22.—(3.30 a.m.) —The scantiness of authentic news with reference to the situation continues. Admiral Kempff's despatch to the Navy Department was prominently used by the London papers, and commented upon as indicating a change for the worse.

Do Not Believe the Report.

The British Admiralty does not believe the report of the death of Admiral Seymour, commander of the international relief column, and semi-official assurances are given that there seems not to be the slightest evidence to back such a report. It is pointed out that Admiral Seymour had sufficient supplies to enable him to get to Pekin, or to get back.

"We are hopeful," says the semi-official announcement, "that since he has done the latter, he has done the former."

Have Fears Still.

A despatch to the Associated Press from Shanghai, dated yesterday, says:

"The consuls met to-day to consider the situation, which, in the absence of news from Pekin, is looked upon as particularly threatening. Grave fears still exist as to the safety of the Europeans in Pekin. It was agreed to wire the senior consul at Che Foo to communicate with the senior officers at Taku, asking for immediate assistance in communicating direct with Pekin, which, they believe, can be brought about through Sheng, director of telegraphs. They advise that Sheng be asked to explain the interruption of communications."

Russia at the Bottom of It.

The Singapore correspondent of The Daily Express, telegraphing yesterday, says: "Kang Yu Wei, the reformer, asserts that Russian agents precipitated, if they did not entirely organize, the present disturbances, for purely Russian purposes."

Blue Jackets Landed Near Shanghai.

Shanghai, June 21.—Blue Jackets have been landed at Woo Sung, ten miles north, to protect the telegraph station.

Tien-Tsin Being Bombarded.

Washington, D.C., June 21.—Acting Secretary of the Navy, Mr. Hackett, received a cablegram this evening from Admiral Kempff, dated Che Foo, June 21, saying Tien Tsin is being bombarded.

7 DAYS WITHOUT NEWS.

Rear Admiral Bruce Wires the Situation in China to the British Admiralty.

London, June 22.—The Admiralty has received the following despatch from Rear Admiral Bruce:

"Taku, via Che Fu, June 21.—No communication from the commander-in-chief in seven days, and from Tien Tsin in five days. The allies hold the Taku forts and Tong Ku securely and they will advance to the relief of Tien Tsin when in sufficient strength. Troops are expected from Hong Kong to-morrow, and 300 from Wei Hai Wei the following day. It is believed that fighting is constantly proceeding around Tien Tsin. Our garrison there should be about 3,000 men.

An Official Bulletin.

"The following proclamation was agreed to this morning, to be issued forthwith:

" 'The admirals and senior naval officers of the allied powers in China desire to make known to all Viceroys and authorities along the coasts and rivers, and in the cities and provinces of China, that they intend to use armed force only against the Boxers and people that oppose them on their march to Pekin for the rescue of their fellow-countrymen.' "

The date that the above despatch was sent off from Taku is not given, but it is probably June 19.

Foreign Ministers Are Safe.

Berlin, June 22. — A semi-official despatch from Tokio, dated June 21, says the Japanese Consul at Shanghai, confirms the report that Vice-Admiral Seymour has arrived at Pekin, and that the members of the diplomatic corps are safe.

According to an official Japanese report from Che Fu, the foreign settlement at Tien Tsin was reduced to ashes June 18.

KING QUALITY

We name them thus

Because we believe they are King of all shoes. We don't believe there is a woman's shoe sold for $3 in this whole world which is as good as our King Quality. That is a broad statement, but try the shoe and you will agree that we have reason for boasting.

It is simply perfection.

It has all that a shoe ought to have —ease, durability, style—and it costs but $3 while it looks like a $5 shoe.

Try and judge for yourself.

Bleeding Piles

A Prominent Business Man Testifies to His Cure by Using Dr. Chase's Ointment.

Not a day passes but many people volunteer recommendations of Dr. Chase's Ointment as an absolute cure for every form of piles.

Mr. Jas. Jackson, of the Laurie Spool Company, St. Alexis des Monts, Que., writes:—"You may put my name to any praise you can give to Dr. Chase's Ointment, for it has done me more good than any medicine I ever used.

"I was troubled for two years with that cruel disease, bleeding piles, and after using Dr. Chase's Ointment, I can say I am entirely rid of it. It is a treasure to all suffering from piles."

Dr. Chase's Ointment is guaranteed to positively cure any case of itching, bleeding, or protruding piles. It has never yet been known to fail, and certainly will not fail in your case.

For many years Dr. Chase's Ointment has stood alone as the only absolute and guaranteed cure for piles and itching skin diseases; 60 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine has by far the largest sale of any remedy for throat and lung troubles. 25 cents a bottle.

FRIDAY, JUNE 22, 1900.

ONTARIO IN THE CABINET.

The Toronto Telegram does not spare Grit or Tory in its consideration of public men and public matters. It is an independent newspaper and here is its estimate of the Ontario representatives in the Laurier Cabinet:—

"There is strength, earnestness and sincerity in the individual Liberalism of Ontario, but are these virtues adequately represented in the delegation which sits for this province in the Dominion Government?

"The bitterness against Sir Richard Cartwright in Ontario was always qualified by admiration of his ability. Enemies are no longer bitter against Sir Richard, possibly because they no longer fear him, and believe that his apprenticeship in the advocacy of righteousness will unfit him for efficient service as the apologist for unrighteousness.

"The worst that can be said against Hon. William Patterson and Hon. David Mills is that they make little impression on the public mind, but the impression made by Hon. William Mulock, Hon. Jas. Sutherland and Hon. R. W. Scott is large and not favorable.

"The improvements in the postal service would have carried Mr. Mulock along as the useful member of a strong Government, but Wilfrid Laurier writes himself down a weakling when he allows this province to understand that he is led by Mr. Mulock or Mr. Sutherland.

"The career of Sir Wilfrid Laurier illustrates the political value of power on the platform. Yet Sir Wilfrid has made up the Ontario part of his Cabinet slate as if power on the platform had no value at all. The ability of Sir Richard Cartwright and the talent of Hon. William Patterson are loaded down by the mediocrity of Hon. William Mulock, Hon. Jas. Sutherland and Hon. R. W. Scott, and consequently the Laurier Government is hopelessly weak in Ontario."

With this to be said of the Ontario men, what might be added regarding the Quebec representation headed by Mr. Tarte, or Manitoba with Mr. Sifton its leader in the Cabinet. Surely the "strongest Government Canada has ever seen" is being sadly exposed and rapidly made ridiculous or worse.

In another article the Telegram sizes up the Liberal chances in Ontario in this way:—

"There are at least twenty-one Ontario constituencies now represented by the supporters of the Laurier Government which are likely to be represented by Conservatives in the next Parliament of Canada.

"A loss of twenty-one seats means a loss of forty-two on the division, but the Government can reduce this loss by the number of seats they can take from the adherents of the present Opposition.

"About the best that the Laurier Government can hope to do is to escape from this province with a net loss of ten seats, or twenty votes on division. The weakness of the Liberals in this province is not due to any general falling off in the esteem for Sir Wilfrid Laurier. He is still popular as an orator, and neither his race nor his creed tells against him in Ontario. He is burdened by Ontario's growing belief that he has been a mere paw in the games of the Crow's Nest brigadiers and their allies, and that he is too weak to perceive the weakness of the elements which he has honored as the highest representative of Ontario Liberalism."

Laurier's troubles continue to multiply.

If Canadians desire clean, capable government they will never endorse the Laurier-Tarte-Sifton combination for a second term.

Sir Henri Joly has no assurance that in leaving the rapidly sinking Government at Ottawa to go to the Lieutenant Governorship of British Columbia that he is going from a sea of trouble to a bed of roses.

Just when things are becoming so interesting at Ottawa, the Dominion Government did not require any such difficulty as it has made for itself in British Columbia, Laurier, Tarte, Sifton and the rest have troubles enough of their own just now.

As their misdeeds, and mismanagement becomes more and more exposed and the scandals and muddles multiply the Government will be more and more tempted to hold on as long as it can without going to the people.

The enquiry into the emergency rations scandal as it proceeds makes the rottenness of departmental management at Ottawa under present rule more and more apparent. No wonder the Government went out of its way to protect other enquiries, for instance into the Yukon maladministration.

Mr. Monk's charges in connection with the emergency rations were denied in the House, but an investigation is showing that they were true. The people will now be in a better position to judge of the correctness of charges and the value to be given to denials when they are made in Parliament.

Tarte cannot come home too soon to suit Canadians, although from a party standpoint Conservatives would ask nothing better than to allow him to keep on talking his "misconceptions" to Paris audiences. But the party advantage will readily give way to Canada's interest. Canadians have been misrepresented by this gentleman too grossly and too long to desire any more of it.

The difficulty in British Columbia affairs has been all of Liberal making. Lieutenant Governor McInnes was a Laurier Government appointee. "Joe" Martin was a leading Liberal who assisted the Laurierites to power, and then was forced to one side to make room for Sifton. The Dominion Government will suffer from the desperate tangle affairs in the Pacific provinces have got into, and they should.

Another reason for further postponement of the general elections will be the muddle that matters have got into in British Columbia under the rule of "the strongest Government Canada has ever seen." But Liberal prospects become worse the longer they wait, for all will admit that the chances were better a year ago for a Government victory than they are to-day. They will continue to grow worse.

The newspaper organs of the Ottawa Administration have an old way of looking at public question, says the Montreal Star. The Toronto Star dismisses the Lemieux scandal which involved offensive partizanship and personation as "the participation of a subordinate customs officer in politics way down by the sea in 1896, when that civil servant on his holidays gave his son's candidature a little help." The Hamilton Times alludes to the emergency rations swindle as "some canned food for the soldiers being bought from one firm instead of another," and it speaks of the gigantic election frauds as "a suspicion that votes were bought or ballots tampered with in a couple of bye-elections." All these offences are only trivial nothings. Fancy the conduct of a Government official personating another person and officiating at a polling booth under a false name, being characterized as merely giving "a little help'" to his son! The substitution of an unknown article for tested food to be used in the last extremity by our gallant soldiers in South Africa as only a dispute between rival dealers! The proven systematic crookedness of the Machine, the general ballot switching and ballot stealing, a suspicion that ballots were tampered with! These newspapers would call theft a mere appropriation, arson a jovial illumination, and murder an unpleasant incident. They must have queer ideas of the seriousness of some enormities.

During the year 1899, $136,821,169 was paid out in the United States on matured life and endowment policies, points out the Hamilton Spectator in scoring one for life insurance. From life insurance statistics just completed it appears that $36,000,549 was paid to policyholders or their heirs in the state of New York alone, and that Pennsylvania followed with $19,860,360, while Massachusetts was a good third with $14,821,333. Twenty cities in the United States received from one to fourteen million dollars each. Add to the death claims and the endowment policies paid, the payments of dividends, and the cash surrender of policies, the sum expended by the life insurance companies during the year 1899 figures up to $263,810,276. The average policies in the big life companies do not exceed $2,500. Less than 10 per cent. of the death claims paid were in amounts of $10,000 or more. The largest policy paid was to the heirs of the late Calvin L. Price, former United States senator from Ohio, which amounted to the comfortable sum of half a million of dollars. Many wealthy men engaged in large enterprises carry big amounts of insurance on their lives in order that their families may be provided for in case of sudden death or reverses in business. There is no investment that pays better than a life policy. Men of limited means and small incomes feel the need of providing for their families, as is evident from the large number of fraternal companies that are in existence. Figure up the amount paid out in the United States alone during 1899 and it is a phenomenal sum, representing the savings of years for the benefit of families who might, under other circumstances be left destitute of the common necessaries of life.

M'KINLEY AND ROOSEVELT.

Presidential Team Chosen by the U.S. Republican Party.

National Convention at Philadelphia Settled the Business in Short Order When Voting Began—President Carried the Convention to a Man—Roosevelt Only One Short — Great Demonstrations When the Tallies Were Announced.

Philadelphia, June 22.—The Republican Convention was called to order at 10.38 yesterday morning, amid the strains of the National Anthem, played by the band. Archbishop Ryan of Philadelphia delivered the opening invocation.

Chairman Lodge called for the nomination of candidates for the Presidency, and Senator Foraker named Willaim McKinley, briefly adverting to the President's secord. "In war and peace," said he, "he has been found equal to all extraordinary requirements. In all American history there has been no chapter more brilliant than that written by the United States with him as chief."

Mr. Foraker's eulogy was followed by a most enthusiastic demonstration which lasted for five minutes.

There was another great outburst when Governor Roosevelt took the platform to second the nomination. He spoke in a full clear voice.

At 12.37 the vote began.

The tally clerks quickly made the official summary and handed it to the chairman.

Mr. Lodge took the paper, and advancing to the front of the stage, said:

"The total vote cast is 930. William McKinley has received 930 votes. It is a unanimous vote, and the chairman declares that William McKinley is your nominee for the Presidency for the term beginning March 4, 1901."

Now again pandemonium broke loose in one swelling chorus of enthusiasm for the new candidate, and lasted five minutes.

Roosevelt For Vice-President.

Colonel Lafayette Young of Iowa took the platform to nominate Governor Roosevelt for Vice-President.

Michael J. Murray of Massachusetts seconded Roosevel's nomination.

The vast assemblage sprang to its feet, and State emblems, pampas plumes, handkerchiefs, and hats fairly filled the air. The band in the main gallery began to play: "There'll be a hot time in the old town to-night," and to the inspiring strains the delegates began marching around the hall, filing past Governor Roosevelt as he sat in the New York delegation and extending to him their congratulations.

The impatient audience called for a vote.

At the conclusion of the roll call, Chairman Lodge announced that Governor Roosevelt had received 429 votes, one delegate in the convention not voting. This delegate was Governor Roosevelt himself, who refrained from voting with the New York delegation.

Chairman Lodge's announcement that Governor Roosevelt had been nominated for Vice-President evoked a burst of applause that fairly shook the great steel-girdled building to its foundation.

The President Hears of It.

Washington, June 22.—The President received the news of his nomination at 12.45 p. m. in the Cabinet room. After receiving the congratulations of those present, the President carried the message to Mrs. Mrs. McKinley. Congratulatory telegrams poured in from all quarters.

MR. RICHARDSON'S MOTION

To Tax C. P. R. Lands in N. W. T. Voted Down in the House.

Ottawa, June 22.—The main topic of discussion in the House yesterday was Mr. Richardson's motion to tax the C.P.R. lands in the Northwest Territories. He spoke strongly in favor of his motion, enunciating the political doctrine that as the settlers had made the C.P.R. lands valuable the company was pursuing a dog in the manger policy in failing to patent all the land grants and permit of its taxation.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier replied and argued that Mr. Richardson had misread the statute. The statute only empowered the Crown to give the C.P.R. its land grant, when the conditions were fulfilled.

Sir Charles Tupper also opposed the motion, because it asked Parliament to violate a solemn contract entered into with the C.P.R. The land grant became a grant only when it was earned.

The motion was lost by 99 to 6. Those who voted for it were: Oliver, Pettet, Graham, Puttee, Richardson and Rogers.

The House adjourned at 12.50 a.m.

TELEGRAPHIC BREVITIES.

Joseph Harrison, a farmer, who resided about three miles from Norwood, Ont., went Thursday morning with his 13-year-old son to Trent Bridge, on the Trent River, for a day's fishing. His body was found washed ashore lifeless. The boy's body has not been found.

Abbas Hamil, the Khedive of Egypt, arrived in English waters on Thursday on his first official visit. The Royal Yacht Osborne brought His Highness from Flushing to Port Victoria, where he was received with a salute from the fleet anchored at Sheerness, but he was prevented by seasickness from continuing the journey.

James Mullett and James Fitzharris were on Thursday taken from Ellis Island to the immigration station in the Barge Office, New York, and officially notified to prepare for deportation, the United States Treasury Department having rendered an adverse decision to their appeal from the verdict of the Board of Special Enquiry, which excludes them.

CURTAIN RAISERS.

Eddie Foy is the comedian of the London production of "The American Beauty."

"Way Down East" will be presented at the Drury Lane theater, London, next season and may also go to Australia.

It is said that Mary Mannering will make her stellar debut next season in the part of Priscilla in a play made from the Miles Standish legend.

Algeria Barrios, widow of the late president of Guatemala, is to play under the Frohman management, taking the roles in the Ada Rehan repertory.

Miss Roselle Knott, the Lygia of "Quo Vadis," is one of the best rifle shots, as well as being one of the most accomplished equestrians, in the country.

There is rumor that Verdi is writing another opera, if not two. He always denies such reports—he did when he was scores of years younger than he is now.

Robert Edeson, who has made such a hit as Cecil Bryant in "The Greatest Thing In the World," has been re-engaged to support Sarah Cowell Le Moyne next season.

John J. McNally, the Boston writer who has fitted the Rogers brothers with two successful vehicles, has completed another play in which Sam Bernard will star next year.

We had "What Happened to Jones" and "Why Smith Left Home." Now we are to learn "How Smith Met Jones." That's the title of a farce that a man named Frost is backing.

Joseph Coyne, who successfully portrays the character of the young composer, Paul Roland, in "The Girl In the Barracks," at one time enacted the role of William Penn, Sr., in "Miss Philadelphia."

GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY

If a medal were awarded for the most perfect temperance medicine prepared for family use it would undoubtedly be given to Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. This medicine which is entirely non-alcoholic and non-narcotic, produces actual strength, instead of the simulated strength which results from the use of "whiskey medicines," or nerve numbing narcotics.

The many and remarkable cures resulting from the use of "Golden Medical Discovery" prove the soundness of Dr. Pierce's theory that in these days of haste and hurry the stomach is the common breeding place of disease. These cures also prove the soundness of Dr. Pierce's reasoning that "diseases which originate in the stomach must be cured through the stomach." The "Discovery" is a medicine for the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. When the stomach is healthy the blood made in the stomach is healthy, and sufficient in quantity to nourish the nerves and strengthen the system to resist or throw off disease. Nature develops life, sustains life and preserves life by nourishment. Vital failure comes when the body is starved [illegible] or the inability of the [illegible] tritive organs [illegible] from the food [illegible] "Golden Medical Discovery" [illegible] obstacles from Nature's way so that she can sustain life by her own [illegible]

LIBERALS OBSTRUCT TRUTH.

But Occasionally She Peeks Out at Rations Committee.

Mr. Hersey Says Dr. Devlin's Food Was Inferior — Dr. Neilson Goes on the Stand—Mr. Borden Swore He Depended on Dr. Neilson — Now Dr. Neilson Swears That He Depended on What Dr. Devlin, the Man Who Sold the Food, Told Him.

Ottawa, June 22.—Yesterday's sittings of the Emergency Rations Committee opened with A. Moore of Montreal as the first witness. He swore he had purchased some of Devlin's food sent to South Africa for H. Hatch in January or February, this year, from John T. Lyons, druggist of Montreal. He took a quarter of a pound of "vitaline" to Mr. Hatch.

Analyst Hersey on the Stand.

Milton Hersey, the analytical and consulting chemist, under whose direction this quarter of a pound was analyzed, was then subjected to a long examination. The food was sent to him in a tin can without a label, but a note from the Hatch Protose Company, told him the food was vitaline. He produced the food in the can tested in his laboratory. Asked to compare it with a sample of Devlin's food, he said the two foods were very much alike. Dr. Devlin's food sent to South Africa was inferior, to the food he had tested for Mr. Hatch in March, 1900. The sample of food said to be Hatch's protose by Dr. Borden, and to be the sample that accompanied Dr. Devlin's tender by Col. Pineault, was compared with the food tested by Mr. Hersey. The latter was the better food. The former was merely ground biscuits. The witness had seen pea flour that contained more than 80 per cent. more nutrition than this sample. It was not a concentrated food, because it contained only 16 per cent. proteids, while the weakest concentrate contained 80 per cent. Vitaline was not as good as pea flour biscuits, but if there was lots of it mixed with soup and eaten with three-quarters of a pound of bread to each man, then the troops could do with it. He thought biltong was better than Devlin's food. The value of pea flour biscuits per pound was about 25 cents.

To Dr. Russell the witness said the percentage of proteids in emergency rations could be told only by a chemical analysis.

An Analysis Refused.

Mr. Clarke moved that a portion of the food produced by Mr. Hatch and said to be part of the food sent to Kingston to be tested, be given at once to Mr. Hersey to be analyzed.

Mr. Russell moved in amendment that the analysis be deferred.

Dr. Russell's amendment was supported and Mr. Clarke's motion was voted down.

It was further moved by Mr. Casgrain that the food left by Mr. Hatch be submitted to the Dominion Analyst. This also was voted down.

Again it was moved that this food be given to Mr. Hersey to be analyzed by him in the Inland Revenue Department this afternoon. This also was voted down.

"Do I understand that you refuse to have this food analyzed?" asked Mr. Casgrain.

"Later," said Dr. Russell with a cynical smile.

After H. L. Wood, Mr. Hersey's chief assistant, had told of his analysis of the food sent to him on March 27, 1900, by Mr. Hatch and purporting to be vitaline, the committee rose at 1 p. m.

An English Agent.

The committee reassembled at 3, and heard F. I. Hoy's evidence. He is the manager of the Bovril Company. The British Government bought this food in large quantities, as army emergency rations. The witness produced samples of food similar to emergency rations furnished the British Government for use in South Africa. He said he saw Dr. Borden before the first contingent was sent and solicited an order. Dr. Borden told him the Government was buying no provisions. He had not quoted prices to Dr. Borden.

Mr. Monk asked the prices of the witness' rations.

On a vote, Mr. Monk's question was ruled out of order.

Witness said he saw Dr. Neilson shortly before the second contingent left, and was told that the demand for rations was so small that it could be no object to the witness.

"Was an order of $2,000 or $3,000 an object to your firm?"

"I should think it would be to any firm."

Dr. Borden Recalled.

Dr. Borden was next called, and made a correction in his evidence. He said that he had been informed by Dr. Neilson yesterday, that the sample he (Dr. Borden) had said was Hatch's protose was really the sample sent by Dr. Devlin with his tender. Dr. Borden said Dr. Neilson had compared this sample, however, with the sample used in Kingston, and found them identical.

By this correction, Dr. Borden's evidence was made similar to Col. Pineault's.

Cans Were Not Air Tight.

Tinsmith C. Davidson of Montreal said that on Jan. 5, Dr. Devlin gave him an order to make 7,000 tins. The tins were delivered in three or four days later to John T. Lyons' drug store. The cost of the tins was $25 per thousand. The tins were small ones. The witness identified the vitaline tins exhibited. Devlin told the witness the tins were for rations he was supplying the Government. The tins were not air-tight; air-tight tins would have to be made differently, and would cost 25 per cent. more.

Dr. Neilson on the Stand.

Dr. Neilson, director-general of medical affairs of the Dominion service, was next sworn. He said his first correspondence with Hatch took place Feb. 15, 1899, when he sent for samples of Hatch's protein vegetable food. Samples were received from Dr. Devlin, saying that he was part possessor of the samples. The witness at the beginning of March met Dr. Devlin in Ottawa. Then Prof. Ruttan's analysis was shown the witness by Dr. Devlin, and a test was spoken of. The test at Kingston was then arranged, after Dr. Borden had approved of it. Dr. Devlin said he would mix his protein powder with flour, and have it made into bread, and that four pounds daily would be supplied, some butter and a cup of tea or some thin broth were given to each man. The witness was not present at the test till the last day of the four weeks. Then the patients were brought up to the orderly room before several persons. They presented an excellent appearance. About the end, Oct. 7, 1899, Mr. Hatch wrote to Dr. Neilson, offering some of his product free to the Red Cross Society. This was called protose.

"I did not know protose, I never heard of protose and thought that Mr. Hatch was promoting a new substance." The witness didn't know whether he answered this letter or not. Towards the end of December, 1899, Dr. Borden read that troops were suffering from short rations, and he thought of an extra ration for emergency. Dr. Devlin may have been in Ottawa at this time. Dr. Neilson agreed with the Minister in this matter. A ration for reserve should be given to the second contingent.

Dr. Borden then suggested the ration tested at Kinston, but Dr. Neilson did not express himself finally on the matter. About this time Dr. Devlin saw Dr. Neilson and said he could supply vitaline ration. "I said 'I don't know vitaline ration.' Dr. Devlin said: 'It is the same ration experimented with at Kingston. But the name is changed for commercial purposes. Vegetable protein and vitaline are identically the same.'"

The witness said that Dr. Devlin agreed to call the vitaline protein vegetable, and again assured him it was the same food tested at Kingston.

The tender was accepted Jan. 4, 1900. The time was short, and Dr. Devlin said he would have to work late and early. The outcome was that he supplied the second contingent with five days' rations for each man. When the experiments took place in Kingston Dr. Devlin sent to Ottawa to Dr. Neilson samples of protein vegetable full strength and half strength. The witness possessed the samples marked half-strength. When the tender was being considered the witness compared the tender sample and the sample of half strength. They seemed alike in an examination.

When the supply reached Halifax, Capt. Benoit opened the boxes and in February brought up some of the tins. Dr. Neilson received some tins of the food from Dr. Devlin after the delivery of the food. Dr. Neilson caused the tendered sample and the shipped sample to be analyzed and compared. The department had received no definite report from South Africa, saying whether the food which had been used had been found satisfactory or not. The witness thought some private letters testified to its excellence.

The witness gave all his papers regarding the transaction to the Deputy Minister when he knew the storm was coming. He knew it was coming as far back as May.

The witness produced the remains of the first sample of protein vegetable sent him in March, 1899. It was in an envelope and was marked "Protein vegetable, half strength." The writing resembles the hand-writing of Mr. Hatch. This sample was to be used in the Kingston test. I think it was sent to me by Dr. Devlin.

"I had samples of the bread sent me, but unfortunately they are destroyed. I have lost sight of them for some months."

A letter by Dr. Devlin accompanied the sample of half-strength. The witness had given the letter to the Deputy Minister.

Witness said he did not know that the powder received in March, 1899, had really been used in the bread tested at Kingston. Dr. Devlin told him it had been so used. As a powder protein vegetable had not been used in Kingston. The witness had received two envelopes of powder from Dr. Devlin, but he had lost one.

"Has the powder in the envelope deteriorated since March, 1899?" asked Mr. Clarke.

The witness thought not, because

A SYMBOLICAL CEREMONY

THOUGHTS SUGGESTED BY THE DECORATION OF THE GRAVES AT THE CEMETERY

Addresses Full of Feeling and Noble Inspiration Delivered by the Clergymen to the People Assembled at the Cemetery on Decoration Day.

Not the least interesting and impressive part of the Decoration Day ceremonies at the Little Lake cemetery yesterday afternoon was the meeting at which the people assembled and were addressed by a number of the clergymen of the town. After all the graves had been visited the clergymen took their places on the tent covered platform on the eastern slope of the grounds, while a big concourse gathered around and listened to the many beautiful and timely ideas on life and death expressed by the speakers.

The chair was occupied by Mr. M. W. Matchett, who spoke a few opening words. He reminded his hearers that the Independent Order of Oddfellows does not allow death to terminate the relations in its ranks. They do not forget that each brother still has a claim on their affections and to his family aid is always given. In placing the tributes of flowers on their graves we are reminded again of the uncertainty of time; some have been resting for years, others but for a few weeks or months, and warm hearts are still grieving for their loss, but to both the Order comes to show respect and remembrance. The occasion impresses us with the shortness of life and the certainty of death. It behooves us all to make the best use of the daytime of life. If we do so as true Oddfellows and true men our memories will be green in the hearts of those left behind, as green and fragrant as the flowers placed on the graves. Mr. Matchett was pleased to see so many present. The ceremony was first instituted by Durham Lodge, of Port Hope, some years ago, but is now almost universal among Oddfellows.

A lodge choir sang "Blest be the Tie That Binds," with accompaniment by a quartette from the band.

REV. J. E. MOORE.

Rev. J. E. Moore pointed out that we meet on this occasion with mingled feelings of sorrow and joy, sorrow that so many brothers sleep in that sleep from which none wakes to sorrow, and joy in the hope of a re-union. The brothers are bound together by a thousand sympathies, by the common brotherhood of man, more closely by the brotherhood of the fraternal organization, but the speaker had never placed the principles of any secret society before the church of God. The greatest brotherhood in the world is to be members of the Brotherhood of Christ, followers of the meek and lowly One who gave Himself that we may rise again in the great day when all men shall hear the voice of God, "Arise." He was very thankful for all the pleasant associations of the past three years. Now that he is bidding good-bye he shall turn away feeling that his sojourn in this very pretty town for the past three years has been a happy one.

The Little Lake is the most beautiful of the beautiful cemeteries he had seen. The name and character of each one whose grave had been visited had been called up. The flower of a blameless life ought to bloom in every life connected with the Order and he hoped the lives of all would be as pure as the flowers placed on the graves. The first rule of life is the consecration of that life of God. Everyone should lay upon God's altar all his life, his talents, his energies, the whole of a noble manhood or noble womanhood. If the principles of the Order were followed men would be all that they should be. In conclusion he thanked the Oddfellows and took the opportunity to say good-bye to the Foresters and Woodmen and Oddfellows of the town, lodges of which he was a member and in which he was a firm believer.

REV. W. L. ARMITAGE.

Rev. Mr. Armitage was then introduced by the chairman. He was there, he said, to show sympathy with the movement. It was good in his mind and apparently so in the public opinion. Men should fulfil the duties of loving brotherhood without being bound by an oath. Yet the societies have done much good. If now the brothers are gone we bring back none of their failings and say nothing disparaging of them. Why should we not do the same of all that are living? Cover them with the mantle of charity. It is our duty in life to pay our tributes. We can say many kind things of the dead but their message would be to treat the living with the same kindness and love. If we showed more appreciation of the living how much better it would be.

If the dead would speak to us what would be their message? To fulfil the charge that has come to us, whatever it may be. We should do those things in life which will make those who live happier. Let us perform our best deeds for our friends while they are yet living and we will bring them under the blessing of that love which is stronger than any human tie.

REV. J. G. POTTER.

Rev. Mr. Potter spoke next. It is, he pointed out, a great help to all to meet on such an occasion. We are all seeking each others help and encouragement and word of cheer. Our cemetery is an exceedingly beautiful city of the dead. There are those in it who have been laid by and on Decoration Day we meet to refresh our memories and keep their names green in our hearts. Meeting together we have many thoughts—of riches, of ease, of comfort on one hand and on

FELL FROM A POLE

Wm. Leplante, a C.P.R. Line Man, Meets With a Painful Accident.

On Tuesday Wm. Leplante, of town, employed as a C.P.R. lineman, met with a serious accident at Blenheim, near Chatham, and yet was fortunate that his injuries were not more serious. He fell from a pole on which he was working, dropping upward, so to speak, lighting heavily on his feet. One leg was fractured above the ankle and there were some slight internal injuries. The soles of his feet were blackened with the force of the shock. He was brought to his home on Patterson-st. and is under the care of Dr. Moher.

FATHER AND SON WERE DROWNED

A WELL KNOWN ASPHODEL MAN AND HIS SON DROWNED

They Were Fishing at Trent Bridge When the Accident Occurred—The Father's Body Has Been Recovered.

Word reached town to-day of a double drowning at Trent Bridge, near Havelock, yesterday. The victims were Mr. Jos. Harrison and his son, of Asphodel.

Father and son were fishing when the accident occurred. Full particulars are not to hand.

Mr. Harrison's body was recovered, but the son's had not been found last night. The boy was about twelve years of age.

THE THIRD YEAR

Pleasing Function on the Anniversary of the Y.M.C.A. Opening.

Yesterday was the third anniversary of the opening of the Young Men's Christian Association building. The event was celebrated last evening in the attractive reception room and parlors. It was very fitting that the arrangements should be in charge of the Ladies' Auxilliary of the association, as at the opening in June, 1897, and on each succeeding year they have made this a red-letter day in the history of the organization.

The officers of the Y.M.C.A., the members, and in fact all the citizens of Peterborough interested in young men, recognize the excellent services rendered from time to time by the Auxilliary.

Their first task, which was by no means a small one, was to furnish the new building which in taste and elegance speaks volumes of praise for the ladies. During the last two years from time to time they have done much to aid the work, and assisted the Board in wiping out the old debt by contributing over four hundred dollars, the proceeds of a most successful bazaar.

The building inside last evening presented a very pretty appearance, tables with elaborate decorations of cut flowers were arranged in the parlors on the left of the spacious reception room. These were in charge of members of the auxilliary assisted by a committee of young ladies.

They seemed to vie with each other in the attention given to demands for the dainty refreshments of ice cream, lemonade, and cake which were supplied in abundance.

The officers of the Auxilliary in charge were Mrs. Sheriff Hall, President, Mrs. Mason and Mrs. Hunter, Vice-Presidents, Mrs. McAllister, Treasurer, and Miss Lundy, Secretary.

On the right of the reception room Gliddon's orchestra composed of fifteen pieces rendered a most enjoyable programme under the direction of Mr. Gliddon, the numbers were as follows:—

1—March... ... ...The Conqueror......Reeker
2—Cake Walk... ...Kinky Kinks......Fuller
3—Cornet Solo...Magnolia Serenade............ Missena
4—March... ... ...
5—Descriptive Selection, Uncle Eph's Wedding...... ....Lange
6—March... ... ...Sweet Heart... ......Prior
7—Song...... ....Pretty Primrose
8—March... ... ...

The ladies wish to publicly express their thanks to Mr. Gliddon and the orchestra for their contribution of music which made the evening so enjoyable.

Re "Business is Business."

To the Editor of the Review.

Dear Sir,—Your contemporary, the Examiner, has always been away up near the front when fulsome praises of the wonderful "business-like" administration at Ottawa were being hurled at the people. The exposure of Dr. Borden's way of doing business when he bought the emergency food for our Canadian soldiers in South Africa shows how much genuine business ability there is in that department. The idea of a man paying two dollars a pound for a mixture of soda and dog biscuits! Especially when his own analyst said that, as a concentrated food, the stuff was a fraud and not worth anything like the price charged for it!

Yours,
VOTER.

BOYS WHO ARE AWAY IN CAMP

THE THIRD DRAGOONS AND DURHAM FIELD BATTERY UNDER CANVASS

The Battery are Having New Training This Year—The Dragoons Arrived at Kingston Safely and are Pleasantly Situated.

In Camp,
Deseronto, June 20th.

The 14th Field Battery arrived in camp at 4.30 o'clock in the afternoon on Tuesday last, and without accident. The 2nd Ottawa and the 8th Gananoque Field Batteries arrived the same day, forming the Brigade Division for the camp.

Everything points to a most successful camp, there being lots of work in sight.

Lt.-Col. Courtney is Chief of Staff and in command of the camp. Lt.-Col. Stone, Inspector-General of Artillery, is here also.

The training this year will differ greatly from that of previous annual trainings, taking the form of sham fights, thus allowing the battery commanders more freedom and putting the batteries generally on a more independent footing.

The 14th Field Battery promises to stand well in the list for proficiency when the inspection comes off on Friday the 29th.

WITH THE CAVALRY AT KINGSTON.

Barriefield Commons,
Kingston, June 20th.

Everybody arrived safely in camp and are well. We arrived in camp about 4.30 o'clock on Tuesday afternoon. All the tents had been pitched by Capt. Garvin's men, who went down on Monday. This made things very much more pleasant for the men.

The first parade was held on Wednesday morning. It being muster parade everybody had to turn out.

Our first mounted parade was held on Wednesday afternoon, and the men of the Third Dragoons are doing capital work.

We have a most delightful camping ground, it being old Barriefield.

The 4th Hussars are brigaded with us. We are separated from the infantry entirely this year. The infantry are camped about one mile away. They also have a splendid camping ground.

Reville is sounded at 5 o'clock, and then stables, and the camp is a busy looking spot for the remainder of the day.

The full strength, cavalry and infantry, numbers about 3,300.

The Boundary Line

Between comfort and discomfort is often very slight. Have you rheumatism or neuralgia? Or are you a sufferer from obscure nervous pains? Why suffer longer? You can purchase for 10 cents a bottle of that king of pain—Polson's Nerviline—or you can get a large bottle for 25 cents. It cures promptly. It is sure, pleasant to take, and never fails to cure all kinds of pain. Don't wait an hour, but send to any drug store and get a trial bottle. Nerviline, the sure pain cure.

BAND IN THE PARK

The Programme That Will be Given at To-night's Concert.

The 57th regiment band will render the following programme in Victoria Park this evening:—

March......Absent Minded Beggar...Kipling-Sullivan
Waltzes...On the Beautiful Rhine... ......
Polka Hymn...... ....A Few More Years
Cake Walk... ... .Smoky Mokes
God Save the Queen.

Brevities

—Little Lake cemetery was visited by great crowds last night. The floral decorations were very beautiful.

—George Pogue had a finger taken off while loading cars at the Wm. Hamilton Mfg. Co's. works this morning.

—The County Council left last evening on the local train for a visit of inspection to the Belmont mines.

—Service preparatory to Communion will be held at St. Paul's church tonight at 8 o'clock. Rev. J. G. Potter will preach. The Session will meet at 7.54.

A Pleasant Evening's Drive.

Last evening Mr. R. H. Leary gave the young ladies of the Central telephone exchange an outing in his handsome new landau. The drive was enjoyed immensely, not only on account of the pleasant evening and the beauty of the landscape at the present season but also because of the comfort and elegance which is combined in Mr. Leary's new equipage. The young ladies at "Central" appreciate Mr. Leary's kindness shown on this and on several other occasions when he has placed conveyances at their disposal for pleasure drives or in order to avoid inclemency of the weather.

DOURO PICNIC

Picnic of the People of St. Joseph's Parish, Douro, Successful and Enjoyable.

The annual picnic in connection with St. Joseph's church, Douro, was held yesterday and, as usual, was a successful event. The attendance was large and representative of all the surrounding country. The day was fine and the beautiful grove made a most satisfactory picnic spot. The meals served by the ladies were all that could be desired and the refreshment booths, etc., were well managed. Rev. Father Keilty was on the grounds all day and attended to the wants of all. Rev. Fathers Fitzpatrick, Scanlon and O'Leary were also present. Addresses were delivered by County Councillor Hawthorne, Mr. J. J. Crowe, Reeve McCliggott and Councillor Campbell, of Douro, Mr. Wm. Rudkins and some of the clergymen. A programme of sports was run off during the afternoon.

A PLEASANT OUTING

Annual Excursion of St. Paul's Choir to the Lakes

Yesterday the choir of St. Paul's church and a few friends, numbering about fifty in all, took their annual trip to Stony lake and, being favored with good weather, had a most enjoyable outing. The excursionists drove in 'busses to Lakefield, where they boarded the fast steamer Empress for the sail. Dinner was had at the Victoria House, McCracken's Landing, and tea at the Pavilion, the party leaving for home about 8 o'clock.

IN CONFERENCE AT CAMPBELLFORD

REV. MR. BASTOW ELECTED MODERATOR OF THE PETERBOROUGH BAPTIST ASSOCIATION

Many Addresses Were Delivered—Next Meeting Will be Held at Lakefield—Outline of the Meeting and the Addresses.

The meeting of the Baptist Association concluded at Campbellford last evening. Following is the conclusion of the report of Wednesday's proceedings, but Thursday's report is unavoidably held over.

OFFICERS CHOSEN.

During the afternoon session the ladies' convention of Mission Circles elected for the following year as Director, Miss A. Walton, as President, Mrs. (Rev.). J. Bastow, as Vice-President, Mrs. A. Wilson, of Port Hope.

The Pastors' and Deacons' conference met at 4 o'clock and appointed their officers for the ensuing year. Rev. W. A. Gunton was re-appointed president, and Rev. E. J. Bridgeman, as secretary. The conference will meet on September [illegible] and 12th in Havelock.

WEDNESDAY EVENING.

Mrs. (Rev.) W. A. Gunton conducted the devotional service after which Moderator Randall took the chair.

Miss Squires read the report of Directress (Miss Walton), who was unavoidably absent from the evening session.

"Work in India" was the subject of an address by Miss Baskerville, a returned missionary. She spoke on "Work by the women for the women." She said in part:—There was not the knowledge of the work there should be. There were women who did not know that Zenana work was more than a new stitch in fancy work and that Telegu was something like a telephone.

Missionary literature was not read as it should be. He thought "The Link" should be read, and if they would only read it she would not need to ask them for money.

It is a great privilege to take part in this great Missionary work and we should not accuse any one of begging who asked for money for this work.

In comparing the women in this country with the women in India she said it is the religion of Jesus Christ that makes the difference.

There are 42 distinct dialects in India.

Women have no rights in India.

Now there are hundreds, who want education, having seen English education in the women of officials.

We could not adopt the poor people's dress because there is hardly any of it.

The poor women of India are very stupid, many never having learned to read for generations back. Very often when talking to them you cannot convey one idea to them.

On account of the exclusion of women in India the men are unable to reach the female population.

The natives think the unmarried lady missionary is the missionary's inferior, or second wife. They have no unmarried women and do nor understand our maiden ladies.

Curiosity in the women of India opens the way to tell the gospel.

One woman may have 200 villages to visit.

The heat to-night would be good winter weather in India. We often have it 90 degrees day and night. I do not like to think of missionaries as martyrs. Many at home may have as many hardships.

There are 300,000 women to every worker in India. You know of their child marriages and some go around and marry a number of children. There are 25,000,000 of widows in India, and in spite of the infanticide the mortality among them was 77,000 under 10 years and many thousands under 4 years of age.

Have we done what we could? What about our luxuries? If Jesus had first place we would need no urging, but would plan for His work first. If one-quarter of the Christians in the world give one cent a day it would equal $100,000,000 a year. When we want news to go quickly we get it there, as seen in war news.

Miss Baskerville put on a native costume and sang a native hymn.

Mayor Smith, of Campbellford, was then called upon and spoke a few words of congratulation and welcome as the representative of the citizens.

REV. MR. WALLACE.

Rev. Mr. Wallace, of Belleville, spoke on "Spirituality and Fruitfulness." These, he said, are the two supreme needs of the individual and community. They have the relation of cause and effect. Spirituality is that condition of soul where the Holy Spirit rules the life. Fruitfulness is the result of abiding in Christ as branches vitally connected to the vine. False religions aim at glorifying man.

1. This condition is not natural nor normal to the human being. "The carnal mind is not subject to God, neither indeed can be." Many are trying to do Christian work without having this spiritual life. Mr. Sheldon cannot get people to do what Jesus would do unless people are regenerated.

Young people are pressed into Christian work when not properly prepared by spiritual life. Great evil is thus done. By being more careful there may be smaller roll but better results. An orchard is not best which is overcrowded. Christ spent three years teaching and training twelve men, and others had to wait for power from on high. Carnal Christians cannot be fruitful Christians. They may be active, but dumb in prayer meeting. They are babes in Christ and are not ambitious to grow. A spiritual revival among them is most needed.

2. How these conditions of growth and prayers may be obtained:

(1) Must be deep sense of need.

(2) Must have conviction that God can meet this need.

(3) This may be brought about by fulfilling the conditions.

(1) Separation from the world.

(2) Consecration, activity, giving ourselves to God's work. Consecration is positive and practical.

(3) We must pray.

(4) Diligent study of God's Word.

(5) Appropriating faith which claims all God's promises and graces.

Concluded to-morrow.

"Take Heed Will Surely Speed."

THE STANDING PASSENGER.

He Needn't "Move Forward" at the Street Car Conductor's Command.

A passenger who is standing up in the aisle of a street car cannot be compelled by the conductor to move forward unless he is blocking the passageway. This was the law laid down by Judge Williams of the superior court in instructions which he gave to a jury.

The judge holds that a passenger has the same right to remain in one place when he is standing as if he were occupying a seat. It is the persons who last boarded the car who must adapt themselves to the crowded condition and find and fill the vacant place.

"I am inclined to the opinion," said Judge Williams, just after directing a verdict for the plaintiff, "that the law upholds a passenger who has accepted standing room in keeping it the same as a passenger who has taken a seat." He then explained that a conductor could not ask a person who was sitting to get up and go to another seat against the passenger's wishes, it being, he said, one of the common rights of passengers.

"The man paid his fare and thus became a passenger," said the judge when beginning to give his instructions to the jury, "and under ordinary circumstances would be a passenger until carried to the point of destination.

"The conductor put the plaintiff off the car before he had reached his destination because he refused to 'move up,' as requested. The defendant's obligation to the plaintiff was to carry him safely and promptly, and the law holds the defendant responsible for the manner in which it executes its duty. The passenger is to be protected from the violence of any agents and the company liable for damages for such an assault when unprovoked.

"In this case the request was not attended by any voluntary movement forward in the three foot aisle by any of the standing passengers. The request was mandatory, but no more pressing upon him to move up than upon the passengers who boarded the car later or last and who would be expected to adapt themselves to the congested space instead of the passenger who had acquired rights."—Milwaukee News.

Abrasion of Gold.

The loss in value to gold coins through abrasion has been the subject of a profitable investigation recently conducted by government officials. Two lots of gold coin valued at $50,000 each and consisting of eagles and double eagles were taken at random from the vaults of the subtreasury at New York and carefully weighed. It was found that the loss on double eagles through abrasion amounted to .05 of 1 per cent and on eagles .07 of 1 per cent. This would be a serious matter in the case of large shipments of coin to foreign countries, where the value is determined by weight instead of by denomination. On $1,000,000, for instance, the loss in the first case would be $500 and in the second case $700. This investigation will tend to encourage the shipment of gold in bars, as they lose practically nothing by abrasion in transport and can be easily packed. The government has assisted in the development of this form of shipment by reducing the charge for furnishing bars from 10 cents to 4 cents per $100.

Heart Humbug

It is fashionable to-day to have a new heart scare every 24 hours. The commonest symptoms of dyspepsia or nerve trouble, such as palpitation, weak spells, loss of appetite, and poor circulation, are magnified and distorted into serious signs of heart trouble, with the object of frightening the public into taking this or that heart remedy. If a hundredth part of the heart trouble we hear about were real, the cemeteries would be filled in a month. A wrong construction is put upon common ailments in order to humbug the people into the belief that heart disease is prevalent, whereas real heart trouble, which is so sadly and suddenly fatal when it does occur, is a rare disease. Lopsided arguments cannot convince an intelligent people. Iron is the vital element of the blood. Too little iron means weakness, lack of spirit, pallid cheeks, shortness of breath, sleeplessness, nervousness, loss of vital force, ending in general break-down. The iron in Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills is in the soluble form you need, in combination with other curative agents in such a manner that disease can't resist their action. You feel yourself getting well when you take Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills.

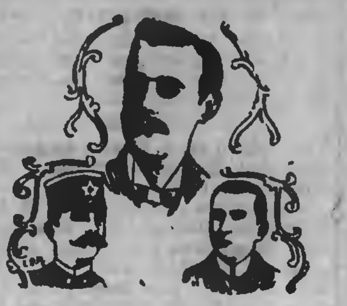
DARING EXPERIMENT

MADE TO CONFIRM THE MOSQUITO MALARIA THEORY.

Drs. Louis Sambon and G. C. Low Will Spend the Whole of the Malaria Season Where the Most Virulent Form of the Disease Prevails For the Purpose of Investigating This Scourge.

A noteworthy and dramatic experiment is about to be made for the purpose of confirming the theory that malaria—the scourge of the British tropical colonies—is the direct outcome of mosquito bite. The experiment consists in sending two volunteer doctors to pass the whole of the present summer in the most deadly malarial area in the world, under conditions which must convince the most skeptical of the truth of the mosquito theory—a theory which, while accepted by men of science, is still ridiculed by a considerable section of the public. It is for their special benefit that this experiment has been undertaken, says a writer in The London King. Two years ago Major Ross, who was sent out on a special mission in West Africa to inquire into the subject, established the mosquito malarial theory, which briefly is that certain kinds of mosquitoes (in whom the germ can live and undergo certain changes) imbibe the malarial bacillus on biting a malarial subject, and in due course convey it to any individuals whom they subsequently attack.

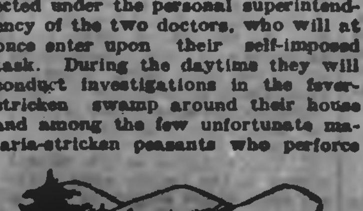


DR. H. E. ANNETT.
DR. LOUIS SAMBON. DR. G. C. LOW.

Though perhaps in a lesser degree, the same heroism which recently caused a young Austrian doctor to lay down his life in the investigation of the plague bacillus is exhibited in the offer of Dr. Louis Sambon and Dr. Low to spend the whole of the malarial season, from May to October, in a district where the most virulent form of disease prevails. This unsavory spot is the Roman Campagna, where to sleep unprotected for one night is regarded as tantamount to contracting the worst kind of malarial fever. But it must not be imagined that these young doctors are going to Italy for the purpose of contracting malaria; they do not propose to prove the theory by showing how they can acquire the disease, but to do so by preventing the mosquitoes from biting them. Under ordinary conditions this would be an impossibility, but it is expected that this will be accomplished by the doctors sealing themselves up at night—when the mosquito chiefly attacks—in a mosquito-proof house.

Dr. Louis Sambon is the son of an Italian father and an English mother, who, while a surgeon in King Humbert's army, made a special study of tropical diseases both in Italy and at Aldershot and Netley. Some time ago he was appointed lecturer to the recently established School of Tropical Medicine, of which Dr. Low—Dr. Sambon's companion in this experiment—is also a student. As shown by the photograph, the mosquito-proof house in which these doctors are to live is a long, low building with a high pitched roof especially constructed for the purpose of excluding the ubiquitous mosquito. Its special point is the employment of very fine wire gauze of the same texture as ordinary mosquito nets. This has been employed in the various casements of the building, while a quantity of the same material has been inserted between the roof and the tops of the supporting walls for purposes of ventilation.

This hut, which was made in London in sections, is now on its way to Rome, whence it will be conveyed along the Rome-Tivoli Railway to a spot about half an hour's run from the eternal city. It will then be erected under the personal superintendency of the two doctors, who will at once enter upon their self-imposed task. During the daytime they will conduct investigations in the fever-stricken swamp around their house and among the few unfortunate malaria-stricken peasants who perforce have to live in this desolate region. Just before sunset they will return to the hut, and, after making sure that no stray mosquito has entered it, will hermetically seal themselves up until sunrise. In the interests of science these two doctors, neither of whom has ever suffered from malaria, will thus spend a lonely and dangerous period of six months. It is, of course, possible that, in spite of all precautions taken, one or both of them may contract malaria, but this will not prove the mosquito theory to be fallacious, but only that they have been beaten. If, on the other hand, both return in October it will be the most ample proof that, under certain conditions, it is possible to insure immunity from malaria even in such a hotbed of fever as the Campagna.



EXTERIOR MOSQUITO-PROOF HOUSE

Dr. Annett is demonstrator to the Liverpool School of Tropical Diseases. He was a member of the original malaria expedition which was despatched to West Africa under Major Ross, and is now in that country pursuing further investigation into the habits of the mosquito. He recently sailed from Liverpool in order to arrive on the scene of his work in the height of the unhealthy season.

HEALTHFUL VOCAL CULTURE.

Voice Culture Largely Recommended to Strengthen the Lungs.

The English medical fraternity is largely recommending its patients to study singing, which is a most salutary exercise, both by virtue of its influence on the emotions, on the respiratory organs and on the development of the lungs. Nothing better shows the beneficial influence of singing in developing the chest and warding off lung disease than the freedom from pulmonary affection among professional singers. Moreover, their general health is exceptionally good, and this is probably in a large measure attributable not only to their necessarily careful plan of living, but also to the exercise of their calling. Some physicians maintain that for defective chest development and in chronic heart trouble singing is an unequalled exercise. The singer should be clad so as to allow absolute freedom of the chest movements; there should be no constriction of the neck or waist; the collar should be low and ample. One error into which singers, and especially amateurs, fall is to practice too much. The length of time to be given to the exercise depends much upon the character and condition of the voice. Specific rules cannot be given. Dr. H. Holbrook Curtis considers 40 minutes or an hour of actual voice practice daily quite sufficient to develop most voices. This time should be divided into periods of 10 or 15 minutes each. Regularity, and not long practice hours, which only fatigue the voice and wear it out, is the greatest aid to advancement.

LONELINESS.

I am not lonely when I roam the lands
Where other men are not, for at my feet
New flowers blossom, and their fragrance sweet
A solace is, that happiness commands;
Nor am I sad when at the fair demands
Of fate I walk the crowded foreign street,
The while with no familiar face to meet—
Companionable are the swinging hands
And restless feet. But when the curling smoke
Betrays, on desert's edge, the homes of men
And fanes of love, to me, alas, unknown;
When conscious eyes meet eyes and faith unbroke
Hallows the lips I see that press, ah, then,
God pity and forgive! I am alone.
—J. H. Adams in Scribner's Magazine.

HIS TEETH WERE HIS OWN.

And Yet the Facts Were Rather Out of the Ordinary.

Four or five traveling men around the hotel stove had been talking about teeth, when one of them got up and, saying "Good night," went off to bed.

"Did you notice what fine teeth that party had?" said a man from St. Louis. "He won't acknowledge they are false, or rather he insists that they are his own, and yet he doesn't quite tell the truth. My brother is a dentist in Kansas City, and this man lives there, and my brother does his work for him. Not that he tells me anything, but merely as an incident, for everybody who knows the man knows the circumstances.

"His teeth are his own, and at the same time they are false. You don't understand, so I'll explain. He always had unusually fine teeth, but about five years ago they showed signs of Riggs' disease, an affection which causes the gums to recede from the roots, leaving them exposed some distance down from the enameled surface. In aggravated cases or where the person is very sensitive the disease is very painful, and it is almost impossible to relieve it. To cure it is practically impossible, for the gums will not grow back again.

"This man was of the sensitive kind, and although physicians and dentists tried their skill on him they could do nothing, and he suffered so that at last he told my brother to extract every tooth in his mouth and put false ones in for him. As nothing else could be done, my brother followed instructions and pulled every tooth. They were all in perfect condition, and as my brother looked them over, regretting that his patient was forced to give them up, a novel idea occurred to him which he at once told to the other man, who agreed to it willingly. This was that instead of making artificial teeth, as was the usual custom, these same teeth be used exactly as if they were artificial.

"My brother, who is a first class dentist always, was more than ordinarily careful on this job, and when he had mounted the teeth in a plate measured to a hair's breadth and slipped them into his patient's mouth they fitted as if they had grown there, as it were, and now there isn't one man in a thousand can tell that they are false, if indeed false they are. At the same time there isn't any more Riggs' disease to trouble him."—Washington Star.

Cancer.

Sir James Sawyer, M. D., writes in The Lancet that he has studied cancer for a third of a century and has come to the conclusion that one of the predisposing factors is the excessive consumption of meat. He thinks "it is among the men of the masses in England and Wales that the progressive increase in cancer in the period under consideration is mainly to be found. Steam appears to have brought us cheap food, and cheap food has multiplied our cases of cancer by two."

Naming Country Roads.

The proposition to name the country roads meets with considerable favor in this section. A number of farmers have already expressed their willingness to name their farms and post the names in conspicuous places at the roadside near their homes. This plan would prove of much convenience to travelers as well as to postmen where rural delivery has been introduced.—Indianapolis News.

LIBERALS OBSTRUCT TRUTH

it tasted all right. (Laughter.) Besides, Prof. Ruttan analyzed it last Saturday, and he did not say it had deteriorated. The witness said the envelope contained, according to Dr. Devlin, 43 per cent. proteids in March, 1899.

Witness said that the food tested at Kingston had all disappeared. No one had a sample of the food tested. The powder in the envelope was not the food tested.

This Was Objected to.

Mr. Monk wanted the witness to say what he would have done if he had been shown Hatch's letter of warning to Dr. Borden. The witness was saying that he thought it likely he would have made extensive enquiries, when the Government committee-men objected, and the chairman, by his casting vote, ruled the question out of order.

Witness said that he relied wholly upon Dr. Devlin's assurances as to the fact that the food sent to South Africa was the same as that tested at Kingston.

The committee adjourned at 6.30.

Dr. Neilson Cross-Examined.

The committee was at work again at 8.30. Mr. Clarke asked Dr. Neilson if the Devlin food was admirably fitted for use on forced marches.

The witness replied that he would strike out the word "admirably."

The witness swore that the powder received in March, 1899, was the food tested at Kingston, but it had not occurred to him to send it to Mr. Macfarlane, when Dr. Devlin's food was tested in February, 1900.

Besides, Dr. Devlin had told the witness his sample was the same as the food tested at Kingston. By means of his five senses he satisfied himself that the two samples were the same.

Wouldn't say Crooked.

"Have you an idea there is something crooked in this transaction?" was asked.

"Not crooked, but I hoped there would be a greater percentage of proteids in the food," replied the witness.

He thought the ration would have been better if the percentage of proteids had been between 23 and 30.

"Have you any doubt that the food shipped to Halifax was the same as the food tested at Kingston?"

"I have no serious doubt; of course the rumors disturb one, but I have no doubt Dr. Devlin did as he said he would."

Samples Will Be Sent Back.

Before Dr. Neilson left he said that a cable had been sent to South Africa regarding the rations. The cable suggested that samples containing the food should be sent to Canada by Major Biggar in charge of stores in South Africa. Another cable asking Col. Drury to report on the rations as they have been used.

Prof. Ruttan's Analysis.

Dr. Borden presented to the committee Prof. Ruttan's analysis of three packages of food marked respectively E, N and I. E contained 18.015 per cent. proteids; N 15.375 per cent, and I 18.70 per cent.

The last is said to be the food sent to Ottawa by Dr. Devlin in March, 1899, and kept by Dr. Neilson till last Saturday in his desk. E represents sample tendered by Dr. Devlin. N represents sample shipped from Halifax.

The next witness examined was W. Ramsay, assistant manager of the Merchants' Bank of Montreal. He explained that Dr. Devlin was introduced to him by John T. Lyons. He advanced money to John T. Lyons on a promissory note signed by Devlin and endorsed by Lyons, in January last. As security for the $1,600 advanced, he received a partial assignment of Dr. Devlin's contract with the Government for emergency rations.

Committee Choked It Off.

Mr. Monk wished to prove by the witness that Devlin was an irresponsible contractor, but the committee would not admit the evidence.

Another witness was Foreman Sharpe of The Herald Job Office. Dr. Devlin ordered 7,000 labels on Jan. 5, and had them delivered to him within two days. The labels on the vitaline tins were identified as the labels printed by The Herald. On Jan. 3, Dr. Devlin had got a large label of a similar character. The labels cost $1.15 per 1,000, but were never paid for.

Customs Officer Cauchon brought up one of the Saratoga trunks, weighing 240 pounds, and the committee adjourned to inspect it. The trunk contained two bags of Dr. Devlin's food. The food tasted like ground biscuit.

The committee will meet to-day at 11 o'clock.

BULLER PRESSING ON.

Has Now Reached Paardekop Unopposed —Boers Continue to Surrender—The War is About Over.

London, June 22.—(4 a.m.)—Gen. Buller is pressing his advance. On Wednesday he followed the Johannesburg Railway to Paardekop, 31 miles from Standerton. About 3,000 Boers, singly or in small parties, have surrendered.

The War Office has issued a list of casualties in engagements around Heilbron, previously undisclosed.

Lord Roberts has adopted the Transvaal mining regulations for military administration.

The Transvaal Government, according to the Lorenzo Marquez correspondent of The Times, is reduced to severe financial straits and is endeavoring to meet the emergency with treasury bills, but the people refuse to accept them.

The first train for Pretoria left Cape Town yesterday.

Despatches from Lorenzo Marquez reiterate the statements that Secretary of State Reitz sailed for Europe recently on a Dutch warship.

Buller at Sand Spruit.

Volksrust, June 21.—Gen. Buller has arrived at Sand Spruit Station, and camped two miles further on the western side of the railway. Many Boers met Gen. Buller on the road and surrendered their arms and horses.

Wires Lord Minto That Mrs. Macdonell's Husband is Out of Danger.

Ottawa, June 22.—The following cable has been received by Lord Minto from Lord Roberts:

Pretoria Residence, June 20.—Please inform Mrs. Macdonell, Bonegal street, Peterboro, husband's bullet extracted. Doing well, practically out of danger.

(Signed) Roberts.

Mrs. Macdonell is the wife of Capt. Macdonell of the Canadian Mounted Rifles and formerly of the N.W.M.P., who was reported dangerously wounded, in a cable dated Cape Town, June 19.

Wounded Men Welcomed Home.

Moncton, N.B., June 22.—H. E. Durant, who went from this city, and H. E. Fradscham, who went from Fredericton, with the first Canadian contingent, and who were wounded at Paardeberg, reached Halifax Sunday night and came on here Monday. They met with a rousing reception as they were driven to dinner by the mayor.

Canada has been awarded first prize for its display of timber at the Paris Exposition.

WHEN DOCTORS DISAGREE

What Becomes of the Patient?

Doctors have their hobbies as well as other people and in the treatment of disease often carry them too far for the patient's good. For instance, in the treatment of indigestion or dyspepsia many doctors give bismuth and nothing else, others rely on pepsin to bring their patients through, still another doctor treats stomach troubles with the various vegetable essences and fruit salts.

Now, one or the other of these excellent remedies becomes a hobby with the doctor who has had most success with the particular one in question, because all of them are first class remedies for indigestion and dyspepsia, but not one of them alone is so good as a combination of all of them, such as is found in Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, which contain not only vegetable essences and fruit salts, but also the freshest, purest pepsin and bismuth, making altogether a remedy unsurpassed for every form of indigestion, sour stomach, nervous dyspepsia, belching of gas, distress after eating, sleeplessness, headaches, etc.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is not a secret patent nostrum, but you can see for yourself what it is, and knowing this, its success as a dyspepsia cure is not surprising. All druggists recommend and sell them at 50 cents.

Three Carloads of Machinery Seized.

Lindsay Post:—Acting Chief of Police Reeves yesterday morning received a message from the Orillia Chief of Police instructing him to seize three carloads of machinery for the Orillia Power Transmission line, and stating that they would reach town about 10 a.m. When the Coboconk train pulled in the cars were found to be attached. They were placed under seizure, Constable Wilson being detailed to guard them which which he did successfully. This morning they were transferred to the jurisdiction of Sheriff McLennan, who placed Bailiff Chas. Silver in charge. Mr. Patriarche, contractor for the Orillia power scheme, is said to be in difficulties, and the town has dismissed him. The machinery was shipped by the Jenkes Co., of Sherbrooke, Que., and represents $6,000. Further developments may be interesting.

A Cure for Rheumatism

Mr. S. Mann, Stittsville, Carleton Co., Ont., writes:—"I was afflicted with rheumatism, had severe pains in the knees, hip joints and across the back. Rheumatism remedies did not help me and I began using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, which have since completely cured me. There is not the least trace of rheumatism left and I am no longer subject to billiousness, headache and stomach sickness which formerly attacked me frequently." One pill a dose, 25 cents a box.

GOUGH BROTHERS' GREAT MASTER STROKE

Startling Story of the Most Daring Deal in Fine Clothing Ever Consummated by This Wide-awake Firm.

Never before has the boldness of our buying or the magnitude of our selling impressed business circles with such electrifying effects. Always on the alert, our mercantile moves are marked and momentous events to clothing dealers. Our great capacity and capability for handling gigantic stocks gives us a great command in the markets. But the climax never was so nearly reached as now.

Purchase of Overwhelming 4,500 FINE SUITS All High Grade Garments

being the whole of the manufactured stock on hand of the McKENNA-THOMPSON CO'Y of Montreal, who have earned a first-class Canadian reputation for Up-to-Date Clothing.

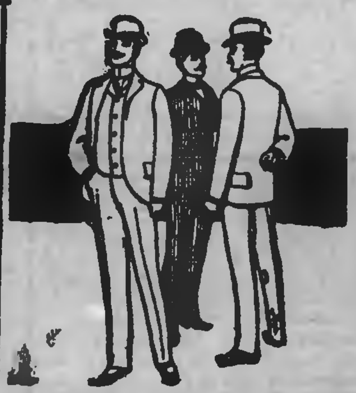
This is the most fortunate scoope which has ever come our way during our business history—an unexpected streak of good luck to us, and another boon to the men of Peterborough in need of Fine Summer Clothing. MOST ASTONISHING OF ALL, IS THE FACT THAT—

PRICES ARE ACTUALLY LESS THAN THE COST OF MAKING

This is no guess work—It is positively certain—the following startling figures being a fair and square sample.

You won't have to pay for little more than cloth and linings. Prices go to pieces, but quality remains firm. Values that cannot be duplicated or even approached. The greatest Summer Suit Sale on record is now on. We mean business. Money never bought such values before! Every Suit positively worth double the Price, in many cases less than the cost of the bare cloth.

Men's Good Blue Serge Suits, Serviceable, Seasonable, Stylish, STARTING AT	$2.50
Men's Fine Canadian Tweed Suits, very Special, New Patterns, for Business, etc. STARTING AT	$1.90
Men's Worsted Suits, Sack or Morning Coats, Beautifully Trimmed and Finished STARTING AT	$4.50



To add fuel to the fire of this Great Sale, we will offer at proportionately sensational prices the whole of our enormous Stock of Youths', Boys' and Children's Suits. Also, a regular Record-Breaking Reduction Sale of Boots and Shoes, Hats, Caps and Furnishings, while this greatest event of the season is on. Every Department greets you with Right Goods at Tumbling Prices.

A Mania for Operations

Most physicians are anxious to try the surgeon's knife and recommend an operation for piles. A less cruel, less expensive and less risky method is the use of Dr. Chase's Ointment, a preparation that has never yet been known to fail to cure piles no matter of what form or of however long standing. Don't think of risking an operation when you can be cured in your own home by the use of Dr. Chase's Ointment. The best physicians use it in their practice.

Coomassie Is Completely Invested.

Accra, June 21.—Sir Frederick Hodgson, Governor of Gold Coast Colony, according to reports from Coomassie, was wounded in the shoulder during a recent sortie from the fort. It is also rumored that 8 officers were killed. The investment is so complete that no one is able to leave.

Without Sleep

The vitality of the body is soon exhausted. Sleeplessness is one of the symptoms of starved nerves. It is a warning of the approach of nervous prostration or paralysis. Don't be tempted to use narcotics or opiates. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food will gradually build up and reconstruct the wasted nerve cells and positively cure all nervous diseases. It is nature's greatest restorative, recommended by your druggist.

the other thoughts of struggles, of poverty, of fights against disease, of death itself, but on this day all these emotions are quieted and we unite in love alone.

The flowers open themselves and give out their fragrance freely and in that illustration we see the fact that no stinted or closed up soul will ever give joy or comfort or sympathy to the souls about him. Being rid of all selfishness and sordidness we should seek to have our lives so open that we shall give forth the fragrance that shall enrich the lives of others and let it be a libation and offering to God. Day after day we are receiving His blessings, His benefits, His rich benedictions. We sought the brightest flowers to-day to decorate the graves. O, that every day we might bring our very best and give it to God.

There are those among the dead who might have been made brighter and better and nobler. It needs the sunshine of each one's life to make the lives around better and richer.

The flowers manifest the glory and the power of their Creator. O, what a glorious world. Only man is vile. This cemetery is but one little acre, God's acre, and yet how beautiful it is, and then we should think of the whole earth all made beautiful by Him. Man's nature can be developed into a charitable, a brotherly, a sympathetic nature and the fraternal organizations have done much to further this development. It is ours to-day to decorate the lives and homes of those living with us. If to-day's function is benevolent and sympathetic then the decoration of the lives of those about us is truly divine.

REV. DR. TORRANCE.

Rev. Dr. Torrance's address was short. He referred to the great battle of Gettsburg, after which the field was visited and the graves of the dead soldiers decorated. All earthly acts are the symbols of things not see. The decoration of the graves is a symbolical act. It is symbolical of faith, of hope and of love. It shows that we have faith that our dead still exist. It is a symbol of hope that we shall meet our loved ones once more. We shall see them once more, not with thin, worn, emaciated bodies as when they ceased to exist, but with resurrected bodies, like to the Son of God. It is also and especially symbolical of the love we bear our departed friends.

The ceremony was closed with "The Sweet Bye and Bye," and benediction by Rev. Mr. Armitage.

You never read of such cures elsewhere as those accomplished by Hood's Sarsaparilla, did you? It is America's Greatest Medicine.

B.C. CABINET FILLED.

Mr. McInnes Refuses to Sign Writs for Ministers' Bye-Election.

Victoria, B. C., June 22.—Mr. McInnes is still in correspondence with Ottawa, he says, relative to his dismissal and until more is heard he cannot make a statement to the press.

He created no small sensation here yesterday by refusing to sign the writs for the bye-elections, which must be held before the new ministers can take their seats. In view of this fact the meeting of the House may be delayed for their bye-elections cannot be held in time for the opening of the House as scheduled, on July 5.

The Cabinet was completed yesterday by the addition of Messrs. Wells, McBride and Prentice.

Vancouver, June 22.—The Martin party now numbers nine, by the election of Mr. Stables in Cassiar.

McInnes is Now Ex-Lieut.-Governor.

Ottawa, June 22.—The British Columbia political situation has been relieved. McInnes is now ex-Lieutenant-Governor. His resignation is now on the way to or has reached Lord Minto. Sir Henri Joly de Lotbiniere is the new Lieutenant-Governor. Michael Bernier, M.P. for St Hyacinthe, Que., has been offered and has accepted Sir Henri's vacated portfolio. The necessary bye-elections will be held at once. This has been gleaned from Government sources.

Sir Henry Moves Out.

Sir Henri Joly cleaned out his desk in the House of Commons yesterday morning, and shook hands all round with the employes in his department. He will be missed by many, for on all sides he is appreciated as a kindly man.

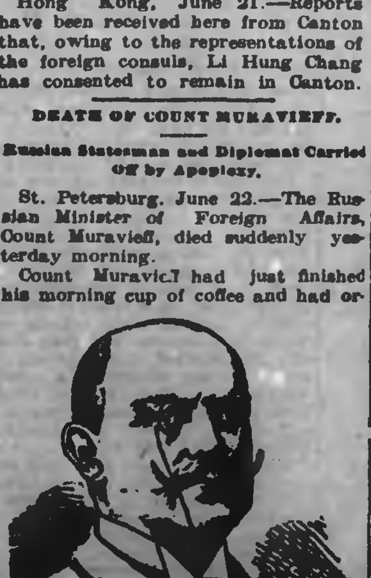
DEATH OF COUNT MURAVIEFF.

Russian Statesman and Diplomat Carried Off by Apoplexy.

St. Petersburg, June 22.—The Russian Minister of Foreign Affairs, Count Muravieff, died suddenly yesterday morning.

Count Muravieff had just finished his morning cup of coffee and had ordered his lunch, when he fell in an apoplectic fit and expired.



LATE COUNT MURAVIEFF.

Count Muravieff was about 55 years of age. He succeeded Prince Lobanoff-Rostovsky, who also died very suddenly at Kieff on Aug. 30, 1896, while travelling with the Czar.

Count Muravieff belonged to a family distinguished in Russian history. He entered the diplomatic service at the age of 19, and later on filled important posts, being rapidly advanced until in 1897 he was made Minister of Foreign Affairs in the Czar's Government. Within the past two years Count Muravieff conducted negotiations at Paris and other capitals, which were supposed to have as important bearing on the whole Continent of Europe, and specially with regard to the relations of Britain and the Franco-Russian Alliance.

NEWS FROM CHINA STILL ALARMING

Report of a Disaster to an American Force at Tien Tsin--A Missionary Sends a Despatch Regarding State of Affairs.

GERMAN MINISTER NOT DEAD

Berlin, June 23.—The Chinese Minister here, Lu Hai Honan, to-day informed the foreign office that the German Minister at Pekin, Baron Von Ketteler, who was reported to have been killed by Boxers, is safe and well.

BAD REPORT FROM TIEN TSIN

New York, N.Y., June 23.—The Journal and Advertiser to-day prints a copyrighted despatch from Rev. Frederick Brown, presiding elder of the Tien Tsin district of the Methodist Episcopal church. The despatch is dated at Che Foo, June 22, and is as follows; "I have just got away from Tien Tsin on a German gun boat. The city has been bombarded for several days by the Chinese. All the foreign part of Tien Tsin has been destroyed. Lieut. Wright, of our navy, and 150 others of the white resident marines and sailors sent up to our assistance are killed or wounded. The American Consulate building has been destroyed. Ammunition is almost gone; the garrison are suffering terribly and need instant help."

ANOTHER REPORT FROM TIEN TSIN

Shanghai, June 24—Prince Tuan has taken charge as general in Chief, after dismissing Yong La, a nephew of the Empress, the former commander-in-chief. Prince Tuan gave notice that he would march to Tien Tsin and sweep out the handful of foreigners there. At daylight on the morning of June 21, he attacked the settlements at Tien Tsin with artillery and the best foreign drilled troops. The Chinese army had about 45 Krupps, They managed to burn the United States Consulate. The warehouses and the Standard Oil Company's premises are believed to have escaped. Though the situation is grave the Chinese have not occupied Tien Tsin. The latest news from Pekin emanating from authentic sources is to the effect that there is no change in the situation. This is understood to mean that the legations still hold out. The Chinese have surrounded them but do not dare to make another attack. Apparently they hope to starve out those who have taken refuge there.

FEARS FOR THE RELIEF COLUMN

London, June 23—Special despatches from Shanghai, dated yesterday at 7:20 in the evening, stated that Tien Tsin has been incessantly bombarded for the last three days. The entire British and French settlements have been destroyed. Heavy casualties are reported. No word has been received from Admiral Seymour, and it is reported that the relief column fared badly.

COULD NOT FORCE CHINESE LINES

Washington, June 23.—Acting Secretary of the Navy Hackett this morning received a despatch from Admiral Kempff, dated Che Foo, June 23, to the effect that our marines under Major Waller, together with 400 Russians, have had engagement with the Chinese army near Tien Tsin. They could not break through the lines. The force numbering 2,000, the Admiral reports, is now ready to make another attempt. The main importance of this despatch is Admiral Kempff's disclosure that it is the Chinese army and not the Boxer's who are fighting the foreign troops. The state department has received a letter from the Chinese Minister saying the Viceroy of Nanking cables him that the legations at Pekin are safe.

ARMIES ABOUT TO JOIN HANDS

Transvaal and Orange River Colony Are Now Severed.

The British Net, Now Widely Around Steyn With 6,000 or 8,000 Men Will Contract — Boers Are Getting More Friendly and Thousands of Rifles Have Been Handed In—Buller Eulogizes Strathcona's Horse.

London, June 23.—(3.45 a.m.) — Gen. Steyn's force in the Orange River Colony are for the time drawing most of the attention of Lord Roberts, rather to the neglect of Commandant-General Louis Botha and President Kruger. The severance between the Transvaal and the Orange River Colony was completed yesterday, as Lord Roberts said it would be, by the arrival of Gen. Buller's advance under Lord Dundonald at Standerton.

The wide net around the 6.000 or 8,000 men under Steyn will now contract. Adroit manoeuvring and brisk fighting are likely to take place, as, until all resistance south of the Vaal is at an end, the British line of communications will not be safe.

President Kruger's sons, who surrendered to Baden-Powell, are back on their farms, working peacefully. Gen. Baden-Powell rode with only 800 men from Mafeking, and he made the last section of the ride to Pretoria with only 85. Lord Roberts met him in the outskirts of the town and escorted him to the presidency.

Gen. De Wet's farm house have been burned by the British.

Gen. Buller has issued a special order eulogizing the services of Strath-

NO WORD YET FROM PEKIN.

4,000 Foreign Troops in the Tien Tsin Fighting.

They Were in the Defensive, But Reinforcements Were Hourly Expected at Last Accounts—Britain Orders a Lot of Krupp Guns and Russia Orders the Mobilization of All Her Siberian Regiments—The Situation Serious.

London, June 23.—(8 a. m.)—The silence of Pekin continues unbroken. Four thousand men of the allied forces were having sharp defensive fighting at Tien Tsin Tuesday and Wednesday, with a prospect of being reinforced Thursday. This is the situation in China as set forth in the British Government despatches.

Sir Claude to Be Recalled.

The Daily Express says: "We understand that Mr. A. Tower, secretary of the British Embassy in Washington, is to succeed Sir Claude Macdonald, and that the reason of Sir Claude's recall is the breakdown of his health."

Li Hung Chang's Appeal.

A special despatch from Vienna says: "Li Hung Chang has wired the various Chinese legations in Europe, directing them to inform the Governments to which they are accredited that he is called to Pekin by the Empress-Dowager, to act as intermediary between China and the powers, and negotiate a settlement of the points at issue, and begs the powers to facilitate his mission by ceasing to send troops to China."

The Legations Are Safe.

Sheng, Director-General of Telegraphs, wires from Shanghai to the Chinese legation in Europe that the foreign legations at Pekin are safe.

It is expected the Government will send at once 11,000 men to China and possibly, according to some of the morning papers, 10,000 of the regulars now with Lord Roberts.

BOMBARDMENT CONTINUES.

Tien Tsin is Being Destroyed—Foreign Concessions Burned.

Che Foo, June 22.—It is officially reported that the bombardment of Tien Tsin with large guns continues incessantly. The foreign concessions have nearly all been burned, and the American Consulate has been razed to the ground. The Russians are occupying the railroad station, but are hard pressed. Reinforcements are urgently needed. The casualties are heavy. The railroad is open from Tong Tau to Ching Liang Chung, half way to Tien Tsin.

Foreign Residents Suffered Greatly.

London, June 23. — A special from Shanghai, dated yesterday, says: "Intelligence has been brought by the United States gunboat Nashville to Che Foo that the foreign quarter at Tien Tsin was bombarded Monday and Tuesday by Generals Nieh, Tung Fuh Siang, Gang Sa and Yuan Shu Kai. The result of the fighting is not known. The foreign residents are confined to a restricted district, and, as food and water are scarce, they have suffered greatly. The Tong Shang mines at Pei Tai Ho were abandoned by the soldiers, and rioters flooded the mines and ruined the machinery."

Massacre at Tien Tsin.

London, June 23.—A special from Shanghai says that it is reported from Japanese sources that 1,500 foreigners have been massacred at Tien Tsin.

The British Cabinet Met.

London, June 23.—Lord Salisbury presided yesterday morning at a meeting of the Cabinet, specially summoned to consider the Far Eastern crisis. Prior to the meeting the French Ambassador, M. Paul Cambon, and the Chinese Minister, Sir Chih Lo Fang Luh, paid a lengthy visit to the officials at the Foreign Office, and it is expected that important developments will be the outcome of the Cabinet conference, as Lord Salisbury proceeded to Windsor after the meeting.

Li Hung Chang's Orders.

Hong Kong, June 23.—Li Hung Chang, who was interviewed in Canton yesterday said he would leave for Pekin on June 27, in obedience to an order of the Empress, to suppress the Boxers and to make peace with the powers. His remedy for the situation is to decapitate the leaders of the Boxers, and to send their ignorant followers home and to make peace with the powers.

Transports for Indian Troops.

Calcutta, June 23.—Fourteen transports will convey troops from India to China. All except six are already in port. The Nerbudda and Palamcotta will probably sail Sunday with the 7th Bengal infantry.

Russia Mobilizing All Troops.

London, June 23.—The St. Petersburg correspondent of The Daily Mail, telegraphing Thursday, says: "The Russian Minister of War, General Kouropatkin, yesterday ordered

LIFE..

A question of great interest for intending insurers is which Canadian Life Company is in highest favor with the insuring Canadian public? The following table is a good indicator:

Name of Company.	Commenced Business.	Canadian Business Written in 1899
North American	1881	$4,834,505
Sun Life	1871	3,996,865
Ontario Mutual	1870	3,965,509
Confederation	1871	3,839,469
Canada Life	1847	3,800,917

The above are the five leading Canadian Companies and although the North American is much the youngest in years, she is outstripping all her rivals in the Canadian field.

Rev. Mr. Clark Is Safe.

Boston, Mass., June 23.—Some anxiety has been expressed by the friends for the safety of Rev. Francis E. Clark, President of the United Society of Christian Endeavor, who, with Mrs. Clark and their son, were in Tien Tsin and Pekin during the massacres by the Boxers. A message just received here from Dr. Clark stated that the family had arrived safely at Fusan, Corea, where they were to take the steamer for Vladivostock.

What You Pay For Medicine

Is no Part of its Curative Value—Prescription Versus Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are just as much a doctor's prescription as any formula your family physician can give you. The difference is that Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills were perfected after the formula had proved itself of inestimable value in scores of hundreds of cases.

Dr. Chase won almost as much popularity from his ability to cure kidney disease, liver complaint, and backache, with this formula, as he did from the publication of his great recipe book.

The idea of one treatment reaching the kidneys and liver at the same time was original with Dr. Chase. It accounts for the success of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills in curing the most complicated ailments of the filtering organs, and every form of backache.

As a family medicine Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are unapproached. They keep the kidneys, liver, and bowels healthy, active, and regular, and so prevent and cure nine-tenths of the ills to which humanity is subject. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

SATURDAY, JUNE 23, 1900.

A BAD CASE

The evidence so far in the emergency rations investigations shows that the stuff for which the Government paid $2 a pound was not the concentrated food or Hatch's protose that had been tested at Kingston. This latter food had been tested both scientifically and by practical experiment, and was shown to contain sixty per cent. of proteids and to be a condensed nutriment. Mr. Monk charged that Dr. Borden had sent the soldiers to South Africa with a greatly inferior article, which only contained 17 instead of 60 per cent. of nutriment. This Dr. Borden denied. Here is the official report of his words:—

The hon. gentleman (Mr. Monk) said there was a certain food which he praised. I think the hon. gentleman might almost—it would not be parliamentary to say such a thing—but if I were reckless as he is or disposed to take advantage of my position in parliament as he has been, it might almost be insinuated that the hon. gentleman stands here as a paid advocate—

Some hon. member—Oh, shame.

Dr. Borden—Yes, if the food which he says was thoroughly tested at Kingston, and which he has no doubt about, no matter what the price might have been, if that food had been sent to Africa everything would have been nice, and the hon. gentleman would have patted the militia department on the back. Now, sir, I want to point out to the hon. gentleman that this is the food which the department of militia did send to South Africa, and I will prove it by the papers which I have before me.

Some hon. member—Hear, hear.

Dr. Borden—So far as I know and believe, the food which was bought and was sent to South Africa is the food which was examined and tested for thirty days.

In the investigation it has been shown that Mr. Monk's charge was well founded, for the food the soldiers took with them and for which Dr. Borden paid $2 a pound contained less than 17 per cent. of nutriment.

The serious nature of such negligence is not the money that was made by the fraud but is the valuable lives that were risked or jeopardized by the Government allowing soldiers to go into the field with such a worthless ration to rely on in case of emergency. Now, Dr. Borden would know nothing of it, but in the House, as shown by his words quoted above, he knew all about and Mr. Monk was only fit to be insulted.

No wonder there is talk of Dr. Borden's retirement.

WHERE WOULD IT BEGIN.

There is some talk now that Sir Wilfrid will re-construct his Government before an election. No one will be surprised at the talk of re-construction, for never did any Government require a cleaning out and a building up more than the one at Ottawa at present. But how will Sir Wilfrid re-construct?

Mr. Tarte should go. His record in general and his speeches and conduct as Canadian representative in Paris in particular have been sufficient to warrant Canadians in demanding his retirement. He is not a statesman that Canadians of either party can delight to honor.

Mr. Sifton should go. His nepotism and his administration of the Yukon and his failure to face the charges made against him and his department have destroyed confidence in him, and marked him as a class of politician that Canada should not be compelled to maintain in Cabinet position.

Sir Richard Cartwright should go. A man who fought for free trade and unrestricted reciprocity and condemned in such fierce invectives protection and all its brood and promised to wipe it all out, should not be kept in the Cabinet when his leader states publicly in his presence that all these years he was at heart and in belief a protectionist, and was of opinion that Canada's best interest could not be served by what he was advocating. Such a man, no matter what his ability is, should not continue in public life.

Mr. Mulock should go. He has not had the ability to do much else than blunder in all the changes he sought to inaugurate, and he has shown himself to be a cheeseparer when dealing with the small salaried letter carriers under his control, while allowing larger salaries to go to his friends [illegible]. He is a small man in a large position.

Then Mr. Blair should go, for his railway administration has given the Standard Oil monopoly their long sought chance to get control of Canada, and Canadians are paying dearly in high priced oils. Then Mr. Blair was one who supported the Drummond County railway deal and the Yukon railway steal.

And so one could run through the list, and when this is done it is hard to see what re-construction there can be unless on a very sweeping scale. It is probable that Tarte and Sifton and the rest are too well seated to be pushed out by colleagues, and the people will have to do the re-constructing by turning out the whole lot.

The report now comes from Ottawa that Sir Wilfrid will re-construct the Cabinet before appealing to the people in the fall. What! Re-construct "the strongest Government Canada has ever seen?" The Globe would not hear of such an admission of weakness.

Sir John Gordon Sprigg, who has succeeded in forming a Ministry in Cape Colony, has had a good deal of experience of the duties resting upon him, the present being the fourth occasion in which he has held the Premiership, says the Montreal Gazette. He never, however, had a more delicate task before him than he is now confronted with. Though Mr. Schreiner, who has just stepped out of office, seems to have been fairly well intentioned, it was not in his power, even with the good will the Africander Bond had towards him, to secure from Cape Colony anything like the loyal help that Natal has given to the Empire during the war. When the Cape Dutch were not hostile they were neutral, and a considerable part of the British army has been continually employed in watching the railway communications through British territory that the neutrals were suspected of a desire to cut. Lord Roberts, when he started for the front, had to leave Cape Town secretly, for fear of the registered voters, akin to those who at Colesberg shot Kipling's hospital patient through the spine, doing him or his plans a mischief. Recent meetings of the Afrikander Bond have shown that the active sympathy of the Dutch people is still with the dying republics, and were there an opportunity more than sympathy might go forth to them. The majority of the Cape Colonists are Dutch, and a Government to continue long in power must have the aid of at least a portion of them. To help him to secure this the Premier will have the aid in his Cabinet, it seems, of only one Dutch Afrikander, Sir Petter Faure, who held portfolios in the two Rhodes Ministries, and who seems to be in some way a South African Cartier. He will have ample opportunity to show his good will. While recent events have taught the Dutch that there is no hope of fighting Great Britain, such knowledge is not as firm a basis as the loyalty of the non-British people would be. If the Sprigg Government can do something to revive this its members will be serving the late republic and the Empire quite as much as they will their particular colony.

DEMON OF DYSPEPSIA

Banished For Ever by Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Snow cannot withstand the heat of the mid-summer sun. There's no ice on the creeks in August.

No more can Indigestion and Dyspepsia exist when Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets are used. The sun melts the snow; Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets digest the food. That's all that is needed to banish Indigestion and Dyspepsia.

But Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets do more. While they are digesting the food, they rest the stomach; tone it up, restore all its old strength, and give it a new supply.

You don't have to take Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets for ever. A short course of treatment, two or three weeks, is enough for any case. Then you can quit using them and enjoy the benefits they have given you.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets are specially suited to every form of Dyspepsia. They will positively cure any form of the disease.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets prevent the formation of poisonous gases in the stomach by digesting the food at once. There is no time for it to ferment and create gas.

If the bowels need treatment Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets won't give it. But, in each box is a package of smaller tablets that will. Thus there is a double treatment in every box.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets, each box containing the double treatment, can be procured from all druggists.

THE HOUSE OF COMMONS.

Nomination in St. Hyacinthe on July 4 and Elections on July 11—McInnes' Removal.

Ottawa, June 23.—When the House opened yesterday afternoon Sir Wilfrid moved that on Monday next and for the rest of the session the House meet at 11 a.m. daily; that the intermissions be from 1 to 3 and from 6 to 8.

In reply to a question, Mr. Fielding said he would bring down the supplementary estimates on Monday. Early next week an announcement would be made concerning railway subsidies.

Sir Wilfrid said the only important measure to come was the Consolidation Act. He hoped to bring the session to a close the week following next week.

The motion was carried.

Speaker Bain announced that he had issued the writs for an election in St. Hyacinthe, Que., because Mr. E. Bernier had been sworn in as Minister of Inland Revenue. Nomination is fixed for July 4 and election July 11.

McInnes' Removed.

Sir Wilfrid informed the House that the Governor-General had removed Lieutenant-Governor McInnes from office.

Col. Prior—Hear, hear.

Sir Henri Joly, who had been made Mr. McInnes' successor, was sworn in by Mr. Justice Taschereau to-day at 12.30 p.m.

The House went into Committee of Ways and Means on Mr. Fielding's resolutions regarding the preferential tariff.

A bill based on them was read a first and second time.

Several clauses in the Elections Act were passed during the night, and then the House went into supply on the Penitentiary estimate, making much progress, and adjourned at 1.05 a. m.

Archie Campbell's Bill Is Dead.

Ottawa, June 23.—The Canada National Railway & Transport Company's bill came up in the Senate yesterday afternoon. It was thrown out by the Senate Railway Committee in the morning.

Senator Kerr moved that the bill be referred back to the committee.

By a vote of 58 to 24 the report of the committee was accepted, and the bill is dead.

Premier Dunsmuir Notified.

Victoria, B.C., June 23.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier yesterday advised Premier Dunsmuir that Sir Henri Joly de Lotbiniere had been appointed Lieutenant-Governor of British Columbia, and would leave for here on Monday!

Chief Justice McColl had been appointed Administrator until the new Governor's arrival. The House will be called on July 19, instead of 6th.

TELEGRAPHIC BREVITIES.

Fred Hadskiss, aged 17, son of Tax Collector Hadskiss, of Winnipeg, was drowned Thursday night.

The House of Lords on Friday passed the colonial marriages bill introduced by Lord Strathcona and Mount Royal.

The saw and shingle mills and a quantity of logs of J. Hickling, near Maxwell, Ont., were destroyed by fire on Thursday.

Friday C.P.R. stock sold down to 86, but the fears were overdrawn, as too much importance had been given to Manitoba's crop and too little to Ontario's.

A special from Texarkana tells of the murder of Col. Gardiner, a prominent Red River planter. A negro, said to be Moses Williams, held him up and robbed him.

Arthur Ledyard, making a balloon ascension at Presque Isle, at a picnic Thursday evening, was dropped into the lake and drowned by the breaking of his parachute rope.

Henry Dudley, a wealthy and highly educated Englishman, about 20 years old, leaped overboard early Friday morning from the steamship Saale at New York, and was drowned.

The cases against three local confectioners who sold "brandied chocolates" in London, were withdrawn, the Police Magistrate remarking that the sale of brandied chocolates was a clear violation of the law and would be [illegible].

The number of deaths reported in Ontario for May was 2,162, compared with 1,767 for May last year. The increase was in contagious cases, which numbered 318 of the whole, or 88 more than in May, 1899. The death rate per thousand was 11.1 per cent., compared with 10 per cent. a year ago.

William Scott, formerly of Bedford Mills, on the Rideau Canal, met death at Jayville, N. Y., by being thrown out of a rig. He was intoxicated. John Youngs, his companion, has disappeared, and suspicions are that the men quarrelled and Youngs threw Scott out of the rig. A widow and seven children at Bedford Mills are left to mourn.

CAPT. OLIVER CUT IN TWO.

Coal Car Ran Over a Canadian at Charlotte and Severed His Body.

Rochester, June 23.—Captain W.H. Oliver of the coal barge F. H. Burton, a Canadian boat, loading coal at the A. G. Yates Coal Company's docks at Charlotte, for Kingston, was struck and instantly killed by an empty coal car last evening. Captain Oliver was standing on the chutes watching the coal shoot into the vessel. One of the empty cars was let loose to go down the grades and before the captain had time to get out of the way it struck him and passed over his body, cutting it in halves at the waist. An inquest will be held.

Two More Bodies Found.

Cedar Hall, Que., June 23. — The bodies of two more victims of Wednesday's drowning catastrophe were found yesterday, those of Joseph St. Pierre and Joseph Fournier. Mrs. Nolin's body was recovered Thursday. This leaves two yet to be found, young Nolin and Alfred Des Chamlain.

THE NEW B.C. CABINET.

Three Are Said to Be Conservatives and Three Liberals—Turner Is to Retire After Session.

Ottawa, June 23.—A private despatch received here yesterday from Victoria, B.C., says that Hon. James Dunsmuir has completed his Cabinet. It will be composed of three Conservatives and three Liberals. Three will be from the mainland and three from the Island. The Cabinet is as follows:

James Dunsmuir, Premier and President of the Council.

J. H. Turner, Minister of Finance.

D. W. Eberts, Q.C., Attorney-General.

W. C. Wells, Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works.

J. H. Prentice, Provincial Secretary and Minister of Education.

Richard McBride, Minister of Mines.

Mr. Dunsmuir claims to be a Liberal in Dominion politics, and Messrs. Wells and Prentice are well-known Liberals. Messrs. Turner, Eberts and McBride are Conservatives. It is said that after the first session Mr. Turner will retire.

The Relief of Coomassie.

Prahsu, June 23.—There is no fresh news to hand from Coomassie, but the local authorities believe that the relief of the town may now be expected any day. The casualties of the relieving forces aggregate 300 already.

German Meat Bill Passes.

Berlin, June 23.—The meat inspection bill passed the Bundesrath yesterday.

The shock and strain of being fired from a cannon daily through a circus season, would seem to be extraordinary. But it is not nearly so wearing upon the average woman's nervous system, as the strain and drain of the every day life of the married woman. It is not the great shock of the storm which wears the stone but the "continual dropping." So in woman's life it is not the great demands upon her energy which wear her out, but the interminable leakage of her strength through the diseases that affect the delicate womanly organs.

To stop this ceaseless leakage of strength is as much the desire as the duty of women. It can be done once and for all by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. This medicine is not a cure-all but it is specially designed for a specific purpose, the cure of the chronic diseases peculiar to women. It dries up the drains, allays inflammations, heals the ulcerations and cures the displacements which are at the bottom of women's miseries.

There is neither opium, cocaine or other narcotic contained in "Favorite Prescription."

"For five years my wife was in an almost helpless condition, suffering from female weakness," writes [illegible] [illegible] She is now sound and well and doing her housework."

A gift. Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser 1008 pages, is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of customs and postage only. Send 21 one-cent stamps for the paper bound volume, or 30 stamps for cloth binding. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

In the Jaws of a Lion

The gallant Major Swaine tells of being knocked senseless by a lion that lacerated his arm. His thrilling escape from the jaws of death is only equalled by Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, which has saved thousands from desperate Throat and Lung troubles. "All doctors said my wife would soon die of Consumption," writes L. C. Overstreet, of Elgin, Tenn., "but your wonderful medicine completely cured her, and saved her life." Satisfaction is guaranteed by J. Lynch who gives trial bottles free. Large bottles 50c and $1.00.

LIBERALS ARE SORE AFRAID.

Inquiry Majority Vote Down Every Motion for Facts.

Prof. Ruttan Says Devlin's Vitaline Cannot Properly be Regarded as an Emergency Ration—Mr. Clarke's Seven Motions to Have Hatch's Protoss Remnants in Possession of Militia Department Analyzed Voted Down.

Ottawa, June 23.—The uselessness of trying to establish charges of fraud and negligence before a partisan committee of the House is being evinced with increasing force daily. Messrs. Russell, Britton, Belcourt and Campbell, the Liberal majority members of the Rations Committee, never lose an opportunity to prevent anything coming out in evidence that may show that Mr. Monk's charges are truthful.

Mr. Clarke Opens.

When order was called in the Emergency Rations Committee yesterday morning at 10.45, Mr. Clarke moved that the fragments of food produced by Mr. Hatch during his evidence should be analyzed.

The motion was voted down, Chairman Belcourt's vote doing the deed.

Dr. Neilson Up Again.

Dr. Neilson desired to add a few remarks to his evidence given Thursday with regard to the requirements of an emergency food. He declared that he believed that an emergency ration should not contain more than 20 to 25 per cent. of proteids. The heat and energy producing elements of the food should make up the balance of the hundred per cent. Possibly the rations purchased by the department might be a little better if they contained a little greater percentage of proteids, but he still believed that these rations were good and serviceable rations. He did not believe that it was necessary for the tins to be sterilized or hermetically sealed.

Cross examination elicited the fact that the doctor's knowledge of emergency rations and of the constituent elements of such foods was very meagre. He knew what the emergency rations used by the German army were made of, but that was about as far as his knowledge went.

He did not claim to give evidence as an expert on army emergency rations, although he talked learnedly of the different elements of various foods.

Prof. Ruttan's Evidence.

Prof. Ruttan, professor of practical chemistry at McGill University was the next witness. He swore he had made an analysis of Hatch's protos for Mr. Hatch, on Jan. 3, 1898. This analysis was the one in which it was said the food contained 83 per cent. proteids. The witness said he did not know his analysis had been used as an advertisement.

The witness said that a food such as Wr. Devlin's, containing only 16 per cent. proteids, would not be a concentrated food. It would be only a diet. A concentrated food would have to contain at least 60 per cent. proteide. Soldiers could live a month on a 16 per cent. food, but each man would need 1¾ pounds of it, because an average amount of proteids for a man to live on was 4½ ounces. For these reasons, the witness said, that Dr. Devlin's ration was an insufficient ration. A man doing excessive labor required 6½ ounces of proteids a day. This put in terms of Dr. Devlin's food would mean he would have to use daily 10 tin cases, if he were on forced marches, according to Dr. Devlin, however, one can was a day's rations.

Again the Majority Steps In.

The witness said that he had two months ago, made two analysis of proteid food for Dr. Devlin. This was shortly after the article censuring the Government appeared in The Military Gazette.

Mr. Monk wanted to know the result of these analysis, in order to show that one of the analysis was really of Mr. Hatch's food. Chairman ruled against and the majority voted down the question.

"Did Mr. Devlin ask you to analyze Hatch's protos?" asked Mr. Monk.

The witness replied that he had, but the witness had declined to do so. Dr. Devlin wanted him to analyze Hatch's protos, and inform him "regarding its contents."

A number of questions were asked the witness regarding the Kingston test, and he declared soldiers could not live on 16 per cent. proteids for a month without feeling [illegible]. Dr. Devlin's food was as nutritious as ordinary flour; but not nearly as nutritious as dried beef.

"Devlin's food is a good food, just as oatmeal flour is a good food." The rations given the soldiers at Kingston were "excessively [illegible], upon which a man could live, but not thrive." When told that milk, beef tea and tea had been given with this food, he (witness) said that it would then be a good diet, but it was not a concentrated food. He considered the test at Kingston far from satisfactory, for it was a test more of beef tea, milk and tea, than of the emergency ration.

Devlin's food was not an ordinary full diet, and was not fit to be called an emergency food, fit for soldiers on forced marches.

Mr. Monk moved that a cable be sent to the South African contingents, telling them that the emergency supplied by the Government was not a concentrated food. He thought this was advisable, so that the soldiers would not depend upon their extra ration, for, if they did, they would faint and reap out.

A motion to adjourn was moved in amendment, and carried by the partisan majority.

When the committee reassembled at 3 Mr. Edson was heard. He is a miller in Montreal. He ground the powder that was shipped to South Africa at the request of Dr. Devlin. Something over 2,000 pounds were ground for one cent a pound. Dr. Devlin and John T. Lyons gave the witness instructions regarding the grinding. They told the witness the stuff was for the Government. The witness examined the stuff in a Saratoga trunk.

Voted Down Again.

Mr. Clarke again moved that the fragments of food purchased by Mr. Hatch should be analyzed, so that the veracity of Mr. Hatch might be proved or disproved. Mr. Hatch declared it contained 60 per cent. proteids. This was voted down a seventh time.

Mr. Monk's motion regarding cabling the South African contingents that the emergency rations supplied them were not a concentrated food, was again brought up.

Dr. Britton moved an amendment that the cable be not sent, because the emergency ration was a useful food, and was all right as an additional emergency supply. The amendment was carried.

Witness Edson again came into view. He identified the stuff in the trunk as similar stuff to that which came to his place to be ground. John T. Lyons took the stuff away when it was ground and paid for it. The witness saw the stuff packed in Lyons' store by hands in the store. The cans when packed were put in large wooden cases, on which were stencilled the words "Emergency Rations."

John T. Lyons told the witness the stuff had to be ground, because four ounces could not be packed into tins unless the powder was fine.

Clerk Bergeron, who was employed in January in 1900 at Lyons' drug store, was called. He helped to pack the tin cans of rations. He acted under Lyons' instruction. One day Dr. Devlin kicked because four ounces were not in each tin. The stuff came from New York. Two girls put the labels on the tins. The tins were filled and the covers hammered on with a wooden mallet, and there were about 12 trunks, each containing two bags of ground stuff.

Don't Know the Vitaline Co.

"What is the vitaline?"

"I don't know. I don't know the company, though I have worked five years at the corner of Craig and Bleury, where Mr. Lyons' drug store is."

Charles Carell, a manufacturer of macaroni, next appeared. He worked at Edsons' mill. He thought the stuff ground was baked glutin. It would be worth about 13 or 14 cents a pound baked and about 2½ cents a pound in raw state.

Sergt. Cotton, one of the soldiers experimented with at Kingston on Hatch's protos, told about the test. During the test he said that he drank beer regularly. Recently the witness had subjected himself to another test at St. John's, N.B., Barracks, where the witness is hospital sergeant. At his solicitation Dr. Devlin gave him the emergency ration to be used as an obesity cure. This test began Feb. 23 and ended March 23. The food used in St. John was much the same food as that used in Kingston. Cross-examined by Mr. Casgrain, the witness said he took two or three glasses of beer a day at Kingston during the 1899 test.

Why Witness Drank Beer.

Mr. Casgrain pointed out that the witness had made a declaration after the test at Kingston, and when asked what fluids he had taken with the test, did not mention beer, the witness said that Dr. Devlin told him he could take beer during the Kingston test, and he had done so freely.

Mr. Monk produced a letter addressed to Lieut.-Col. Neilson, from Sergt. Cotton, dated Feb. 23, 1900, in which the witness said that he had tested the vitaline and found it the same as the food used at Kingston.

Questioned, the witness said the letter was written the day he began the second test. He gave the letter to Dr. Devlin, and Dr. Devlin was present when the first ration was tested in St. John. The department did not receive the letter till May 18, 1900.

"Did you tell Mr. Hatch you would not be fooled by Dr. Devlin any more?"

"No, sir."

Questioned by Mr. Clarke, the witness said that he addressed his letter to Lieut.-Col. Neilson, but handed it to Dr. Devlin, because he thought perhaps Lieut.-Col. Neilson has asked Dr. Devlin to get it.

Col. Neilson questioned about the letter, said that it was not a customary thing for a non-commissioned officer to address a letter to his superior officer unsolicited. The colonel put no reliance upon the letter as a testimonial. He had not asked for it.

The Stuff in the Trunk.

Analyst McGill of the Inland Revenue Department spoke of the microscopic examination of the stuff in the Saratoga trunk. He said he had found in the stuff wheat starch, oat starch and glutinous starch. He could not estimate the percentage of vegetable proteids present. The stuff had been baked. He assumed it was a ground biscuit that could be made out of peas, oats or wheat.

Mr. Clarke moved for the eighth time that the fragments of the Kingston food produced by Mr. Hatch should be analyzed. He urged that he wished to find out if Mr. Hatch told the truth or not. The analysis would show if the food contained 60 per cent. or not.

The motion was again lost.

The committee adjourned to meet again Tuesday at 10.30 a.m.

Consumption's Victims

CAN OBTAIN NEW HEALTH IF PROMPTLY TREATED.

It Was Thought Miss Lizzie Smith, of Waterford, Was in Consumption, But Her Health Has Been Restored—Advice to Similar Sufferers

From the Star, Waterford, Ont.

Throughout Canada there are thousands of girls who owe the bloom of health shown in their cheeks, the brightness of eye and elasticity of step, to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. There are few girls in the first years of womanhood who do not suffer more or less from anaemia. We see them everywhere, and they are easily recognized by a sallowness of complexion, or perhaps extreme pallor, they are subject to headaches, dizziness, palpitation of the heart, and feel tired and worn out on the least exertion. To those who suffer in this manner Dr. Williams' Pink Pills offer speedy and certain relief. Proof of this may be had in our own town. Miss Lizzie Smith, daughter of Mr. William Smith, is to-day the embodiment of health and activity, yet not so long ago her friends feared that consumption had fastened its fangs upon her. A representative of the Star recently interviewed Mrs. Smith as to the means employed to restore her daughter's health. Mrs. Smith's unhesitating reply was that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills were entitled to the credit. Mrs. Smith said: "My daughter is nineteen years of age. For some years she has not been very strong and was subject to sick headaches. Last summer she went to work in an establishment in Paris, and had not been there long when her health grew much worse. She consulted a doctor there who said that her blood was in such a bad state that the trouble was likely to develop into consumption, and on hearing this Lizzie at once returned home. When we saw her we feared she was in a decline. She suffered very much from headaches; was as white as chalk, with dark circles under her eyes and the eyes shrunken. Her appetite was very fickle and she ate very little. She was very despondent and at times said she did not care whether she lived or not. I decided to give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which I heard were so highly recommended in cases like hers, a trial. She had only taken the pills for a couple of weeks when we could see an improvement. By the time she had used a couple of boxes her appetite was much improved, her headaches less frequent, and the spirit of depression passed away. Four boxes more fully restored her health, and to-day she is as well and as active as though she had never had a day's illness. I really think Dr. Williams' Pink Pills saved her life, and believe they are worth their weight in gold to girls suffering as she did."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills make rich, red blood, strengthen the nerves, bring the glow of health to pale and sallow cheeks, and make the feeble and despondent feel that life is once more worth living. The genuine are sold only in boxes, the wrapper bearing the full name, "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People." May be had from all dealers or by mail at 50c. a box or six boxes for $2.50, by addressing the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

DIED OF HER INJURIES

Mrs. Elizabeth Pethick Dies From the Effects of a Fall—Her Skull Fractured.

Mrs. Elizabeth Pethick, who, as noted in Thursday's Review, sustained serious injuries on Wednesday night in a fall while ascending the steps of the cellar in the residence of Mr. Wm. Kemp, Bethune-st., with whom she lived, died last evening about seven o'clock. She never spoke or regained consciousness in the forty-eight hours between her fall and her death.

The deceased lady was the widow of the late Henry Pethick and moved to Peterborough some years ago from Welcome, near Port Hope. She was seventy-five years of age. Her maiden name was Elizabeth Brownscombe. She was an aunt of Mr. Felix Brownscombe, town treasurer. She belonged to one of the oldest and best known families of Cavan township, and while on a visit there only last week she laid the corner stone of a new Methodist church in the township, and as a memento was presented with a handsome silver trowel. Many friends will be grieved to learn of her accident and death.

The funeral takes place on Monday afternoon from 548 Bethune-st.

TRENT BRIDGE DROWNING

Finding the Body of a Well Known Asphodel Farmer in the Trent.

The Havelock Standard gives the following additional particulars of the drowning of Joseph Harrison and his son, Garnet, mentioned in yesterday's Review:—

A sad accident occurred at Trent Bridge on Thursday, when Mr. Jos. Harrison and his young son, Garnet, were drowned.

It seems that Mr. Harrison procured a skiff at Trent Bridge about 11 o'clock a. m., and went down the river trolling. Nothing further was heard of the couple until about five o'clock p.m., when Messrs. John Carey, Rich Phillips, of Havelock, and Mr. H. Pollock, of Trent Bridge, were going down the river fishing when they espied a boat overturned in the water just opposite Shag Point, and about 50 feet from the end of Brown's Island. On righting the boat they found two coats, a lunch basket and a troll fastened to the boat. On Mr. Pollock pulling in the line the body of the late Mr. Harrison was brought to the surface, the troll having caught in the right trouser leg. Search was made for the boy, but up to the present his body has not been recovered. Mr. Harrison was about 45 years of age and lived about three miles south-west of Norwood in the township of Asphodel. He leaves an invalid wife and two small girls. The son, Garnet, was 11 years old. The couple had evidently been drowned about 12 o'clock, as Mr. Harrison's watch had stopped at 12.00.

Dr. McGowan, coroner, of Campbellford, was telegraphed to and he said an inquest was unnecessary.

The body was brought to Trent Bridge and taken from there to the deceased's home.

CLOSE OF THE PASTORATE

FAREWELL OF GEORGE-ST. CONGREGATION TO MR. AND MRS. SHOREY

A Largely Attended Social Gathering at the Church—The Departure Much Regretted—Rev. Mr. Shorey Held in High Esteem—Presentation to Mrs. Shorey by the Choir.

A very large and representative gathering was held last evening in the school room of George-st. church to say "Goodbye" to the pastor, Rev. S. J. Shorey, and family, who leaves next week for his new charge in Picton. Mr. D. W. Dumble presided over the meeting. Mr. Dumble expressed the great sense of loss which he personally felt, and which he was assured was felt by the entire district in the departure of so valuable, faithful and honest a worker as Rev. Mr. Shorey had proved himself to be. During the three years of his pastorate here he had won the esteem and love of all by his many good qualities, not only as pastor, but as a citizen.

The following short programme was then given:—

Instrumental...Miss Dobbin and Mr. Walden

MRS. SHOREY REMEMBERED.

Mrs. Shorey was then called forward and on behalf of the church choir, the leader, Mr. Walden, read the following address, while Mrs. Maguire presented Mrs. Shorey with a handsome silver fern dish:—

Dear Mrs. Shorey,—It is with feelings of extreme regret that we conform to the circumstances which seem to necessitate your removal from our midst. To one who has taken such an active interest in all departments of our church work, notwithstanding the great demands which we feel must be attendant upon your home duties, we find it difficult to give in words any adequate expression of our appreciation of and admiration for such thoughtful and kindly interest. Representing but a small portion of our people, yet a few who in endeavoring to sustain to the best of our ability the musical interests of our church, namely, our church choir, we wish to express our appreciation of your assistance as a member of the same, and also for the kindly interest you have always ever manifested in our welfare.

As a slight token of our esteem, and as a memento of the many pleasant associations during the past three years, we ask you to accept this gift, feeling assured that God's richest blessings will ever follow those who walk in obedience to duty's call.

Not enjoyment and not sorrow
  Is our destined end or way,
But to find that each to-morrow
  Brings us farther than to-day.

Signed on behalf of the choir.

JAS. EDGCUMBE,
F. W. WALDEN.

REV. MR. SHOREY.

Rev. Mr. Shorey, being called up, stated that he would have found it difficult under any circumstances to give adequate expression to his feelings on parting with his congregation, but it was especially so as he was at present under the doctor's care and feeling very weak. He assured the people that he fully appreciated all the kindness with which he had been favored while in town, and the people of the George-st. church would always have a warm place in his heart. As a man he was not very demonstrative, but had allowed the favor to accumulate, and now could say one big hearty "Thank you." He also referred to the assistance given him by Mrs. Shorey, and on her behalf thanked the choir and congregation.

Addresses highly complimentary to Mr. and Mrs. Shorey and expressive of regret at their departure were made by Revs. Kilgour and Campbell, and appropriate addresses were also made by Mr. J. Jefferies, Mr. R. J. Winch and Mr. J. J. McBain.

After this the ladies served dainty refreshments of cake and ice cream, which were much enjoyed.

Brevities

—Oshawa is playing baseball here today in the League series.

—Rev. S. J. Shorey and Rev. Mr. Moore, Ph.B., say farewell to their congregations to-morrow.

—Meetings of the Board of Works and the Finance Committee will be held on Monday night.

—Rev. Mr. Moore, of Fraserville, will occupy the pulpit both morning and evening at Charlotte-st church tomorrow.

—Rev. S. C. Moore, of Millbrook, will address the men's meeting at the Y.M.C.A. Sunday afternoon at 4.15 o'clock. All men are invited.

—The County Council concluded business this morning, but the report of this morning's session is held over from this issue.

—County Councillors report the crop prospects as the best throughout this district. Hay is rather light, but all grains promise well. Fruits are also promising.

—Rev. W. L. Armitage will speak on the bi-centenary of the society for Propagating the Gospel at the evening service at All Saints' to-morrow.

—To-morrow will be St. John's day and Peterborough Lodge, A.F. & A.M., will attend divine service at All Saints' church to-morrow afternoon at 4 o'clock.

—The Coldsprings Presbyterian church Sunday school held an excursion to town yesterday. The North Star was crowded with excursionists, who spent the day in town.

—The rain storm yesterday was a deluge in Belmont, and the County Councillors who were driving from the mines to Havelock received a baptism that is best described as a drenching.

—The County Councillors were delighted with what they saw at the Belmont mines. "If these mines," said one Councillor, "were in British Columbia we would hear more about them, but being so near home we don't hear much."

—The Charlotte-st Sunday school will hold a picnic to Stony lake on July 12. They are also contemplating holding a free excursion down the river for the children about July 5.

—The members of the Women's Auxiliary of St. John's will attend the Holy Communion in a body to-morrow morning at 8.30. Preparations are actively going forward for the Auxiliary at home which will be held on Monday evening.

—Warden Foster took a trip three hundred feet underground at the Belmont mines yesterday. He was gone so long that the members of the County Council waiting at the mouth of the shaft were about to form into session to elect a new Warden.

—Despite the damp weather and wet grass the concert was given by the 57th regimental band in Victoria park last evening to a large audience. The programme was a delightful one. All the selections were applauded and the "Smoky Mokes" cakewalk was encored and repeated.

THE CHEMONG LAKE BRIDGE

THE CONTRACT FOR THE WORK NOT YET CLOSED

Some Talk of a Change in Plans so as to Lessen the Cost—The Matter Left in the Hands of a Committee With Full Power to Deal With it.

Mr. D. McDiarmid, the contractor, whose tender was the lowest for the construction of the Chemong lake bridge, arrived in town last night, and met the County Councillors this morning. His price was $27,437, which is considerably higher than the county had figured on.

It was suggested that a change in the plan of the bridge might be made, reducing the cost while not impairing the strength or durability of the bridge. The plans as figured on provided for three piers, two of which it is suggested might be done away with and the bridge not be injured. This would make a difference of several thousand dollars in the cost of the work.

Mr. McDiarmid would not close matters definitely until he had consulted Mr. Jas. Bogue, who, it is understood, is associated with him in the work.

The matter is now left in the hands of a committee composed of the Warden, and Messrs. Pearce, Anderson, Hawthorne and Fitzgerald, with full power to close with Mr. McDiarmid or to call for and award new tenders.

Strawberry Social.

Keep the evening of Tuesday the 26th inst. open, and come to the strawberry and lawn social, under the auspices of St. Luke's church, Ashburnham, to be held on the beautiful grounds of Mr. H. T. Strickland, commencing at 7.30. The 57th regimental band will be in attendance, and in addition to refreshments an interesting programme will be provided. Admission 15 cents.

St. Johns' Woman's Auxiliary to Missions will hold a Garden Party on their beautiful grounds next Monday Evening, June 25th. Admission 10c Tickets may be obtained from Mrs. J. C. Davidson, 64 Hunter-st. 2d143

INSPECTED THE BELMONT MINES

THE COUNTY COUNCIL'S INTERESTING TRIP TO PETERBOROUGH'S KLONDIKE

The Mines, Employing About One Hundred Men, Being Operated by the Cordova Exploration and Mining Co.

The Warden and County Councillors had a most interesting trip yesterday when they visited the Belmont gold mines. Not only was the trip an interesting one, but it was an eye-opener for all the members in giving them an idea of the importance of the work which is in progress at Peterborough's Klondike.

The Council, accompanied by the County Solicitor, Mr. W. A. Stratton, the County Clerk, Mr. Stewart, and the County Engineer, Mr. J. E. Belcher, C.E., left on the evening train on Thursday and spent the night at Havelock. Early Friday morning they left there and drove the distance of eleven miles through Belmont township to the mines. The Council's object in making the trip was to inspect the main road leading from Havelock to the mines, as a grant had been asked to place this road in first class shape so as to give Havelock equal chances with Marmora in competing for the trade from the mines.

The mines visited are owned and operated by the Cordova Exploration and Mining Company, a concern with all kinds of money behind it and which owns mining properties all over the world. Four shafts have been sunk at the mines, and the operations are conducted on the most modern principles and are giving paying results. Superintendent Kerr, an expert and experienced man, has charge of the mine, and he was most courteous and hospitable in his reception of and attention to the visitors. The mines, the machinery of which is operated by compressed air, were inspected, and the processes of mining and handling the ore was explained. The ore is ground in to a powder and then carried over a series of inclined plates covered with quick silver. As the powdered ore moves over these plates the gold adheres to the quick silver and, the plates being removed at intervals, the quick silver and gold are separated by a simple process.

The visit was most interesting and profitable to the Councillors and impressed them with the important interest that are centred in this mining district. About one hundred men are employed there at present. Dinner was served the party at the mines.

Rain fell in the afternoon but the return drive was safely made to Havelock, where the party took train and reached Peterborough at 4.37, well pleased with their outing.

COMMITTED FOR TRIAL

John Macfarlane to Stand Trial Before a Higher Court.

At the Police Court this morning Magistrate Dumble committed John Macfarlane, driver of the fire department, to stand his trial for perjury. The evidence was taken in the preliminary hearing last Monday and the Magistrate gave his decision this morning. Macfarlane is accused of swearing falsely on his own behalf when accused of using bad language to John Montgomery.

COLLUSION WAS CHARGED

Interesting Suit Between Orillia and the Jenckes Machine Co.

The town of Orillia and the Jenckes Machine Company, of Sherbrooke, Que., are fighting for the possession of three cars of machinery worth $6,500, now under seizure in the G.T.R. yards at Lindsay. The facts of the case make an interesting story.

Last January the Sherbrooke firm shipped the machinery to Severn, Ont., at the request of the Electrical Maintenance & Construction Company, a Toronto firm. At that place the town of Orillia is building works to supply electric light and power. The local firm got the contract to put in the machinery and a considerable sum advanced to them in payment. It appears that they lacked funds to complete the work, and on Monday, June 18th, the G.T.R. shipped the machinery back to Sherbrooke, at the request of the Jenckes Company, the drafts that firm held not having been paid. The shipment had got no further than Lindsay, when it was stopped on the demand of the town, which claimed the machinery was their property. The matter came up at Osgoode Hall, Toronto, yesterday morning. It was decided that the town take the machinery on giving a bond for $9,000. In case the law suit that will be instituted goes against them, they must pay for its value. During the argument which waxed hot at intervals, Mr. Gunn, solicitor for Orillia, charged the G.T.R. with being in collusion with the Jenckes Company.

TROOPER HAMPTON'S LAST LETTERS

WERE RECEIVED BY FRIENDS JUST BEFORE THE NEWS OF HIS DEATH

He Writes a Norwood Friend and Tells of His Illness and What His Future Was Likely to be.

The following letters were received by friends in Norwood and Hastings last week just a short time before the news of the death of Trooper W. J. Hampton reached here. As the last letters the deceased wrote and being read now after his death parts of them are striking. He said:—

THE HASTINGS LETTER.

Bloemfontein, O. F. State,
May 7th, 1900.

Dear Friend,—It is nice to be lying sick in hospital, is it not? Well such is the unpleasant lot that has befallen your soldier friend in the depths of South Africa. And yet I am pleased to say I am a convalescent patient now at Green Hill Convent Hospital here. You may be somewhat surprised at my writing you but lying here I cannot but look back and remember some ——— friends. I left our camp last Monday and came here with enteric fever but in a few days hope to get a chance to get back again to my squadron in time for the triumphal march into Pretoria.

Our time on the different marches has been interesting if not pleasant, for a soldier has a hard time of it. I will never go soldiering again I assure you, for it was truly said "The nation gets the glory but the soldier gets the blunt." In this one hospital there are ten Canadians with the same disease. But enough of my ailments.

Perhaps you would like me to tell you something of the beautiful country, nice towns, great gardens. Well I cannot for there is none to describe. Hastings would throw any town here in the shade and I would not give a good garden at home for all the land between Cape Town to Pretoria. It is a barbarous country and barbarous people. And I am longing to get back.

(Here follows a list of friends that he wished to be remembered to.)

Kindly excuse this scribbling for it is very hard to write but I must get my correspondence caught up now I have a day or two of doing nothing but lying in bed. Good-bye, hoping you are in good health, I remain your friend, a soldier of the Queen,

WM. JAS. HAMPTON,
3rd Troop A Squadron,
1st Battalion Canadian Mounted Rifles,
Field Force, South Africa.

P.S.—We are going to celebrate 24th May in Pretoria.

THE NORWOOD LETTER.

Bloemfontein, May 6th, 1900.

Dear Friend,—Would you like to know about our trip across the country? We marched from Cape Town to a camp ground some eight miles from a town called Stellenbosch. Here we stayed four days. By the way Stellenbosch is thirty-five miles from Cape Town, and is a pro Boer town. Slurs were flung at us when passing through the town, but we took advantage of that and swiped fruit, canned goods from shops and made ourselves generally at home, but the officers did not like it and we got repremanded for it.

From Stellenbosch we went to Norval's Pont, on the Orange River, by train. That took us three days and two nights. We camped over night there and on the following day, about five o'clock we crossed the river to a town five miles distant, called Bethulie. We were up next morning and took charge of a convy of 160 waggons, 2,500 mules, and as many horses and donkeys to use as remounts, for the horses die in this country like as if they had been struck by a plague. Well, we marched through Springfontein and on up to Bloemfontein.

Have you heard of that fellow called Fischer who is now gone from Europe to America on the Peace Mission from the Transvaal? Well, we camped on his farm for over a week, and on the first of May the advance for Pretoria and Johannesburg began. Kroonstad is between and we hope to take that to-morrow; but I am not there and may not get up to the front any more. I am here in Bloemfontein in the hospital down with dysentery and enteric fever. It is hard lines too. I could have gone on but it was only a matter of a day or two, then I might have been worse, and I would rather be an alive Cannuck than a dead soldier any day.

I came in here on Tuesday and this is Sunday, my first day up. I will in all probability, be invalided to Cape Town and possibly to England.

England can have this country; none of us Canadians want it. We would not give a small Canadian garden for the whole of South Africa. I'll go home on the first boat. There may be gold and diamonds here, but they can keep it all, I have no use for it at all.

We expected to see lots of fruit in this country, but we have seen none since we left Cape Town, except when passing through Stellenbosch, and in those places we only saw apricots and grapes.

WM. J. HAMPTON.

Disqualifying.

Everywhere we met men with newspapers, devouring with feverish eagerness the gory details of the horrible murder.

"Morbid curiosity!" we finally sneered, with indignation.

"No; we are disqualifying ourselves to sit as jurors," they protested and sighed wearily.—Detroit Journal.

Glubber's Strong Point.

PERFECTLY HELPLESS.

Probably the most remarkable case of rheumatism known to physicians in Kingston, Ont., was that of Mr. Richard Savage, driver for G. M. Wilkinson & Son. During the past winter this young man was away from his work for no less a time than five weeks. If he attempted to do anything, he was obliged to return home at once, being unable to endure the pain. For two weeks he could not walk a step. "I tried all the cures everybody suggested," said Mr. Savage, "but they were of no use. Finally a friend sent me a bottle of Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure. I drained the contents of the bottle and was so relieved that I sent for another. I was completely cured by the second bottle, and I have not had a rheumatic pain since. I never felt better in my life, and I heartily recommend Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure to all sufferers from rheumatism."

MR. RICHARD SAVAGE

Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure is put up in 50 cent bottles, containing ten days' treatment. For sale by all druggists and dealers in medicine. The Dr. Hall Medicine Co., Kingston, Ont.

WOMAN AND HOME.

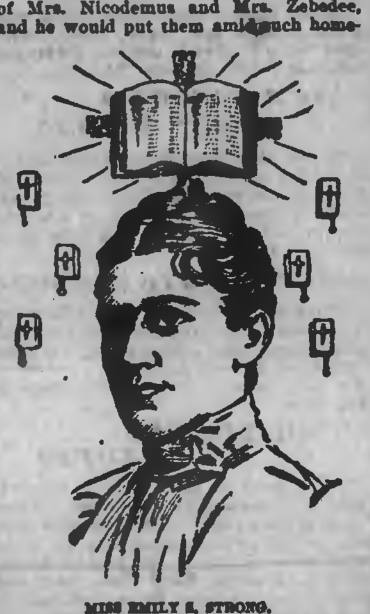
WOMEN OF THE MOODY BIBLE INSTITUTE, CHICAGO.

Hints on the Care of the Hair. Taught Her a Lesson—Thoughts on Marriage — What Women's Faces Tell—Beauty's Gravest Foe.

"They may have called D. L. Moody an old fogy," said a young woman from the Moody Bible institute at Chicago to a New York Tribune reporter, "but in the matter of woman's work and sphere there was no one who was more progressive. He was criticised some time ago for an attack on women's clubs, but as a matter of course, as all institute and Northfield seminary girls know, he never made the remarks attributed to him. While he stood by the Bible as the infallible, he was most tolerant of other people's ideas, as his friendship with Henry Drummond and George Adam Smith attested.

"'A woman was the first preacher of the resurrection,' he was fond of saying, and, though there were a rascally Judas, a lying, weak Peter and a doubting Thomas among the apostles, the women all remained true.

"In his quaint way he would talk to us of Mrs. Nicodemus and Mrs. Zebedee, and he would put them amid such homely surroundings that we saw them as living women rather than as Bible characters, and this, too, in spite of the fact that the former at least does not actually figure in the Biblical narrative.



MISS EMILY S. STRONG.

"He did not encourage the ordination of women, because he saw no authority in holy writ for such a proceeding, but since he was not ordained himself that formality would not interfere with her usefulness, he knew.

"The practical work at the institute is the basis of all the teaching there. Mere classroom teaching, Mr. Moody used to say, would only serve to make students dogmatic, while the work of saving souls would make instant use of the teaching and would create a missionary zeal and spirit that no amount of exhorting could do. It is one thing to be told about the need and another thing to see it with one's own eyes, he would add.

"The institute has well been called the West Point of Christian work, the one indispensable textbook being the English Bible. No abstract form of Christianity and certainly no creed is taught there, but students learn how to help men and women.

"The course at the institute includes doctrine, homiletics, analytical and chapter study, the work of foreign missions, music, vocal and instrumental, choir conducting, the leading of religious meetings, personal work with the non-Christian, visiting, parish work, Bible teaching, etc. In addition to this there is a summer course on Christian evidence. In this course the authorship of the different books of the Bible is taken up, and the points of higher criticism which assail the Pentateuch, Isaiah and the other disputed works of the prophets and lawgivers of Israel are met.

"Miss Emily P. Strong, the superintendent of the women's department, is a prominent and powerful factor in the spiritual work and indeed in the business direction of the institute. With her is associated Miss Charlotte C. Cary, a former instructor at Northfield seminary and herself a college graduate. Miss Mabel Hall is instructor in children's work, and Mrs. R. A. Torrey and Mrs. W. R. Newell, one the wife of the superintendent and the other of the assistant superintendent of the institute, have charge of the women's meetings of the Moody church. Here the women students are trained as speakers, singers, 'personal workers' and ushers at children's and women's meetings."

Heart Humbug

It is fashionable to-day to have a new heart scare every 24 hours. The commonest symptoms of dyspepsia or nerve trouble, such as palpitation, weak spells, loss of appetite, and poor circulation, are magnified and distorted into serious signs of heart trouble, with the object of frightening the public into taking this or that heart remedy. If a hundredth part of the heart trouble we hear about were real, the cemeteries would be filled in a month. A wrong construction is put upon common ailments in order to humbug the people into the belief that heart disease is prevalent, whereas real heart trouble, which is so sadly and suddenly fatal when it does occur, is a rare disease. Lopsided arguments cannot convince an intelligent people. Iron is the vital element of the blood. Too little iron means weakness, lack of spirit, pallid cheeks, shortness of breath, sleeplessness, nervousness, loss of vital force, ending in general break-down. The iron in Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills is in the soluble form you need, in combination with other curative agents in such a manner that disease can't resist their action. You feel yourself getting well when you take Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills.

Hints on the Care of Hair.

It is said that the hair ought to grow about eight inches a year. If your hair doesn't grow that much, the chances are that it needs treatment. The clipping of the ends of the hair should never be neglected. There are superstitions that this should be done in a certain sign of the moon and always by a person other than the wearer of the hair. But the chief value of these directions is that it insures the regular clipping of the ends and that it is easier for some one else to do the clipping than to do it oneself.

To make sure of a really good head of healthy, abundant hair the care of it should begin in childhood. If the hair is neglected early in life, it is hard to coax it into a good condition later. However, patience and care will accomplish much even then.

The head should be washed always in rainwater. Where this is not obtainable, add a little borax. Rinse thoroughly in clean water afterward. Ammonia makes the hair brittle and is said to hasten the coming of gray hairs. Washing soda causes the hair to become streaked. Castile or tar soap is best if one uses soap at all. If the hair is too oily soap bark may be used advantageously. If the oil is deficient, a little glycerin or vaseline is beneficial.

Some persons use the beaten yolk of an egg with good results. It should be used with lukewarm water and rinsed off in clear cold water. It is better to dry the hair slowly, rubbing the scalp and lifting the hair from time to time, than to fan it or to apply artificial heat, as is done frequently. When dry, the hair should be brushed thoroughly; the more the better. Brushing the hair for ten minutes every night before retiring is an excellent means of preventing disease of the scalp and securing glossy hair.

Buy good brushes and combs; they are far cheaper in the end. A good plain brush will cost $1 or $1.50, and a celluloid or rubber comb about 50 cents. The brush should be cleaned frequently by dipping the bristles in hot water containing a little ammonia and rinsing in cold water with a little lemon juice. It should then be placed, bristles up, to dry. The comb may be cleansed by washing in tepid soapy water and rubbing dry with a soft cloth, then removing any particles that may remain between the teeth by passing a silk thread between them.

The use of a fine comb is undesirable, and for heavy hair an especially coarse comb is preferable.

A simple prescription for a dandruff lotion is this: One dram of borax, one dram of sulphur, one dram of glycerin and eight ounces of water. The mixture should be shaken before using and well rubbed into the scalp with the fingers or a small brush.

A good tonic for the hair is made by combining a quart of bay rum, half a cupful of salt, a dram of castor oil and a dram of tincture of cantharides. This may be applied once or twice a week with good results.

Taught Her a Lesson.

"Of course it is pure thoughtlessness," said a salesman in a big department store, "but many women cause us a great deal of unnecessary trouble in ordering small packages which they could easily carry in their pockets to be sent to their homes. It would be no trouble for a customer to carry home with her a spool of thread, a comb or a hundred and one other small articles that are purchased each day. On each one of these small articles must be written the address of the purchaser, and it must go in a wagon with hundreds of other packages, and there is constant danger of its being lost.

"I heard only the other day of a woman in a city not far from New York who was made to see how needless it is to have a small parcel sent home when it can be easily carried. She was a regular customer of the store, and her habit of having spools of thread, papers of pins and such like purchases delivered was generally known. She was well acquainted with the proprietor and visited his family in a social way.

"He determined to even things up. There came a time when she ordered just one spool of thread sent to her house. The proprietor of the store directed that this small spool of thread be wrapped in a paper box and that the box be placed in a great wooden one. Around the smaller package was placed enough paper to fill the big box, which was placed on a big truck. No other goods were placed on that truck.

"Two men accompanied the box, and when they reached the woman's home they pretended to have great difficulty in handling it. They pulled and tugged at the box, while the purchaser of the thread looked on in amazement.

"'What's all this?' she asked. 'I have ordered nothing that would require such a box as that.'

"'Don't know, ma'am,' said the men. 'We were sent to deliver it; that's all we know.'

"The box was opened. After a search through the packing paper the spool of thread was found. The woman appreciated the joke, and she has not since ordered sent home a package which she could without trouble carry herself."

Thoughts on Marriage.

Let not even one thought of marrying for gain or worldly ease enter your mind. Not for a home, not for money, not for relief from work, not to help some member of your family, not even to add to your mother's comfort, is it right to marry. Work your finger ends off for those dependent on you, trust in God and do your best, but never marry for any reason but the only sufficient one, the certainty that you love a man better than any one else in the world, better than you love yourself, and believe him to be worthy of your whole trust.

One of the most pitiful mistakes young girls make in regard to their marriages is the not infrequent sacrifice of themselves in the belief that they will be able to reform dissipated lives. How many broken hearts have followed mistaken efforts of this sort to save a man from drunkenness or other debasing follies none of us can ever reckon. God alone keeps the sad record! If unhappily you learn to love a man who has fallen into sins which mar his life, let him prove himself able to walk uprightly before his marriage and not imagine that your presence will save him. Give him no pledge or promise until long and patient probation has shown that he is conqueror over his evil inclinations. Some such faults are linked with most generous traits and are the weaknesses of natures originally lovable to a degree, but it is worse than folly to marry such a man believing that you can ward off his enemies. God and his own courage must win the battle, says Home Chat.

I do not mean that you may not have wonderful influence for good; that precious gift is yours without stint. Youth and sweetness and the longing a man has for wife and home will do infinite service to a soul struggling to free himself from sin, but let your love be a guerdon faithfully striven for, and let his self conquest be long assured before you risk that most sorrowful existence—the wife of a drinking man.

What Women's Faces Tell.

Romantic women usually have a very well defined arch in the center of the eyebrow, while a sense of humor is indicated in the arch nearer the nose.

Long, drooping eyebrows, lying wide apart, indicate an amiable disposition.

Where the eyebrows are lighter in color than the hair, the indications are lack of vitality and great sensitiveness.

Faintly defined eyebrows placed high above the nose are signs of indolence and weakness, says the Kansas City Times.

Very black eyebrows give the face an intense and searching expression. When natural, they accompany a passionate temperament.

Very light eyebrows rarely are seen on strongly intellectual faces, although the color of the eyebrows is not accepted singly as denoting lack of intelligence. The form gives the key to the faculties and their direction.

Red eyebrows denote great fervor and ambition; brown a medium between the red and black.

Scant growth of the eyebrows invariably denotes lack of vitality. On the contrary, heavy, thick eyebrows indicate a strong constitution and great physical endurance. They are not beautiful on a woman's face, however much they may signify either mental or bodily vigor, and when they are not heavy, but droop and meet at the nose, they are disagreeable and are said to accompany an insincere and prying nature.

The ideal eyebrow accepted by the Greeks as the perfect feminine eyebrow is long, nearly straight, archless and delicately penciled; but, like the rosebud mouth, it does not indicate the highest order of intelligence, and the arch is expressive always of great sensibility and greater strength of character.

Beauty's Gravest Foe.

Bad temper and worry will trace more wrinkles in one night than hot and cold bathing and massage and complexion brushes and creams and lotions can wash out in a year's faithful application. Physicians assert that an immense amount of nerve force is expended in every fit of bad temper; that when one little part of the nervous system gets wrong the face first records it. The eyes begin losing the luster of youth, muscles become flabby, the skin refuses to contract accordingly, and the inevitable result is wrinkles, femininity's fiercest and most insidious foe. There is no use attempting to reason with a woman about the evil effects of ill temper while she is in an ugly mood. She knows perfectly well that it is bad form; that it savors of the coarse and underbred; that it is weak and belittling and immoral, and that it hurts her cause to lose her temper. But she does not stop at just that time to think about it, and to remind her of the fact only adds fuel to the flames.

But when she is cool and serene and at peace with all the world if you can convince her that each fit of temper adds a year to her age by weakening her mental force and by tracing crow tracks about her eyes and telltale lines around her mouth she will probably think twice before again forgetting herself. For no matter what she asserts to the contrary woman prizes youth and beauty above every other gift the gods hold it in their power to bestow upon mortals.—Adele B. Shaw in Woman's Home Companion.

Various Kinds of Economy.

Some people are born to economy, some achieve economy and some have economy thrust on them. As an instance of native economy I don't think I know of anything more forceful than a confidential dialogue overheard a few days ago. One lady was middle aged, with two distinct chins and the suspicion of a third. The other was a slender, black eyed person, evidently on the verge of matrimony. Said she: "Yes, indeed, I have decided on a small wedding. It really doesn't cost much more. Flowers and cakes and dresses have to be provided anyhow, so one might as well have a lot of people as a few. Then think of the presents I shall get!"

Sighed the double chin one in a spell of reminiscence: "Oh, yes, but it only means to give them back again—in a way. As your guests get married you will have to give them just as handsome presents as they gave you."

"I have thought all that out," exclaimed the slim person. "When I made out my list, I left off all the engaged ones."—Louisville Post.

Gentle Words.

It has been well said that the gentle words of a sweet voiced woman, love freighted, will win from error souls which can be reached by no other human agency. A gentle voiced woman has more power to calm the storms and the hearts of men and the world's tempests than all the harsh and clashing shrieks and stentorian tones on or under the earth.

When one can hear the sweet notes of a mother's voice singing a lullaby to her baby in the dusk and observe how calming it is to him, however cross and fretful he may be, one can realize what there is in a human voice, and, though one may not know a bar of music from a bar of soap or a bank note from a musical note, still he can discern the difference between a harsh, abrupt, discordant sound and one gentle, persuasive and tender.

A Johnnycake.

A johnnycake so cheap that even the impecunious housekeeper can afford it, and so delicious that the critical wayfaring man will not turn up his nose at it, is made as follows: Stir together one tablespoonful each of drippings (chicken oil preferred) and sugar. Add one beaten egg, a saltspoon of salt and one cupful of sour milk, into which one-half teaspoon of soda has been beaten until it stops "purring." Lastly add cornmeal and flour in the proportion of two-thirds meal and one-third flour, taking care that it is not too stiff. It should be thin enough when poured in the pan to flatten out easily. Bake in a hot oven.

The Weights of Queens.

Among the queens of Europe Queen Margaret of Italy, in spite of her mountain climbing, is the heaviest. She is said to turn the scale at 175 pounds, although she looks much slighter. The queen of Spain weighs 147 pounds. The queen of the Netherlands takes fourth place with 140 pounds, being a few pounds heavier than the queen of the Belgians. The German empress has reduced her weight, which was an anxiety to her, to 134 pounds, and the czarina at 126 pounds is the lightest of all. The tallest princess is the crown princess of Denmark, who is well over six feet high.

Don'ts For Mistresses.

Don't put your maid in an uncomfortable room to sleep. Make it attractive.

Don't ignore the fact that she needs some time to herself to mend her clothes.

Don't think she will respect and obey you if you never show any consideration for her feelings.

Don't forget to give her occasional outings in addition to her regular afternoon and evening out.

Don't think she is neglecting her duty if she doesn't happen to be occupied every minute of the time.

Aerated milk is offered at most of the dairies nowadays. A former custom at the milk farms was to bottle the milk as soon as it came from the cow. Now it is put through a large strainer and allowed to run through an ice packed duct before it is put into the bottles. This process produces the aerated milk.

When you want a fresh end of cotton, thread your needle before cutting from the reel and begin working at the end just severed. By doing this you get the right end of the thread and will not be annoyed by the cotton knotting.

To obviate a strong smell of cooking stand a cupful of vinegar on the side of the stove. Where greens are concerned, put into the saucepan containing them a piece of stale bread tied up in a muslin bag.

Itching Piles
A Fearfully Bad Case—Much Pain and Acute Misery From the Terrible Itching—Cured by Dr. Chase's Ointment.

It is doubtful if any remedy ever received so much grateful, unsolicited testimony as Dr. Chase's Ointment. The reason is not far to seek, for it is the only preparation known to man which never fails to cure piles.

Mr. F. G. Harding, a retired farmer, living at Ninstown, Middlesex county, Ont., writes as follows:—"I have been troubled with bleeding and itching piles for four or five years, and suffered intense agony at times. I had tried almost everything but could get nothing that would give relief. On hearing of Dr. Chase's Ointment I procured a box, and it only required part of it to completely cure me. I am recommending it to all afflicted as I was."

Such incontrovertible evidence from responsible persons cannot, for a moment, be doubted. A few applications of Dr. Chase's Ointment will convince the most skeptical of its wonderful healing and soothing influence. A box or two will positively cure the most severe case of piles; 60 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

DEATH OF LT.-COL. TYRWHITT, M. P.

Reached His Home From Ottawa and Almost Immediately Expired.

Bradford, Ont., June 23.—Col. Trywhitt, M.P., who returned from Ottawa last evening, died at his family residence at 10 o'clock. The journey from Ottawa completely exhausted his wasted strength.

Lieut.-Col. Richard Tyrwhitt was the son of William Tyrwhitt, and grandson of Richard Tyrwhitt, of Nantyr Hall, Denbighshire, barrister of the Middle Temple and recorder of Chester, Eng. Col. Tyrwhitt was born in the County of Simcoe, Ontario, Nov. 29, 1844. He was educated by private tutors, and at Dinan and Rouen, France. On April 26, 1870, deceased was married to Emma, daughter of the late Venerable Archdeacon Whitaker, Provost of Trinity College, Toronto. He followed the vocation of a farmer, and, being of a military disposition, became Lieut.-Col. of the 36th Battalion. He served as a lieutenant in a provisional battalion on the Niagara frontier during the stirring times of the Fenian Raid in 1866, and also served in the Northwest campaign against Riel in 1885, for which he received a medal. He commanded the Wimbledon team of 1881. His entrance to Parliament was in 1882, when he was chosen to represent South Simcoe in succession to the late W. C. Little. He had been returned at each general election since that time, and was an ardent Conservative.

Car Went Over the Dump.

Rossland, B.C., June 23. — While William Hatton, a car man at the Le Roi, was riding a car loaded with rock down the track to the edge of a dump, about 9.30 last evening, the car struck some obstacle, and Hatton was flung over the dump ahead of the car. The ton of rock it contained must have rolled upon him and knocked him insensible. The car itself rolled down over him, and when picked up he was terribly mutilated. He has suffered internal injuries, which are expected to prove fatal.

The Drouth Exaggerated.

Winnipeg, June 23.—President Meighen of the Lake of the Woods Milling Company, stated that, from information he had received from the company's own sources, he was of opinion that the reports as to damage to the wheat crop by the drouth had been greatly exaggerated.

The N.P. crop report, issued yesterday, shows that the drouth is most serious, and that great damage has already been done.

IN CONFERENCE AT CAMPBELLFORD

REV. MR. BASTOW ELECTED MODERATOR OF THE PETERBOROUGH BAPTIST ASSOCIATION

Many Addresses Were Delivered—Next Meeting Will be Held at Lakefield—Outline of the Meeting and the Addresses.

THURSDAY MORNING.

Devotional service led by Rev. B. Russell.

"Loyalty to Christ," was the subject discussed by Rev. J. W. Kelly. He said, I believe the speaker should be a loyal man. One thing to be despised is lip loyalty and there seemed to be much of it abroad such as was witnessed in Montreal lately when lip loyalty shouted itself hoarse. What does loyalty mean? The being faithful and true in all matters. Loyalty to Christ, contains two elements; (1) That which is positive and negative in our religion, and (2) obedience in things commanded and also in things forbidden.

ELECTIONS.

Rev. J. Bastow, of Peterborough, was elected to the position of Moderator for the coming year. Rev. V. H. Cowsert was elected clerk and treasurer; Rev. P. K. Dayfoot, secretary of home missions; Rev. J. Bastow, secretary of Foreign Missions; Rev. W. A. Gunton, secretary of Manitoba and the Northwest; Rev. T. Watson, secretary of British Columbia; Rev. O. C. Elliott, secretary of Grande Ligne Mission Education.

The association will meet next year at Lakefield.

THURSDAY AFTERNOON.

Mr. Arthur Masse, assistant principle of Grande Ligne College, was the first speaker. He first spoke of the work done during the last few months. Our aim for 65 years has been to hold up the light of truth. The missionaries divided work into three parts:—

1—Colporteur giving away Bibles and tracts. Through these men the people were reached one way.

2—The school at Grande Ligne. Those saved in the school went home and pointed the childrens' parents to Christ.

3—The preacher. The death of Rev. E. W. A. Dodson, D.D., was a great loss to the Mission. Bro. Coutes has done a great work in Sorrel. Jacob Nicol, a student of McMaster, has gone to Bouel.

Mr. Masse expressed as a French Canadian his and his fellow Protestant brethren's feelings of loyalty and thankfulness for the victories of Lord Roberts in South Africa. Mr. Masse related many cases of wonderful conversions of Romanists to Christ, and as converts became members of our Baptist churches. Special meetings were held in the Grande Ligne church in February, and 27 of the pupils were converted and in March 20 were baptised.

A man has gone as missionary in the Northwest, another in Nova Scotia, and one in the Ottawa Valley. More Bibles have to be distributed than ever this year. The opinion of the people is changed toward the missionary. The Archbishop has been compelled to introduce English into the schools because so many of the English schools are being crowded with French pupils. Mr. Masse reviewed the history of the school as started by Madame Feller in 1836 and of its wonderful growth. Their standard is as high as any in the province of Quebec. They felt that they should go forward and had no room to do so. All of our missionary force but two men are French-Canadians converted from Romanism. Our students and graduates have given over $3,000 for a larger building. God was clearly pointing them forward.

THE COMING YEAR.

Rev. J. Bastow, of Peterborough, spoke on "Our Aims for the Coming Year." He said definiteness of purpose was necessary to success in Christian work. Aimless lives are useless lives. Our aim should be Christ's aim, and it was the evangelization of the world. Our aim this year should be:

(1) A higher spirituality in our church.
(a) The Bible as the supreme authority.
(b) A regenerate membership.
(c) We should keep close to Christ.
(2) A larger spirit of prayer—prayer meetings and family worship.
(3) Evangelistic spirit in our midst especially the scholars in our Sunday schools.
(4) Development of the spirit of beneficence.
(a) Blessing of giving.
(b) Stewardship.
(c) Systematic giving.

Rev. J. H. Cowsert followed with an address on "Things Delightful and Things Depressing in the Churches." The points he dealt with were:—

1—Pessimistic side—
(a) General lack of system.
(b) There is a lack of capable leadership.
(c) Worldliness.
(d) Raising money for specific objects instead of giving as unto the Lord.
2—Optimistic side.
(a) All churches at peace with one another.
(b) All churches now have pastors.
(c) Souls being saved.
(d) Spirit of hopefulness.

Mr. Parsons, who has charge of the Picton Mission, spoke for ten minutes on behalf of McMaster University.

The Moderator conveyed the thanks of the Association to the Campbellford Baptists and members of other denominations for the royal way in which they entertained the convention.

Rev. C. M. Carew, the pastor, responded, and emphasized the fact that other churches had done a large part of the entertaining.

Rev. Mr. Reeves, pastor of the Presbyterian church, responded on behalf of the other denominations.

Then followed the last address of the evening by Rev. W. A. Gunton. His subject was "Manitoba, Northwest and British Columbia Missions." The evening being very warm Mr. Gunton took the audience on an imaginary trip across the broad prairies and the mountains and then up to the top of a snow-capped mountain. Mr. Gunton then said that this was a tremendous country, larger than all the other parts of Canada by far, and that 50,000 settlers went into Manitoba and the Northwest last year alone. Twenty-six years ago there were only three Baptists in Manitoba and the Territories, and now there are more than 4,800 members. He then gave seven reasons why Baptists should support Manitoba, Northwest and British Columbia missions:

1—Because truth will not spread itself and Christ has commanded us to spread it, and if we are His we must obey.

2—Because we are more careful in pointing souls to Christ than others are, and this is the most important part of our work.

3—Our teachings are well received in the west.

4—Now is the opportune time for men and fields.

5—To help the west is to help a liberal people.

6—The Gospel will make our great Northwest safe politically.

7—It is giving indirectly to missions.

Rev. J. Bastow, the new Moderator, was introduced and closed the meeting.

OTONABEE COUNCIL

Purchasing a Rock Crusher—Other Business Transacted.

At the meeting of the Otonabee Council all the members were present, except Councillor Brown, who is ill in the Nicholls Hospital. The Council instructed the clerk to write to him expressing their sympathy for him. Councillor Weir telephoned to the hospital enquiring as to his health.

Messrs. Pearson, of Hamilton; Lunt, of Hamilton, and Stevenson, of Norwood, agents and experts of the Sawyer & Massey Road Machine Co., were present endeavoring to sell a rock crusher and a road grader. On motion the matter was left over till next meeting of the Council. Reeve Johnston left about the middle of the afternoon to prepare for camp, when Mr. Deyell was voted to the chair. The following accounts were passed:—James Nelson, work on roads, $3; telephoning to Nicholls Hospital, 25 cents; J. H. Fife, for a tile drain across road allowance, $2.41; D. McCarthy, gravel, $2.40; M. Plunkett, $11.40; James Walker, cedar, $5.40; W. J. Porter, repairing scraper, 40 cents; R. H. J. Short, gravel, $7.20; R. Nelson, $3.70; Dickson Co., plank, $30.66.

Council adjourned to meet as Court of Revision on 20th July. A meeting of the Board of Health was held, complaint being made that Dr. Shaw, Rev. S. McCauley and Wm. Read were running the waste water from their houses on to the street. The secretary was instructed to notify them to discontinue doing so.

A Cure for Rheumatism

Mr. S. Mann, Stittsville, Carleton Co., Ont., writes:—"I was afflicted with rheumatism, had severe pains in the knees, hip joints and across the back. Rheumatism remedies did not help me and I began using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, which have since completely cured me. There is not the least trace of rheumatism left and I am no longer subject to billiousness, headache and stomach sickness which formerly attacked me frequently." One pill a dose, 25 cents a box.

Restriction as Usual.

Montreal Gazette.

The Government would have shown better judgment as well as courage in accepting the amendments to the election commission order suggested by the Opposition. In rejecting them the ministers put themselves on the defence before there was any necessity for it. The case is not one to be decided on technical rules of evidence. The final judgment rests with the jury of the electorate, and it will be influenced by everything that transpires from the beginning. It will not be favorably affected by the sight of the direct beneficiaries of the frauds even seeming to restrict the scope of the enquiry, or making it difficult for the prosecution to bring out the whole truth. That, however, is the attitude the Government has assumed, for what reason the ministers know best, or, it would be better to say, think they know best. It is an attitude in keeping, also, with a general line of their conduct from the beginning. It is evidence of their failure to appreciate that there is in the electorate an element which actually dislikes political corruption and trickery as much as members of the Government used to pretend to. In Japan when a public man was impeached he used to commit physical suicide; in Canada we have only slightly changed the order. Our public men of the day take their political lives, and in batches.

His Wonderful Nerve

Alone sustained Editor F. M. Higgins, of Seneca, Ill., when all doctors and medicines failed to relieve his pain from piles. Then Bucklen's Arnica Salve wholly cured him. Infallible for Injuries, Pains or Bodily Eruptions. Cure guaranteed. Only 25c a box. Sold by J. Lynch, druggist.

CRICKET.

DESERONTO CRICKET CLUB.

The annual meeting of this club was held on the evening of Friday last. The secretary's report and the financial statement, which were adopted, show that the club is in a flourishing condition. The following officers were elected for the year 1900:—C. A. Millener, Hon. President; S. Russell, M.P.P., Hon. Vice-President; W. G. Egar, President; F. J. Cockburn, Vice-President; John Gleave, Secretary-Treasurer; I. Allum, Captain; H. R. Bedford, umpire. The patrons are E. W. Rathbun, E. Walter Rathbun, F. B. Gaylord, J. H. Hamilton, W. D. McRae and W. H. Oliver. Quite a number of new members have been added to the roll this year, and some of them have records, so the old members will have to look to their laurels. There is every reason to predict a successful season for the Deseronto Cricket Club, and the secretary is open to make arrangements with other clubs for matches, having every confidence that the club he represents will make a good showing. Deseronto hopes to arrange a game with Peterborough.

The Boundary Line

Between comfort and discomfort is often very slight. Have you rheumatism or neuralgia? Or are you a sufferer from obscure nervous pains? Why suffer longer? You can purchase for 10 cents a bottle of that king of pain—Polson's Nerviline—or you can get a large bottle for 25 cents. It cures promptly. It is sure, pleasant to take, and never fails to cure all kinds of pain. Don't wait an hour, but send to any drug store and get a trial bottle. Nerviline, the sure pain cure.

Ailments for Operations

Most physicians are anxious to try the surgeon's knife and recommend an operation for piles. A less cruel, less expensive and less risky method is the use of Dr. Chase's Ointment, a preparation that has never yet been known to fail to cure piles no matter of what form or of however long standing. Don't think of risking an operation when you can be cured in your own home by the use of Dr. Chase's Ointment. The best physicians use it in their practice.

COUNTY COUNCIL IN JUNE SESSION

A SHORT SESSION WAS HELD LAST EVENING

The Report of the Finance Committee Went Through – Grants Made – Thanks to Superintendent Kerr.

The County Council had a short session last evening, when Warden Forster presided.

Mr. Pearce moved, seconded by Mr. Peck, that the cordial thanks of this Council are hereby tendered to Mr. Superintendent Kerr, of the Cordova Exploration and Mining Company, for the courtesies and hospitality extended to the members of this Council and the gentlemen accompanying them to the Belmont Gold Mines. The extent and development as seen by us was a most pleasing surprise to every person present, who, previous to visiting the mines on their inspection of the roads leading through the township of Belmont to-day, had not the slightest idea of the importance of the mine to the County of Peterborough, and trust the Company's most sanguine expectations as to the mine may be more than realized.—Carried.

BURLEIGH ROAD.

Mr. Eastland moved, seconded by Mr. Peck, that this Council forward a memorial to the provincial Government at Toronto praying that they take into consideration the permanent repairing of the Burleigh road by the use of crushed stone.—Carried.

COMMITTEE ON SCHOOLS.

The Committee on schools reported through Mr. Eastland as follows :—

The Committee on Schools beg leave to report as follows :—

1. Your Committee recommend that the petition of W. J. McMahon and others and also the petition of Thos. White and others appealing from a by-law of the Township of Galway altering certain school sections be referred to arbitrators pursuant to Section 39 of "The Public Schools Act," and that the Judge of the County of Peterborough, the Public School Inspector for the County of Peterborough, and Mr. E. A. Peck be arbitrators for the purpose of determining all matters of complaint.

2. That the report of the County School Inspector be received and that the County Clerk be instructed to print same in the minutes of the Council.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

T. G. EASTLAND,
Chairman.

The report was adopted on motion of Messrs. Hawthorne and Fitzgerald.

11. Your committee acknowledge receipt of the award between the Town of Peterborough and this county as to administration of justice and others accounts, awarding that the Town of Peterborough pay this county $3,225 per annum for the above purpose.

12. Your committee recommend that this Council pass a by-law for contracting a sum of money for the purpose of building bridges within the County of Peterborough, making each installment of the principal of the debt repayable by yearly sums, both principal and interest to be repayable in twenty years.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

J. B. PEARCE,
Chairman.

The report was adopted on motion of Messrs. Pearce and Eastland.

The Council then adjourned.

A SPECIAL SALE

—OF—

SLATER SHOES

It's unusual—a special sale of goods so good as the Slater Shoes are. Slater Shoes sell on sight, on their worth, on their value, on the strength of the many points making up a good shoe. But here is a sale.

And by special permission of the Slater Shoe Company—we need not detail all the facts—we have approval. That is as far as the public care, but what interests more is the prices.

Our stock is large. Large for a big city store, where thousands pass the doors and hundreds buy in an hour. Our large stock we want to reduce and make offer :

SLATER SHOES

$5.00 quality in Men's sizes for............$3.00
$3.00 quality in Men's sizes for............$2.00
$3.50 quality in Men's sizes for............$2.00

Every shoe new, bright, and in every way first-class goods. Better buy now. All shades of leather and styles of fastening.

Just a line to say that our Tan and White Canvas Shoes are just the thing for hot weather wear.

ARMIES ABOUT TO JOIN HANDS

cona's Horse.

Capt. Jones and his brigade from H.M.S. Forte have been ordered back to the ship at the admiral's request.

A Lorenzo Marquez despatch of today says: President Kruger's principal condition for immediate peace is that he be allowed to stay in the country. There are 5,000 British sick and wounded at Pretoria. Mrs. Reitz, wife of the Transvaal State Secretary, and her family, who arrived here, en route for Europe, had so little money that the Dutch Consul purchased second-class steamship tickets for them.

THE TWO ARMIES IN TOUCH.

Hamilton's Column Will Meet Buller's Forces To-day and the Boers Will Be Separated.

London, June 23.—The War Office has received the following despatch from Lord Roberts:

"Pretoria, June 22.—Ian Hamilton's column reached the Springs yesterday enroute to Heidelburg, where they will join hands with Buller's troops, who reached Paardekop yesterday, and will be at Standerton to-morrow, thus opening up communication between Pretoria and Natal, and preventing any point of action between the Transvaalers and the people of the Orange River Colony.

"Baden-Powell reports from Rustenburg that he found the leading Boers very pacific and cordial on his return journey here. Commandant Steyn and two actively hostile field cornets had been captured during his absence.

"Lord Edward Cecil, the administrator of the Rustenburg district, has to date collected 3,000 rifles.

"The commissioner at Kroonstad reports that 341 rifles have been handed in at Wolmarnstad."

Dundonald at Kaatsbosch.

Kaatsbosch, June 22.—Gen. Dundonald, with the third cavalry brigade, occupied Standerton to-day without opposition. The burghers left yesterday, after having blown up the railroad bridge and doing other damage. The infantry marched 22 miles yesterday and camped at Kaatsbosch Spruit last night.

Dutch Railroaders Expelled.

Amsterdam, June 22.—The Netherlands Railroad Company of South Africa has received official notification of the expulsion from the Transvaal of 1,400 of its employes with their families.

The Dutch Consul at Lorenzo Marquez telegraphs that a proclamation has been issued to the effect that the company's officials who refuse to do British military transport work will be sent to Europe via East London, Cape Colony.

RUSSIA AND ASIA.

Russia demands permission to land troops in Korea. Where the Russian bear plants his paws the claws are apt to stick.—Brooklyn Eagle.

Japan's contest of Russia's claim to exclusive concessions in Korea may indicate that the shark will try to drag the bear into the water.—Indianapolis Journal.

Korea has yielded to Russia in the matter of the demand for a land grant. The fact that it was a mere formality doesn't make the Japanese any less irritated over the matter.—New York Sun.

Japan being now ready and anxious for a fight, Russia is turning the game in the direction of peace. The European warcloud seems to be run on theatrical lines, with the scene shifters kept busy.—St. Louis Republic.

Russia seems to be capturing all the railway franchises in China, and in Korea her little bluff for a port has succeeded in compelling Korea to promise not to give the port to any other power. It is evident that the Muscovite is determined to have very much to say in Asia in the future.—Milwaukee Wisconsin.

Wheels.

Mr. Sappeigh—I believe I will visit a mind reader and allow him to experiment with me.

Miss Gabby—If you do, he will think he is reading a bicycle advertisement.—Baltimore American.

NO ABATEMENT OF CHINESE TROUBLE

The Allied Forces at Tien Tsin Hard Pressed--Despatch From British Rear Admiral

ALLIED FORCES HARD PRESSED

New York, June 25—The Chinese bombardment of Tien Tsin set fire to the mission buildings first, says the Chefoo correspondent of the Journal and Advertiser. It spread to the native city and destroyed everything. The attacking force, well supplied with modern artillery, has been pressing the small allied force very hard. Already the dead number 160. Relief is being rushed from Taku but the column will have to fight its way through the big Chinese army. Capt. Edward Bayly, of the British armoured cruiser at Taku, signalled the American captains yesterday: "Thank God the Russians were here, otherwise we would all have been murdered."

FROM THE BRITISH REAR ADMIRAL

London, June 25—The Admiralty has received the following despatch from Rear Admiral Brace, dated Taku, via Chefoo, June 24: The total force which left Tien Tsin with the commander-in-chief for Pekin was about 2,000, composed of detachments from the allied ships. No action could possibly be taken to relieve the commander-in-chief because it was only known that he was cut off by Tien Tsin being invested. Tien Tsin has been fighting for its life ever since. It was on receipt of information that the Chinese army had ordered trains for attacking Tien Tsing, that they were ravaging Long Ku and re-inforcing Taku as well as mining the mouth of the Pei Ho that it was promptly determined to seize Taku. Since then every effort has been made to relieve Tien Tsin. I have commandered a small coasting steamer for taking troops and sick and wounded across the bay to Wei Hai-Eei, where I intend making a temporary base hospital and asylum for refugees.

COMMUNICATION IS AGAIN INTERRUPTED

A Convoy From Winburg to Senekel was Driven Back but the Interruption Will Only be Temporary

COMMUNICATION AGAIN INTERRUPTED

Lonnon. June 25—The communications of Senekel with Winburg, the nearest supply point, have been temporarily interrupted. Gen. Clements is at Senekel. A convoy seeking to reach him Friday was driven back. A correspondent cables that the Boers have 1,350 prisoners on the Delagoa Bay line and probably about 800 in the Orange River Colony, which were taken at the Rhenester River. Lords Lietrim and Ennismore have been taken north, with other members of the millionaire's battalion.

Buller at Standerton and Hamilton at Heidelberg.

The Boers Fled in Both Cases—Broadwood Also Had a Skirmish and Routed the Enemy, Capturing Six—Kruger's Force Now 15,000 or 20,000—Boer Capture of Mail Bags the Most Important Incident Reported on Saturday

London, June 25.—The Transvaal militaty incidents are summed up officially by Lord Roberts in the following message to the War Office:

Pretoria, Sunday, 11.30 a. m.—Buller reached Standerton June 22. He found a good deal of rolling stock. All the Dutch residents had left the town.

The British prisoners captured since our occupation of Pretoria, have been taken to Machadodorp.

Hamilton at Heidelberg.

Ian Hamilton occupied Heidelberg Saturday. The enemy fled, pursued by our mounted men six or seven miles. The previous day Broadwood's cavalry had a skirmish with the enemy, dispersing them completely and capturing six.

Hunter's advance brigade reached Johannesburg, toward Heidelberg, June 22.

The enemy attacked our post at Honingspruit, and, before reinforcements arrived from Kroonstad, they had burned three culverts. These had all been repaired by this afternoon.

The Casualties Were 375.

An Associated Press despatch from Cape Town, dated yesterday, says: "The British casualties at Honingspruit were 375 killed and injured."

Sir Redvers Buller, in a despatch to the War Office, says that among the prisoners taken to Marahdodorp are Lords Antrim and Ennismore, both of whom are in good health. Lord Longford was left at Reitz, severely wounded.

Kruger's Force 15,000 or 20,000.

The force now available to President Kruger is officially estimated at from 15,000 to 20,000.

The Standerton correspondent asserts that his sole idea is to hold out until after the American Presidential election. Mr. Kruger is reported to have issued a proclamation on June 17, announcing that the Russians had declared war upon the Japanese, and that Great Britain must help Japan.

MILLIONS MAY RISE ANY DAY

Practically the Whole of Northern China in Ablaze.

Chinese are Using Machine Guns and Best of Modern Field Pieces—Drilled by Russian and German Officers—Situation of the Foreigners Is Desperate—100,000 Men Needed to Grasp China Firmly—Pekin's Silence Has Continued for 14 Days.

London, June 25.—(8 a.m.) — The position of the international forces in the section of Northern China, where 10,000 men are striving to keep a footing and to succor the legations in Pekin, appears to increase in peril with every fresh despatch. Pekin has not been heard from direct for 14 days. The last despatch was one imploring aid. Admiral Seymour's column of 2,000 was last heard from 12 days ago. At that time it was surrounded midway between Pekin and Tien Tsin. Possibly now it has reached Pekin.

100,000 Men Needed.

The 8,000 internationals at Tien Tsin were hard pressed and fighting for their lives on Thursday and a relieving force of less than 1,000 had been beaten back to Taku Friday. Observers on the spot think that 100,000 men would not be too many to grasp China firmly.

International Force Repulsed.

The Admiralty has received the following from the British rear admiral at Taku:

"Che Foo, June 23. — Only one runner has got through from Tien Tsin for five days. No information could be obtained except that the foreign settlement had been almost entirely destroyed and that our people were fighting hard. News is received as this telegram is despatched that an attempt to relieve Tien Tsin on June 22, was repulsed, with some loss. The allied admirals are working in perfect accord, with the Russian vice-admiral as senior officer."

Situation of Foreigners Desperate.

A press message from Shanghai, dated yesterday at 4 p.m., embodies some later information. It says: "Official telegrams confirm the reports of a defeat of the allied forces at Tien Tsin. The foreigners there are now placed in a desperate situation. The Russian Admiral Hilledrat yesterday sent a mixed force of 4,000 from Taku to attempt the relief of Tien Tsin. Nearly half of the force consisted of Japanese. The remainder was made up of contingents representing the other nations. The guns of the Chinese around Tien Tsin are supecior to any thing the defending European force has or is likely to have for some time.

Bombardment Continued Friday.

"The bombardment of Tien Tsin continued Friday. Bombshelters were hastily erected by the foreign troops, largely constructed of wetted piece goods. The food supplies are insufficient, and the continued shelling is reported to be telling terribly. Among those killed of the relief force Friday was the commander of H.M.S. Barfleur. The foreign casualties were 300. Japan is making every effort. Her troops are now arriving at Taku in large numbers. The Chinese troops in the Province of Chi Li include 60,000 auxiliaries who have been drilled by Russian and German officers."

Captain Beatty and Lieut, Wright, British, have been severely wounded at Tien Tsin, according to a Shanghai despatch to The Daily Express, dated Saturday. The information was brought there by the British cruiser Orlando from Che Foo. The losses of the Russians have been heavy.

7,000 Chinese Killed.

It is reported from Shanghai last evening that the allied forces had blown up the Taku forts and that every available man had been sent to the relief of Tien Tsin. Two thousand three hundred Chinese bodies are alleged to have been cremated at Taku and more than 4,000 said to have killed at Tien Tsin. Chinese runners who have arrived at Taku report that foreign force was engaged several days ago with an overwhelming body of Chinese 40 miles west of Tien Tsin. At Shanghai it is assumed that this force was Admiral Seymour's.

Pekin Foreign Settlement in Flames.

The Shanghai correspondent of The Daily Express says: "I learn from a mandarin who stealthily left Pekin on June 16, and who succeeded at great hazard in getting clear, that the Boxers are massed around Pekin, and that more than half of the northern and western portions of the city, including the foreign settlement, were aflame when the mandarin left. He could tell me nothing as to the fate of the foreigners, nor much as to the general situation; but he had heard that the Empress Dowager was preparing to go to the Province of Shan Si.

LIFE..

A question of great interest for intending insurers is which Canadian Life Company is in highest favor with the insuring Canadian public? The following table is a good indicator:

Name of Company.	Commenced Business.	Canadian Business Written in 1899
North American	1881	$4,834,505
Sun Life	1871	3,996,865
Ontario Mutual	1870	3,965,509
Confederation	1871	3,839,469
Canada Life	1847	3,800,917

The above are the five leading Canadian Companies and although the North American is much the youngest in years, she is outstripping all her rivals in the Canadian field.

The division of botany of the department of agriculture has issued circulars to stimulate interest in artichoke raising. Artichokes are now raised in comparatively small quantities in Florida and Louisiana, and the early varieties, which appear in February, bring about $2 a dozen in the New Orleans markets. In April they sell for 15 or 20 cents a dozen in the southern cities, but always command much higher prices in northern markets.

Naval Officers Needed.

As showing the necessity for more commissioned officers in the line of the navy may be noted the fact that on the flagship Iowa a naval cadet is standing regular deck duty as watch and division officer, relieving and being relieved by commissioned officers in one or two cases old enough to be his father.—Army and Navy Journal.

MONDAY, JUNE 25, 1900.

THEIR TIME COMING.

The Toronto Telegram, independent, makes these remarks regarding Ontario's record when comparing it with British Columbia:—

"An autocratic Lieutenant-Governor is not as truly a menace to free and representative institutions as dishonest polling officials.

"Liberty and justice have not suffered as much in British Columbia at the hands of Lieut.-Governor McInnes as liberty and justice have suffered in Ontario at the hands of official scoundrelism in West Huron, North Waterloo, West Elgin and Brockville.

"British Columbia can protect herself against the tyranny of Lieut.-Governor McInnes, but Ontario has not yet found a way to protect herself against the great evil of fraud at the ballot box.

"Lieutenant-Governor McInnes may be an autocrat, but this tyranny could not possibly do as much harm to the cause of public liberty and honest government in British Columbia as Ontario has suffered at the hands of the rascals who turned its bye-elections into a farce and the Government whose apathy failed to move efficiently in the direction of avenging these gravest of all crimes."

The Telegram should remember that Ontario has a way to protect itself against the evil of fraud at the ballot box, but has not yet had any opportunity to exercise its power. When a general election comes round the people will deal with the men in whose interests the frauds were committed and who failed to deal with the guilty ones when the crimes were exposed.

The Ross combination lives by virtue of the work done by the machine, but not by the free expression or choice of the electors.

The Laurier-Tarte-Sifton combination will never be endorsed by the people.

All these rumors of Cabinet changes, of Ministers retiring to go on the bench or into other offices, is a sweeping answer to all the talk of the Liberals of the strength of the Government and its confidence of re-election in the country. If these Ministers retire because they have not given satisfaction as heads of departments and in order to make room for stronger men, this is an admission of weakness that causes the boasts of the Globe and other Liberals to fall flat. If they retire in order to make sure of a good appointment while their friends have office, it is a sure sign that they expect defeat and their just deserts when an election comes on. One of these reasons is at the bottom of retirement, and either one gives answer to the Grits' loud boasting.

Countless thousands have found a blessing to the body in Dr. King's New Life Pills, which positively cure Constipation, Sick Headache, Dizziness, Jaundice, Malaria Fever and Ague and all Liver and Stomach troubles. Purely vegetable; never gripe or weaken. Only 25 cents, at J. Lynch's drug store.

MILLIONS MAY RISE ANY DAY

Chinese Used Machine Guns.

A Che Foo despatch to The Daily Mail, dated yesterday, says: "The attack on the Tien Tsin relief force was made by 20,000 Chinese, using machine guns and modern field pieces. The allies were wise in retreating. Forwarding detachments in this manner is suicidal, and the defeats of the foreigners, even though in small force, greatly aids the movements of the Boxers, which is gaining enormously through the inability of the foreigners to make head against it. Practically the whole of Northern China is ablaze. Hostilities are now conducted on an extended scale, due to direct orders from Pekin. Gen. Yann Shi Kai, Governor of Shan Tung, commands 11,000 foreign-drilled troops, organized to a high pitch of excellence, and equipped with Mausers. It was in the plans that these troops should go to Taku, but the seizure of the forts was effected before they could get there."

Millions May Rise.

Some of the special despatches from Shanghai describe the great southern provinces of China as still quiet, but others assert that the news from the north is exciting the southerners to a dangerous height of feeling, and that millions may rise any day.

Shanghai is quiet, but there are fears of rising.

The powers are said to have fatally under-estimated the numbers, desperation and armament of the Chinese who for three years have been accumulating rifles at the rate of 20,000 a month.

What Will Powers Do?

The question here is, what are the powers going to do? Japan is preparing to tranship this week 10,000 additional troops. Russia is sending down from Vladivostock all her available forces, estimated at from 8,000 to 9,000 men, although recent events have shown that the number of Russians on the Pacific coast has been over-estimated. The Indian Council held a special meeting at Simla yesterday and considered the advisability of sending more troops.

Russia, according to a Che Foo correspondent, is sending 30,000 troops all told.

Says State of War Does Not Exist.

The St. Petersburg correspondent of The Daily Telegraph, in a despatch dated Saturday, sends a long statement embodying the views of the Russian Foreign Office, prepared by permission of the late Count Muravieff, and embodying not only his views, but those of his successor, Count Lamsdorff. This statement holds that a state of war does not exist under international law, and hence it is possible to assume that the order for active military operations at Taku originated with the provincial authorities at Pekin.

"Like other nations," says the statement, "Russia is pursuing humanitarian aims, and it can be categorically stated that Japan is following the same correct and pacific aims as the other powers. Past experiences show that the Chinese do not persist in fighting. Probably they will soon change their attitude to one of complete submission."

Thinks Legations Can Hold Out.

M. Neratoff, the author of the statement, who is an important official of the Foreign Office, added that he thought the legations would be able to hold out till relief arrived.

Britain and the U.S. in Unison.

United States Ambassador Choate, in his long conference with Lord Salisbury, is understood to have found that the Governments of the United States and Great Britain are generally in agreement. Mr. Choate communicated with Washington after the interview.

FOREIGNERS SAFE WEDNESDAY.

Sheng, Director of Chinese Telegraphs, Gives Out News.

London, June 25.—The Shanghai correspondent of The Times says: "Sheng, Director of Telegraphs, declares that information was received to-day (Friday), June 22, to the effect that the foreigners in Pekin were safe on Wednesday, June 20, but that all the legations had been burned except the British, Austrian and Belgian.

"Sheng says he has news from Pekin, by courier, to Shan Tung, that the foreign Ministers in Pekin are demanding their passports, and that the Tsung Li Yamen is disposed to comply with their requests."

If this news be true it would imply the correctness of the reports of the arrival of Admiral Seymour at Pekin.

Boxers' Inflammatory Placards.

London, June 25.—At Canton the Boxers are posting inflammatory placards of which the following is a sample:

"Kill all Germans, Americans and English. To have peace prevail in the hearts Europeans should be driven out. This end can be attained in a few days if we unite our strength."

Five More British Cruisers.

The British Admiralty has ordered five more cruisers to go to China. This represents an additional 50,000 tons, the crews aggregating 3,000.

U.S. Troops Ambushed.

Washington, June 25.—The Navy Department yesterday afternoon issued the following bulletin:

"A telegram from Admiral Kempff, dated at Che Foo, June 24, says:

"In ambuscade near Tien Tsin, on the 21st. Four of Waller's command killed, and seven wounded. Names will be furnished as soon as received. Force of 2000 going to relieve Tien Tsin to-day. (Sgd.) Kempff."

HEART DISEASE

is a symptom of Kidney Disease. A well-known doctor has said, "I never yet made a post-mortem examination in a case of death from Heart Disease without finding the kidneys were at fault." The Kidney medicine which was first on the market, most successful for Heart Disease and all Kidney Troubles, and most widely imitated is Baron Von Ketteler Is Well.

Berlin, June 25.—The Chinese Minister here, Lu Hai Houan, on Saturday informed the Foreign Office that the German Minister at Pekin, Baron Von Ketteler, who was reported to have been killed by Boxers, was safe and well.

CHINESE HAD 45 KRUPP GUNS.

The United States Consulate at Tien Tsin Has Been Burned.

Shanghai, June 23.—Prince Tuan has taken charge as general-in-chief, after dismissing Yong Lu, a nephew of the Empress, the former commander-in-chief. Prince Tuan gave notice that he would march to Tien Tsin and sweep out the handful of foreigners there. At daylight on the morning of June 21 he attacked the settlements of Tien Tsin with artillery and the best foreign drilled troops. The Chinese army had about 45 Krupps. They managed to burn the United States Consulate.

Though the situation is grave, the Chinese have not occupied Tien Tsin. The latest news from Pekin emanating from authentic sources is to the effect that there is no change in the situation. This is understood to mean that the legations still hold out. The Chinese have surrounded them, but do not dare to make another attack. Apparently they hope to starve out those who have taken refuge there.

MANY WHITES WERE KILLED.

In the Bombardment of Tien Tsin, Says Elder Frederick Brown.

New York, June 25.—The Journal and Advertiser on Saturday printed a copyrighted despatch from Rev. Frederick Brown, presiding elder of the Tien Tsin district of the Methodist Episcopal church. The despatch is dated at Che Foo, June 22, and is as follows:

"I have just got away from Tien Tsin on a German gunboat. The city has been bombarded for several days by the Chinese. All the foreign part of Tien Tsin has been destroyed. Lieutenant Wright, of our navy, and 150 others of the white residents, marines and sailors sent up to our assistance are killed or wounded. The American consulate building has been destroyed. Ammunition is almost gone. The garrison are suffering terribly and need instant help."

SEEK SERVICE IN CHINA.

A Company, R.C.R., at Victoria, Offer for Serious Work.

Victoria, B.C., June 25.—The men of A Company, Third R.C.R., who were diverted from Halifax to assist in garrisoning Esquimalt, have not been slow to show that that they are ready for more serious work than sentry duty at a military station. Saturday they placed in the hands of their C.O., Col. McKay, a memorial signed by every man from color-sergt. to bugler, asking that they be permitted to serve the Queen in China or elsewhere. Col. McKay enclosed his own request for service with that of the men and despatched it to Ottawa, endorsed by Col. Benson, D.O.C., Victoria. Being only 14 days from China, all the troops here regard their despatch thither as probable in case of emergency.

41 PEOPLE KILLED.

Two Railroad Accidents in the United States Which Resulted in Frightful Loss of Life.

Atlanta, Ga., June 25.—A passenger train on the Macon branch of the Southern Railway ran into a wash-out one and a half miles north of McDonough, Ga., Saturday night and was completely wrecked. The wreck caught fire and the entire train with the exception of the sleeper, was destroyed. Every person on the train except the occupants of the Pullman car perished. Not a member of the train crew escaped. Thirty-five people in all were killed.

Killed Going to the Saengerfest.

Green Bay, Wis., June 25.—A northbound passenger train on the Chicago and Northwestern road, loaded with excursionists, bound for the saengerfest in this city, collided at 10.15 yesterday morning with a freight train at Depere, 50 miles south of here. Six persons were killed, one is missing and 34 were injured. None of the trainmen were injured, the engineer crews jumping in time to save themselves.

Freight Smash on C.A.R.

Ottawa, June 25.—A collision of two freight trains took place at Glen Robertson on the Canada Atlantic on Saturday. Both trains were eastbound. John Lyon, fireman, of Ottawa, was badly injured. He had his leg broken in two places. Beyond some rolling stock being injured, no serious damage was done.

THE SAFE WONDER.

Mr. A. Gravelle, the Ponton Expert Safe Witness, Opens a Safe in Ottawa Fire-Swept District.

Ottawa, June 25.—The man whom no lock can defy or withstand, Mr. Arthur Gravelle, of The Renfrew Journal, was in the city Saturday. The trip was made at the request of the Merchants' Bank, who called on him to open one of the safes in the Hull branch, situated on Main street, in the fire-swept district. The bankers' appeal was not made in vain, for after one hour's work, Mr. Gravelle succeeded in exposing the interior to daylight and the anxious gaze of the officials once more. The contents were found to have escaped the flames. The combination was a four-wheel one, the safe being built by Taylor Company of Toronto. His task was made all the more difficult by the fact that all the metal work in the combination had been overheated in the fire. Mr. Gravelle is the man who gave expert evidence regarding opening safes at the Ponton trial.

AMERICANS AMBUSHED.

Found the Filipino Insurgents Strong Up the Tagayan River.

Washington, June 25.—The War Department has received the following cablegram from Gen. MacArthur:

"Manila, June 23.—Adjutant-General, Washington: Detachment four officers, 100 men, 40th Volunteer Infantry, Captain Millar commanding, left Tagayan, June 13, on reconnaissance up Tagayan River, morning, ambushed by insurgents in strong position. Fifty men sent to reinforce from Tagayan could not take position, and troops withdrew to coast post."

Then follows a list of killed, of which there are seven. Also a list of eleven wounded, and one missing.

Bourassa Says He's Loyal.

Winnipeg, June 25.—The St. Jean Baptiste celebration commenced yesterday at St. Boniface, 120 French-Canadians from the Lower Provinces who arrived Saturday, participating. They had an exceedingly pleasant day. Henri Bourassa, M.P., is among the number. In an interview here he declared he was a loyal subject of Queen Victoria, but took exception to Canada throwing her sons into the South African war, and he believed time would justify his position.

In Boston fire horses have been supplanted by the automobile fire engine. It is claimed that the automobile is swifter in starting, no matter how well trained the horses may have been, and the motors can be handled more easily in crowded streets.

WISHING

It may be true of virtue that "But to wish more virtue is to gain," but it is not true that wishing for health brings us a step nearer the realization of our wish. Health must be sought and striven for. There are more than half a million people who have found health, each in the same way, and by the same means. That way and means are open to you. If you are suffering with obstinate, lingering cough, bleeding of the lungs, bronchitis, emaciation, weakness, a condition which if neglected or unskilfully treated, leads to consumption, begin at once the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It never fails to help. It perfectly heals ninety-eight out of every hundred who give it a fair and faithful trial.

Sick persons are invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter absolutely free of all fee or charge. Every letter is held as strictly private and sacredly confidential, and all answers are sent in plain envelopes, bearing no printing upon them. The experience of Dr. Pierce [illegible] enables him to suggest auxiliary treatment specially adapted to the individual case. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

LIGHT RAINS IN MANITOBA.

Present Dominion Parliamentary Sesions to End in 10 Days.

A Kingston Man, Engineer of the Str. Glengarry, Drowned at Buffalo—John Hodgson Missing From His Home Near Ayr, Ont., Since Thursday Last—Edward Baker 19-Year-Old Burglar, Sentenced.

Toronto Masons had a church parade 700 strong, on Sunday.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier is reported to have said that the session will end within 10 days.

The funeral of ex-Ald John Hallam of Toronto on Saturday was largely attended.

Harry Baker, aged 14, was drowned in the Neebing River at Fort William on Saturday evening while bathing.

Light rains fell at a few points in Manitoba on Sunday. The intense heat experienced for several days has abated.

The bubonic plague has re-appeared at Oporto, the case of a woman in the civil hospital there being officially reported.

Mr. Charles Knapper, engineer on the steamer Glengarry, was drowned Saturday night at Buffalo. He was a Kingstonian, aged 30 and unmarried.

E. Claflin of Washington blew out his brains in a hotel in London, Eng., Saturday. He was a student at Cornell University, and had lived at Itacha, N.Y.

John Boyer, a switchman at Moncton, N.B., lost his life Sunday morning. His foot caught in a frog and he was mangled from his foot to his shoulder.

It is understood that the marriage of Lady Randolph Churchill to Lieut. George Cornwalls West of the Scots Guards will take place quietly in London on Wednesday.

The steamer Grand Lake, which has just returned from Labrador, reports immense bodies of ice along the coast, and extending far eastward into the Atlantic.

George Jonathan, a farmer from East Flamboro, fell off his rig at Hamilton on Saturday night, and was seriously hurt. He was taken to the General Hospital.

Cologne was visited on Sunday by a cyclone which demolished many buildings and blew down a number of factory chimneys. Several persons were badly injured.

A young man named John Hodgson, who lived on a farm near Ayr, Ont., has been missing since Thursday night at 5 o'clock. There is some suspicion of suicide.

Prominent Colombians say the recent sacking of settlements in Ecuador was the work of Colombian Government troops, who, not being paid, took this step to raise funds.

At Swan River, Man., on Tuesday last two men named Bell and Staples were suffocated by gas in a well. Bell had gone down to save Staples from death, when he was himself overcome.

Six-year-old Joseph Pollio, a handsome child, and the nephew of a wealthy diamond setter of New York, has been kidnapped, according to the New York police, to be held for ransom.

Edward Baker, the 19-year-old burglar who burglarized the Michigan Central Station at Niagara Falls Centre on the 19th inst., has been sentenced to one year and 364 days in the Central Prison and a second term of six months.

The French authorities have carefully concealed the fact that an attempt upon the life of Prince Albert of Monaco last Thursday morning, just as he was leaving Paris. The would-be murderer was a wealthy German, whose only son committed suicide last March at Monte Carlo, after losing all his personal property and a large amount of borrowed money.

INSTIGATED BY THE BOERS.

The Ashanti Uprising the Work of Dr. Muller, Their Political Agent.

London, June 25.—The Ashanti rebellion which is assuming an exceedingly grave aspect, is now known by the British Government to have been fomented by Boer emissaries acting under the direction of Dr. Muller, the political agent of the Orange Free State at The Hague.

Force to Relieve Coomassie.

Prahsu, Saturday, June 23.—Sufficient supplies have at last been collected, and the final advance to open communications with Coomassie will begin to-morrow (Sunday).

On the road from Ashantes to Kwahou are three villages, where are gathered some 2,000 fighting men who have practised the rites of fetish worship and pledged themselves to help the Ashantees.

The Fenians Were Deported.

New York, June 25.—Joseph Mullet, "The Dwarf," and James Fitzharris, known as "Skin the Goat," the Irishmen who served seventeen years in an English prison for complicity in the Phoenix Park murders, and who arrived [illegible] May 27 last, were deported on Saturday [illegible] at [illegible] o'clock. The Board of Special Inquiry found they were persons of moral turpitude, and not political offenders, and ordered their deportation.

THE BACKACHING KIDNEY SUFFERER

Is not referred to Far Away People for Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablet Evidence. The Great Kidney Remedy rolls up Volumes of Proof in Every Community.

IN PETERBOROUGH.

Mrs. Jerome Lajeunesse, Louis-st., says:—"For two years I have had lots of trouble with my back and kidneys, and seeing your pamphlet, called at Ormond & Walsh's drug store and got a bottle of Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets. They did me a world of good. They are the gentlest, easiest medicine I have ever taken, and I like them very much, and can assure any one that I recommend them heartily."

Mrs. Armstrong, Rubidge-st., says:—"For many years I have had trouble with my kidneys, and pain across my back. I have used all kinds of medicine in the past without any good results. I heard of the many cures that Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets were making and got a bottle from Ormond & Walsh, druggists, and it has made it possible for me to attend to my work. I am glad to recommend them to others as certain to do good."

If you have the slightest symptom of Kidney or Bladder trouble, you can test this great medicine free. Arrangements have been made whereby every reader of this paper can obtain a trial package of Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets absolutely free by enclosing two cent stamp for postage to the Pitcher Tablet Co., Toronto, Ont. When giving address mention this paper. Regular size 50 cents per bottle.

THE TURF RECORD.

Emerson Cochran of Lexington, Ky., recently refused $4,000 for a 2-year-old filly by Clay King.

Sister Alice, 2:16¼, was recently stepped a quarter by McHenry over the Empire City (New York) track in 30¼ seconds.

Bonnatella won two races in Austria in April, beating such horses as Countess Eve, Athanio, Royal Baron and Ruth Wilkes.

The pacer Tom Tipton, 2:15¼, which is entered through the grand circuit, showed a mile at Selma recently in 2:14, last half in 1:04.

Red Shedd, a green pacer which S. D. Houghton of Worcester will campaign extensively this season, worked a mile in 2:20 last year.

Eb Clark has a grand prospect in Bulton M, 6, by Almont Brunswick. He stepped a quarter in 34 seconds at Point Breese (Pa.) track the other day.

Little Tobe, who as a trotter secured a record of 2:19¼, recently stepped a half mile at the pace in 1:09 and repeated in 1:06½ over the Baltimore track.

The veteran trainer Sam Earing has a green pacer at work on the Bethlehem (Pa.) track that is showing quarter miles in 32 seconds and eighths in 14¾ seconds.

Parole, 2:16, has been pronounced by many horsemen the handsomest member of the Patron, 2:14¼—Prodigal, 2:16—Patronage branch of the Pancoast family.

Prussian Maid, 2:19, has foaled a filly at Park Ridge, Ills., by Star Pointer, 1:59¼. The filly is marked with star, snip, left front and hind ankles white and stood 40 inches high an hour after birth.

The 5-year-old brown mare Pristine, by Parole, 2:16, will be raced this season in George A. Fuller's stable. She stands over 16 hands and is as handsome a big mare as ever stepped a track. Her owner, Mr. D. E. Hallock of York, Pa., thinks a record close to 2:10 is within her reach this year.

THE GLASS OF FASHION.

Taffeta silk Eton coats in either black or white are a very distinctive feature of fashion this season.

Sailor hats of Sumatra straw are one of the novelties. Khaki colored sailors with black or red bands are favored by English girls.

Renaissance lace braid is used as a trimming for silk waists, sewed on in a straight line between groups of tucks and for wash dresses in a trellis design.

Colored batiste, checked, striped and plain, is used for petticoats, trimmed elaborately with lace. These are recommended as much cooler than silk for summer wear.

Beautiful ribbons made of soft, glossy silk are brocaded with velvet floral designs in the natural colors. Gauze ribbons with satin spots and cashmere printed silk ribbons are special features in the ribbon department.

If there can be a rage for any one item of dress, it is exemplified this season in the cravats. They are on nearly every gown in some form and confront you in the shops in formidable battalions which defy description.

In hats beige tinted straws are very popular, and gauze or tulle with one very large rose nodding at one side is a favorite trimming. Ecru tulle on a pure white straw with one immense rose of blue or pink at one side is charming.

A novelty in waists is made of ecru linen crash, woven with a coarse thread and open mesh, which makes it semitransparent. It is trimmed with bands of white linen embroidered in colors or with narrow heavy lace insertion and black velvet ribbon.—New York Sun.

APHORISMS.

It needs a man to perceive a man.—A. B. Alcott.

A fool flatters himself, a wise man flatters a fool.—Bulwer.

There is nothing perfectly secure but poverty.—Longfellow.

Order is man's greatest need and his true well being.—Amiel.

There is nothing stronger than human prejudice.—Wendell Phillips.

A life of pleasure is the most unpleasing life in the world.—Goldsmith.

The heart has eyes that the brain knows nothing of.—C. H. Parkhurst.

There is a limit at which forbearance ceases to be a virtue.—Burke.

Be a philosopher, but amid all your philosophy be still a man.—Hume.

There is no friendship, no love, like that of parent for child.—H. W. Beecher.

There is no genius in life like the genius of energy and activity.—Mitchell.

There is always room for a man of force, and he makes room for many.—Emerson.

Nothing is so wretched or foolish as to anticipate misfortunes. What madness it is to be expecting evil before it comes.—Seneca.

ITEMS OF INTEREST.

Eleven millions of men are said to belong to the great Chinese society of Boxers.

The Englishman possesses on an average $1,480, the Dutchman $720, the Belgian and the German $780, the Austrian and Italian $500, the Russian $300. The Frenchman possesses $1,-300.

A Frank Confession.

An old Ulster woman who had made money by selling whisky in a village on fair and market days was visited when she lay dying by a minister, to whom she spoke about her temporal as well as her spiritual affairs.

"And so, Molly," said the minister, "you tell me you are worth all that money?"

"Indeed, minister, I am," replied Molly.

"And you tell me," continued the minister seriously, "that you made it by filling the noggin?"

"Na, na, minister," exclaimed the dying woman; "I made maist of it by not fillin the noggin!"

A Bad Case of Asthma.

Mrs. George Budden, Putnamville, Ont., says:—"I feel it my duty to recommend Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine, as I had the Asthma very bad; could get nothing to do me any good. A friend of mine persuaded me to try this remedy, as he had tried it, and it proved successful. I tried it and it cured me. I am thankful to-day to say I am a well woman through the use of this remedy. I keep it in the house all the time, and would not be without it."

REV. MR. MOORE'S FAREWELL

The Mark-st. Pastor Preaches His Farewell Discourse.

At the Mark-st Methodist church last evening, Rev. Mr. Moore preached his farewell sermon to a large congregation previous to taking his departure for Newburg after three years of successful work in Ashburnham. He delivered a very impressive and appropriate address from the text Philippians 4, 1, "Therefore my brethren, dearly beloved and longed for, my joy and crown, so stand fast in the Lord, my dearly beloved.' His closing words were:—In conclusion, let me urge you to stand fast. "Steadfast is the liberty wherewith Christ hath made you free, and be not entangled in the yoke of bondage." I desire to thank the official board, the Trustees, the Epworth League, the W.M.S., the Ladies' Aid, and especially the choir and Sunday school for their co-operation in the work of the Lord during the pastorate at Mark-st. I want you to give your new minister a right royal welcome, and co-operate with him and his family in building up the cause of God. Again on behalf of Mrs. Moore and our boys, I thank you for your many acts of kindness and consideration. Finally; farewell.

REV. MR. SHOREY'S FAREWELL WORDS

HE ADDRESSED SOME EARNEST WORDS TO THE GEORGE-ST. CONGREGATION

He Acknowledged Many Kindnesses Received and Spoke a Word for the Church Board, the Choir and Other Church Organizations—Reference to His Successor.

Last evening Rev. S. J. Shorey closed his pastorate of the George-st. Methodist church insofar as his duties as a preacher are concerned, and in an earnest discourse he said his words of farewell to the people over whom he has presided for the past three years. On Thursday he will finally sever all ties as pastor, when he will leave with his family for Picton, where he will be located for the next Conference term. Needless to say Rev. Mr. Shorey has endeared himself to his congregation both as preacher and as pastor, and the people of George-st. listened to his farewell words with feelings of keen regret. Outside his own congregation Rev. Mr. Shorey has also many friends, who have valued him both as a preacher and as a citizen, and these join with the members of his congregation in the feelings of regret at his departure. His successor will be Rev. Mr. Wilson, who, with his family, will arrive here on Thursday next. The new pastor will conduct the services next Sabbath.

Rev. Mr. Shorey was unable, owing to illness, to be present at the morning service in George-st., but, though still suffering from the effects of his sickness, he was present to preach his closing sermon in the evening. He was assisted in the service by Rev. Mr. Kilgour, who had preached in the morning. Rev. Mr. Shorey's text were the words of Paul to the Philippians, "Finally brethren."

What it must have cost Paul, remarked the preacher, to write those words, especially to write them to the Philippian church, the church for which he seemed to have had deeper personal regard than any other. He spoke of the affection Paul evinced for the Philippian church and of the significance and weight of last words between friends or the greater weight of last words when attended with the closing of official responsibilities and relations—last words of exhortation, encouragement, warning and benediction. And now, he said, without comparing great things with small, I have come to the time in my relations with this church when I must say "finally brethren," and there are many things I would like to say. He must speak, he said, of the many kindnesses he had received from their hands. Paul did not pass over such kindness. He would like to say that he was not indifferent to or ignorant of

THE MANY OBLIGATIONS

he had been placed under by the kindness he had met with on every hand. There were adversities and trials in the Methodist ministry, and, while they had these trials, yet the life of the Methodist minister to-day was one of almost unbroken kindness at the hands of the people. From the time he had entered the ministry to the present he had never met with anything in a large way but unvarying and ever-increasing kindness. He was prepared to acknowledge that he had not seen the rough side of the Methodist minister's life. His lot had fallen in very pleasant places and his had been a goodly heritage, a pleasant experience, and he desired to acknowledge kindness he had met with all along and the unbounded kindness of people into whose faces he was looking. He had never asked a thing but the people were ready to do it. When they got to see as he saw there was always the readiest and most generous response. He then went on to say a word or two about some of the church organizations. First he spoke of the Church Board, the work of which was seldom appreciated as it should be. The members of this Board did their work year in and year out, and very often all they got for it was fault finding. This Board, added the preacher, did not ask me to say this, they did not know I was going to say this, and I do not say it for any purpose, for I am leaving them, but they have treated me as a man, and I say they are worthy of your confidence. They are not all saints, for if they were they would not be here. Then he remarking that in a report on the state of church work presented to Conference a rather sweeping charge had been made against church choirs. But, he said, if you have people to lead in the service of song you must have people who can sing. You can't take people because they are good, they must be able to sing. It is true there have been church choirs that were really no substantial value to church work. What is the remedy? Get up and scold? No, I believe there is a more excellent way. I believe that under wise guidance and direction a church choir may become of great value in the church service, and I say the choir here has been an inspiration to the service, and if there are any unconverted people among the members, I pray God will convert them and help them to sing out of the abundance of their heart. He went on to point out the difficulties of the choir in preparing music, and said it was doing a great deal for which it received very little thanks. Then he referred to the Young People's Societies, to the Ladies Aid and to the Sunday school. The Ladies' Aid were doing an important work without making many demands, and he said they could do a great work by the social gathering of the congregation together. The church was not acquainted as it should be. People went out after service on this side and people on that, and one half did not know the other half. This would never be remedied by Sunday services, but must be met by such societies as the Ladies' Aid getting to know the whole congregation. Mr. Shorey then, as Paul, spoke a word of warning to the indifferent, and then a word of encouragement. In saying a last word he said his ministry was before them and he asked them to regard and consider it in the spirit of that verse, "Finally brethren whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report; if there be any virtue and if there be any praise think on these things." Anything that was good, or helpful, or inspiring, or of good report that he had said or done, he asked them to gather these out and think on them, forgetting what was faulty and defective.

SPOKE OF THE CHOIR,

HIS SUCCESSOR.

In concluding he made reference to his successor, who had been heard of by all and heard by many. He had been acceptable wherever he had been. What more need be said. He was not a saint, although probably more saintly than their present minister, at least he looked more saintly for Mr. Wilson was a delicate looking man and dark men never looked saintly. Mr. Wilson could be dressed in any kind of clothes and he would be recognized as a minister, but, said Mr. Shorey, "you have to dress me as a minister in order to know I am one." But his successor was not a saint, and if he was he would be lonely here, but was just a godly, honest man, who would preach the Gospel to do good, and the best I ask for him, he added, is that you give him the same kind treatment that you gave me. Rev. Mr. Shorey closed with a reference to his work in which he could say he had been no respecter of persons, and with an earnest benediction.

At the close of the service the choir sang the hymn "God be with you till we meet again."

PETERBOROUGH BOY MARRIED

Wedding of Mr. Herb King to Miss Frances Swift, of Kenosha, Wisconsin.

Cards received in town to-day announce the wedding of Mr. Herb King, a former Peterborough boy, now of Chicago, to Miss Frances Swift, of Kenosha, Wis., which took place at the Congregational parsonage, Kenosha, on June 20th. Mr. and Mrs. King will reside at 538 Greenleaf-Ave, Rogers park, Chicago. Many friends of Mr. King in town will wish him and his bride all happiness.

ILL WITH SMALLPOX

Bert Roberts is Down With the Dread Disease in Liverpool.

His friends will learn with regret and anxiety that word was received in town this morning of the illness with smallpox of Mr. Albert G. J. Roberts, at Liverpool, Eng. Mr. Roberts, who is a well-known young man of town and whose family reside here, left a few weeks ago for the Old Country to take a position with an electric company.

The letter this morning states that he is down with smallpox in Liverpool, where he contracted the disease. The Medical Health Officer communicated with Otonabee Lodge, I.O.O.F., of which Mr. Roberts was a member. He stated that it was a case of unmodified smallpox and would take six weeks at least to run its course.

His friends will hope for "Bert's" speedy recovery.

St. John's Lawn Social To-night.

The ladies of St. John's have been hard at work preparing for the lawn social to-night. The grounds will be illuminated and a pleasant and successful entertainment is expected.

THE FIELD OF GENERAL SPORT

THE PETERBOROUGHS DEFEAT OSHAWA IN A GREAT GAME OF BASEBALL

The Local Team Playing Great Ball—The Ladies' Golf Tournament—Other Notes of Summer Sports.

The first Oshawa man up to bat on Saturday afternoon knocked the ball over the fence twice, the first a foul over the grand stand shed, and the second a fair hit over left field fence, on which he scored a home run. It was a good beginning for their team and they looked as if they might perform all kinds of wonders. But it was a false alarm, and in the second innings the Peterborough team took a safe lead and held it to the finish, winning by a score of 9 runs to 6.

There was a large crowd present and the game proved an interesting one. Both teams furnished good ball and there were many pretty plays. The teams are playing better ball than they did in the earlier part of the season. McCabe pitched a splendid game for Peterborough and was given good support. The work of Parnell at short stop was especially good. Dr. Andy Scott made his first appearance with the team, playing third base, Sheridan being moved out to centre field. Oshawa started the game with Stapleton in the box, but Peterborough batted him all over the field, and in the third innings, Bone, the little left arm twirler, was substituted and pitched a remarkably fine game for the balance of the contest. He is the star of the Oshawa team. Their centre field man raked in quite a number of long flies during the afternoon.

The match started about 3.45. The Oshawa batter made a home run and other hits filled up the bases, but on a clever double play engineered by Parnell the side was retired with 2 runs. In their half Peterborough made 1.

In the second innings Oshawa was blanked and Peterborough went in for a big haul. Connors made a base hit and Sheridan a 3 base hit. Mulhall distinguished himself in his base running. Five runs in all were tallied.

Bad throwing in the infield allowed Oshawa to make three runs in the third round, and the teams were pretty nearly even when Peterborough was retired for the innings without a run, two men being struck out by Bone. Neither side scored in the 4th, leaving the standing 6—5 for Peterborough. They increased their lead by 3 runs in the fifth. In the 9th an Oshawa man made a home run, but he was the only one allowed to cross the plate and the home team were winners by 9—6 and an innings.

Young and Chaucer Elliott, of Kingston, who are playing ball with Lindsay, came down with Oshawa to see the match.

Cinnamon, the catcher of the Oshawa team, furnished lots of sport for the crowd by his efforts to win out, both by hard play and by calling on the rule book for consultation every little while.

The score was as follows:—

WITH THE SOLDIERS AT KROONSTAD

PRIVATE TURNER TELLS OF EVENTS IN SOUTH AFRICA

The Northward Progress of the Troops —Looking for the End of the War.

The following letter has just been received from Private Chil. Turner, of the C.M.R., and will be read with interest by the friends:—

Kroonstad, May 12, 1900.

Dear Parents,—We arrived here last night only to find the Boers had fled from this town, which is a very strong position. We all believe that they will very soon yield to the British. Since my last letter we have had two hard battles on the 15th inst. I was in charge of the B squad mess waggon, which was in rear of the Canadian Mounted Rifles, when the Boers commenced shelling very heavily and the horses took fright and ran over an ant hill upsetting the cart and throwing the driver out, but the horses did not get away and there we were fixing it with the shells coming all the faster. All kinds of trouble, eh? We leave here in the morning for the Vaal river, where we expect a big fight, and I think this will end all the war. The Boers blew up all the bridges around here and also the railway station.

This is a very pretty place, being situated, like Bloemfontein, in a valley surrounded by hills. I am still enjoying myself as usual. This is Sunday, but since we left Cape Town Sunday has always been our day for fighting until to-day. I wrote you a few days ago, which I hope you will receive O.K. I think we shall be home again all safe and sound in about three months. This is a regular [illegible] for me as I commandeer everything [illegible] the country for the officers and myself. I am really used like a prince. Of course it is impossible for me to get any mail now, as the nearest mail station is Bloemfontein, about 80 miles from here. Well, dear parents, I think I have told you all for the present, but will write soon again. Hoping all the neighbors and yourselves are enjoying the best of health, I close with love to all.

Your loving son,

ACHILLES.

MASONIC SERVICE AT ALL SAINT'S

REV. W. L. ARMITAGE PREACHES AN APPROPRIATE AND FORCEFUL SERMON

A Large Representation of the Craft Present—The Two St. Johns—What Masonry is and is not—Resolutions of Thanks.

Yesterday was the anniversary of St. John the Baptist, and in accordance with a custom very generally observed, Peterborough Lodge, No. 155, A.F. & A.M., accompanied by members of Corinthian Lodge, and other visiting brethren, attended divine service. The brethren assembled at Masonic hall and shortly before four o'clock marched to All Saints' church, where Rev. W. L. Armitage, W. M., of Peterborough Lodge, conducted service and preached the sermon. The discourse was most appropriate to the occasion, and was forceful and earnest in truth and delivery.

The church had been appropriately decorated for the service in blue and white, and the choir rendered special music which added greatly to the service, which was heartily entered into throughout.

The reverend gentleman took as his text the words "This is John the Baptist" from St. Matt. 14, 2.

After referring to the ancient origin of Masonry, Rev. Mr. Armitage pointed out that the principles of Masonry, though ancient, are not peculiar to that Order, although it emphazises them. We see them changed in their application to human life according to circumstances, yet they are unchanged. We see these principles in the lives of the two St. Johns.

St. John the Baptist was spoken of by the Lord as the greatest of his time, yea, of all time. He comes to lay the foundation stone of the Kingdom of God.

St. John the Evangelist was the beloved disciple of Christ, beloved because of his great character. He sent forth his truth into the world and for his teaching he was banished into exile. He proclaimed the divine love of God and gave his life rather than give over preaching his great truth.

Operative masonry is an art founded on the science of geometry, a science the study of which has given the world great temples and other buildings. Freemasonry is built on

MORAL GEOMETRY.

It builds up great temples in the soul, builds up everything beautiful, it teaches great allegorical lessons. The society is called Masons because it endeavors to build up the character and improve the life by contact with the things which we meet in daily life. From these things must be built the great spiritual temple which will be to the glory of God.

Some say that Masonry is contrary and contradictory to Christianity. Rev. Mr. Armitage denied this emphatically. Those that say this do not know the A B C of Masonry. While the name of Christ is not mentioned by name it does not necessarily need the mention of his name that He may be taken as leader. The old Testament, on whose precepts, as its ancient character must show, it was founded, taught of the coming of Christ. Masonry is not claimed to be a divine work but is a society of men banded together for the performance of those works which are peculiar to the teaching of God. It teaches men to do their duty, it teaches them to exalt and practise the highest virtues and to have faith in God, to whom at the last the account must be rendered.

John the Baptist was sent into the world on a peculiar mission. He went into the great wilderness and Judea and from thence he reflected the light which came from the celestial East. His great work teaches us the one great lesson to begin with. He was asked who he was and he was ready with this answer, "I am not the Christ, I am the voice of one crying in the wilderness." The point is that each one should in life. He should know his duty in the world. To be a true Mason is to be worthy of living with true men, to be fitted for duties in this life and to be able to fulfil honorable associations with all men. We believe in God and should trust Him and look to Him to know what is our duty, then carry it out with perfect fidelity. The greatest men of the world are the men who have been faithful to the trust committed to them.

St. John the Baptist preached with great fidelity. He reproved and rebuked when necessary. He appeared before Herod and protested against the corruption and wickedness of the court. He also stood up to proclaim the purity of the family life. This is one of the principles upheld by Masonry, the SANCTITY OF THE HOME.

This caused him to come under the displeasure of Herod and he was cast into prison and languished there for a long time. He was faithful to the end and gave over his life to his persecutors.

It is the duty of every Mason to apply the principles of the Order to his private life and hold them in strict fidelity. Each must preserve sanctity in the home and among his fellow men. It is also their duty to reprove wrongdoing, however, hard it may be to fulfil this trust.

It is sometimes claimed that Masonry is against empires and is dangerous to government. Every Mason knows how foolish such a statement is. The Order does not interfere in politics. Recently, STAGE GLINTS.

Quiller Couch, the Cornish novelist, is writing a play.

Nellie McHenry is going to star in "M'liss" next season.

Washington is to be promoted to a two weeks' stand for the best theatrical attractions.

Maude Adams Kiskadden (her name off the stage) has purchased a house in New York for $35,000.

Mme. Scalchi has decided to go into vaudeville. She is being advertised under the management of Robert Grau.

It is said that Stratford-on-Avon nets about $40,000 a year from Shakespeare worshiping pilgrims, most of whom are Americans.

Alice Shaw and her two daughters, the famous whistlers, have arrived in New York. They are returning from a tour in South Africa.

It is now claimed that Rostand is not original in his "L'Aiglon" idea. An Italian, Richard Castelvecchio, treated the subject 40 years ago.

Shakespeare's "A Midsummer Night's Dream" is to be revived on a big scale next season by Wagenhals and Kemper, with Louis James as Bottom and Kathryn Kidder as Helena.

Paul Kester has written a new play founded on Nell Gwynn's adventures that, it is said, Julia Neilson will produce next season when she takes control of the Haymarket theater, London.

THE FAT IN
the food supplies warmth and strength; without it the digestion, the muscles, the nerves and the brain are weak, and general debility follows. But fat is hard to digest and is disliked by many.

CHILDREN'S COLUMN.

Want to Become Clowns.

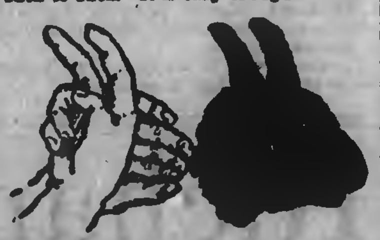
The average boy cannot help thinking that to travel with a circus must be the grandest life in the world, but to be the clown as well would be the very height of bliss. Even the children who travel with the show envy the clown and want to learn his business. With one of the big shows out this year is a "circus rider" only 8 years old. His father and mother are riders, and in the states where the law allows it he takes part with them in their act. In spangled white he rides a white horse bareback, leaps through hoops, is hoisted to the shoulder of his father and is carried at a swift pace around the ring. This is all fun for him. But what he really wants to be is a clown.

All his spare time he can be found turning "flipflaps" and handsprings and practicing on the parallel bars, for a clown, as everybody knows, must be more skillful at everything than everybody else. Then, too, when he does a clever acrobatic trick it comes as a surprise, and he gets twice as much applause as anybody else.

There are half a dozen or more children with every large circus, and they have small chance of getting an education, except in the winter time, and very few of them attend then. Nearly always, however, there is some man with the circus who is well educated and who cares enough for the children to teach them what he knows, and school is kept on the empty benches in the big tent after the afternoon show. Nearly always the teacher is a clown, for, strange to say, these makers of fun really are often good natured and good hearted fellows who are well educated as well. These volunteer teachers get nothing extra for their work as teachers, but they do not expect anything. The idea that they are helping these bright youngsters on in the world is pay enough.

Shadow Pictures.

Here are some shadow pictures for you to practice upon. You will notice that the goat is made by placing the hands back to back. It is easy enough to make the goat wink by opening and closing the space between the fourth and third fingers, and to make him chew by moving the first finger up and down. If you want to give Mr. Goat a beard, a bunch of paper strings will do finely.



To make the Irishman requires more preparation; you must cut the hat, head and eye out of cardboard, using the end of the first finger for the nose and the end of the middle finger for the chin. Another way is to make the middle finger answer for the nose and to use the first finger to open or close the eye.—Chicago Record.

Alliterative Story Game.

Each player is provided with a sheet of foolscap paper and has to write a story, every word of which begins with the same letter, the only exceptions to the rule being that "a," "an" and "the" may be used when necessary. From ten minutes to half an hour may be allowed for the work of composition, and then all the stories should be collected and read aloud by the hostess, who may award a prize for the longest and best. Here is an example:

Atalanta ambled astoundingly as argumentative Ardath approached. "Admirable artist," articulated Ardath, assuming admiration. "Athletes attain attractiveness," amiably answered Atalanta, ardently assimilating an antiquated apple. "Asinine assertion!" angrily answered Ardath. "Athletes and apples are alike atrocious." Achilles, appearing, arrested and asphyxiated Ardath and, artfully assuming attractively amorous airs, annexed Atalanta.

The Land of Anyhow.

Beyond the isle of What's the Use,
Where Slipshod Point is now,
There used to be, when I was young,
The land of Anyhow.

Don't Care was king of all this realm—
A cruel king was he,
For those who served him with good heart
He treated shamefully.

When boys and girls their task would slight
And cloud poor mother's brow,
He'd say: "Don't care! It's good enough!
Just do it anyhow!"

But when in after life they longed
To make proud fortune bow
He let them find that fate ne'er smiles
On work done anyhow.

For he who would the harvest reap
Must learn to use the plow
And pitch his tents a long way off
From the land of Anyhow!

What He Wished.

"I want some more chicken," said Bobbie at the dinner table.

"I think you have had as much as is good for you, dear," said Bobbie's mother.

"I want more," said Bobbie.

"You can't have more now. But here is a wishbone that you and mamma can pull. That will be fun. You pull one side and I'll pull the other, and whoever gets the longest end will have the wish come true. Why, Bobbie, you've got it! What was your wish?"

"I wished for some more chicken," said Bobbie promptly.

ORCHARD AND GARDEN.

Young orchards should be regularly and thoroughly cultivated to induce a rapid and healthy growth.

In selecting trees, get those that are vigorous and thrifty. Get them when possible from the home nursery.

It is an important item, so far as can be done, to pack the earth over the roots so that the hard winds will not loosen them.

Clover and cowpeas are valuable crops to grow in the orchard. They supply nitrogen, an essential element of tree growth.

One of the best means of preventing borers and other pests from injuring trees is to put on tree protectors when the tree is set out.

A small thrifty tree with good roots when set out will be a good bearing tree sooner than a large one with mutilated roots. The more small roots on a tree when transplanted the better.

Generally apples and peaches grown commercially must be planted on a sufficiently large scale to be shipped in carload lots. Then buyers will be on hand to take the crop as soon as matured.

One of the best ways of protecting trees from borers and other pests is to apply the modern tree protectors when the tree is planted out. See that they fit close to the ground and not too close around the stem.—St. Louis Republic.

Marvelous Instinct in Cats.

The marvelous instinct of an animal is said to be sometimes a sure warning of impending danger. It seems to be the case of the pet cat of the steamer City of Kingston. This animal, a large yellow one of no particular recommendation except its purring proclivites, has long been attached to that vessel, and not even the most persuasive coaxing could induce it to leave the confines of the ship. It has never been known to miss a trip.

When the Kingston arrived at Seattle from Victoria early Sunday morning, for some mysterious reason the feline went on shore, and when the time came for the departure for Tacoma, which resulted in the disaster to the Kingston, the animal refused to be coaxed aboard. Finally, a saucer of milk proving unavailing, one of the ship's crew took the cat into his arms and carried it aboard the vessel, but just as the lines were hauled in and the steamer was leaving the dock, the sagacious puss sprang from the Kingston to the wharf and disappeared in a pile of bags. It is now alive and the admiration of all hands at Yesler wharf.

What Becomes of Old Bird's Nests?

Hundreds of thousands of nests are built every year in trees and hedges. What becomes of all these homes after the birds have flitted from them at summer's end? Most of them are lined with sheep's wool with feathers and other materials that bind them together. Now, it happens that beetles and moths and other insects devour these things and by thus destroying them loosen the nests so much that wind and rain soon scatter the rest of the materials. But for this timely help the trees would be clogged with a mass of old nests, the leaves could not sprout and many trees would perish.

THEIR MANLY MAN.

A BUNCH OF GIRLS DISCUSS AN IMPORTANT QUESTION.

Dudes Are Barred, and Stingy Men Are Unpopular—The Man Who Will Scrub the Kitchen For His Wife Is Just Right.

"A woman's idea of the manly man," said the bachelor as he thrust his slippered feet out toward the fire, shoved his hands down in his pockets and rested his head against the back of the puffy leather upholstered chair, "usually means a fellow who cares neither for law nor order or professes that he does not—in fact, is sadly in need of reforming, and the gentlest little maid will jump at the chance of undertaking the reforming. More times than one she will marry him to 'reform him,' and maybe, if she is a bright and ambitious woman, in a little time she will write an article about 'why marriage is a failure.'"

The bachelor's old friend and college chum nodded assent to the truth of the bachelor's remarks, and for a time they sat silently watching the smoke rings from their cigars. I do not know what else they said about woman's inconsistency, nor how near they came to quite agreeing that woman was just a complete paradox. The chatter of the bachelor's sister and her girl friends as they sat about a little tea table the other afternoon in the bachelor's sister's pretty room interested me most.

Said the girl with the blue dress with white guimpe: "Indeed, Laura, you are just a bit mistaken about my idea of what constitutes a manly man. I didn't say that I liked a man because he smoked and did other things that are rather looked upon by youngsters as manly. The man that I call manly is the man brave and daring enough to do just as he pleases and does not do things simply because he is trying to follow the lead of other men."

And then, O ye bachelors and lords of creation, I am glad that you did not hear all your shortcomings discussed by that merry bunch of dear, bright girls! You, who plume and pride yourselves on your perfection in the eyes of the maids that you know, might have been made sad to know that your faults were discovered.

The tailor made girl, who always wears such fetching ties, said that she fairly abominated the man who carried a neat little pocketbook and carefully looked through it when he paid one's car fare, taking out just the proper change in nickels. "That man," said the tailor made girl, "would give his wife 25 cents on Monday over and above the amount for household bills and then ask her Saturday night, 'Where is the change I gave you Monday?'"

The dainty girl with blond hair as soft and fluffy as a child's said she had "no patience with the man who perpetually wore a buttonhole bouquet."

"Or," chimed in the brunette girl, "the man who wears baby blue neckties and dotes on ice cream for dessert."

Very lightly from the serious to the gay drifted the chatter, and a merry burst of laughter greeted the charming, bright eyed matron who just at that moment peeped in at the door and asked if she might be admitted. A welcome in chorus greeted her. The prettiest chair in the room was dragged forward for her, and she was made the guest of honor. The girls grouped themselves about her.

"Now, tell us," said the bachelor's sister, "what is your idea of the manly man."

The matron balanced her spoon on the edge of the dainty cup of fragrant tea that had been poured for her and looked thoughtful. Then with a demure little smile she said, "Why, the man I married, of course, is my idea of a manly man."

But the girls protested and said that this was a mean subterfuge, as they had not had even half a chance to study dear Jack's ways.

"Well," said the matron, "then I will tell you that my idea of the manly man is the one who will scrub the kitchen for his wife."

A chorus of Ohs! and Ahs! greeted this, and the idea of the fastidious Jack Brown scrubbing the kitchen brought forth peals of laughter.

"Yes," continued the matron quietly, "my idea of the manly man is the one who will scrub the kitchen for his wife—provided there is no one else to do it. My manly man would look at his gentle little wife who is not overrobust, take off his coat, roll up his sleeves and say, 'My dear, I am lots stronger than you are and better able to scrub the floor.' Of course it is not a man's work to scrub floors, but my ideal manly man is so great that he can stoop to do things when necessary that other men would feel themselves too lordly to bow to. Now, this is my ideal of the manly man."

The girls, being bright girls, caught the full meaning of the matron's declaration, and every one of them declared that she had "just hit the nail on the head;" that each one of them was quite prepared to vote him a genuinely manly man who would scrub the kitchen for his wife, if it was necessary for him to perform that feat to spare his wife the effort, provided she was unequal to it.

I am quite certain the bachelor and his old time college chum are mistaken in believing that the average woman's idea of a manly man is a burly burly fellow. Maybe in the long ago, when women were looked upon as meek little creatures and men won their way by the might of the sword and the strength of their right arms, the rough and the rugged appealed most to the timid and shrinking maids. But do you know, Mr. Bachelor Man, that the modern woman's idea of a manly man, taken all in all, is not an easy thing to live up to?

The modern woman's manly man must love the truth and stick to it. He must do right for right's sake, and if he does a few things amiss he must not offer the excuse that "all the other fellows do the same." He must be independent in all his dealings, whether good or bad, and must not play at "follow the leader."

Woman's idea of the manly man has undergone a reform if there ever was a time when her idea was as the bachelor believes it to be. She still dislikes as much as she ever did those little effeminate traits which she judges as much to be despised in a man as are the affectations of the masculine in a woman. The modern woman's manly man must be careful in dress, but never, never dudish.

The modern woman's manly man must be generous, and she takes it as a sign that he is not when he keeps such strict account of the nickels in his little pocketbook. But this, my dear girls, you really might be charitable enough to overlook, for you might mistake a prudent man for a stingy one.—Margaret Hannis in St. Louis Republic.

Earnest but Suppressed Wrath.

"Pa, what is quiet hostility?"

"Quiet hostility, little Jim, is the way in which, when I decline to give you a nickel, you sneak around behind my chair and make faces."—Chicago Record.

The Bull and the Bear.

A bull there was, and he made his prayer
(Even as you and I)
To stocks that were full of wind and air,
We knew when he bought he was meat for the bear,
But the bull he saw profits in every share
(Even as you and I)!

Oh, the years we waste and the tears we waste,
And the work of our head and hand
Belong to the man who knew it all
(And said there were stocks that never could fail)
And did not understand.

A bull there was, and his goods he spent
(Even as you and I)!
His house and lot and everything went
(For he'd margined his shares to his very last cent),
But a bull must follow his natural bent
(Even as you and I)!

Oh, the money it cost and the margins we lost
And the great big things we planned
Belong to the man who gave us the tip,
That tempted us into stocks to dip,
And did not understand!

The bull was stripped to his bullish hide
(Even as you and I)!
He might have seen he was on the wrong side
(But it isn't on record he even tried),
So his foolishness lived, but his credit all died,
(Even as you and I)!

And it isn't the shame and it isn't the blame
That stings like a white hot brand;
It's coming to know that the way stocks would go
We never could see and never did know
And never could understand.

Four Men Lost Their Lives.

Champion, Miss., June 25.—Four men lost their lives in the Champion mine explosion last evening. It was previously reported that but one life was lost. Of five men at the bottom of the shaft but one escaped by climbing the air hose to pure air. Gases and smoke asphyxiated the victims. The cause of the explosion was probably due to sparks from a miner's pipe.

Speaker Reed's Retort.

Growing tired of his chair one afternoon, Speaker Reed surrendered it to another member and sat down beside a western Democrat.

"My, what a large hand you have!" remarked Mr. Reed, looking intently at the enormous paw of his Democratic friend, who was writing a letter.

"Yes, sir," said the member, "and I am proud of it. I worked on a farm for so many years that my hands grew large, as you see them."

The speaker held up his small and shapely right hand, smooth and white as a woman's, and said:

"Well, I thank the Lord I never worked on a farm."

The member replied, "You are probably going to run for the presidency some time, Mr. Reed, and if you do I'll placard that statement all over the country. And what could you do about it?"

The big fellow mused awhile and said:

"Nothing—except to brand you as an infernal liar!"—Success.

Welland Canal Damaged.

Port Dalhousie, Ont., June 25.—About 4 o'clock yesterday morning, as the steamer Averell was entering lock four, bound down, and before she was completely in the lock, the lock-tender went to the foot gates, supposing the head gates were closed. He hoisted the valve to let the water out of the lock, when the upper gates were not quite closed. This caused the steamer's stern to settle down in the head gates, which damaged them. The pontoon was ordered up with two new gates.

WHEN DOCTORS DISAGREE

What Becomes of the Patient?

Doctors have their hobbies as well as other people and in the treatment of disease often carry them too far for the patient's good. For instance, in the treatment of indigestion or dyspepsia many doctors give bismuth and nothing else, others rely on pepsin to bring their patients through, still another doctor treats stomach troubles with the various vegetable essences and fruit salts.

Now, one or the other of these excellent remedies becomes a hobby with the doctor who has had most success with the particular one in question, because all of them are first class remedies for indigestion and dyspepsia, but not one of them alone is so good as a combination of all of them, such as is found in Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, which contain not only vegetable essences and fruit salts, but also the freshest, purest pepsin and bismuth, making altogether a remedy unsurpassed for every form of indigestion, sour stomach, nervous dyspepsia, belching of gas, distress after eating, sleeplessness, headaches, etc.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is not a secret patent nostrum, but you can see for yourself what it is, and knowing this, its success as a dyspepsia cure is not surprising. All druggists recommend and sell them at 50 cents.

ROBERT W. PERK.

The English M.P. Who Is the Founder of the 1,000,000 Guinea Fund for the Cause of Methodism.

Robert William Perk, member of parliament for the Louth division of Lincolnshire, is founder of the "1,000,000 guinea" fund for the cause of Methodism. Subscriptions are limited to Methodists of England, Scotland and Wales, and the fund, after being raised, will be expended in that territory alone. The basic idea of the fund is that contributions of 1 guinea shall be made by 1,000,000 people, whose names shall be inscribed on the historic roll of Methodism's British army. The fund is to be raised by the end of the year. It is the purpose of Mr. Perk, who is one of the most radical Methodists of Great Britain, that $1,000,000 of the fund shall go into the educational training of preachers. For chapels, schools and mission halls $1,350,000 is to be expended. The fund is of such magnitude that even the great Thanksgiving fund of the Wesleyans ($1,000,000) in 1860 sinks into insignificance.

For Over Fifty Years.

An Old and Well-tried Remedy.—Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup has been used for over fifty years by millions of mothers for their children while teething, with perfect success. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for diarrhoea. Is pleasant to the taste. Sold by druggists in every part of the world. Twenty-five cents. Its value is incalculable. Be sure and ask for Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup and take no other kind.

Force on the Piano.

It has been calculated that a minimum pressure of the finger of one-quarter of a pound is needed to sound a note on the piano and that at times a force of five pounds is thrown on a single key to produce a single effect. Chopin's last study in C minor has a passage taking two minutes five seconds to play that requires a total pressure estimated at three full tons.

He Fooled the Surgeons.

All doctors told Renick Hamilton, of West Jefferson, O., after suffering 18 months from Rectal Fistula, he would die unless a costly operation was performed; but he cured himself with Bucklen's Arnica Salve, the best in the world. What to Do With Them.

"Just before Montana became a state," said a citizen of Helena, "the Clark-Carter contest occurred, and most bitterly was it fought out. Anything that could be turned or twisted into a campaign argument was sought out and brought to the front. Commissioner Sparks, at that time head of the general land office, had made a ruling that thereafter no trees less than eight inches in diameter should be cut down for agricultural or mining purposes in territory belonging to the United States.

"This ruling had aroused a storm of indignant protest in Montana and had straightway assumed a prominent place as one of the main issues in the Clark-Carter campaign. I was speaking one night at Bozeman, and, as was natural, I attacked this ruling of the land commissioner and showed, at least to my own satisfaction, what injury and injustice it did to both farmer and miner, and so I worked up to what had always previously proved an effective peroration by asking the question, 'What, my fellow citizens, can the farmer do with eight inch trees?'

"The answer to this had previously invariably been silence, but this time a shrill voice in the rear of the hall blurted out, 'Why, split 'em, of course, ye confounded fool!' and I sat down amid the ribald and derisive jeers of that vast audience."—New York Tribune.

Adjourned by Reporters.

"Well, that bumps me!" said the colonel. "I know that the cheek of these newspaper reporters is always in full flower, but I didn't know that they assumed to legislate for the state."

"All I know is," asserted the judge again, "that two newspaper reporters once adjourned a session of the Illinois senate."

"How'd they do it—choke the speaker with copy paper?"

"No; they were very civilized about it. It was one day when everybody expected a dull session, and only two of us senators put in an appearance, counting Dave Littler, who was in the chair.

"'I want to get an interview with Littler when this thing's over,' said one newspaper man.

"'So do I,' said the other. 'I move that we adjourn!' he shouted at Littler.

"'I second the motion,' said the first reporter.

"'It is moved and seconded that we now adjourn,' said Littler solemnly. 'Those in favor will signify it in the usual manner.'

"'Aye!' shouted both of the reporters.

"'Carried!' said Littler."—Chicago Inter Ocean.

Accommodating Diseases.

Perhaps the record for school attendance belongs to a Walworth lad named Thomas Ward, who was never absent or late during his 11 years of school life, beginning with his fourth year. The local member of the school board for London tells the story that when the proud boy received the attendance medal for the eleventh year, which had to be specially struck to meet his case, the mother was questioned as to how her boy had been able to make so remarkable a record.

"Has he had the usual children's complaints?" she was asked.

"Yes, sir."

"The measles?"

"Yes, sir."

"Whooping cough?"

"Yes, sir."

"How is it, then, that he has never been away from school?"

"Well, sir, he had them in his holidays," was the interesting reply.—Westminster Gazette.

Proved His Case.

Miss Willing (after the proposal)—But are you quite sure you believe in second love?

Mr. Woodby (a widower)—Certainly, my dear. Now suppose a man buys a pound of sugar; it is sweet, isn't it?

Miss Willing—Yes, of course. But—

Mr. Woodby—And when that's gone he naturally wants another pound—and the second pound is just as sweet, isn't it?

A Big Difference.

Kendrick (who for two months has been studying French)—Say, Sutton, I can write a good letter in French now.

Sutton—H'm! Is that so? Well, you may be able to write a good letter in French, but I don't believe you can write a letter in good French.—Boston Transcript.

Nervous Debility.

A Sufferer From Weak Blood and Exhausted Nerves Tells of His Cure by Using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Mr. A. T. P. Lalame, railway agent at Clarenceville, Que., writes:—"For twelve years I have been run down with nervous debility. I suffered much, and consulted doctors, and used medicines in vain. Some months ago I heard of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, used two boxes, and my health improved so rapidly that I ordered twelve more.

"I can say, frankly, that this treatment has no equal in the medical world. While using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food I could feel my system being built up until now I am strong and healthy. I cannot recommend it too highly for weak, nervous people."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is a tonic and restorative of inestimable worth. It makes the blood rich, the nerves strong, increases the weight, and cures all weakness and disease of the nerves and blood. In pill form, 50 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates and Co., Toronto.

GAME AT LINDSAY.

The match Saturday morning between Lindsay and Oshawa came to an end at the fifth innings, Oshawa disputing the umpire's decision relative to a ball sent out of bounds. Up to that time the game had been a magnificent one, the score standing 1—6 in Lindsay's favor.

JUNIOR LEAGUE GAMES.

Saturday morning—Y.M.C.A. defaulted to Park.

Saturday afternoon—Auburns defeated Vaticans. Score 34—22. Umpire, A. E. Brundrette.

A meeting of the league was held Friday evening in the Y.M.C.A., when it was decided that the game between the Vaticans and Orals be played at 4.30 p.m instead of 1.30. Arrangements were made to have umpires selected by the league so as to avoid disputes. Another meeting will be held next Thursday evening, when the two following notices of motion will be brought up for consideration:—(1) No player shall play with more than one team unless released by consent of the league, and no player shall play with more than two clubs during the season; (2) the age limit shall be 18 years.

The Peterboroughs are playing great ball and have their eyes on the league championship. On Dominion Day they will play two games at home, and there should be great crowds to see them for they will be great exhibitions of baseball. Both games are with Cobourg.

MASONIC SERVICES AT ALL SAINTS'

is is said, an appeal was made on behalf of the Transvaal to the Prince of Wales, the head of the craft in England, that he might use his influence to keep peace in order that there might be no Masons fighting against fellow Masons. He answered that that was a political question and one with which a member of the Order as such could have nothing to do. Every man simply should be loyal to the government which gives him protection.

St. John the Evangelist also gave up his life rather than his principles. His great teaching was love, that he might do good to fellow man. He taught that bond which binds us together in this life and in loving remembrance of those departed. We shall in the hour of sadness and gloom point to the higher life above. We shall give to each brother a hand to strengthen him in all things that are good, we shall give him our best example, we shall think of his wants and aid him in all things, we shall speak of him as we would speak to him. O, that this principle were established in this world. When men have learned this principle and practice they will be far better followers of Christ.

The colors, blue and white, are emblematic of the great sky and of purity of life, of the highest thoughts and the greatest achievements, of the Lamb of God who came to make the souls of men pure. As Masons, build up the temple of the holy and spotless life, one in which the God of Life may dwell and this temple of the soul will never fall away. May we, like the sun, rise higher and higher and shed forth our best virtues, and when our sun sinks in the west, may our souls rise where that star rises to tell us of the great life beyond.

ST. LUKE'S.

St. Luke's Sunday school has unanimously decided to assemble at 9.45 a.m., instead of 3.00 p.m., during the months of July and August.

Rev. H. Symonds spoke yesterday morning on various matters affecting the interests of the church. He referred to the Sunday question, to the recent session of the Synod and to the bi-centenary of the society for the Propagation of the Gospel.

In accordance with his usual custom, Mr. Symonds will during the summer months preach a series of short expository sermons at both morning and evening services. In the mornings the Book of Isaiah will be the topic, and in the evenings the second Epistle to the Corinthians.

Next Sunday being Dominion Day, a special sermon of a national patriotic character will be preached in St. Luke's church in the evening.

An important and largely attended meeting of St. Luke's class was held at Mr. J. J. Turner's, jr., residence last Thursday evening for the purpose of discussing the question of organization. Rev. H. Symonds presided and the following officers were elected :—

Hon. President.—Rev. H. Symonds.

Matter of Memory.

The man who was attempting suicide was not sinking for the third time.

Of course it was necessary hereupon that he recall everything in his past life in the space of one instant.

This he failed to do.

"Again my accursed bad memory!" he hissed and waded ashore in much chagrin, which was in nowise lessened by the derisive laughter of the spectators.—Detroit Journal.

British in Africa Moving On

Gen. Botha are still exchanging letters.

Two hundred rebels have surrendered to Gen. Warren at Blikfontein.

The communications of Senekal with Winberg, the nearest supply point, have been temporarily interrupted. Gen. Clements is at Senekal. A convoy seeking to reach him was driven back.

BOTHA AND PEACE.

Boer Commandant General Is Willing but Kruger Still Remains Obdurate —Pietersburg Will Submit.

London, June 25.—According to a Pretoria despatch, Gen. Botha possesses full powers to conclude peace, and it is reiterated that he is willing to surrender, but President Kruger remains obdurate.

The fact that a deputation from Pietersburg, in the Northern Transvaal, has approached Lord Roberts with an invitation to send a force to receive the submission of the town is regarded as important, for Pietersburg is far removed from the scene of warfare.

Pretorius Opposed to the War.

New York, June 25.—A despatch to The Tribune from London says: Martinus Pretorius, the first president of the Transvaal, in an interview with The Express correspondent in Potchefstroom, said that he had never been in favor of the war, and had, in fact, told President Kruger so. He is of the opinion that the burghers will settle under the British rule if leniency is shown toward them.

Mr. Reitz is reported to have stated that the Boers are in a position to carry on a guerilla warfare for three months or longer.

Captured the Mail Bags.

London, June 25.—According to a special despatch from Cape Town, it seems that in the recent fight at Zand River the Boers captured 2,000 mail bags, containing a three-weeks' accumulation of letters for Lord Roberts' army, and £4,000 worth of stamps, intended for the use of the troops.

Another Canadian Dead.

Ottawa, June 25.—A cable was received at the Militia Department Saturday morning from Col. Otter, dated Springs, June 23, announcing the death at Johannesburg, by enteric fever, on June 19, of Private W. F. Whitley, formerly of the Sixth Regiment, Duke of Connaught's Rifles, Vancouver. The Springs is situated ten miles north of Heidelberg.

Toronto, June 25.—Mr. Robert Graham, Claremont, who is the city Saturday, on his way home from South Africa. He was employed by the Government to superintend the transportation of horses that went with the second contingent. The cargo consisted of 681 horses, and all these were landed except 38 which died on the trip. He went home to Claremont, near this city, on Saturday evening.

M. Lynch Loses a Leg.

Halifax, June 25.—Michael Lynch of Lynch Bros., oarsmen, who defeated Durnan and Rice here two years ago, had his left leg amputated in the hospital Saturday. Blood poisoning had set in, and it was necessary to amputate the limb to save his life.

The English Way.

Fights are a recognised part of the school education among the boys in England. In America when boys fight it is because they are angry with each other; in England they fight because they are anxious to find out which is the better man physically. They may have no quarrel or ill feeling, but if their friends cannot agree as to their respective prowess the ultimate result is pretty apt to be a "mill."—Self Culture.

Second Party—Yes. He says the very thought of ties makes him sick since he walked back from Frisco.—New York Journal.

The Ideal and the Mercantile.

"Oh, where are the poets," the critics ask,
"To tell how the roses bloom?
Oh, why do the muses neglect the task
Of [illegible] cots and gloom?
We must search far back through the weary years
For lays to brighten this vale of tears
And bid us smile and restrain our fears
So long as the roses bloom."

But a poet, faith, must have common joys,
As well as the rose's bloom,
And on soap and dry goods his pen employs
For clothes and a furnished room.
It is [illegible] and [illegible]
To [illegible] to commerce he turns his verse
And think that he ought to exist on air

TIEN TSIN PRESENTED A SCENE OF HORROR

When the Relieving Force Reached and Entered it—A Force Left to Relieve the Pekin Force—American Troops for the Orient.

THE RELIEF OF TIEN TSIN

London, June 26—The despatch from Chefoo giving Rear Admiral Kempff's authoritative announcement of the relief of Tien Tsin, June 23rd, remained for hours the sole news of this occurrence of world-wide importance. About one o'clock the Hong Kong and Shanghai bank's London branch, received confirmation of the news, and about the same time Mr. Dawson, a delegate from Singapore to the Congress of Chambers of Commerce of the United Kingdom, now in session here, informed his fellow delegates amid loud cheering that he had just received a despatch from his son, announcing the relief of Tien Tsin. The news reached Berlin from the German Consul at Chefoo, who announced that the relief column entered Tien Tsin during the afternoon of June 23rd, and started again June 24th to rescue Vice Admiral Seymour, who with the foreign ministers, was said to be occupying a position 12½ miles from Tien Tsin, surrounded and hard pressed by a great force of Boxers and Chinese regulars. According to the report of a Chinaman refugee who has arrived at Shanghai, the condition of Tien Tsin was horrible. Everywhere in the streets were the bodies of massacred men and women, Americans as well as other nationalities. The Hong Kong and German banks, he adds, were both destroyed early during the bombardment. Shanghai also reports that the American-Russian relief force was so badly ambuscaded that the forces were obliged to abandon several field guns and much ammunition. About 180 Russians and 11 Americans killed and wounded. The German gun boat Iltis and Russian torpedo boat destroyer are patrolling the Piho river, and raking with machine guns the native villages on the river banks.

MISSIONARIES ARRIVE SAFELY

New York, June 26—The following despatch has been received from the Rev. Frederick Brown at Chefoo: Thank God, many American missionaries, men and women, arrived to-day in safetv from Pekin and Tien Tsin. We have almost given up hope of ever seeing our brethren at Paio Ting. when the insurrection broke out. The arrivals to-day included 143 persons in all, including servants and attaches of the mission for Paio Ting. There is very little hope among the missionaries. Several lives lost. There is a very bad feeling.

OFFICIAL NOTIFICATION

Washington, June 26—The Secretary of State has received a despatch from United States Consul John Fowler at Chefoo, saying. "Combined forces entered Tien Tsin 23rd. Signed, John Fowler."

TO RELIEVE THE PEKIN RELIEF FORCE

Washington, D.C., June 26—The Navy Department has received the following cablegram from Admiral Kempff: Taku, June 25—Secretary of the Navy, Washington—Relief force reached Tien Tsin 23rd. Loss very small. Pekin relief force which left Tien Tsin, June 10th, reported 10 miles from Tien Tsin surrounded. Force left Tien Tsin on 24th to render assistance. Signed, Kempff.

AMERICAN TROOPS FOR THE ORIENT

Chicago, June 26—The 4th Battalion of United States Marines, Major Biddle in command, passed through Chicago last night on a rush assignment to duty in the Orient and the Chinese battle ground is believed to be their objective.

WANTED FOREIGN TROOPS KEPT OUT

Washington, June 26—The six great viceroys of China, acting through the Chinese minister here, to-day renewed their efforts to have foreign troops kept out of China until Li Hung Chang shall reach Pekin. The request was a formal document signed by the six viceroys, including Li Hung Chang. The answer of the United States government was the same as that to the informal request of the minister yesterday, and amounted to a declination.

SOME OF KRUGER'S GOLD HAS BEEN SEIZED

The British Seize Some of Kruger's Bar Treasure Said to Have Been Sent to Pay Western Transvaal Merchants.

KRUGER'S GOLD SEIZED

London, June 26—Large quantities of bar gold received by merchants in the western part of the Transvaal from President Kruger, ostensibly on payment of requisitioned goods, have been seized by the British. If the genuineness of the accounts can be proved the gold will probably be replaced.

Humanity in Turkeys.

"There's a good deal of human nature in a turkey," said a farmer. "The other day while I was settin in the barn door one of my turkeys come yerkin along and peekin right and left and finally spied a rag on the ground that every turkey had been travelin over for a week. Turkey picked it up and slatted it out. That minute every turkey in the yard started for him. He run. It evidently struck him all of a sudden that he had got hold of suthin that was mighty valuable. He run, and he dodged, and he ducked, and he run some more. Every few minutes some one of them turkeys would get him by the wattles or else by the rag, and there would be a tug of war. And at last another turkey got the rag away, and then there was another chase. Guess them darn fool turkeys would have been runnin the fat off themselves the next day if I hadn't set the dog on 'em.

"That's just the way with a turkey. Let any other one in the flock get hold of suthin, and every one of the blamed fools will start for him or her and rag till they fairly drop.

"And, as I have said, there is a good deal of human nature right there."—

THE CAPTURE OF SEYMOUR

June 12. No direct or indirect news from the Ministers since. The latest news from the expedition was dated June 12, when the expedition was at Lang Fang. The railroad has been destroyed behind it."

NO RELIEF TO SEYMOUR.

Despatch to the British Admiralty From Taku.

London, June 26.—The Admiralty has received the following despatch from Rear-Admiral Bruce, dated Taku, via Che Foo, June 24: "The total force which left Tien Tsin with the commander-in-chief, for Pekin, was about 2000, composed of detachments from the allied ships. No action could possibly be taken to relieve the commander-in-chief, because it was only known that he was cut off by Tien Tsin being invested. Then Tien Tsin has been fighting for its life ever since. It was on receipt of information that the Chinese army had ordered trains for attacking Tien Tsin; that they were ravaging Tong Ku, and reinforcing Taku, as well as mining the mouth of the Peiho, that it was promptly determined to seize Taku. Since then, every effort has been made to relieve Tien Tsin. I have commandeered a small coasting steamer for taking troops and sick and wounded across the bay to Wei Hai Wei, where I intend making a temporary base hospital and asylum for refugees."

Eight Thousand Allies at Taku.

Tsing Tau, June 24.—(8 p. m.)—Eight thousand allied troops have landed at Taku, including 2,000 Germans.

Lord Salisbury Is Hopeful.

London, June 26.—The Associated Press learns that Lord Salisbury is still hopeful that the Chinese crisis will be solved without war against that country as a whole. In spite of the alarming reports he inclines to the belief that the Government of China in some satisfactory form will shortly be able to reassert itself.

Britain Refused by Russia.

St. Petersburg, June 22, via Paris, June 25.—The Czar has given his approval to a categorical refusal to agree to Great Britain's proposal looking to special co-operative action on the part of Russia and Great Britain in China.

In Command at Hong Kong.

Ottawa, June 26.—Recent events in China bring to mind the fact that General Gascoigne, a former Canadian G.O.C., is in command of the British troops in Hong Kong.

THE CROPS IN ONTARIO.

Reports From All Sections Show That This Province Has No Reason for Despondency.

Toronto, June 26.—The Great Northwestern Telegraph Company has secured crop reports from all sections of Ontario, and the result may be summed up, on the whole, favorably. In Eastern Ontario, the prospect is for a good wheat crop and a light hay crop. In Hastings County rain is needed, but fall wheat is looking well; apples will be short, but other fruits promise well. In the Niagara Peninsula, the strawberry crop has been damaged by dry weather, but a full crop of peaches, plums and other large fruit is promised. Wheat promises well also, but the spring grains and hay will be light. In York County, the prospect is good, excepting hay; fruits abundant, except plums.

In Western Ontario, Lambton County reports crops generally good. Wheat has been winter killed in parts of Kent and Essex counties, but the hay crop is thriving, and some fruits—peaches, pears and plums—will yield heavily. Other crops will be an average.

In Wellington County the outlook is good on the whole, and Oxford County is the same. In Perth County there will be a good yield of wheat; other crops, favorable. Bruce County expects all cereal crops above the average, and fruits mostly good.

In Northern Ontario the outlook is favorable, but rain is needed.

In the extreme eastern section of Ontario the lack of rain has caused hay to come down to two-thirds of an average crop, and other products are injuriously affected.

In Elgin County wheat will yield about 75 per cent. of an average, while all spring crops are looking well.

Summing up, the outlook for the Province of Ontario is thoroughly satisfactory.

DR. BORDEN CLAIMS CREDIT.

Says He Proposed and Adopted Annual Drill for All Arms.

Minister of Militia Also Reorganized the Medical Arm — Ammunition at Cost Price—Col. Prior Makes Some Practical Suggestions—Tributes to the Late Col. Tyrwhitt, M.P.—Chinese Poll Tax Bill Reported.

Ottawa, June 26.—Empty benches greeted the Speaker when the House opened for its first morning session yesterday.

An order of the House was issued remitting the fees on the National Railway & Transport Company's bill, which failed to commend itself to the Senate.

Hon. W. S. Fielding put a few corrective touches to his bill to amend the Civil Service Act, changing the word "salary" to "emolument," so as to bring temporary clerks clearly within the meaning of the act. No rights which first-class clerks now possess shall be adversely affected by the amended act.

Chinese Poll Tax.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier advanced his bill respecting Chinese immigration.

Mr. Foster took the ground that Sir Wilfrid Laurier had not implemented his promises, made to British Columbia electors in 1896.

Mr. Puttee of Winnipeg, and the Liberal members from British Columbia, expressed satisfaction with the bill as far as it went, but regretted that the impost was not much larger. Mr. W. C. Edwards, another Liberal member, took an exceptional position, that the restrictions on Chinese were a contradiction of the fundamental principles of the British Constitution, freedom and the open door.

The Late Col. Tyrwhitt.

When the House opened at 8 o'clock, Mr. Foster arose and referred in feeling terms to the death of Col. Tyrwhitt. He reviewed his life as a member of the House since 1882, and characterized him as a sturdy party man, not noisy, but good and consistent. He was a staunch and honorable friend, and showed he was a gallant soldier of the Queen in 1866 and 1885.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier, in eloquent phrases, declared the deceased had no enemies in the House, but only friends. He was an admirable type of man, possessing strong views, but always presenting them with a generosity that propitiated the respect of his audience. He felt that his honest manly countenance would be missed by all.

Dr. Sproule, in a voice struggling with emotion, spoke of his departed friend whom he had known intimately for over 30 years. In his death the House had not only lost an honored and useful member, but Canada had lost one of her best subjects. The deceased had been a staunch and consistent representative of his constituency, and his name was synonomous with honor, integrity and manhood. He conveyed to the House the thanks of the bereft family for the kinds words spoken of the husband and father.

A beautiful wreath of lilies and roses was placed on the desk of the deceased by his colleagues in the House.

When the House turned to other matters, the Opposition numbered 10 with the Government 40.

The Chinese Bill.

The debate on the Chinese bill was continued by Dr. Christie and Mr. Charlton. The latter declared that, abstractly, the Government was wrong in putting restrictions upon immigration; but, concretely, the Government was all right. He was inclined to think that the Government had gone too far in raising the tax to $100, and the basis of his argument was the brotherhood of man. What was wanted was further information on the Chinese question.

Dr. Sproule held that undesirable immigrants should be shut out.

Mr. Aulay Morrison, New Westminster (Liberal), said that Chinese and Japanese immigration degraded labor. Of the two, the Japs were worse than the Chinese. He moved, in amendment to the bill, that no Jap or Chinese should be admitted to Canada without being able to read and write one European language.

Frank Oliver, Alberta (Liberal), supported the amendment. He declared the presence of the Chinese and the Japs in British Columbia was a menace to Eastern Canada, because they closed up avenues of labor that would otherwise be filled by an exodus from the East.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier said that Mr. Morrison's amendment could not be accepted.

Col. Prior wanted the tax raised to $500, but this was declared out of order.

After a few verbal amendments had been accepted, the bill was reported.

Is It Dr. Borden's Valedictory?

The House went into supply at 5.30 p.m. on the militia estimates.

Dr. Borden gave an account of his tenure of office. He casually remarked that the militia was to defend against invaders and to preserve order within the country, and went back to 1867 to trace the history of Canada's Militia. He thought the sending of contingents to South Africa had given the people of Canada great cause for congratulation, by reason of the rapidity of recruiting and of transportation. This matter made the Militia Department proud of itself.

Dr. Borden eulogized the contingents and Strathcona's Horse. He referred to the actions in which the Canadians had taken part. The first action was at Paardeberg, where Gen. Roberts had complimented them. At Bloemfontein the Mounted Rifles had distinguished themselves. At Pretoria the Canadians were on hand. At Mafeking, there was the story of one of the most extraordinary artillery marches, in which the part taken by Canadians was of the utmost importance. For all these reasons, Canada should feel proud of her men.

Politics in Militia Department.

After recess Dr. Borden touched upon the charge that politics ruled in the Militia Department. He denied the charge, and challenged anyone to prove it. He reviewed the various appointments he had made, and declared that he had not allowed politics to rule, though, where other things were equal, he would give his political friends the benefit. Looking at the work of his department, he declared the chief feature had been the adoption of annual drill for all arms of the service. Another reform was the limitation of the age of commanding officers, fixing it at 50 years at the outside and making the law retroactive. This gave new impetus to the service, for it gave a chance for junior officers to get to the top. He had reduced the limit of age for a commanding officer from 63 to 60, and by the operation of this regulation a reserve list had been created that would be of great importance in the case of emergency. He dwelt upon the formation of cadet corps for Collegiate Institutes, High Schools and Public Schools, which formed recruiting ground for the militia. He announced his intention of forming an engineer corps at Toronto University and declared steps had already been taken with this end in view. He had reorganized the medical service of the militia, with which he had some 30 years' experience. He hoped to have it soon put upon an adequate footing. The formation of the medical arm into a separate corps was an entirely new departure. He proposed to add four bearer companies and four hospital companies yearly to the corps till the organization was capable of supplying the whole militia force, numbering 36,000, consisting of 31 military units. Already $18,000 had been spent on this service, and it was intended to increase the expenditure upon equipment until a thoroughly equipped medical corps was reared.

The Force of the Future.

As to the future of the militia, Dr. Borden said that whatever might arise the militia men of Canada would adapt themselves to it. He believed the military force of the future would have to be capable of great mobility. In this connection the change of infantry to mounted infantry deserved consideration. He proposed to make this experiment in Manitoba and the Northwest Territories next year to a large extent. The same experiment would be tried in the east. The importance of teaching everybody the use of the rifle was dwelt upon. He spoke of the numerous rifle ranges erected and being perfected in Canada. He believed in affording the utmost facilities to people to learn marksmanship. He was convinced that the system Canada should imitate was the Swiss system, where every man was a soldier, took his rifle home with him, and, at a moment's notice, was ready to take the field. The doctor in private became the doctor in the army, and so through all ranks, so that there was no mixing up of talents. Rifle clubs were his ideal. Such a system as this should be devised for Canada. The rifle leagues in Canada, he considered, should be encouraged at all hazards. It had been the custom of the department to give free ammunition to provincial leagues and for matches to the D.R.A. He proposed to sell ammunition to rifle clubs at cost price. As to rifles, they would be issued free to clubs whenever bonds were given for their security. He had already sent to the Northwest Territories several instalments of rifles for private rifle clubs, and was prepared on request to do likewise for all rifle clubs in Canada.

Dodd's Kidney Pills

Sir Adolphe Speaks.

Sir Adolphe Caron claimed that all the praiseworthy efforts of the Militia Department were based upon lines laid down by the late Government. He favored the giving of free ammunition to rifle clubs for certain days of the year, under the supervision of a proper officer. Ranges of an inexpensive sort should be erected wherever required.

Col. Prior's Suggestions.

After Col. Domville had again stated his pet idea that a Canadian should be made G.O.C., Col. Prior spoke on rifle practise. He thought that 40 rounds per man for practise was absurdly small. He would fix the number at 500, and have these shot off under proper supervision and instruction. He advocated a complete change in the drill instruction at camps, with the view of doing away in a great measure with battalion drill, and giving more time to rifle prartise. Col. Prior thought the infantry drill book should be revised by a committee of experts, and the useless parts of it cut out. He advocated a reform in uniform and in the commissariat department.

Minister Believes in Reform.

Dr. Borden replied briefly and believed in increasing the rounds of ammunition to each man. He was in sympathy with changing the uniform, making it cheaper, more practical, and less showy. He hoped some day to introduce pensions into the service. He announced that at least two of the Canadian officers who had resigned their commistion to enlist as privates in the contingents had been given commissions in the Imperial army. He gave no names.

Items totalling $9,000 were passed, and the House adjourned at 12.10 p. m.

Sir Charles Tupper at Hagersville.

Hagersville, Ont., June 26.—Yesterday there was a great Conservative demonstration here. The speakers were Sir Charles Tupper, Lt.-Col. Whitney, M.P.P., and Hon. D. Tisdale. The town was decorated. Addresses were presented in turn to Hon. Dr. Montague, Mr. D. Tisdale, M.P. for South Norfolk, Sir Charles Tupper and Mr. Whitney, to which each eloquently replied. Sir Charles spoke for an hour and a half, and was accorded the greatest reception ever given here to a public man.

C. P. R. Hands Laid Off.

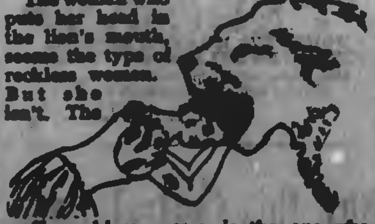
Winnipeg, June 26.—On Saturday notice was given to 550 of the employes of the C.P.R. shops that they could enjoy the benefit of rest until July 3, as work in the shops could be suspended until that time. There are still about 100 men left to look after the necessary repair work. It is said that a large number of section men on the Western Division are being discharged, and that, owing to the poor harvest prospects, the company is cutting its expenses to the very lowest ebb. The action of the company came as a surprise to the bulk of the men.

Grand Trunk Earnings.

Montreal, June 26.—Grand Trunk Railway system earnings, 15th to 21st June, 1900, $458,878; 1899, $419,099; increase, $34,774. Chicago & Grand Trunk earnings omitted.

Australian Bill Passed.

London, June 26.—The Australian commonwealth bill passed its third reading in the House of Commons yesterday amid cheers.



The woman who puts her head in the lion's mouth, seems the type of reckless women. But she isn't. The really reckless woman is the one who braves Nature day after day, by neglect of the health of the delicate womanly organs. "Crime and punishment blossom on one stalk," says Emerson. When the cycle of self-neglect is complete it includes the pains and sufferings which are the inevitable penalties inflicted by outraged Nature. The drain which to-day is counted an inconvenience, becomes in succeeding days a burden and [illegible]. The passing [illegible] of an hour grows into a [illegible].

The timely use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will save young women from suffering, as it will cure those who through neglect have become martyrs after marriage. CANADIAN OUTPOST CUT OFF

De Wet's Men Killed Two, Wounded Five and Captured Three.

Particulars of the Honing Spruit Fight on Friday—War Must Be Nearing the End as the Foreign Military Attaches Are at Cape Town en-Route to Europe—The Boers Are Short of Food.

London, June 26.—(4.22 a.m.) — Lord Roberts' six columns are converging, apparently so as to close in upon the Free Staters, although decisive results cannot be expected for several days. A number of Boers who were supposed to be within the wide-flung net have broken, or, rather, stolen, through General Rundle's Ficksburg-Senekal lines.

Two Canadians Killed.

The Canadians were engaged in the Honing Spruit fight last Friday. General De Wet's men first cut off a Canadian outpost of mounted rifles at dawn, two being killed, Lieut. Inglis and four others being wounded and three being captured. The Free Staters then attacked the camp, where were 50 Canadians and two companies of Shropshires, though not with much effect, as the men were well entrenched.

The foreign military attaches who were with Lord Roberts are now in Cape Town, en route for Europe.

Consul Hay Going to Machadodorp.

United States Consul Hay of Pretoria is going to Machadodorp in the interests of the British prisoners and to see President Kruger.

Eighty Hollanders have been landed in jail at Standerton for destroying property prior to the British occupation. The wives and children of the Boers are surprised that the British do not loot, but pay for what they get.

The Boers derailed a construction train near Standerton on June 24. Two trainmen were killed and four badly wounded.

A party of Brabant's Horse near Ficksburg, saw a camp of khaki-clad men, and walked in, only to find themselves among the Boers. The visitors surrendered.

Boers Short of Food.

The Lorenzo Marquez correspondent of The Times, telegraphing yesterday, says: "The Boers are losing a large number of horses from the cold and from lack of food, and the survivors are in a miserable condition. The inadequacy of the Boer commissariat is telling on the burghers."

DESPATCH FROM ROBERTS.

Clements Whipped the Boers Near Wynberg—Gen. Ian Hamilton Warmly Received at Heidelberg.

London, June 26.—The following despatch has been received at the War Office from Lord Roberts:

"Pretoria Residency, June 25.—Clements successfully engaged a body of Boers yesterday near Wynberg, where he had gone to pick up supplies and some heavy guns, preparatory to acting in combination with columns from Lindley, Heilbron and Heidelberg. He drove the enemy north of Sandspruit with loss. No casualties are reported.

Heidelberg is English.

"Ian Hamilton reports that Heidelberg is the most English town he has yet seen. The inhabitants gave him a great reception. The streets were crowded and decorated with bunting. Captain Valentine hoisted the Union Jack in the market square amidst the cheers of the populace and of the British, Australian and other colonial troops. "God Save the Queen" was sung, the crowds heartily joining in. The poor Royalists have had a rough time lately.

Hutton Had a Skirmish.

"Hutton's Mounted Infantry skirmished with the Boers yesterday, a few miles southeast of Pretoria. Captain Anley is reported to have managed the little business very well. Lieutenant Crispin and one of the Northumberland Fusiliers were wounded."

LIEUT. INGLIS WOUNDED.

A Toronto Man and a Member of the Second Mounted Rifles.

Ottawa, June 26.—A cable received at the Militia Department yesterday reported Lieut. Inglis of the Second Mounted Rifles dangerously wounded on the field. Lieut. Inglis is a Toronto man and belonged to the Royal Canadian Dragoons. The cable also stated that Pte. Blain is convalescent. Another cable from Col. Otter is taken as indicating that no further casualties have occurred since June 19.

London, June 26.—Green, No. 318, of the Canadian Mounted Rifles, is dangerously ill at Winburg Hospital.

Toronto, June 26.—There are three Greens in the Mounted Rifles, Herbert F. Green and Gitshock W. Green of Pincher Creek, N.W.T., and A. E. C. Green of the N.W.M.P.

COUNTY COUNCIL IN JUNE SESSION

BUSINESS DISPOSED OF AT THE CONCLUDING SESSION

The Report of the Roads and Bridges Committee—Grants Made to Township Roads—By-laws Passed—Special Meeting in October.

The County Council went into session Saturday morning with the Warden in the chair, and all the members present.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed.

On motion of Messrs. Pearce and Hawthorne the matter of finally approving of the new edition of the consolidated by-laws of the County was left in the hands of the Warden and County Clerk.

ROADS AND BRIDGES.

Mr. Anderson presented the report of the Committee on Roads and Bridges as follows:—

The Committee on Roads and Bridges beg leave to report as follows:—

1. Your Committee recommend that this Committee inspect the road in Belmont leading from Havelock to the mines of the Cordova Exploration Company to repair which road a special grant is requested by the said township.

2. Your Committee recommend that the appropriation granted by paragraph "5" of last January's report of the Committee be rescinded and that in lieu thereof the Council make a special grant of $100, for the repair of the south Methuen road upon condition that the township of Belmont grant $100, and the Provincial Government grant $200 for the same purpose.

3.—Your Committee recommend that the report of the County Engineer be received.

4. Your Committee recommend that the County Engineer after consultation with the Town of Peterborough and the County of Victoria and with their consent should continue his method of reflooring from time to time the Pigeon Creek bridge and adding necessary floats.

5. Your Committee recommend that the matter of arranging for the caretaking of the swing in the Mud Lake bridge and also any temporary repairs which may be required for the bridge be left in the hands of the Warden and the County Engineer with power to act.

6. Your Committee recommend that the County Engineer be instructed to have the repairs done to the Gannon's Ferry referred to in his report.

7. Your Committee recommend that the County Engineer see that necessary repairs are made to the Buckhorn, Burleigh and Young's Point bridges.

8. Your Committee recommend that the matter of repairs to the Otonabee and Locks bridges and also to Keene Station bridge referred to in his report be referred to the Warden, County Engineer and the Chairman of this Committee with power to act.

9. Your committee recommend that the matter of repairing Nogie's Creek bridge be left in the hands of the County Engineer and Mr. Shaw with power to act.

10. Your committee recommend that the matter of repairing Sullivan's bridge in the township of Douro, be left in the hands of Mr. Hawthorne, with power to act.

11. Your committee recommend that the matter of repairing Indian River Boundary bridge be left in the hands of Mr. Anderson with power to act.

12. Your committee recommend that the County Treasurer pay to Mr. Buck, commissioner for the expenditure of the same, the sum of $200, which has been heretofore granted towards the road leading from the township of Otonabee to the village of Westwood, where it passes over the big hill between lots 10 and 11, in the first concession of the township of Asphodel.

13. Your committee recommend that Donald McDiarmid's tender for the erection of the Mud lake bridge for the sum of $27,487, in accordance with the plans and specifications of the County Engineer be referred to the Special Committee of this Council.

14. That the Warden be instructed in conjunction with the United Counties of Northumberland and Durham to have all necessary repairs made to bridges on the boundary line between North Monaghan and Cavan.

15. That a special grant of $150 be given towards repairing the road leading from the Cordova mines to the village of Havelock, providing the Ontario Government grant $300 and the Township of Belmont grant $150 for the same purpose, and that Mr. Pearce be commissioner as to the county grant.

16. Your committee recommend that the Warden and Messrs. Pearce, Anderson, Hawthorne and Fitzgerald be a special committee of this Council with respect to the Mud lake bridge, with full power to consider the tender of Mr. D. McDiarmid and to accept or reject the same, and with full power to advertise for and accept new tenders for the building of the said bridge, and with full power to enter into any contract they see fit with respect to the building of the bridge and to carry out such contract and in all respects such special committee shall have vested in them all powers which the Council has with respect to said bridge.

All of which is respectfully submitted,
WM. ANDERSON,
Chairman.

The report was adopted.

TO REDUCE THE COST OF JURIES.

Mr. Eastland presented the report of the Committee on Petitions as follows:—

The Committee on Petitions beg leave to report as follows:—

1. Your Committee recommend that the Legislative Assembly of the Province of Ontario be petitioned by this Council to so amend the law relating to the service of Grand and Petit Jurors so as to bring about a reduction in the cost of service.

2. Your committee recommend that no action be taken with respect to the communication from the county of Oxford asking this Council to petition the Legislature to define by statute which is a lawful roadway.

All of which is respectfully submitted,
T. G. EASTLAND,
Chairman.

The report was adopted.

EQUALIZATION AND ASSESSMENT.

Mr. Buck presented the report of the Committee on Equalization and Assessment as follows:—

Your Committee on Equalization and Assessment beg leave to report as follows:—

Your Committee having examined the assessment rolls of the different Townships and Villages in the County for the preceding financial year for the purpose of ascertaining whether the valuations made by the assessors bear a just relation one to another beg leave to recommend that all the Municipalities comprising the County of Peterborough be assessed for the purpose of County rates at the values set forth in the schedule hereunto annexed and that such valuation be the equalized valuation for County purposes for the year 1900.

All of which is respectfully submitted,
W. T. BUCK,
Chairman.

The report was adopted.

Mr. Pearce moved, seconded by Mr. Anderson, that the caretaker be authorized to have the flag for the Court House repaired or purchase a new one if necessary.—Carried.

BY-LAWS.

Mr. Pearce introduced a by-law fixing the levy to be made on each municipality for county purposes. It was given the several readings and passed.

By-laws confirming the several reports of committees presented were passed.

Mr. Pearce introduced a by-law to provide for the issuing of debentures for $15,000 for the erection of the bridges. It was read the first time, and stands to be passed, after being advertised, at a special meeting of the Council to be held on Wednesday, October 24th.

THE POULTRY ASSOCIATION.

The Warden read a communication from from the Poultry Association asking for a grant towards the association, and setting forth the claims of the industry to assistance.

On motion of Messrs. Hawthorne and Buck no action was taken.

The Council then adjourned.

Dr. A. W. Chase's Catarrh Cure ... 25c. is sent direct to the diseased parts by the Improved Blower. Heals the ulcers, clears the air passages, stops droppings in the throat and permanently cures Catarrh and Hay Fever. Blower free. All dealers, or Dr. A. W. Chase Medicine Co., Toronto and Buffalo.

Woman's Welfare

Paine's Celery Compound

Gives and Maintains a Perfect Condition of Bodily Health.

The great susceptibility of women to nervousness and worry is heightened by the fact that, in the majority of cases they lead confined and monotonous lives, narrowed down to the four walls of home the greater part of the day.

Paine's Celery Compound is just what such nervous and depressed women need to restore their nerves to energy and to lift them out of their constipated, dyspeptic habit of body.

No other remedy known to medical men is so rich in flesh-forming and energy-producing constituents for women as Paine's Celery Compound. It is also a true and unfailing regulator, keeps the blood pure and rich, and maintains an even condition of good health that makes a woman contented and happy. Mrs. Wilcox, of Creemore, Ont., writes as follows:—

"For years I have suffered from constant sick headache and nervousness. At times I have been so bad that I have been unable to sleep two hours a night for weeks. I have tried many medicines and doctored a great deal, but never received a hundredth part of the value from them that I obtained from Paine's Celery Compound. After using three bottles I can sleep well, my headaches have ceased, and I feel healthier and fresher than I have been for years."

C. P. R. Earnings.

Montreal, June 26.—The earnings of the C.P.R. Co. for the traffic week ending June 21 were $594,000. For the same week last year the earnings were $538,000, showing an increase of $56,000.

Two-Thirds of Them Die.

London, June 26.—The Governor of Bombay wire that there were 10,277 deaths from cholera out of 15,479 cases during the week ending June 16.

The Green Sickness.

Girls who lack sufficient nerve force to develop into healthy womanhood become pale, weak, nervous and irritable. They have chlorosis or "green sickness" and can only be cured when the nerves are restored and revitalized and the blood made rich by using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, the great restorative in pill form. It makes pale, weak, women and girls healthy, rosy and plump. Note increase in weight while taking it.

TRADING STAMPS DISCONTINUED

The Stamps Being Discontinued by Several Classes of Merchants — A Detroit Proclamation.

Yesterday it was announced that the Peterborough butchers had decided not to use trading stamps after the 28th of June.

As the small boy says "there are others." A letter from Petrolea states that every merchant there with the exception of one has decided not to touch trading stamps. Then the Toronto grocers have decided to discontinue them.

And in Detroit action has been taken by the grocers and the butchers to not only discontinue the stamps but to secure legislation against them in the State, the same as or similar to that New York has passed.

The Detroit News says:—"At a meeting of the Retail Grocers and Butchers' association last night a public announcement was decided upon setting forth their position with reference to trading stamps. The announcement says a bill has been framed to present to the legislature making the business of trading and amusement stamps, etc., a misdemeanor in the state of Michigan.

"For several years," says the proclamation, "Detroit and Michigan merchants have been held up by these institutions. Their method has been to redeem a certain number of these stamps with some article the collector might select from the stamp company's office. When the collector had accumulated 300 in stamps the company would redeem these stamps in trade from their stock of merchandise with an article they listed at $5, upon which they made a large profit. The collector could not get these stamps redeemed in trade until he had accumulated 300 worth. The loss of books and inability to collect the amount required become another large source of profit for the stamp people. One of these institutions is estimated to have made a profit of $1,000,000 in a short time. The merchant was led to believe that by using these stamps he could gain a large business in his territory, but it has been shown by practical experience that merchants who wished to sell goods at a close price and good values could not long do so while using trading stamps, as it became necessary to either cut the quality of the goods or advance the selling price, the public being thus made to pay for all the stamps they collected. Many merchants have been compelled to make one price on a certain article with stamps and a lower price to such people who did not want stamps, as the merchant could not give stamps on goods at regular prices."

"Before any Comparison." Those who [illegible] should take Hood's Sarsaparilla [illegible]. It never disappoints.

THE MOVEMENTS IN SOUTH AFRICA

CHIL TURNER TELLS OF THE WAR IN THE TRANSVAAL

Movements of the Troops From Town to Town—The Boers Keep Out of Range.

The following letter from Chil. Turner was received in the same mail as the one published yesterday:—

Kroonstad, O.F.S.,
May 17th, 1900.

Dear Brothers,—Each letter travels a little farther than the other, as we are now on the verge of leaving the Free State, and trust that the next will be from Johannesburg or Pretoria. We have seen some hard fighting since my last letter to you from Edinburg. Marched from the above place to Bloemfontein, where we beheld a mass of canvas and a beautiful town lying in a valley, enclosed by high kopjes. However, we only remained here long enough to feed our horses, when we were ordered to assist in capturing the water works. We then marched to Springfield for the night and the next morning engaged the enemy at Sahuw Kop. Thus B Squadron was the first to see action. Our pom poms did great work, and the enemy was forced to abandon this kopje. The next morning we marched 10,000 strong to the waterworks and were successful in capturing it. We then returned to Bloemfontein and joined the rest of the Canadian boys at Fisher's Farm. Both men and horses were very tired. When I received the various parcels of cake, etc., along with the letters and papers, it made me forget that I was tired and made me feel like a prince. We started the next morning under General Hutton on our march to Pretoria, and I am pleased to say that we have been advancing against strong positions ever since. We have had several very narrow escapes. The Boers certainly know how to throw shells, but I am so well that they cannot find me. During our first ten days march to the waterworks I was messman for the B Squadron officers and also done the cooking and received all kinds of bouquets. I received an extra pound for my trouble. They think I am the whole tip. I live like a lord and the captain pushes me forward the whole time. We expected a big fight here, but General French got around the Boers on the left flank with our big Long Tom guns and therefore we marched into the town without a single shot being fired from our rifles. These large guns have 35 team of oxen to draw them and throw a 150 pound shell. The guns we have with us are Maxims, pom poms and twelve pounders. We expect one more big fight at the Vaal River and then on to Pretoria. We loot the Boer farms and secure chickens, shirts, sugar, oranges and lemons and in fact everything up-to-date. I get meal or flour and make pancakes. Leave it to me. Well, dear brothers, I have told all for the present. I will close with love to parents and all.

CHILL.

A PRESENTATION

Teachers of the Collegiate Regret the Resignation of Mr. O'Brien.

This morning the teachers of the Collegiate Institute presented their colleague, Mr. Micheal O'Brien, who is severing his connection with the school to assume his new position as Separate School Inspector, with a handsome leather travelling bag as a token of their esteem. During the seven or eight years that Mr. O'Brian has been a member of the staff of the Collegiate he has held the respect and warm friendship of his fellow teachers and, while rejoicing in his promotion, they regret that their relations must be to some extent severed. The presentation was very informally made, being simply accompanied with expressions of esteem and wishes for continued success.

An Evening Social.

Last night the Young People's Society of the Murray-st Baptist church held a very successful strawberry and ice cream festival in the school room. An informal programme was given in which Miss Barker, Miss Taylor, Mrs. Van-Every, Miss Addie Garbutt and Messrs. Martin and Raddon took part.

St. Joseph's Hospital Picnic.

Indications point to the fact that the St. Joseph's Hospital picnic on July 2nd promises to eclipse all previous records. The affair will be held this year on the Murray-st. school grounds, which is in every way adapted for a gathering of this nature. The different committees have now everything arranged. The 57th Regimental band, which was undoubtedly the drawing card at last year's picnic, has again been engaged this year. The programme of sports provided has even surprised the committee in charge. It is an excellent one. The public will have an opportunity of witnessing a thrilling mid-air performance by Thos. J. McGrath, the celebrated equilibrist. He will give his grand acrobatic flying and balancing trapeze performance, introducing head balancing, swinging perch ladder act and many other sensational, daring and thrilling feats, concluding with the slide for life. The ladies of the congregation will furnish meals during the day, and it is needless to say anything regarding their excellence. Through the kindness of Mr. H. LeBrun the public will have an opportunity of competing in the drawing contest for a beautiful painting of "The Last Supper," valued at over $200. Mr. LeBrun has donated this picture, the original of which cost thousands of dollars. It is a beautiful work of art, and is on exhibition in Mr. H. LeBrun's window, George-st. No one should miss seeing it as well as making an effort to secure it.

THREE MONTHS FOR THEFT

Two Men Sentenced to Three Months Each at Hard Labor.

Yesterday County Magistrate Edmison held a session of the police court, at which Fred Holland and Eugene Hetew were charged with the theft of $30 from Wm. Deyell. The offence took place near Lakefield. The men pleaded guilty and were sentenced to three months in gaol each at hard labor.

BATTLEFIELD AND HOSPITAL

COLOR SERGEANT LEBAR HAS HIS SHARE OF THE HORRORS OF WAR

Tossed Into the Air by a Shell—A Comrade Killed a Few Paces off—In the Hospital With Enteric Fever.

Col. Sergt. V. LeBar writes from the General Hospital, Springfontein, May 26, to a friend in town, the following being extracts from his letter:—

I am just recovering from a severe shaking up, also a relapse of enteric fever. At Thab Tchu on April 28th, our right had its first baptism of the enemy's artillery fire. It is not very pleasant, I can assure you, to have 40 pound shells dropping at your feet. But as there were very few of them bursting they did not frighten us very much and, in fact, did not stop our advance for a single moment. We had one man killed, Pte. Cotton, of Ottawa. It was an awful sight. Poor chap, he was literally torn to pieces. The shell exploded in his chest. I was about 30 paces on his left. A few minutes after another shell lit right at my feet and threw me several feet into the air. It was a sample of God's mercy that it did not burst or I should not be alive at the present moment. As it was I escaped with a severe shaking up. I was unconscious for several hours. As I was being borne off the field by the S. B's. a rifle bullet imbedded itself in a Bible I was carrying in my breast pocket. It was a small Bible I received from my mother while at Quebec just before sailing.

I am in the hospital at present and the doctor says it will be impossible for me rejoin the regiment but I will have to be invalided as soon as it is safe to move me. I was in the hospital only five days when I had a relapse of fever and it, along with the internal injuries received, has pulled me very low, but, thank God, I am slowly recovering.

Our troops are having decided success at the front and we expect to hear shortly of the end. I tell you those at home have their right of share in the successes in South Africa. I will tell you why. To people who are at a distance from home, confronted with difficulties and dangers and perhaps face to face with death, the fact that the folks at home are, to their knowledge, thinking of them and offering up their earnest prayers for their victory and welfare is a support, a strength and a comfort which, unless you have experienced it, I doubt if you could believe it. I will close this by sending best regards to all friends in Peterborough.

Yours, etc.,
V. E. LEBAR,

LT.-COL. GREENWOOD TELLS OF THE FIGHT

WHAT THE CANADIAN MOUNTED MEN HAVE SEEN AND EXPERIENCED

Boer Treachery—The Peterborough Men are Doing Very Well — Forced Marches on Short Rations.

The following letter was to-day received from Lt.-Col. H. S. Greenwood, of the Canadian Mounted Infantry:—

Kroonstad, May 14, 1900

My Dear,——I hope you are well and enjoying life. The last six weeks has been quite a varied experience for me. Five times in action and a couple of pretty close calls. However, I am still O. K.

I do not know whether the papers give any account of small engagements, such as "Brandford," "Vet River" and "Zand River," etc. The latter was the heaviest loss for the British, as a cavalry squadron fell into an old trap of white flag and retreat, and when they dismounted at the top of the kopje and were off their guard, about 100 secreted Boers shot their horses and then mowed them down and took the rest of the men prisoners. One of our squadron turned up an hour after and said it was a most pitiful sight "as well as ghastly," 47 killed and wounded lying in all positions and stripped of everything valuable and useful, even the boots were taken off the dead and wounded, and one wounded man saw a Boer go up to another wounded man and say "Good morning," then shot him in the back.

I have a bandolier taken from a Boer prisoner with a number of expansion bullets in it. It will go hard on any Canadian prisoners I am afraid.

You would be surprised how long I make a bottle of Scotch last here for medicinal purposes. The last bottle I had to pay 15s. for. I have had a slight attack of fever, but threw it off and have had some attacks of the first stages of dysentery, but on the whole am fairly well. Of our whole force we have twenty-five per cent off duty, some at Cape Town and left along the way from there to here. The first contingent has 400 off duty, and they went out 1,040 strong and 125 came out since, so you see they are well pulled down. They are only four miles from here and I hope to

GIFTS TO MRS. SHOREY

Ladies' of the George-st. Church Send Her a Couple of Handsome Farewell Gifts.

Mrs. (Rev.) Shorey was the recipient of a pleasant surprise this morning, when she received a handsome cut glass berry dish and silver berry spoon, suitably engraved, accompanied by a short note, intimating in a felicitous line or two that these were farewell gifts of some of the ladies of the George-st congregation, who desired her to carry away with her some slight token of the place she had won in their hearts during Rev. Mr. Shorey's pastorate here.

Mrs. Shorey, needless to say, appreciates the gifts made in such unostentatious but effective way most highly.

PRIZE WINNERS

Books Donated to the Ashburnham School by Mr. E. A. Peck.

Last January Mr. E. A. Peck, Chairman of the Ashburnham School Board, generously donated several interesting books to be competed for by pupils of the Ashburnham Public school.

The competition was confined to spelling and arithmetic, the object being to secure accuracy in these two important subjects.

Two prizes were donated in each of the three highest rooms, and one prize to each of the Part Second classes.

The teachers and pupils are grateful to Mr. Peck for his interest thus manifested, and take this means of publicly thanking him.

The winners were as follows in order of merit in each division:—

Fourth Classes—Laura Smithson and Effie Fowler.

Third Classes—Elsie Pollock and Jennie Gillespie.

Second Classes—Fred Wyatt and Fred Bishop.

Safe, Sure, and Painless.

What a world of meaning this statement embodies. Just what you are looking for, is it not? Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor—the great sure pop corn cure—acts in this way. It makes no sore spots, safe, acts speedily and with certainty; sure and safely, without inflicting the parts painfully. Do not be imposed upon by imitations or substitutes.

WITH THE BOYS AT KINGSTON

A REVIEW CORRESPONDENT KEEPING TRACK OF THE THIRD DRAGOONS AT CAMP

They Were Inspected on Friday and Part of the Inspection Was in a Thunderstorm—A Church Parade on Sunday.

Barriefield Brigade Camp,
June 22nd, 1900.

Friday morning everybody was employed in cleaning up for inspection. The boys of the 3rd Dragoons turned out at 9 o'clock. They were inspected by Captain Hewart, of Toronto. In the morning they turned out with swords and lined up on Barriefield Commons for inspection. The drill lasted till after eleven o'clock, after which we returned to camp all well pleased with the compliments of the officers.

The strecher bearer corps had one burden to carry off the grounds, owing to a kick from a horse which was received by Mr. O Warner, of Colbourne, "A" squadron. The wound is not very serious, nevertheless he had to be carried from the field. This is the first case for the hospital, and it is hoped it will be the last.

The boys turned out again in the afternoon to finish the inspection. This was not so pleasant, owing to a heavy thunder storm which was passing over. Still they all took it good naturedly, but were not sorry when the order was given to "form in sections from the right" and "tr—o—t" to camp.

The boys all turned in with wet clothes which were changed for dry ones, after which water-parade was called. The rest of the evening was devoted to cleaning up saddles and uniforms.

Yours, etc.,
Barriefield Camp.

Brigade Camp, Kingston,
June 24th, 1900.

The boys of the 3rd Dragoons all turned out this morning for divine service. They formed up for parade at nine o'clock and marched to the infantry lines where they were addressed by Chaplain Rev. J. W. Macmillan, 45th Regiment. The Brigades present were:—

Cavalry Brigade.—3rd P. W. Dragoons and 4th Hussars.

5th Infantry Brigade.—Regiments 16th, 40th, 45th and 46th. Lt.-Col. W. E. Hodgins, B.O.

6th Infantry Brigade.—Regiments 47th, 49th, 56th and 59th. Lt.-Col. A. J. Matheson, B.O.

No. 3 Field Hospital, A.M.S., Major R. Habbutt, Lt.-Col. W. H. Cotton, Chief Staff Officer.

The service lasted about an hour, after which the boys were all marched to camp and dismissed for the remainder of the day.

SAYING GOOD-BYE

Farewell to Rev. Mr. Moore and Family at Mark-st. Church.

On Monday evening a large number of the adherents and members of Mark-st church met at Miss Hamilton's, Elizabeth-st, to bid adieu to Mr. Moore and his family, and to wish them success in their new field of labor.

During the evening refreshments were served, games were played, music was furnished, and altogether a pleasant evening was spent, the only unpleasant feature being the nearness of Mr. Moore's departure to Newburg.

During the evening two presentations were made to Mrs. Moore, one on behalf of the Sunday school and Epworth League, and the other on behalf of the W. M.S.

Miss M. Hamilton read the address from the school and league, while Miss Carton made the presentation.

The address from the W.M.S. was read by Mrs. Wand, Miss A. Smith making the presentation.

The gifts consisted of several beautiful pieces of glassware.

During the evening Mr. C. Noyes referred to the high esteem in which Mr. and Mrs. Moore and their boys were held by the entire congregation, and their regret at parting with them. The addresses were as follows:—

Ashburnham, June 25, 1900.

To Mrs. (Rev.) J. B. Moore:—

Dear Mrs. Moore,—It is with mingled feelings of regret and pleasure that we meet to-night, pleased to spend a social evening with yourself, Mr. Moore, and family, but regretting that these close relationships which have existed for the past three years between us are so soon to be interrupted by your removal from us to another field of labor.

During what seems to us your short stay among us, you have all endeared yourselves to us by your readiness to assist in all good work, your willingness to further the spiritual and temporal interests of the church by unselfish devotion to duty, and in the various organizations connected with the Master's work here we have found your counsel and help of great assistance to us.

We could not allow you to depart without expression to you all the high esteem in which you are held amongst us, and praying that God may bless you in all your future labor.

As a slight token of our regard we ask you, Mrs. Moore, to accept the accompanying gift, not for its intrinsic merit, but as a reminder of the many warm friends you leave behind you at Mark-st.

Signed on behalf of the Sabbath school and Epworth League:—M. W. Matchett, Superintendent of Sunday School; M. Carton, Assistant-Superintendent; John Speer, President of Epworth League; Sara Hamilton, Kathleen Carton.

Ashburnham, June 25, 1900.

Dear Mrs. Moore,—The members of Mark-st Auxiliary of the W.M.S., remembering the great help you have been to them in their work in the great cause of missions, and realizing the loss they will sustain by your removal from them to other spheres of usefulness, wish, before bidding you adieu, to place on record their appreciation of your helpfulness, and ask you to accept this slight token of their good-will towards you, hoping it will remind you, when many miles away from us, of your fellow-workers here.

Brevities

—Don't forget St. Luke's lawn social to-night on Mr. H. T. Strickland's grounds, Ashburnham.

—Last evening at the regular meeting of Otonabee Lodge, I.O.O.F., the officers for the ensuing term were elected. The names will be published after the installation.

—The judge's court for the revision of the voter's lists for the town was held this morning. Three names were added and one correction made.

—The Murray-st Baptist church Sunday school will have their annual excursion to Chemong, on Thursday, July 5th. Busses will leave the church at 8.30 a.m.

—The Collegiate Institute closed to-day for the summer vacation, the building having to be given up to the candidates writing on the Entrance examination, which starts to-morrow.

—A bag of popcorn left at the police station on Saturday can be had by the owner calling for the goods. The man of whom it was purchased could not find the place to which he was directed to deliver it.

—The Board of Health met yesterday afternoon and considered the old trouble of the land in rear of George and Hunter-sts without taking any action. The Provincial Board of Health will be communicated with.

—Old time residents of Cobourg will meet at the Y.M.C.A. hall on Thursday evening, June 28th, at 8 o'clock. It is proposed to organize the "old boys" in Peterborough and to join with the Toronto "old boys" in the re-union in Cobourg in August. Former residents of Cobourg and vicinity are invited.

—A letter has been received from the secretary of Genesee Lodge, I.O.O.F., Rochester, giving notice of the illness of Robt. W. Ross, late an employee of the Canadian General, who went over to Rochester for a visit for his health. In mistake one night he took a tablet of bichloride of mercury, which is poison, and had to be taken to the City Hospital, where he is now recovering. He is a member of Otonabee Lodge.

A LOCKMASTER CURED.

ONE of the most remarkable incidents that has happened in the county of Frontenac in some time has been the restoration to health of Mr. Thomas Todd, Lockmaster at Brewer's Mills, Ont. Mr. Todd suffered for twelve years with rheumatism in his shoulder. So extreme was the pain that he was unable to perform his daily labor, or even dress himself. During the last year the pain was particularly acute. He used all sorts of patent medicines, recommended for the cure of rheumatism, without obtaining relief. Finally he was persuaded to give Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure a trial. The contents of the first bottle gave him ease. He continued the treatment, taking the contents of eight bottles, which effected a perfect cure. To-day he is as well and sound as ever—free of pains and aches—and gives the free use of his name in the hope that it will be the means of other rheumatic sufferers finding a cure, as he did.

Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure is put up in 50 cent bottles, containing ten days' treatment. For sale by all druggists and dealers in medicine. The Dr. Hall Medicine Co., Kingston, Ont.

A GAMBLER'S SCHEME THAT WORKED WELL FOR AWHILE.

He Forgot One Very Important Thing, However, and His Last Plunging Wager Brought Ruin and Tragedy in Its Wake.

A gentleman who lives in the Blue Grass and who has been a very extensive traveler has a silver service so magnificent in design and heavy in weight that its peers in the whole world may be numbered on the fingers of one hand. The owner is even now, when past middle age, a "good fellow," who loves conviviality, and no game is too hazardous for him if he has the amount of the stakes. He takes pleasure in telling the history of his service, as it concerns the most audacious game of chance he ever witnessed.

"When I was in Bolivia some years ago," he always begins, "I got in with a crowd of men, English and natives, whose passion for gambling knew no bounds. Strange as it may seem, none of them knew poker, and I made myself solid with them by teaching them, but their great game was roulette.

"There was a little shop in Bogota, where they had a miniature Monte Carlo, and many nights did we spend around the great wheel, with our money and prospects hanging on the black or red. The wheel was entirely made of wood, and when it was spun around a cover was put over the machine so that they could keep on betting when it had ceased to turn.

"There is a worm down there in that climate that gets into furniture and bores until nothing but a shell is left. You may sit on a chair that looks perfectly strong, but at the first touch it collapses. This seems irrelevant, but it is not, as you may see later. In fact, that worm plays the title role in the tragedy I am going to tell.

"There was a wealthy Bolivian planter who had been a general in the war between Bolivia and Chile back in the early eighties. He was never absent a night from our games, but he would frequently stand about for a week and never make a bet larger than $10. Then he would suddenly cry out just as the operator was about to lift the cover and register the highest bet the house would permit. Next he would place all the money he could find takers for among the gentlemen present. Before the season was far advanced he had won great sums, and we had all felt the results of his freakish luck. It seemed that when he played 7—black he could not lose, and he seemed to realize it, for when he did call that number he would put all he owned in the balance.

"Still he was a gentleman and a famous duelist, and no one cared to question his methods. It went on this way for two months. Then one night the wheel stopped, and there was the silence of the prairies in the room. We could hear the ball fall into the compartment distinctly. We could hear the distant tinkling of a mandolin. The planter leaped up as from a catalepsy: 'Seven—black, senores. I will take all any of you or all of you will bet.' Well, I had been winning strong and was so much to the good that I was reckless.

"'Five dollars,' I said.

"'Good, senor,' he replied.

"He placed his entire fortune in different wagers. There were a number of strangers present, and they all seemed big fish. Then slowly, as a priest officiating at some solemn, barbaric ceremony, the banker removed the top. We all stood for a moment, and the tension was such that a carriage wheel on the cobblestones outside made us all start. 'Red,' came the announcement.

"The Bolivian was white as snow, but his voice was unshaken as he said: 'Gentlemen, you shall all be paid. As for me, I am ruined.'

"That night he shot himself, and his will, which had been written just before his death, arranged for the payment of all his debts. I was to receive the service for my share, though it is worth much more. But what I valued much more than that was a note in which he expressed his attachment for me and asked me to accept the silver as a gift and not a debt.

"He left also a curious manuscript, written some time before, which seemed to be a sort of private journal. He stated in this that his ears were so accurate that he could detect the difference between the fall of a pin and a needle. One night, so he says, he heard the ball fall into the compartment with a hollow thud, and when the machine was opened he made note of the number and color, '7—black.' Later, when alone for a moment, he found that the aforesaid worm had bored under that compartment. He sounded the excavation with a straw and found that it extended no farther than that one number. Then all he had to do was to listen and when his acute hearing told him that his number had come to get all the money possible on it.

"Yes, gentlemen, he had all his plans laid to perfection. There was only one weak spot in his calculations. He forgot that those worms could keep on boring."

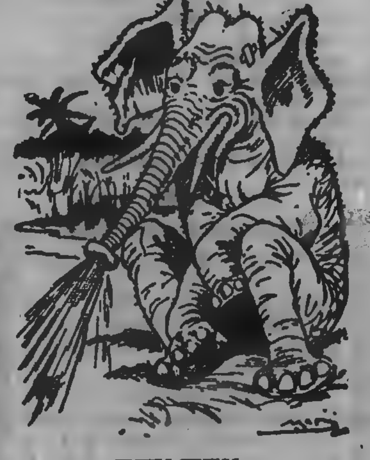
UNLUCKY SERVICE.

A Little Fable With an Excellent Moral.

One day the Elephant came down to the pool to drink, and after slaking his thirst he sucked up water in his trunk and squirted it over his big body to cool himself off. He was thus engaged when the Bug came out of a crevice and said:

"Ah, but I have been suffering with the heat all day! If I were only an Elephant!"

"Yes; it's very nice, but I guess we can fix things as it is. I've got about enough, and now I'll attend to your case. Stand by for a shower."



FIXING THINGS.

Thereupon the Elephant sucked up a barrel or more of water and blew it over the Bug, who was at once swept away in the flood and drowned out of hand.

HE SOURED TOO SOON

A SCHEME OF REVENGE THAT ACTED AS A BOOMERANG.

Change of Management In a Business House Which Was Discounted the Wrong Way by the Disgruntled Installment Collector.

"Revenge is not always sweet," said the man with the red mustache. "I remember one instance in particular where it had decidedly an acrid flavor. Some ten years ago I was collector for a big publishing house that sold high priced books on the installment plan. I had been with the house 14 years in one capacity or another, and when, at the end of that period, changes were made in the managment whereby it seemed likely that I would be ousted altogether, I naturally felt pretty sore.

"I was smarting under the disgrace of being discharged when I went around on my March collecting tour, and so fiercely did my grievance rankle that I took no pains to conceal my resentment. The first person I called on after learning that my days were in all probability numbered with that particular firm was a pretty bookkeeper in the Stock Exchange building.

"'I suppose,' I said, after she had paid me her monthly installment, 'that there will be a new man around to take your money next month.'

"The girl looked at me wonderingly. 'Why?' she asked.

"'Because,' said I, with fine sarcasm, 'I'm old and worn out. I've outlived my usefulness. I've only been with this house 14 years. I began to work for them when I was 15.' Here I could see that the pretty bookkeeper was making a rapid mental calculation, and it was plain, from the working of her lips, that she was saying to herself, 'Twenty-nine.' 'And now,' I resumed eloquently, 'after having given the corporation the best part of my life and after having earned promotion to a responsible position, they reward my fidelity by knocking me down and out. I've been fired—or at least I shall be. A younger brother of the superintendent, who hates me because I testified against him once in a lawsuit, has been placed in authority, and he'll take his revenge by giving me my walking papers. He'll give me no more consideration than if I were a dog.'

"The pretty bookkeeper was properly sympathetic. 'I'm very sorry,' she said. 'I wish there was something I could do to help you get even.'

"'There is something,' said I. 'When the new collector comes around for money, don't pay him.'

"'But how can I get out of it?' she asked.

"'Oh,' said I, 'there are plenty of ways. You can tell him that you are not the person he wants; that you are not Miss Brown, or you could simply put him off from month to month, or, if you should happen to give up this position, you could go away and leave no address. They'd never find you in all creation. Oh, there are a hundred ways you could work it if you feel so disposed. You might not find the game worth the candle, but if you care to try it I'll never tell on you. You need have no fear of that.'

"The bookkeeper was an honest little creature in her way, and I could see that she was frightened at my suggestion. Her anxiety to assist me in gaining revenge overcame her conscientious scruples, however, and, although she did not pledge herself never to pay the $20 still due on the books, she did promise to lead the house a wild chase before they collected another cent, and I went away pretty well satisfied with my deviltry. Fully two-thirds of our debtors on my route were women, and, as I worked the same racket with equal skill with about 90 per cent of them, I felt that there would be an appreciable diminution in the receipts of the company for the next six months.

"The first of April the contemplated changes were made in the firm, and I, instead of being bounced, as I had anticipated, was promoted to a fine position in the financial department with the promise of another raise soon if I could make a good showing on collections. I was highly elated at this elevation, and, seeing the necessity of presenting a good hand in the beginning, I carefully instructed the new force of collectors when they started out on their April tour to do their level best at gathering in the shekels. Most of them collected the average amount day after day, but when the man on my old route returned to the office every evening he reported absolute failure. In my enthusiasm over my unexpected good luck I had forgotten all about my cold blooded sentiments of a few weeks before, and I was at a loss to account for the astonishing delinquency. May came, and still my successor met with no better luck. I began to get spunky then, and when the June collections became due I told my man to give the backsliders some pretty tall talk. The first evening he came in after receiving these instructions he shook his head despondently. This sign of disappointment made me feel equally all over, for I had that day been taken severely to task for the poor collections.

"'No good?' said I.

"'No,' said he; 'no good.'

"'And what reason do they give for this unaccountable breach of faith?' I asked.

"The man lowered his voice and looked at me keenly. 'They all say,' he said, 'that you told them not to pay another cent. They say you promised never to tell on them.'

"That phase of the situation almost floored me. The sweet young things had taken me at my word with a vengeance, and it was more than a year before my books made a respectable showing, during which time I was in daily danger of losing my place because of insufficient energy in the collecting department. Indeed there was a good deal of that money that I never got at all, and I had to take the blame for the loss. But there was no remedy for the difficulty. Our customers had me, and in order to save the [illegible] of my reputation with the firm, I had to swallow my revenge medicine and never murmur."

Her Finish.

The Finger Nails.

In days when superstition was more prevalent than it is now the shape and appearance of the finger nails were considered to have reference to one's destiny. To learn the message of the finger nails it was necessary to rub them over with a compound of wax and soot and then to hold them so that the sunlight fell fully on them. Then on the horny, transparent substance certain signs and characters were supposed to appear, from which the future could be interpreted. Persons, too, having certain kinds of nails were credited with the possession of certain characteristics. Thus a man with red and spotted nails was supposed to have a hot temper, while pale, lead colored nails were considered to denote a melancholy temperament. Narrow nails were supposed to betray ambition and a quarrelsome nature, while round shaped nails were the distinguishing marks of lovers of knowledge and people of liberal sentiment. Conceited, narrow minded and obstinate folk were supposed to have small nails, indolent people fleshy nails and those of a gentle, retiring nature broad nails.

The Arab's Little Game.

In The Agricultural Journal of the Cape of Good Hope appears an article on the vitality of wheat from Egyptian mummy cases. It is often asserted that samples of wheat from the same crop as that which Joseph stored in Pharaoh's granaries has been taken from mummy wrappings and, when planted, has grown. This is very likely erroneous, as the Arabs have a habit of selling to tourists samples of grain which have in all likelihood come from the nearest field instead of from the ancient tombs. Indeed in many instances this "mummy grain" has been corn, and, as corn was not known until it was brought from America, the fraud is apparent.

Frail Historians of Sevres.

Only 2½ miles southwest of Paris, Sevres is well known to tourists. Beautiful porcelain has been manufactured here since 1756, the royalties and republics which followed each other taking pains to have each period stamped on the back of every piece made. Initials of kings, the date and often the palace for which the service was designed were placed plainly on the plate. Thus in this silent but most eloquent way these frail historians indicate the changeful, brilliant story of their native land.

Wheat Dropped Four Cents, but Recovered Half the Loss Later—The Latest Quotations.

Liverpool, June 26. — Yesterday spot wheat advanced 2d to 3d per cental, and futures closed ½d to ⅝d higher than on Saturday.

Chicago, June 26.—The wheat pit saw wild fluctuations yesterday. The market opened weak, nearly a cent below Saturday's close, and declined below 84 on disappointing cables and realizing sales. There was a later recovery on continued damage reports, and futures closed only 2c below Saturday's final figures.

SIGHT AND AFLOAT.

As compared with a week ago, the visible supply of wheat in Canada and the United States has increased 1,348,000 bushels; that of corn has increased 982,000 bushels, and that of oats has decreased 53,000 bushels. The visible supply of wheat in Canada and the United States, together with that afloat to Europe, is 77,124,000 bushels, against 76,496,000 bushels a week ago and 69,259,000 bushels a year ago.

The Army in the Field.

The layman cannot easily realize the vast amount of material as to food and ammunition demanded by an army in the field. A few facts and figures as to this may aid to make it more tangible. Each man requires, at a minimum, three pounds and a half of food per day. Each animal should have at least 20 pounds of feed in countries where grazing is not abundant. If we take, for purposes of estimate, only 15 pounds required to supply each animal, leaving five pounds to be gathered from the country by grazing and otherwise, we assume a quantity that may be considered a minimum.

An army of 150,000 men would require about 50,000 animals for transportation of artillery, camp equipment, ammunition, food, hospital and medical equipment. There should not be less than 20,000 cavalry. There should not be less than 10,000 animals available at all times to supply losses. This makes a total of 80,000 animals to be fed. With this as a basis we see that the daily demands would be for the men 525,000 pounds and for the horses 1,250,000 pounds, or an aggregate of 1,775,000 pounds. This is equal to something more than 888 tons per day. —Captain [illegible] in Harper's Weekly.

An invalid called on a physician for advice. The doctor wrote out a prescription, charging the patient 2 guineas for it. Some time afterward they met in the street.

"Well," said the doctor, "you are looking 100 per cent better! That medicine, though a little expensive, was just what you needed."

"Doctor," replied the patient, "after I had paid you the 2 guineas for the prescription, I couldn't afford to have it made up, so I didn't take a single dose!"—London Answers.

Poor Quality of Blood

A Frequent Cause of Consumption, Heart Failure and Other Constitutional Diseases—Dr. Chase's Nerve Food as a Blood Builder.

The heart, the lungs, the stomach, the liver, the kidneys, and bowels cannot perform their functions and repair wasted tissue when supplied with blood that is deficient in nutritive qualities, and sooner or later the weakest organ succumbs to the attacks of disease.

The indications of thin, watery blood are paleness of the lips, gums, and eyelids, shortness of breath, weakness of heart action, and languid, despondent feelings. These symptoms are usually accompanied by nervousness, sleeplessness, and general weakness of the body.

It is positively useless to doctor the symptoms and injurious to use opiates or stimulants. Cure can be brought about [illegible] by the use of [illegible] which contains [illegible] all the elements needed for strengthening and revitalizing the blood. SERVICE BUILDING AT THE PAN-AMERICAN EXPOSITION.

Copyright, 1900, by the Pan-American Exposition Co.

The large Service building at the Pan-American Exposition, to be held in Buffalo from May 1 to Nov. 1, 1901, was completed in 32 working days and was the first building erected on the grounds. It is the present home of a large corps of officers and employees having immediate charge of the constructive work of the Exposition. This handsome building is 95 by 145 feet, two stories high. In it are the offices of the director of works, the landscape architect, superintendent of building construction, purchasing agent, chief engineer, mechanical and electrical engineer, with their numerous assistants.

CONDITIONS OF BACK PAY.

Mr. Birmingham and Conservative Union.

Toronto, June 26.—The resolution passed at the executive of the Conservative Union of Ontario was to the effect that the resignation, from July 1 next, of Mr. Birmingham as secretary of the Union was to hand; that the Union considered that Sir Charles Tupper had dismissed Mr. Birmingham on May 22, and that the Union endorsed the action of Sir Charles. This was carried unanimously. Nor was any claim of Mr Birmingham for unpaid services considered; it was, however, plainly intimated that no claim would be considered until an opportunity was given him of going before the Royal Commission and telling what he knows of the wrongdoings of the Conservative party.

Funeral of the Late Col. Tyrwhitt.

Bradford, Ont., June 26.—One of the largest, if not the largest, funerals that has ever been held in this section of the country was that of the late Lt.-Col. Tyrwhitt, M.P., which left his late residence for the place of interment, St. John's Cemetery, Tecumseth, yesterday. Friends and admirers of the late colonel were present from Ottawa, Toronto, Barrie, Newmarket, Cookstown, Beeton and many other places.

The colonel was buried with military honors, No. 5 Company, 36th Regiment, with a large number of representatives of the other companies of the regiment, forming the firing party. About three hundred Orangemen were in the procession. The funeral cortege was over a mile in length, and some four hundred conveyances were present. He leaves a wife, three sons and six daughters to mourn his loss.

Count Cassini Has Best Chances.

London, June 26.—The Paris correspondent of The Daily Express says:

"Four Russian Ambassadors are here, by accident or design—Count Cassini, Ambassador to the United States; Count de Nelidoff, Ambassador to Italy; Count Kapnist, Ambassador to Austria-Hungary, and Prince Ouroussoff, Ambassador to France. It is said that Count Muravieff's successor at the Russian Foreign Office, will be one of these, and I am informed that Count Cassini stands the best chance."

Cable Connection With Belle Isle.

Ottawa, June 26.—The tender for a cable between Belle Isle and the mainland has been let by the Department of Public Works. The cable will be delivered in Canada in eight weeks, and within a month thereafter the cable will be laid and Belle Isle put in direct telegraphic communication with the rest of the world.

Crabs in Oysters.

"The demand for that little southern delicacy, the oyster crab, is always larger than the supply, and I have all I can do to obtain the 50 or 60 gallons which are daily required for flavoring stews and making omelets in the leading hotels, restaurants and clubs of this city," said a wholesale fish dealer in New York to a Washington Star writer. "Our northern oysters do not contain the little dainties, so I am obliged to buy them from the oyster shuckers along the York, Rappahannock and other southern rivers. The Chesapeake bay shells oystermen send us some also.

"The little crab found in the oyster is not, as commonly supposed by two-thirds of the oyster eating community, the young of the blue crab, but is a distinct species. It is a messmate of and caterer to the wants of the oyster, being therefore a benefit instead of a detriment to the latter. In return for the oyster's kindness in protecting it against its enemies the little crab catches and crushes food which in its entire state could not be taken by the oyster. A singular thing in connection with them is that all found inside of the oyster are females. The male of the same variety has a hard shell."

Turtles Trained to Fight.

You want to go to China to see animal fighting reduced to a science. There are hundreds of young men in the larger cities there who make a living by training animals to fight and in exhibiting their savage qualities to interested audiences. They catch both mud and snapping turtles, feed them on raw meat and some sort of drug that warms them up, and at the end of six months they become savage enough to fight a tiger. The jaws and teeth are filed and sandpapered until the mouth becomes a dangerous thing to go near. The turtle is tantalized each day with a piece of wood or a bunch of cotton until its temper reaches a white heat. When confronted with another turtle that has been trained and badgered in the same way, they go for each other with distended jaws, and there is sure to be a fight to a finish.

They have each been starved for a week. Each is handled by his owner, who has teased it to the killing point. The two turtles are then placed in a small ring, and only one comes out alive. The fight lasts from one to ten hours, and death generally comes only when one of them has secured a throat hold on his doomed antagonist.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

He Bought a Section.

A Pittsburger who has money to spare had to go east on short notice. He is a man given to exclusiveness, and he detests traveling in a public conveyance because he is thrown in with so many persons of whom he knows nothing. When he does take a trip, he takes a stateroom wherever he can get it, or, failing in that, if his business is urgent, he takes a section in the sleeping car. He had little time to make arrangements last week, but his first thought was of a stateroom. He called one of the employees and hurried him to the ticket office.

"Get a stateroom, if you can," he said, "and, if you cannot, get a section. You know what a section is—two berths."

"Yes, sir," replied the man as he started off.

He returned soon with the information that there wasn't a stateroom to be had on the train.

"But I got two berths for you, sir," he said, handing out two tickets.

He nearly lost his job when his employer examined the tickets and found one for "upper 5" and the other for "upper 8."—Pittsburg News.

THE CAPTURE OF SEYMOUR

News Comes From Japanese Source But is Unconfirmed.

Entire Absence of News From Chinese Capital Justifies the Worst Construction of the Situation of the Pekin Legations—Chinese Army Around Pekin Totals 360,000 Men—They Have 220 Creusot, 18 Krupp and 15 Maxim Guns

London, June 26.—(3.35 a. m.)—The British cruiser Terrible has arrived at Che Foo, from Taku, with the latest news, which is as follows:

"Eight hundred Sikhs and 200 Welsh Fusiliers have effected a junction with the American, German and Russian forces, which had been cut off by the Chinese about nine miles from Tien Tsin. It was proposed to deliver an assault upon the Chinese forces at Tien Tsin last night (Sunday)."

The Worst Is Feared.

"Foreign officers' opinion here," says a despatch from Shanghai to The Daily Express, dated yesterday, "incline to believe that the worst has happened to the legations at Pekin, and to Admiral Seymour as well. Even the legations were safe on June 19, this is no guarantee that they are safe now. The situation, in fact, grows more and more gloomy. The entire absence of reliable news from the capital seems to justify the worst construction which can be put upon it.

Bad News From Nanking.

"Bad news come from Nanking, where the unrest, is said to be growing hourly. Viceroy Liu Kin Yih has telegraphed the British authorities that he has ordered the five Chinese cruisers which have been lying off the harbor here to proceed to Nanking."

360,000 Chinese Around Pekin.

A careful estimate of the number and armament of the Chinese troops around Pekin puts the total at 360,000, and it is calculated that these troops possess 220 7-10 Creusot guns, 18 Krupps and 15 Maxims. Their supply of ammunition is practically inexhaustible. It has been mainly supplied by a German firm at Carlowitz. Fully three-fourths of the Chinese forces are badly drilled, wholly undisciplined and quite unfamiliar with modern weapons.

Allies Making Preparations.

Extensive preparations by the allies are going forward. The first regiment of British Indies, 1,000 men, embarked at Calcutta yesterday, and 833 more marines received orders to go out from English ports. The Amur army corps, ordered out by Russia, numbers 52,100 men, with 84 guns. Japan proposes to land 15,000 men on Chinese territory within a fortnight.

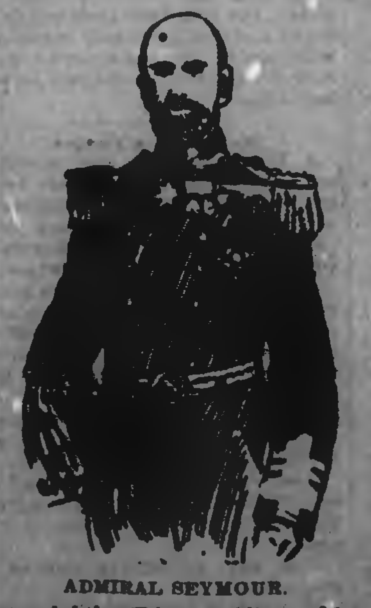
SEYMOUR CAPTURED.

Allies Entered Tien Tsin on June 23—New News From Pekin.

Che Foo, Tuesday, June 26. — Rear-Admiral Kempff reports by a Japanese torpedo boat that the combined forces entered Tien Tsin on Saturday, June 23, sustaining small loss. They started on Sunday to relieve the force which left Tien Tsin on June 10, and which is believed to be surrounded near Pekin.

Seymour Captured.

According to Japanese reports, Admiral Seymour has been captured, and the Ministers have left Pekin, guarded by Chinese soldiers. Their whereabouts are unknown.



ADMIRAL SEYMOUR.

No News From Pekin.

Che Foo, June 25, via Shanghai.—United States Consul John Fowler has received from Rear-Admiral Kempff the following: "Only one communication from Pekin has reached me since communications were interrupted on June 10. It was dated

A SPECIAL SALE
—OF—
SLATER SHOES

It's unusual—a special sale of goods so good as the Slater Shoes are. Slater Shoes sell on sight, on their worth, on their value, on the strength of the many points making up a good shoe. But here is a sale.

And by special permission of the Slater Shoe Company—we need not detail all the facts—we have approval. That is as far as the public care, but what interests more is the prices.

Our stock is large. Large for a big city store, where thousands pass the doors and hundreds buy in an hour. Our large stock we want to reduce and make offer:

SLATER SHOES
$5.00 quality in Men's sizes for............$3.00
$3.00 quality in Men's sizes for............$2.00
$3.50 quality in Men's sizes for............$2.00

Every shoe new, bright, and in every way first-class goods. Better buy now. All shades of leather and styles of fastening.

Just a line to say that our Tan and White Canvas Shoes are just the thing for hot weather wear.

ride over to-morrow, if we are still here, and pay them a visit.

The sun is very hot during the day. The rays are so powerful that five minutes without a hat will give sunstroke. At night we have frost and the cold is penetrating. Have not used tents for the last six weeks. Sometimes we start off in the morning with a couple of biscuit, "hard tack" and some bully beef, and a nose bag full of oats. Then we are ordered to make a forced march and our transports with supplies do not come up for a couple of days and we have to live on what we have with us. Each officer and man carries an overcoat and two blankets on his saddle, but on the whole each fares as well as he could expect.

Both the 1st and 2nd contingent Battalions of Canadian Mounted Rifles have had hard shelling and there were some wonderful escapes. Those twenty-five pounder shells make a nasty noise when they whiz past you.

A great many think the war is nearly over, but I do not. I think Pretoria will defend, and we have some hard country to fight through. General Hutton is in command of the Mounted Infantry, Col. Alderson is our Brigadier and Lord Roberts and Lord Kitchener are always within a day of us just now in this camp.

It is a wonderful sight to see a camp of 25,000 men. It takes up quite a number of square miles, but this country being practically treeless and undulating, one can see great distances. The Free State is an ideal country for warfare. The farms are large and nearly all grazing lands. One can march anywhere and drive waggons anywhere except at rivers when the drifts (fords) have to be used. The fences, where there are any, are of barbed wire, and we have wire clippers.

Of the men from Peterborough a number are ill, but not serious. Trusler is at Bloemfontein Hospital, and Hall is in a Field Hospital a few miles back. Johnston is also under the weather. Price is quite well and getting on nicely. Wasson and Flemming are on duty, but Harrington has been left behind. Turner is very fit and a great favorite with everybody. Upton is well [illegible] of his years.

Must close as mail is going out.

I am thankful to-day to say I am a well woman through the use of this remedy. I keep it in the house all the time, and would not be without it."

The English Way.

Fights are a recognized part of the school education among the boys in England. In America when boys fight it is because they are angry with each other; in England they fight because they are anxious to find out which is the better man physically. They may have no quarrel or ill feeling, but if their friends cannot agree as to their respective prowess the ultimate result is pretty apt to be a "mill."—Self Culture.

NO ROOM FOR DYSPEPSIA

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets Prevent Its Existence.

Humanity has been afflicted with Dyspepsia, Indigestion and other stomach diseases, since the world began. But until lately, there were no Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets to cure these complaints.

In years gone by people had to suffer from Dyspepsia, etc. To-day there is no more need to do so than there is for a millionaire to starve with hunger. Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets cure Dyspepsia as easily, and almost as quickly as the millionaire's dollars buy his food.

There is nothing boastful in this assertion. Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets cannot help curing these diseases. They cannot possibly have any other effect, once they are taken into the stomach.

The ingredients of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets form the same digestive agent that a healthy, vigorous stomach supplies. Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets digest the food, in short.

If all the food you eat is thoroughly digested, you cannot possibly be afflicted by Dyspepsia, Indigestion, nor any other stomach disorder. That is plain. Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets prevent any chance of these diseases returning after the Tablets have once cured them.

The smaller tablets that go with each box of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets are the most perfect agent known, for regulating the bowels.

The Latest War News.

The Review's Special Afternoon Despatches Giving the Latest Developments of the British-Boer Hostilitites.

THE BOERS KILL AND CAPTURE BASUTOES

Some of Botha's Men Have Returned and are Sniping British Around Pretoria—Painful Sensation Caused by Discovered Malfeasance.

BOERS CAPTURE BASUTOS

Maseru, June 26—Delayed—The Boers attacked a body of Basuto laborers, killing 20 and capturing 200. The natives, believing the Boers are gaining in their war with the British, are becoming restless. Trouble may follow with them.

A PAINFUL SENSATION

Cape Town, June 27—A painful sensation has resulted from the revelation that there has been wide spread malfeasance in connection with the handling of the supply of comforts for sick and wounded British soldiers.

BOTHA'S MEN ARE SNIPING

London, June 27—The War Office is in receipt of the following: Pretoria, June 25—A few of Commandant General Botha's men have returned and are among the kopjes along the Poemar river and indulge in occasional sniping at our camps at night. Remounts are being issued the Cavalry and Mounted Infantry. The burghers continue to surrender. Gen. Dewet is being hard pressed. It seems Dewet has succeeded in transferring most of his prisoners beyond Standerton en route for Middlesburgh.

COMMUNICATION OPENED WITH ADMIRAL SEYMOUR

He is Said to Have Lost 63 Killed and 200 Wounded--Foreign Ministers Said to Have Left Pekin.

REACHED ADMIRAL SEYMOUR

London, June 27—A special from Shanghai, dated last evening, says that communication with Admiral Seymour was opened by the Tien Tsin relief force, Sunday. Admiral Seymour was at that time said to be ten miles from Tien Tsin. Three hundred of the members of his party were reported sick and wounded, and only a few had been killed. They were short of provisions and were returning without having rescued the legations.

FOREIGN MINISTERS LEFT PEKIN

Paris, June 27—The French Consul General at Shanghai, telegraphing under date of yesterday, announces that the allied troops have entered Tien Tsin. He states also that the foreign Ministers have departed from Pekin for the north, accompanied by Chinese escort. It is supposed that they are headed for Shangha Kawan, following the course of the great wall. The telegram adds that the Viceroy of Nankin and the Viceroy of Tchang, Gtchetong, have requested the Consul to announce to the French government they are protecting the interests of some of the missionaries and some of the foreign merchants in that region. A Yang Tse telegram of the same date states that the French Consul at Chefoo confirms the news of the deliverance of Tien Tsin, and the fact that the foreign Ministers left Pekin under an escort.

SEYMOUR'S CASUALTIES

Chefoo, June 27—A message from Taku reports that a courier from Vice Admiral Seymour has arrived in Tien Tsin. On Monday, when he left, Seymour's force was 8 miles west of Tien Tsin, terribly harrowed by the Chinese, and it was then believed he could hold out only about two days more. Seymour's casualties, according to the Courier were 63 killed and 200 wou[illegible]

STRATHCONA'S CUT RAILWAY

Canadians Again Make History in South African War.

The Horse Blew Up the Railway Bridge at Komati Poort, on the Railway Between That Point and Pretoria—Boers Are Now Bottled Up Inland and Cannot Reach the Sea—What the Coup Means.

Pretoria, June 25.—(Montreal, June 27.—Star Special.)—Strathcona's Horse has done one of the great deeds of the war.

Leaving Cape Town a month ago they went to Durban by water, and then proceeded up the country, reaching General Buller's force in time to do splendid service in the advance from Newcastle on towards Standerton and Pretoria, service for which they received special mention in Gen. Buller's despatches to the War Office, approved by Lord Roberts.

Now they have done a deed which will live in history. They have blown up the railway bridge at Komati Poort, on the railway between Pretoria and Komati Poort, and have cut off all communication of the Boers with the sea.

All the Delagoa Bay Railway rolling stock, the Boer artillery and the whole Boer army, including the gold taken by President Kruger from the mint here, are west of that break and must now inevitably fall into our hands.

Strathcona's Horse has effectually bottled up the Boers.

Another Canadian Dead.

Ottawa, June 27.—Lord Minto received the following cable yesterday from Sir Alfred Milner:

Cape Town, June 25.—Regret to report the death of No. 7,818, Pte. Larne, R.C.R., Quebec, of enteric fever, at Wynberg Hospital, on June 24. (Signed) Milner.

Larne was an officer of the 87th Battalion, and resigned his commission to enlist in the first contingent. He was wounded on Feb. 18 at Paardeberg. He was a son of Dr. Larne, Quebec.

More Invalided Canucks.

Ottawa, June 27.—The following non-commissioned officers and men of the Canadian special service forces have been invalided from South Africa to England:

No. 13, Corp. Grey, Brigade Division Field Artillery.

No. 331, Pte. J. Wood, 1st Batt. Canadian Mounted Rifles.

No. 56, Pte. G. Ferguson, 2nd Batt., Canadian Mounted Rifles.

BOERS GUERILLAS NOW.

Commandant De Wet Has Broken Up His Forces Into Small Bands, Who Are Harassing the British.

London, June 27.—(3.20 a.m.)—The Boer commandoes in the eastern part of the Orange River Colony appear to have been broken up by their leaders for a time into small parties that harass large columns of the British incessantly, cutting off scouts, sniping pickets, and making a show of force here and there. Commandant Christian De Wet, Gen. Steyn's principal commander, is the genius of these guerilla operations. He is the hero on the Boer side in these last days of hostilities.

Lord Roberts' columns are steadily contracting the circle of their advance.

President Kruger will probably retire to Watervalender or Nelspruit. His physician thinks his condition of health will not allow him to go on the high veldt.

Commandant-Gen. Botha is uncommonly active east of Pretoria. The Canadians are doing splendid outpost work.

Convoy and Highlanders Captured.

The official report of the capture of a convoy of 50 wagons escorted by Highlanders between Rhenoster and Heilbron, June 4, was only received yesterday. Lord Roberts reports that the convoy was surrounded and sent messengers to the nearest posts asking for assistance. But reinforcements were unable to reach the convoy and 150 Highlanders, in reply to a flag of truce from Gen. Christian Dewet, surrendered during the morning of June 4.

Dutch Rebels Surrender.

London, June 27.—The War Office has received the following despatch from Lord Roberts:

"Pretoria Residency, June 26.—Sir Charles Warren reports that the rebellion in Cape Colony, north of the Orange River, is now over. The last formidable body, under Commandant De Villiers, surrendered on June 20, consisting of about 220 men, 280 horses, 18 wagons, 250 rifles and 100,000 rounds of ammunition.

"Gen. Baden-Powell reports that pacification is going on satisfactorily in the Rustenburg district."

A question of great interest for intending insurers is which Canadian Life Company is in highest favor with the insuring Canadian public? The following table is a good indicator:

Name of Company.	Commenced Business.	Canadian Business Written in 1899
North American	1881	$4,834,505
Sun Life	1871	3,996,865
Ontario Mutual	1870	3,965,509
Confederation	1871	3,839,469
Canada Life	1847	3,800,917

The above are the five leading Canadian Companies and although the North American is much the youngest in years, she is outstripping all her rivals in the Canadian field.

QUESTIONS EASILY ANSWERED.

The Globe has compiled a short catechism on the political situation. It has been gotten up in view of the approaching general elections. A feature of this catechism is that the questions are not answered. The Toronto World has supplied some answers:—

Q. Is it wise to make a change? A. Very much so. The country wants a Government that can find time to consider the wants of the people instead of being continually at its wit's end to invent means of escape from continual charges of inefficiency and corruption.

Q. Have you any reason to believe that your business would be improved by a change of Government? A. Certainly, and for two reasons, principally:

1. We import some ninety million dollars worth of goods from the United States. If the Dingley tariff were applied by Canada to importations from the United States the larger part of that ninety million dollars would be distributed among Canadian manufacturers and Canadian workingmen. Our business would be improved in proportion to the general prosperity which would follow the adoption of such an intelligent policy.

2. The United States exports several hundred million dollars worth of products to Great Britain, principally wheat, flour, corn, meat and other kinds of farm produce. A change of Government would result in the adoption of a policy in favor of the colonies receiving a preference in the markets of Great Britain. The carrying out of such a policy would mean that Canadian farmers would grow the wheat and the beef that are now supplied our fellow countrymen of the British Isles by the farmers of the United States.

Q. Would wages be raised? A. The volume of wages paid the workingmen of Canada would be increased very largely and the rates paid workingmen individually ought consequently to be higher.

Q. Would employment be more constant? A. If we adopted a policy keeping the United States out of Canada as far as possible, and handicapping that country in Great Britain, we would find such an enormous increase in our business, both manufacturing and agricultural, that it would take ten years before we could overtake it. During that time at least there would be constant employment for every man in Canada willing to work, and hundreds of thousands from other countries.

Q. Was the country in 1895 governed in such a way as to inspire confidence? A. This question is best answered by answering another: Which party will inspire more confidence in 1900? The party that has undergone five years of purification or the party that has revelled in iniquity during the past five years?

Q. Did the bolt of 1896 add to the reputation of the country? A. Perhaps not, but the "bolt" in question was a comparatively mild affair compared with the election frauds perpetrated by the Liberals which have disgraced the country far and wide.

Q. Has there been any indication that the difficulties within the Conservative party which led to weakening in administration, culminating in the bolt, have been removed? A. Twenty years of office did not weaken the morality of the Conservative party as much as five years have weakened the morality of the Liberals. The Conservatives have come out openly against corruption. The policy of the party is to lop off the dead and rotten timber from the growing tree. The practice of the Liberals, on the other hand, is to conceal their corruption and to shield their fraud-workers from exposure and the consequences of their crimes.

Q. When the country is well off, and showing every indication of healthy growth and progress, would it be wise to make an experiment? A. The Conservative party is no experiment. It has a record of twenty years. The policy it pursued during two decades of office is in force in Canada to-day. It is the Liberal party that is the experiment. It has been on trial for four years, and the country has learned that the experiment has been a failure.

Q. If you had a similar experience in your private business would you adopt such a policy? A. Canada is fairly prosperous to-day, but it is only a fool who would say the country cannot stand more prosperity. No progressive merchant would refuse to adopt new methods or neglect to push his business, for the reason that he was doing well enough. The country, as well as the business man, that stands still is going backwards.

Q. Has not the Liberal Government, called upon to deal with such entirely new conditions as the opening of the Yukon country and the war in South Africa, acquitted itself reasonably well? A. By no means. In regard to the war in South Africa the Liberal Government acquitted itself most disgracefully. It started out to enforce the Tarte doctrine that not a dollar of Canadian money was to be used in defence of the Empire in South Africa. It was only the patriotism of the Conservative party that saved the country from irretrievable disgrace. It is the Conservative party that has a record. The country knows where to find it on any question and at any juncture. The Liberals have gone no further than issue a prospectus which has been proven to be false and illusory.

Q. Having done so well after eighteen years of Opposition, is it not likely to do still better after four years' experience, and better than any Government that could be formed out of the present Opposition? A. No. Its experience has transformed the party from [illegible] alleged purity to one of proven corruption. The experience of four years has disclosed the fact that the Liberal party [illegible] under false colors.

Q. [illegible] for a [illegible] A. [illegible] Government for [illegible] reasons.

DR. DEVLIN'S GIGANTIC BLUFF

Left for New York Without Giving Evidence at Inquiry.

Rations Investigation Now Over, and the Committee Will Hold a Private Session to Fix Up a Report or Reports—John T. Lyons Makes a Statement of the "Don't-Know" Order—Not a Partner of Dr. Devlin.

Ottawa, June 27.—When the Rations Committee began business yesterday morning at 10.40, Col. Neilson was called by Mr. Monk, and said that on Feb. 15, 1899, he wrote to Henri Hatch, asking for samples of his food. He received an answer from Mr. Devlin, enclosing samples. This answer had disappeared. The witness had no samples of the bread and powder used at Kingston. But all had disappeared except an envelope containing half-strength powder.

Col. Pineault was the next witness. He did not know where Hatch's letter had gone. He had inquired for it in the civil branch of the Militia Department, but could get no trace of it.

What Lawyer McGee Says

A new witness appeared now in person of Fred McGee, barrister at Ottawa. On March 24 last, he received a letter from H. Hatch of the Hatch Protos Company, asking him to make a formal protest to the Government. He saw Col. Pineault, and told him H. Hatch was taking legal proceedings against Dr. Devlin and John T. Lyons for interfering with the rights of Hatch. He asked for information, but the Deputy-Minister did not show a disposition to give information. The witness said he saw a tin of vitaline on Col. Pineault's desk, and the Col. said that that tin was the only sample of Dr. Devlin's food in the department. The witness identified an exhibited tin, but it was not the one Col. Pineault swore accompanied the Devlin tender.

Not a Concentrated Food.

Anthony McGill, chief assistant of the Inland Department, said that there was a standard for natural milk, butter, salt, cheese, mustard, etc. He judged from the labels on Dr. Devlin's food that it contained a large percentage of proteids. But it was not a concentrated food, for many natural foods contained more proteids than Devlin's food.

Mr. Monk here said that, with the exception of the girl who put on the labels at Lyon's store, he had no other witness to call. This shows the case of the Opposition about closed.

Coal Merchant Not a Food Expert.

Coal Merchant George Albert Muir of Montreal was called by Dr. Russell. The witness said that about the end of April, 1899, he met Mr. Hatch in Montreal, and talked about the test in Kingston of Hatch's protos. Hatch was enthusiastic about the results. The witness asked him the percentage of proteids in the food used at Kingston. He said about 15 per cent. The witness was surprised, because in previous conversations 60 per cent. had been spoken of. Hatch explained that high percentages were used only in cases of disease. Hatch said that his secret was to make the food assimilative, not to put a large percentage of proteids into it.

She Pasted on the Labels.

Miss Bonnenfant, the girl who pasted on the labels, was next heard. She spoke only in French, and the secretary of the committee acted as interpreter.

The witness identified the boxes that she had worked with, but the box that Col. Pineault said came with the tender was not one of them. The witness was paid $6 a week by John T. Lyons.

A communication was received from Dr. Devlin, asking that he might be given a chance to make a statement. It was agreed to hear him.

No Reply From South Africa.

In the meantime Dr. Neilson was called and said that no samples of the food tested in Kingston were to be found in the Militia Department. He also said that no reply had been yet received from South Africa in answer to the request that an analysis should be made of the food sent with the second contingent. He did not think the emergency rations had been used by the soldiers.

After the committee had waited for half an hour for any witness, Col. Pineault was called and corroborated Dr. Neilson in saying that no report had been received from South Africa to the effect that the emergency rations had been used by soldiers. He also declared that there were no samples of the food tested in Kingston in the department.

Capt. Benoit in the Box.

Capt. Benoit, by this time, had arrived and by means of a cane and a friend was able to take the witness stand. He saw the emergency food after it had arrived in Halifax. For his own satisfaction he got two tins of the food from one of the boxes ready for shipment. The witness brought one of the tins to Col. Pineault and suggested that an analysis should be made of this and sample of the tendered sample. All the witness had to do with the transaction was to notify Dr. Devlin on Jan. 4, 1900, that his tender had been accepted and to notify him that the goods would have to be delivered at Halifax within a certain time.

"Why did you secure the sample?" asked Mr. Monk.

"Only for my personal satisfaction," was the reply.

This finished Capt. Benoit's evidence.

Dr. Devlin Went to New York.

Mr. Belcourt then read a letter from Dr. Devlin, saying that he had been called to New York by a telegram to conduct some business relating to the matter before the committee. He asked to have his statement heard on Friday.

John T. Lyons was sworn at 3.45. He wished to speak on his own behalf and was ready to be questioned regarding his share in the transaction. He said he took Dr. Devlin's food for six weeks last year and had every confidence in Dr. Devlin, because of the good it had done him.

He was an "after taking" example of the food. He never approached the Government for an order of free entry. He was never a partner to Dr. Devlin. He knew nothing of the composition of the food. The powder came from New York. When it arrived at the station, the witness went to R. S. White, for Dr. Devlin said it would come in free. He had the powder brought to his store after being ground, and it was packed there. He delivered the stuff to Halifax, going with it on board ship. The first part of the food, that which went with the first ship, had no wording about soldiers having lived on it for 30 days, etc. The second part was delivered by Dr. Devlin. It may have had that wording.

As to the Quantity.

"Would you swear you put up 2,300 lbs.?"

"Would not swear."

"How many trunks came to your place?"

"I don't know how many trunks there were, or where they came from."

"What did you get out of the transaction?"

"I don't think I am obliged to answer that, I made a business contract with Dr. Devlin."

"Do you refuse to answer?"

"Yes, I refuse."

"Do you know of the Vitaline Company?"

"I saw its name on the labels. I know its office was not on my corner of Craig and Bleury streets."

"Don't-Know" Answers.

The witness was most prolific in his don't-knows. He didn't know the strength of the food. He didn't know one ingredient in it. He didn't know where it came from. He didn't know if there was now any of the food left over, though he had used some for four or five days after the shipment to South Africa. He didn't know the size of the trunks.

"Any further statement to make?"

"I don't know of anything more."

"You came desiring to make a statement. What is it?"

"I guess I've made all the statements I want to make."

The taking of evidence closed here.

Mr. Monk said he desired to have the report of the committee before the House as soon as possible, therefore he moved that the committee meet in private to-day at 3 p. m. and draft a report. This carried, and the committee rose at 5.

DOMINION HOUSE.

Day Spent Mostly in Passing the Militia Department Estimates.

Ottawa, June 27.— At the morning session of the House yesterday the report of the committee on printing, recommending the purchase of 300 copies of the Bank Act of 1890 and 1900, was presented. In answer to Mr. McNeill, Dr. Borden said all who had been made honorary Lieutenant-Colonels has been so on Gen. Hutton's recommendation. Mr. Maxwell read a telegram from Mr. Charleson denying Sir Hibbert Tupper's charges against him, and after two militia items had been passed in supply the chairman left the chair at 1 o'clock.

Militia Estimates.

At 3 o'clock $55,000 for militia stores at Ottawa was passed, as was the item, $110,000 for clothing and necessaries.

During the discussion, Dr. Borden stated that another Maxim gun had been bought and that grants would be made to encourage rifle clubs.

After recess, the item, $240,000 for arms, ammunition and defences was discussed. Dr. Borden, in reply to Mr. Foster, said $150,000 of this would be used on equiping three new batteries of artillery and $90,000 would be spent in getting the best rifle possible to be furnished to the rifle clubs of Canada that may be formed.

The Railways and Canals.

Mr. Blair spent two hours in explaining his policy in regard to his department. He declared $80,000,000 had been spent ungrudingly upon Canada's canals, but very little money was expended upon the I.C.R. Mr. Blair's aim had been to put the railway upon a paying basis, and bring in an era of surplus rather than deficit. He declared the former Government had tried to make a showing of a surplus by neglecting to properly care for the road-bed and rolling stock. This was not a legitimate means. Now the road was maintained on a proper basis and paid. Mr. Blair estimates that it will cost $3,500,000 to complete the Trent Valley Canal, according to the present route. This will be included in the supplementary estimates.

The House adjourned at 12.40.

The Senate.

Ottawa, June 27.—In the Senate yesterday the bill respecting grain inspection in Manitoba was read three times, and passed. When the Schomberg and Aurora Railway bill came up for a second reading, which was given it, Senator McCallum denounced the bill because it gave the company forever in which to build the road.

Premier Ross at Ottawa.

Ottawa, June 27.—Hon. G. W. Ross was in the city yesterday to see Hon. Sidney Fisher, regarding the copyright amendments and the Author's Society. He spent the whole afternoon in room No. 16, and was at times in close and earnest conversation with Sir Wilfrid and other Cabinet Ministers. He left for home last night.

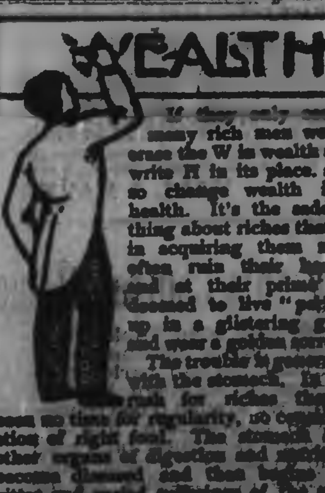
A press despatch from London states that the Imperial Government looks with favor upon the amended Canadian copyright bill now before the House. Hon. Mr. Fisher, asked last night concerning this said: "The Imperial Government has never been consulted as to my copyright bill. I haven't anything about their opinion of it."

McInnes Justifies His Course.

Vancouver, B.C., June 27. — Ex-Lieutenant-Governor McInnes, in a statement of his case in The World last night, justifies his course and says the metalic influence, apparently all-powerful at Ottawa, did not affect him. He says he expected his political assassination, but that he acted under orders from Ottawa, the Secretary of State having written him letters of instruction and told him to destroy them when read. He has the letters, but, as they are marked confidential, cannot disclose their contents.

Tom Sharkey Knocked Out.

Seaside Athletic Club, Coney Island, N.Y., June 27.—For the first time in his pugilistic career Tom Sharkey went down to decisive defeat last night in the historic arena of the Seaside Athletic Club, and big Gus Ruhlin, the Ohio pugilist, was his conqueror. It was a clean knockout, that came after 15 rounds of fight that made a memorable ring battle.



If they only could many rich men would erase the W in wealth and write H in its place, and so change wealth into health. It's the saddest thing about riches that in in acquiring them men often ruin their health, and at their prime are doomed to live "pinked up in a glistering grief and wear a golden sorrow."

The trouble is generally with the stomach. In the mad rush for riches there's been no time for regularity, no consideration of right food. The stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition become diseased and then begins the bitter and varied sufferings of the man with "stomach trouble."

Yet this condition can be cured. The stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition, can be restored to a normal condition of sound health. Thousands testify that Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, strengthens the stomach, nourishes the nerves and purifies the blood, that it breaks the bonds of the dyspeptic, and makes him a healthy, happy man. No alcohol whisky or other intoxicant is contained in "Golden Medical Discovery."

ANGLO-SAXONS WERE FIRST IN

British and Americans Got Into Tien Tsin Ahead of Others.

Demolished the Arsenal and Broke Through the Lines of Chinese Soldiers Surrounding the Place — Russia and Other Troops Followed—Che Foo Despatch Says An Army of 100,000 Will Be Needed—About Seymour.

London, June 27.—(3.45 a. m.)—A fresh phase of the ebullition in China is the probability of immediate outbreaks in the great Southern Provincial centres. The populace there is daily assuming a more hostile attitude towards foreigners, and the latter perceive symptoms of a general rising, especially at Nanking, where, according to a despatch to The Daily Express, dated yesterday at Kang Wu, one of the most truculent enemies of foreigners has arrived by way of the Grand Canal, armed with full powers from the Empress to deal with the Southern Provinces. The friendly attitude of Viceroy Liu Kun Yih toward foreigners has brought him into disgrace with Prince Tuang, president of the Tsung Li Yamen.

Bloodshed and Anarchy.

The unrest at Canton is described by a despatch from that city to The Daily Telegraph, dated Monday, via Hong Kong:

"It is feared that we are on the eve of a scene of bloodshed and anarchy in the two Quangs, only paralleled during the Tai Ping rebellion. The signs of a murderous uprising are so manifest that wealthy Chinvicinity, ese are hurrying from Canton and the vicinity, taking their wives, families and valuables.

Li Hung Chang has been again peremptorially ordered to Pekin. His enemies declare that they will murder him before he can reach there. His presence alone restrains the revolutionary elements here.

ENTRY INTO TIEN TSIN.

British and Americans Were First in—Arsenal Was Battered and the Cordon Broken.

Che Foo, June 26.—The Americans and British entered Tien Tsin, first silencing the guns of the arsenal and breaking through the Chinese lines. The foreigners were close behind. The Russians lost four killed and 30 wounded. The losses of the other nationalities were small.

Admiral Seymour's force is about 10 miles from Tien Tsin. It is surrounded by Chinese troops and Boxers and hampered by the presence of sick and wounded.

It is reported that all foreigners were sent from Pekin with a weak Chinese guard, and it is assumed that they are with Admiral Seymour.

One thousand Japanese are landing at Taku, and 2,000 more are expected to-morrow and a battalion of French will arrive.

The foreign admirals have appointed Captain Wise, commander of the Monocacy, to be commandant at Tona Ku.

The Netherlands cruiser Holland has left Java for Che Foo.

Fresh Trouble Looms Up.

Che Foo, June 26.—The officers of the British first-class cruiser Terrible assert that discord exists between the Russian and Anglo-Americans, and say they believe the Russians are planning to break the concert and take possession of Pekin independently. They assert that Vice-Admiral Seymour's command lacked unison, the foreigners sulking because they were under British leadership. They bitterly denounce the general conduct of the Russians as uncivilized and barbarous, and charge that the slaughter of peaceful Chinamen at Taku has aroused the otherwise passive natives against the foreigners.

Washington Regrets It.

Washington, June 27.—The officials here receive with regret and concern the reports from Che Foo that discord existed between the Russians and the so-called Anglo-Americans. Coming from the officers of the Terrible, it is considered as largely "sailor talk."

An Army of 100,000 Wanted.

Che Foo, Tuesday, June 26.—The foreigners everywhere are urging the immediate concentration of an army of 100,000 men, or, at least, 80,000 men, for an advance on Pekin. Many persons familiar with the Chinese character think the foreign Ministers and Vice-Admiral Seymour are held as hostages for good terms of settlement.

Lumber Vessel Wrecked.

St. John's, Nfld., June 27.—The British steamer Mareotis, Captain Easterbrook, from Quebec for Liverpool, lumber laden, went ashore yesterday morning at Cape Anguille, on the southeast coast of Newfoundland, in the Gulf of St. Lawrence. The ship struck during a dense fog, and it is feared will be a total loss. She is leaking badly. Several of the crew were injured by the shifting of the deck load.

Admiral Maxse Dead.

London, June 27.—Admiral Frederick A. Maxse, who was naval aide-de-camp to Lord Raglan, commander-in-chief of the forces during the siege of Sebastopol, and who was known as a politician and writer, is dead. He was born in 1833.

OUR SPECIAL OTTAWA LETTER

A WEEK THAT WAS FULL OF EVENTS AT THE CAPITAL

A Governor Removed—Sir Henry Joly Takes the Place of McInnes—The New Canadian Minister—Emergency Food—Minister Trusted the Chief Surgeon—Chief Surgeon Trusted the Contractor, Who Sold the Goods at a High Price.

Special Correspondence of the Review.

Ottawa, June 23.—The change of government which has taken place will probably not create a profound sensation. Sir Henry Joly has long been doomed to disappear, and all who know him will be glad his retirement is an honorable one, and may even be regarded as promotion. The dismissal of Lieutenant Governor McInnes, of British Columbia, was announced by Sir Wilfrid Laurier on Friday. He is the second provincial governor dismissed by a Dominion government in the history of Canada, and his is the only case in which the authorities at Ottawa removed a governor of their own appointment.

It is a novel proceeding to send a Quebec man to preside over British Columbia, but it may be that Sir Henri will do better in the present circumstances than any Liberal who could be selected on the spot.

WHY SIR HENRI GOES.

It is Sir Henri Joly's ill fortune that he did not enjoy the favor of the Tarte school of politics. Years ago the Seigneur of Lotbiniere gave up his seat in the Quebec Legislature as a protest against the Rielite agitation led by Mr. Mercier and Sir Wilfrid Laurier, who at that time acted under Mr. Mercier's direction, as he now acts on the suggestion of Mr. Tarte. Sir Henri has a son with the force in South Africa. He did not join in Mr. Tarte's protest against the offer of a contingent last October, and did not join Mr. Tarte in declaring that the act could not be accepted as a precedent. The Minister of Public Works has somewhat ostentatiously ignored Sir Henri Joly. At several meetings in Quebec province Mr. Tarte has spoken of himself and the Premier as the sole French-Canadian members of the Government. He did the same in the Paris interview. The fact is that Sir Henri is an old school Liberal, who is not given to race and religion campaigns, and who does not find it necessary to talk about the tri-color every time he opens his mouth, or to denounce at every turn the Conservatives of other provinces as Orangeists and fanatics. The new Minister, Mr. Barnier, is a man of the modern Liberal school, of Quebec. He will probably reach the Tarte standard.

EMERGENCY FOOD.

During the past week emergency food has been the chief topic of interest on this Hill. The enquiry is not yet completed but the committee seems to have established certain facts. The charge that the department paid Dr. Devlin $2 a pound for 2,333 lbs. of alleged emergency food, before the goods were delivered, is not sustained. The price is $2 but the payment was not made until the goods were delivered at Halifax. Another part of the charge was that the food was imported from the United States whereas the genuine article is made in Montreal, and that it was admitted free of duty. It is found that Dr. Devlin brought the alleged emergency food from the States but he has at last paid the duty on it, though much against his will. It was established by the Montreal Collector of Customs that the food was taken out of warehouse by Dr. Devlin on a permit, and that he was to produce later a certificate of free admission from the government. Five months after, when the enquiry began, a few days ago, the duty was paid. It had not been paid when Mr. Monk made his charge, and the collector was then waiting for the free admission certificate. The Government has therefore gained this much revenue from the action of Mr. Monk.

A SPURIOUS ARTICLE.

The main charges that the Hatch protose tested at Kingston and found good, was not the article purchased by the Government, that charge is undoubtedly established. Mr. Hatch, who made the food tested at Kingston, swears that he alone had the formula for making them, and that the goods furnished for South Africa are not the same. His preparation which was tested at Kingston averaged 60 per cent. of protein, whereas the Government's own analysis shows that the goods purchased only contain 16 to 17 per cent. Dr. Borden's statement in the House that the Kingston goods were identical with those purchased may now be read in the light of his own evidence. He swears that he knows nothing at all about it. He had only the assurance of the medical director in the department that the goods were the same. He had also the contrary assurance in a private letter from Mr. Hatch, the manufacturer of the genuine goods. This letter was received before the goods were paid for, and stated that the food bought from Dr. Devlin was spurious and useless. The Minister did not give this letter to the medical director, or the latter would probably have made further enquiries.

A CARELESS GOVERNMENT.

As Dr. Borden relied wholly upon Dr. Neilson, the medical director, the interest centered in the evidence of that gentleman. Dr. Neilson surprised the committee by stating that he also was ignorant of the whole matter. He recommended the purchase of the food from Dr. Devlin, on Dr. Devlin's assurance that he was getting the same goods as had been tested. With the innocence of a child he accepted that assurance, though the Government had analysts of its own to make the test. It was not until the food had been delivered at Halifax that the Government made an analysis. It was then found that the Devlin goods corresponded to the Devlin sample, and that neither of them had 17 per cent. proteid, whereas the genuine Hatch food should have contained 40 to 80 per cent., with an average of 60. Dr. Nelson says that he was surprised to find how little nutriment there was in the food purchased. But he could not then do anything about it because it was as good as the sample. The trouble came when he made the contract on a sample without taking any means to find if the sample was any good.

The government analysis contains this report. "Since the average percentage of proteid in wheat is about 12, it does not appear that this proteid powder is a very concentrated food, or is entitled to its name, or has a food value equivalent to $2 per pound.

"Thomas Macfarlane, Chief Analyst."

THEY PAID EIGHT PRICES.

This established the character of the food purchased by the Government. It seems to contain less nutriment than certain Graham biscuits, pea meal, and many other substances of less than one-eighth its cost. Milton Hersey, the Montreal analyst, who was examined, swore that he also made a test agreeing substantially with Mr. Macfarlane. The Montreal analyst classed the food purchased with a number of other vegetable preparations, and all worth anywhere from 20 to 30 cents a pound, or $700 for the quantity that was sold to the Government for $4,660.

DR. NEILSON'S HEROIC TEST.

It should be said that Dr. Neilson, after he learned the facts, repented of the form of his recommendation. He reported that the Devlin food was "admirably adapted" for the purpose required. But he now swears that if he had it to do again he would strike out the word "admirably." Still the good doctor does not wholly abandon the Devlin powders. He says he tested them himself and found that they would sustain life for a day. There was a good deal of laughter at the medical doctor's expense, when on further examination he admitted that he had taken a hearty breakfast on the day of his own emergency test, and that at the close of the day he ate a hearty dinner. The emergency in his case consisted in living from 9 o'clock in the morning until 6 in the afternoon without active exertion on two ounces of Devlin's vitallin. Probably there are many readers of this paper who could have lived that long without anything.

ANOTHER OPINION.

Professor Ruttan, of McGill University, swore that he would not regard the food purchased as an emergency food. It was not concentrated. It did not contain much nutriment in a small compass. He thought a soldier might work on it if he had enough of it.

Professor Ruttan, who teaches practical and hygenic chemistry, swore that in his opinion eight cans of this food would be required to sustain a man who was performing hard work. This quantity would be required to furnish six ounces of proteins needed for a day's rations. As the department bought the food on the supposition that one can would be enough for one day, the testimony of the Government analyst is a severe reflection on the militia administration. It may be remarked that both the deputy and the medical director are appointees of the present Government.

TOBACCO TAXES.

On Wednesday Mr. Clancy divided the House in favor or relieving native grown tobacco of excise duties. He pointed out that Mr. Fielding himself had claimed that the revenue for 1900 would be $14,000,000 more than in 1896. In these circumstances it seems to Mr. Clancy a safe and proper thing to relieve the consumer of Canadian tobacco of this much taxation, and at the same time promote the tobacco growing industry in this country. It was also claimed that the abolition of this duty would have the effect of reducing the price of imported leaf.

Mr. Fielding stood by the tariff as it is. He contended that the native product had already sufficient protection. Messrs. Moore, Sproule, Chauvin, Gillies and Henderson spoke in favor of Mr. Clancy's proposition, while Mr. Casey asked for lower duty on both native and foreign grown tobacco, and the Premier praised the tariff as it was. The motion was voted down by a Government majority of thirty.

TAXATION WITHOUT REPRESENTATION.

Sir Charles Tupper pressed to a division his proposition that the Yukon should no longer be deprived of the right of self-government. According to the census taken by the Mounted Police the Yukon district had a population of more than 16,000. These are nearly all adult males, and though many are not British subjects, the number qualified by nationality and other grounds as electors is over 4,000. Sir Charles shows that one twenty-fifth part of the revenue of Canada is contributed by the Yukon. Yet with all its interests and its population the Yukon has no share in its own government. Locally it is governed by a body appointed from Ottawa, and wholly irresponsible to the people governed. This Government collects even the taxes which elsewhere belongs to the municipalities, and performs all the functions of a provincial and a city government. But all this public business is done in secret, with the press excluded. Sir Charles and Mr. Foster hold that if the Yukon had been represented in the Dominion Parliament the people there would not have been exposed to the robbery, oppression and neglect of which there is perpetual complaint. The motion of the Opposition leader to give Parliamentary representation to the Yukon was defeated by the usual party vote.

DEATH OF A POPULAR MEMBER.

Colonel "Dick" Tyrwhitt, of South Simcoe, one of the best-loved and most respected of the Opposition members, died on Friday at his home in Bradford. He had sat in Parliament since 1882. While he was a sturdy and true party man, Colonel Trywhitt took his own course on many matters. He was one of the thirteen who voted against the Jesuits estate bill. He was an anti-remedialist in the last Parliament, but that did not make him any the less a strong supporter in this Parliament of the present leader of the Opposition. There are now three seats vacant by death, one by the resignation of Mr. McInnes, son of the British Columbia Governor, and one by the appointment of Sir Henry. The seat of Mr. Bernier is also vacant, pending his re-election as Minister.

The Premier expresses the hope that the session will close in two weeks. Even if that happens the session will be the third longest since confederation.

It is announced that Mr. Tarte is about to come home. Sir Wilfrid has admitted in the House that he wrote to the Minister of Public Works concerning the offensive Paris speeches.

George Foy Sentenced to Central Prison for Forging Checks and Uttering Same

At the Police Court this morning Geo. Foy was charged before Magistrate Dumble with forgery, his offence being that he had forged the name of George Stevens, junk dealer, to two checks, which he cashed at R. Neill's and Thos. Barrie's stores. He pleaded guilty to each offence and was sentenced to two years less one day on each, the sentences to run concurrently. The prisoner was arrested in Monaghan yesterday afternoon by Chief Ressel.

A youth charged with vagrancy was remanded for a week.

TIME TABLE CHANGES

Alterations in the Running Hours of Grand Trunk Trains.

Some changes have been made in the time table of this division of the Grand Trunk, going into effect on Monday last. The early morning trains are the same. The Port Hope train leaves at 11.25 and the Belleville train at 11 30 instead of at 11.50 and 11.55 as formerly.

There are three trains daily on the Lakefield service. The first leaves at 8.10 a.m.; the second at 12:10 p.m., arriving in town on its return at 515; the third leaves at 5.40 p. m.

The train up from Belleville at night arrives at 8 55 instead of 8.45.

A PETERBOROUGH LADY

Who Attained to Prominence in the United States Dies in Chicago.

A Chicago despatch dated June 26th, announces the death in that city of Mrs. Ruby Kennedy Scobell, the organizer of the Women's National Promotion of Health Society, and who has been its President since organization. The deceased lady will be remembered as a former resident of Peterborough, where she was born. She was a daughter of the late Wm. Kennedy and a sister of the late Capt. Kennedy, both well remembered residents of Peterborough. As Miss Kennedy she was a member of the George-st. Methodist choir for several years. In Chicago she became a woman of wide repute. She had charge of the women's building at the World's Fair and had travelled in all parts of the Union as President and Organizer of the Women's National Promotion of Health Society. Mrs. Scobell was born here in 1849.

Mrs. George [illegible], Putnamville, Ont., says:—"I feel it my duty to recommend Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine, as I had the Asthma very bad; could get nothing to do me any good. A friend of mine persuaded me to try this remedy, as he had tried it, and it proved successful. I tried it and it cured me. I am thankful to-day to say I am a well woman through the use of this remedy. I keep it in the house all the time, and would not be without it."

A PLEASANT AFTERNOON

George-st. Choir Hold a Picnic and Excursion at Crawford's Grove.

Yesterday the choir of the George-st. church had a most enjoyable excursion and picnic at Crawford's Grove, down the river. The steamer Eclipse ran a couple of trips down to the grove, one at three o'clock in the afternoon and the second at five o'clock. Quite a number wheeled down and altogether a party of about seventy-five were assembled, the choir having as their guests the officials of the church and a few other friends. A long table was spread on the grass and a sumptuous supper was served. The spread was a most dainty one and highly creditable to the ladies and satisfactory to the gathering in general. A couple of hours were spent in games, etc., and the picnickers returned by the Eclipse, a delightful sail bringing them to the wharf about 9.30 o'clock.

Nothing Nicer for Tea than biscuits made from Dalley's Tea Biscuit Flour They can be prepared in 10 minutes with the use of a little sweet milk.
